NORTH CAROLINA.

The Statesville Intelligencer expects to enlarge soon.

About the 1st of October the Spirit of the Age, Raleigh, will be enlarged to eight pages.

A terrible hurricane visited the Southern part of Hickory township, last week, uprooting trees and fences and doing serious damage to the corn crop. An immense volume of water fell, swelling the creeks and carrying off mills and forges.—Piedmont Press.

Z. B. VANCE.—This honored and distinguished son of our State has accepted the invitation to deliver the address at the Second Annual Fair of the People's A. & M. Association to be held at Hickory on the 29th, 30th, and 31st of October. Gov. Vance needs no introduction to the people of Western North Carolina.—Piedmont Press.

Mr. John Smyer, of Gaston county, is 91 years old and has 14 children. The Lincoln Progress says: The longevity of the Smyer family is most remarkable. John Smyer, father of Mr. Smyer, lived to be one hundred years and a few months old. He had two sisters that lived respectively to 110 and 112 years, and a brother to 114 years old.

The Statesville Intelligencer says: The crop prospects in this part of the State are all that the most sanguine could desire. It is feared, however, that the long continued rains will cause cotton to make too much weed, and prevent the proper opening of tobacco. Corn is very fine where it has been well worked, and the constitutional grumblers who talked about hard times during the recent drought are set back a whole year.

FROM ABBOTTSBURG TO FAYETTEVILLE.—We learn that there is some talk of building a railroad from Abbottsburg to Fayetteville, a number of gentlemen having conceived the notion that a connection from that point would be preferable to the one proposed from Lumberton some time since. It is claimed that very little grading would be necessary, while a considerable saving would be made in the distance.—Wil. Star.

SUDDEN DEATH.—An old lady by the name of Mrs Jennie Morgan died very suddenly at her residence at Harrison's store, in this county, about 20 miles from Wilmington, on Friday morning last. She went out very early in the morning and the children not having seen her for some time, went to look for her, and found her dead.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Returned.

The Editor returned last evening from Warren Court, and will no doubt have much to say in our next issue of Warren Court and his suit against Gov. Holden, which was continued by Judge Watts.

Correction.

In yesterday's issue we committed the error of saying that Cleaveland Springs were in Catawba county. This popular place of resort is in Cleaveland county.

Capt. Plato Durham.

We are glad to learn that Capt. Plato Durham, editor of the Cleaveland Banner, is rapidly recovering from his recent severe illness.

Meeting of Executive Committee.

We are requested to announce that there will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society at the office of the Secretary this morning at 10 o'clock. Business of importance will be transacted.

Vacant Offices.

At the meeting of the county commissioners on Monday last all the county officers elect gave bond and were qualified except W M Brown, county treasurer, and A Magnin, coroner. At the meeting of the board on Tuesday next persons will be elected to fill the offices.

Additional Premium.

At a meeting of the Rescue Steam Fire Company on Tuesday night last, a resolution was passed offering FIFTY DOLLARS, or so much more of the value of fifty dollars, as an additional premium to be awarded at the approaching State Fair to the successful Steam Engine Company. A silver medal will be competed for and the company to whom it is awarded will receive the $50.

Gone North.

Mr. J. D. Newsom, formerly of the firm of Primrose, Petty & Newsom, left this morning for the Northern cities to purchase a stock of goods for his new store. He will occupy the old stand of Messrs. Rosenbaum & Bro., on Fayetteville street, which is being handsomely refitted. He hopes to have his stock in and be ready for business within three or four weeks, and announces his intention of selling dry goods at "bottom figures, for cash."

Central Agricultural Society.

We have received the programme and premium list for the fifteenth annual fair of the Central Agricultural Society of Granville, Warren and Franklin. Like most of the lists we have seen this season, the premiums offered are numerous and valuable. The fair will be held at Henderson, North Carolina, on October 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th. Ample provisions have been made for seating 2,000 persons and the indications are that this will be the grandest fair ever held at Henderson.

Rain in August.

