

THE SENTINEL

JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., Editor. T. B. KINGSBURY, Associate Editor.

TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 16, 1873. EDITORIAL HERALDS

Mr. Smith (John perhaps) of the Indian Commission has lately "interviewed" the representative men of 40,000 Indians...

Of course there wasn't any massacre at Fort Hill; but what sort of creature is the party who could get up a yarn of this character to horrify the whole nation?

A good "patient" in Yanceedom has become greatly alarmed at the condition of his daughter. She was found busy at work, which she persisted in, and when offered $500 to buy her some new dresses...

Some German paper has at last discovered that Bismarck does not write his own important notes and dispatches, but that a certain wonderful but unknown Herr Bucher does.

A Northern writer, signing himself "Keynote," is criticizing sharply the defects of American speech, does not fail to have his hit at the poor Southerners.

Some of the Northern papers are "blowing" over Cornell University disregarding all denominational distinctions and religious preferences.

Perhaps some of our readers remember reading a very brilliant article that appeared some few years ago in the London Quarterly Review upon the Talmud.

A leading Radical paper of Chicago, the Inter-Ocean, is for calling bank depositors thieves. It says there is virtue in calling things by their right names.

A Radical sheet of New York makes a good point in regard to Bibles. It says that we have created because the Bible is a book of lies.

ATTENTION GRANTERS! We call the attention of our readers, and especially of the Grangers, to the resolution passed at a New York meeting...

It is estimated that the total amount of the present system of railway management would be the watering of stocks with the water of the ocean.

1868, paying $242,000 in cash. It was the people's money, realized by selling the people's bonds, or State bonds, if you please.

To accomplish this he gave all the members of the Legislature a free pass, not to go and return once during the session, but at will.

President Buford wanted the public printing for his paper; if he could not get it, he wanted it put up to the lowest bidder.

President Buford paid money to run the "sterling" Democratic papers called the Carolinian and Dispatch.

The Raleigh News has taken more than one occasion to applaud the Granges that secret societies are indictable.

AN EXHUMED FOSSIL

Whatever may be said of Mr. Allen's Democracy, his dislike of the South is unmistakable. If his party in Ohio expect to elect him because of his antagonism to the South they will be disappointed.

The Raleigh News, making, as its editor said, by the sale $2,500. The sale took place just after Swenson proposed, through Dr. Blackall, to buy the SENTINEL.
