LITERARY GOSSIP.

Mr. William Arthur has in press, under the singular title of "The Modern Jove," a review of the collected speeches of Pio Nono.

Walter Hetherington will bring out his description of the money market of London, under the title of "London Direct."

Mr. J. C. Hetherington proposes to produce shortly a new edition of Charles Knight's "London," with addition up to the present date.

Sir John Lubbock is contributing to Nature, London, a series of valuable papers on the Origin and Metamorphosis of Insects, accompanied with profuse illustrations.

A learned Russian, named Narsenianin, has published, at St. Petersburg, a treatise on "The Rights and the Position of We-men in Christendom."

Edward Jenkins, author of "Gina's Baby," is to be the editor of the Imperial, new London Magazine.

The Saturday Review pronounces "Old Kensington," which is the longest story Miss Thackeray has yet written, to be the one that gives the highest impression of the richness and power of her genius.

M. Pouillet de Verneuil, of the Academy of Sciences, Paris, who died recently, was the author of several important works on geology, to wit: The "Geology of the Rhine," the "Geology of the Census," and the "Geology of Europe." Russia."

J. B. Lippincott & Co. announce a new and carefully revised edition of Prescott's Works. The issue is to be a volume a month. The editor is Mr. John Foster Kirk, author of "The History of Charles the Bold." The edition is to be of the finest quality, both literary and illustra-tional.

Professor Creasy, in his "Fifteen Decimal Battles of History," from Marathon to Waterloo, assigns a place in the list to the battle of Saragossa, as determining the action of foreign powers in his favor, thus deciding the war of the Revolution.

The Copyright of Keble's "Christian Year," which, published originally in 1830, for years brought the writer a royalty of more than $2000 ($8000) per annum, has not expired, and numerous rival editions are already in the market at reduced prices.

The Havana Tribune says a Cuban Central Committee has been organized there.
Large anti-slavery meetings have already been held and large sums of money forwarded to priests in Spain emigrating in favor of Don Carlos.

HOME AFFAIRS.

May.

A splendid lot of Timothy hay may be had at Osborne's Grain and Feed Store.

Apology.

As there is but one person to do all the work on this issue, we hope our readers will overlook the many deficiencies, local and otherwise.

Commencement at Wake Forest College.

We regret that our report of yesterday's proceedings at this institution reached us too late for this issue. A full report will appear in our next.

Orator Elected.

The Alumni of Randolph-Macon College, Virginia, have just elected Hon. W. M.
Robbins, of North Carolina, orator for the reunion of the Association in June 1874.
An excellent appointment.

Death of Dr. Jno. G. Moore.

We regret to learn that this well-known physician, at Company Shops, is dead.
He at one time represented Albemarle in the Legislature. He did a large portion, we believe.

Old Fields of Nash.

A gentlemen from Nash is ening to the case of Kerrigan against Father McNamara, said, it showed depravity and baseness that would put the old fields to the blush forty years go.

A Grange Formed.

Col. Aiken, of South Carolina, made a speech on yesterday on the subject of the Farmers' Granges that are becoming so general. Other duties prevented our attending. We learn that his address was listened to with much interest, and a Grange was formed consisting of sixteen members.

Supreme Court.

This tribunal met yesterday at the natural hour. All of the Justices present except Judge Boyden, who is still detained byrickness. The following cases were argued:

S. P. Caldwell vs. R. J. Blatty, Gaston.
W. P. Byrum and H. W. Gurnell for plain-iff, and D. Schuck for defendant.

G. W. McKee vs. Jacob Lienberger, Lincoln. D. Schenk and W. P. Byrum for plaintiff, and J. H. Wilson and H. W.
Gurnell for defendant.

Court then adjourned until to-morrow.

Gallantry.

We heard it seriously proposed after the concert at the Peace Institute the other night, that Mr. Barwell, or the Board of Trustees, should have pulleys in the ceiling with iron hooks attached, and with unfeeling edict every "gentleman" who dared to seduce to seats in the chapel, while the halls and passages were crowded with ladies standing, should be unmercifully hoisted in mid-air, and removed. We trust that Raleigh needs no such devices to teach propriety, but the hint is worth mentioning.

A Word to the Wise.

Why is it that our enjoyment at public assemblies must so miserably be the thoughtless conduct of young persons? At the Peace Institute concert on Wednesday evening the two brutal persons who greatly annoyed others had the better taste and culture to prefer to hear the music than their remarks. Notwithstanding the polite and earnest gesticulations of the Principals that strict silence be observed during the performance of the young ladies, some had the thoughtlessness to disregard such wishes. We are glad to note that but few, very few, were anxious to share the shore criticism.

Lord Clifton, son of the Earl of Dartmoor, not having done his shooting, had nearly declined to be the Conservative candidate for M. P. from Rochester, England.

George Macdonald is passing the summer on the southern shore of Lochaber, in the rugged Land of Loire, Scotland.

The estate of the late William H. Broadman, of Boston, has, already sold for $1,500,000, and there is a buyer yet to be found.

The genuine Signor Blitz, the old and singular magician, says there are less than thirty-three persons who masquerade about the community under his name.

One of the most successful of bluffers is John Beethoven, land owner, to distinguish himself from his less thrifty brother, who restored to signing Yea Beethoven, a man of wealth.

Prince Arthur has resigned the post of Commander-in-Chief of the Royal Guards, to the estate of his son, the Duke of Cambridge.

General W. O. Butler, the Democratic candidate for Vice-President in 1849 or the ticket with General Cass is still living.
He is in his eighty-third year, but a Kentucky journal says he walks at least six miles each day.

Concert at Peace Institute.

The closing concert of the first year of this Institute took place on Wednesday evening in the Chapel of the Institute.
The Chapel, Hall, Porches, and every available space were crowded with appreciative and delighted listeners, the elite and fashion of the city, and many visitors from the sister States attending a new house of worship.

Ladies' Bazaar.

The ladies of Edenton Street Methodist church will continue the display of their fine handiwork and lots of good things for the inner man, this evening at Tucker Hall. Assist them in their efforts to raise funds for the purpose of erecting a new house of worship.

STATE NEWS.

J. W. King, of Reidsville, was arrested yesterday evening upon the charge of stealing from the P. M. at Reidsville. He took the freight train and came to this place, but the telegraph beat him, and now he boards with the sheriff.—Greeneville Patriot.
