the French Broad Haver, two miles below its junction with the beautiful hwannana. Although it is in a valley, and appears from Beau-Catcher or Battery Por ter, to be almost entirely surrounded by mountain, it is over two thounsand feet obove tide water. It abounds in elegant building sites, on some of which are handsome residences - some of brick, but mostly wood, several of them recently built and a few in process of construction. Land, both in town and near there is held at high prices - comparatively, and few however, capenially in the valleys' is very tertile, and really very valuable. The owner of one of these valley farms, has a focture within his grasp. We see some farms on the mountain tops, and are told that large yields of hay, Irish potatoes, cabbages, do., are gathered from them. The farmers however, are not up with the times in their business, as compared even with those of Wake of its neighboring -- nation. They have nothing to - atimuste thou to do their best as prices are so where for their products, and the expeter of getting to a better market so ng with the middle section of North wold most likely double the produce of Bencombe county in two years, and would at the same time almost double the prices the products. And nearly every man s determined to Asse a road. There is a project new on foot for "the Greenville to Frauch Broad R. R.," to which about $10,000 was subscribed in a day or two the people in and around Ashavitte. small portion of which was paid in yesterday, and Col. T. Coleman with a full ourse to day. Henderson county has voted $190,000 to the road, and Buncombe will tote in a proposition to subscribe the coles a tittle like business. They expect half from Charjeston, and other portions of S. C., and also from the Morthwestern cities to extend the Boad in that direction. Asheville and immediate vicinity, is the taly section we have found which has suffered from dreath this reason. The Shreveport Sufferers,

The fever is still raging fearfully at Shreveport. The cry for help still comes from the stricken town, and the North is responding. We learn from the Wilmington Journal that $400 has been sent for ward from that place. What is Raleigh doing?

Entries.

On yesterday, as we are informed by the Secretary of the Agricultural Society. more than one hundred entries were made or the State Fair, among them were several fine ruce horses. We are not at lib erty to give the names of the horses as it might effect the entries of some others, In our next we will probably publish the list of entries made since our last report.

The Pinancial Panic.

We are sine-rely glad that the tremendous panic in financial circles has ended. It was terrific. The public mind has been excited in the North to fever heat, but a healthful reaction has set in, and the putient will doubtless recover. We suppose it will be prudent to announce at last that "the country is safe " from financial bank roptcy, and that we will not have a general storm. It like other storms, this re cent one among the bulls and bears should ter we will state that Asheville is the purify the financial atmosphere and discounty scal of Buncombe, situated near pet the thick clouds of corruption that have long hung over monetary circles in the North, great and salutary results will leave for New York to-morrow. follow.