It didn't seem so, but there was actually less rain during August of this year than in either 1871 or 1872. In August of the former year there fell 8 29 inches; in 1872 14.45 inches; and this year 7.42 inches.—Wil. Journal.

This might be the case on the Cape Fear, but we cannot doubt that more rain fell in this section than was ever known in any previous August. What says "the oldest inhabitant?"

Long Buildings.

A country exchange talks about the removal of the capital to its corporation because it happens to have a stable a hundred feet longer than the new cotton factors' building in this city. For the information of the gentleman we will state that there are several buildings in this city and vicinity which go a long way ahead of anything his village can show. We will mention only one for the present—the Lunatic Asylum, which is 726 feet in length.

Hymenial.

On yesterday morning Mr. Edward M. Bledsoe, son of Hon. M. A. Bledsoe, of this city, led to the altar the beautiful and accomplished Miss Annie M. Hinton, daughter of the late Laurens Hinton, of this county. The marriage ceremony took place at Christ (Episcopal) Church, Rev. Dr. Aldert Smedes officiating, and notwithstanding no cards were issued, a large number of friends of the contracting parties were present to witness the ceremony. The happy pair left immediately on the Raleigh & Gaston train for an extended tour North. May unalloyed happiness attend them through life.

Home Again.

Our neighbor and friend Thos. N. Ramsay, the great apostle of temperance, has returned from Europe and reached the city yesterday. He was out fourteen days and had a stormy passage, with Judge Black and other distinguished persons. Ramsay is looking well and has seen great sights. He brought some wheat from Ireland and a Barlow knife from Sheffield for the Sentinel Editor. We [illegible] whether Ramsay paid [illegible]

FINE CUT.

Beau Hickman, a celebrated North Carolinian, is dead.

Wanted to give reading lessons—A young man at the city postoffice.

A colored woman down South shouted herself to death at a recent camp-meeting.

An Ohio schoolma'm has killed 114 snakes on her way to and from school this summer.

One of the lessons a woman most rarely learns is never to talk to an angry or a drunken man.

Josephine Mansfield's English lover borrowed three thousand dollars of her and walked off.

New Haven has a female letter-carrier. She gets very mad when alluded to as a "street-walker."

To cure nose-bleed, the Scientific American says, vigorously move your jaws. Mothers-in-law never have it.

Read the city tax collector's advertisement in another column and save money by going forward and paying up.

All communications in connection with the Wise Men's Club should be addressed to the President, Mr. K. H. Weathers, City Postoffice.

The post office on wheels and rolling across a square, was the sensation of Fayetteville street yesterday, and drawed a considerable crowd.

A Fon du Lac man has invented a machine which harvests wheat, threshes it and bags it ready for market, but can't bring it into use this year.

A Vienna journal contains the following announcement: "Anna Agrikol, sick nurse, watches dead bodies, repairs straw chairs, applies leeches, and makes pastry deserts and delicacies."

An epitaph in a Pennsylvania churchyard: "Here lies the body of Amy Major, who departed this life March 20, 1792. Suffice it to say that she was an honest woman—the second noblest work of God."

A "young lady in Schenectady" has written to Frank Walworth, "We all know you intended to do no wrong, and we all love you as well as we did before." Unfortunately, this is not the love that laughs at locksmiths: but it is very silly and very sweet.

The New York club has a peculiar cocktail. It is made of the best brandy and several different kinds of bitters, and they always want it shaken in ice, not stirred. The Amaranth club has a cocktail made with seltzer, and the Manhattan club has invented another.

Not So.

The rumor that the New Fair Grounds would not be in readiness in time for the October State Fair is groundless, as will be seen by reference to the card of Capt. R. T. Fulghum, published in to-day's SENTINEL.

Home and Back.

We paid a hurried visit to our home at Oxford—leaving Saturday and returning Tuesday. We dined on our way out at Col. Kittrell's hotel, and advise all travellers who may stop at Henderson to give the Colonel a call. He is obliging and clever, and will take good care of you.

