N. C. State Life Insurance Company.

We are pleased to learn that this young and vigorous Home Insurance Company is succeeding admirably. It issued its the amount of nearly $350,000 upon first class North Carolina lives. The wellknown character of its stockholders, and the ability, enterprise and asgacity of its the amplest guarantees of safety and sucess, while its unvarying adherence to the commendable policy of home investments. and its liberality to its policy-holders, are winning golden opinions throughout the State. We wish this company all the success that it merits-and commend to all who desire reliable insurance at home motto of "provision and protection for all.

The New Fertilizing Company.

We referred yesterday brighly to this company. We took no part in the discussion, although we admitted into our columns a very sensible communication from a gentleman living in Eastern Carolina. We thought it curious as any the least, that the name of North Carolina should be attached to a manufactory loeated in Baltimore. The stockholders have determined to locate it in Raleigh, which no doubt is a wise conclusion, Here they have three railroads, and the necessary foundry and machine shops already in operation. It is besides central, in a delightful climate where good health prevails. By this action of the company all the complaints that were so forcibly. So far as we have heard this is the urged against it will be removed, and companies, must wish it success. Col-Griffith will soon have the necessary buildings in course of crection and by September there will be one more manufactory in North Carolina.

Tarleton's Campaigns.

There is in the State Library a rare and valuable work, entitled, "A History of the Campaigns of 1780 and 1781, in the Lieutenant Colonel Tarleton, Commandant of the late British Legion." This York, work was published in London in 1787, and contains many interesting details pertaining to the Revolutionary history of its private seizers. They were attended Summer Encursion Tickets to Beaufort. North Carolina.

Tarleton was a dashing cavalry officer, as cruel as Grahame of Claverhouse, and a scourge and a terror to the Carolinas. Aprepos of the SENTINES,'s -proposed publication of David Fanning's Narrative, we think that extracts from Tarieton's Compaigns would also be entertaining and instructive to all of our readers who are interested in the History of the State, We may, therefore, after we have disposed of Fanning, publish also Tarlton's History if our readers should dusire it.

An Hour's Recess.

Such was the designation given to the rery pleasing sutertainment of Mr. W. H. Sarnes, which came off last night at Tucker Hall, having been postponed Thursday evening on account of the thunder-storm. We were present and enjoyed it, but the lateness of the hour at which we write precludes critical notice. Mr. Barnes comesses fine mimetic powers, sings admirably and can tell an anecdote, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," the 'Plantation Medley," and his serious version of "Vittikens and Dinah" elicited nuch applause. The audience was select, appreciative, and delighted. We regret that it was not larger, Had we Mr. Barnes' ability "to entertain an audience," we should be sorely tempted to abandon pso, pasto and scissors, and to try stageplaying awhile on our own hook.
