books and had done nothing since the as the enthusiastic man from the States war. A grant was obtained from the Pa. and his Canadian friend "tipped the ruby" in the party loses confidence in him, and rent Eos sets and a small purchase of books was made for the Depository. During the year just closed, this Fociety has distributed, by sale and donation. four manner and fifty (450) volumes of the Scriptures, supplying seventy destitute ion in and fourteen Sabbath Schools. The receipts from sales and collections during the year amounted to $70, as against $5.87 the previous year. This shows a very marked improvement in the Bible cause in Gates county, for which the brethren who have had charge of the work deserve to be commended. The brethren have promised to address themselves with renewed cornestness to the work and to complete the canvage and supply of the county at an early day, CONCLUSION.

Invitatious to excursions and drives, were so numerous that the third of June was given to pleasure. Going by rail a few miles from the city, the steamer Prince of Wales took a large party up the Otta-wa river. Rapids are flanked by canals having locks of the best workmanship,

Stopping at an Indian village, many of the inhabitants came to the isnding pleased to see the steamer, flying the red flag of Old England and having on board a happy party, singing the Mar French and English, the national airs of the United States, and those songs which were to have been the sirs of a country whose boundaries cannot be truced on the map, closing, as is the custom on such ocasions, with "God save the Queen, There is an exchange of mail pouches, and the steamer leaves. On the downward trip the canal is given the go-by, and the rapids are run. The excitement is soon over. A "reef" is taken in the smoke-stack, additional force is placed at the wheel, the engine is stopped and away goes the "Princo" through the troubled waters, passing under a substantial bridge,

Drives to neighboring villages afforded all excellent opportunies for viewing a fine country. Halting, the doors would be thrown open and a groaning table meet the eye. Frightful was the clash of gissses

On Friday, the last day spent in the city, the rapids of the St. Lawrence near Montreal were run. Taking the cars at six in the morning, a point on the river a lew miles above the harbor was soon reached. Here a fine steamer took the excursionists through the rapids, the party checred, and the boat steamed towards the city. Passing under Victoria Bridge, we are reminded that the Prince of Wales drove the last sprke in this great work. Having spent six days in Canada, the tour arrived when we should depart for the land of the free. After riding all night, breakfast is taken at Palmer, Mass.; leaving which place, we soon reach Norwich, Conn., and are made the guests of the Typographical Union. Here we were shown the tomb of Unces, the Indian chief; fine public school houses, among them a free academy; the residence of ex-Vice President Foster, and that of Senator Buckingham; soldiers' monument, &c.

An excursion by the Social Types Club of New York to Glenwood Grove took us near the country seat of Wm. Cullen Bryant, the author of "Thanatopaia" The our-of-town homes of the wealthy citizens are beautified to the fullest extent.

The work of undermining Hell Gate goes steadily on. It is tunnelled for hun dreds of yards, and it may be that on the 4th of July this dangerous obstruction to navigation will be blown up powder, glycerine, &c., now awaiting the match. Central Park was visited. The museum, the collection of unimals, bards, &c., the statues, the fountain—all were "scooped Were rowed over the lake, and meeting a boat with a precious cargo, in the shape of a bury of girls, our party got a sprinking at their hands.