On our return we dined with Mr. Davis, the gentlemanly proprietor of the Kittrell Depot Hotel. He gave us a dinner that was capitally served. After the well prepared substantials, he laid before us appetizing desert and luscious grapes and pears, the latter as large and as sweet as any we have seen. We hear that he thinks of leaving, but we really hope he will not.

We were glad to learn from prominent gentlemen whom we met on the cars, that the SENTINEL is gaining ground in their sections, and that it is thought to be better now than ever before. An active agent also told us that it was becoming more popular in some sections he had visited. Oh if our friends would only work for us!

Oxford Items.

The health of the town has greatly improved.—The base ball clubs are quite excited over the contests that come off weekly. The last game resulted in favor of the town boys over the Horner boys. The time before the last the latter were victorious.—The schools are in full operation. The Horner and Graves school is pretty full. Many of the boys say they will not follow them to Hillsboro', if they should leave. Oxford is the place. Horner and Oxford should be "one and inseperable."—The seminary under Mrs. Grant and Miss Mitchell, assisted by Miss Field, of Warren, Mrs. Stradley's school, and those of Miss Kittrell and Mrs. Paschall are in full operation.—An interesting revival of religion is in progress at the Methodist Church under charge of Rev. Mr. Griffith. Some [illegible] Orange Presbytery will be [illegible]

T. B. Kingsbury, of Raleigh, N. C., proposes to revive the Leisure Hour, a Southern literary magazine.—Richmond Dispatch.

There is one error in this statement. The Leisure Hour was a literary weekly. The late Jno. R. Thompson drew attention twice to its merits, in the Southern Literary Messenger, and also in two long editorials in the Petersburg Express, then conducted by A. F. Crutchfield, Mr. Thompson writing the leaders. Col. Paul H. Hayne, when editing Russell's Magazine, published at Charleston, S. C., had two very complimentary notices of this literary hebdomadal, then edited by the Associate of the SENTINEL, it being his first adventure as an editor. The Charleston Courier asked the booksellers of that city to keep the Leisure Hour on their counters instead of the Northern Literary papers of that time, 1858. Mr. Kingsbury proposes to revive this paper, which he originated and conducted, if he can do so.

For the Sentinel.

MR. EDITOR: There are a great many persons in this county who would like to know who Sheriff's Lee's bondsmen are. The bond is public property and the public have a right to know who signed it. Can't you publish the list with the amounts signed for opposite each name?

INQUIRER.

Raleigh, Sept. 3d, 1873.

Answer to Correspondent.

In response to the request of our correspondent, "Inquirer," we give below the names of the signers of the sheriff's bonds. We should have given the names and the amount for which each person signed in our report of the proceedings of the county commissioners on Monday, but was disuaded from doing so on the ground that it was unusual and had never been done heretofore. We only do so now to satisfy the public that we have no disposition to withhold from them any information which they desire and which is in our power to give them:

The Cleaveland Banner,

From the last issue of the above named Journal, we learn that Mr. W. C. Durham, local editor, severs his connection and is succeeded by Mr. J. P. Babington as local editor and publisher. Mr. Babington is a practical printer and having had considerable newspaper experience we doubt not will make his columns spicy and readable. Capt. Plato Durham will still have charge of the editorial columns. In taking leave of his readers the local says:

With this issue of the Banner our career as local editor comes to a close. We acknowledge that we have not made our department of the paper as instructive and interesting as we should have done. But we could not well devote more time and attention to it, as other duties of more importance to us have demanded our time and thoughts. We have been connected with the paper from near its establishment to the present, and are pretty well versed in the pleasures (of) life. But notwithstanding all these pleasures (?) duty says we must leave them, to tramp the perilous path of another vocation. For what we have said through the columns of the Banner we have no regrets; neither have we anything to retract.

Petersburg Tobacco Market.

There were quite large breaks to-day, and the attendance on 'Change good. The market opened animated at full prices, but became weaker, and some holders withdrew a portion of the offering. There was but little desirable tobacco for shippers to-day, consequently they done but little. Dark strong tobacco and fine, fancy, bright wrappers are in demand at full prices. We quote:

Lugs $6.00 to $8.00, working lugs $6.50 $8.25; shipping leaf, common to very good, $9 to $13; fine $13.00 to $14.00; filler leaf, common to good, $8 50 to $10; very good $10.50 to $11.50; dark strong waxy leaf, (husky fired,) suitable for black work $9.75 to $14 for common to fine; coal cured wrappers $15 to $73; nondescript leaf $8.50 to $11.00. Mouldy, warm and funked tobacco is selling very low.—Appeal.

School Matters.

There will be a called meeting of the Board of Education in this city on Saturday the — instant for the purpose of apportioning to the several townships the school money recently paid to the county treasurer by the sheriff. School committeemen who do not return a census of the number of school children now in their townships must expect their apportionment to be made according to the last census.

For the Sentinel.

OFFICE N. C. AGRIC'L SOCIETY, Raleigh, Sept. 3.

Editors Daily Sentinel:

I am asked the question daily, whether or not the improvements, now in progress on the new Fair Grounds, will be ready in time for the approaching State Fair. To remove all doubt in the premises. I can assure the thousands who expect to visit our great Exposition, that the grounds, buildings, race-track, stables, pens—in short, everything necessary for the grand opening on the 13th of next month will be ready in time. Two hundred mechanics and laborers are engaged on the work, and if necessary, more force will be added.

Very respectfully,

R. T. FULGHUM, Sec.

IMPORTANT BANKRUPTCY RULING.—We have it from a reliable and trustworthy source that Judge Dick, of the United States District Court of the Western District of North Carolina, holds that it is the duty of the assignee of a bankrupt to sell the reversionary interest in the homestead, and that too whether the assignee has been discharged or not. That this interest was conveyed by deed to the assignee and is held as trustee for the creditors if any prove claims, otherwise if none are proved then for the bankrupt.—Piedmont Press.

FOR THE WORKHOUSE AND PENITENTIARY.—Sheriff Taylor, of Brunswick county, arrived here yesterday morning, having in charge two white men from that county, John B. S. Phillips and E. H. Delany, the former of whom has been sentenced to the Penitentiary for five years and the latter to the workhouse for four month. Delany was turned over to Superintendent Nan Amringe and Phillips will be taken to Raleigh to-day and left at the penitentiary to serve out his term.—Wil. Jour.

THE RALEIGH.—This new steamship, which has recently been constructed for the Wilmington and Baltimore trade, arrived yesterday, shortly after two o'clock, her appearance for the first time in our waters being greeted by a salute of three guns from the Company's wharf. The Raleigh is a side screw propeller of 593 tons burthen, was built by John S. Beacham & Bro., of Baltimore, and cost $75,000. She is commanded by Captain John S. Oliver. The Company now have four fine steamships running between this port and Baltimore, and we learn that a daily line will probably be established at an early day.—Wil. Star.

THE SINGER STILL AHEAD.

Sold in 1872, 219,653, forty-five thousand more than any other company, and nine out of ten of said Singer Machines were for family use, proving the great popularity of the Singer in the household.

We claim and can show that it is the cheapest, most beautiful, delicately arranged, nicely adjusted, easily operated, and smoothly running of all the Family Sewing Machines. It is remarkable not only for the range and variety of its sewing, but also for the variety and different kinds of texture which it sews with equal facility and perfection, using any kind of silk twist, linen or cotton thread, fine or coarse, making the Inter-Locked Elastic Stitch, alike on both sides. Some dealers, using the "tricks of trade," try to persuade purchasers that our Family Machine is not equal for family sewing to our manufacturing machines for manufacturing purposes.

Try and see for yourself that our new family sewing machine embodies new and essential principles, to wit: simplicity of construction; ease of operation; uniformity of precise action at any speed; unparalleled durability; capacity for range and variety of work, fine or coarse—leaving all rivals behind it. We do not make an additional charge to our Machines, but sell them as low as they can be bought south of New York.
