BRIEFS.

A good floor manager—a broom.
Oversers of the poor: Those who overlook them.
A thirty-one desires to know if they drink stock ale at the broker's board.
Is pocket-picking, as in every other case, a man never succeeds until he gets his hands on it?
A Vermont debating club a new arrangement.
The Carolina Herald says the failure of the Legislature to impeach Judge Watts was a blunder, to call it by no other term, and shows conclusively that more brains were needed in the General Assembly.
NEW HANOVER.—We learn that crime is very much on the increase in this county. The superior court has been in session eight weeks, and during that time twelve persons have been sentenced to the penitentiary and eleven to the county workhouse. Nearly all of these are colored.
THE KILLING OF MR. NEAL.—If we may credit the accounts of the killing of Mr. Neal at the hands of Joseph D. Elliott, at Statesville, on Thursday last, it was a cowardly assassination. There had been some bad feeling between them, and they had had angry words in the St. Charles Hotel. Young Elliott went to his father who was in some rear room, telling him he would kill Neal if he was not taken away. The father ordered Neal to leave, and began to "pull him towards the door, when his son came up behind and reaching his arm around Neal, placed the muzzle of a heavy pistol against his breast and fired. Neal fell dead into the arms of Dr. J. J. Motz. It is a horrible story. Neal was but twenty years of age, of highly respectable parents, and the young murderer is but twenty-one. According to accounts he took things quite coolly after the murder. There ought to be a heavy penalty against carrying concealed weapons.
SUPREME COURT.—This court met at the usual hour, all the Justices present. The following cases set for hearing at the end of the 8th District were taken up and disposed of as follows, viz:
James Neighbors vs. Allen Jordan from Randolph county. L. M. Scott for plaintiff, and McCorkle and Bailey for defendant.
John L. Maxwell et al, from Davie. Batchelor & Edwards for plaintiff, and W. H. Bailey for defendant. Argued.
E. F. Cummins vs. Hampton & March, W. H. Bailey for plaintiff, and T. J. Wilson and R. T. Gray, for defendants.
Deep River Copper Company vs. B. F. Martin from Rowan. W. H. Bailey for plaintiff, and J. M. McCorkle for defendant. Argued.
Isaac W. Jones vs. C. T. Wagoner from Rowan. McCorkle and Bailey for plaintiff, and Jones & Jones for defendant. Argued.
The court adjourned to meet again this a. m. at 10 o'clock, when the consideration of appeals placed at the head of the docket will be resumed, commencing with Neal vs. Cowles from Rowan county.
DEATH OF REV. DR. MASON.—This venerable and eminent divine died on yesterday morning at 11½ o'clock, at his residence in this city, of pneumonia, which he had been ill for some two weeks. Thus has passed away, full of years, after a well-spent life, one of the oldest, most revered and loved citizens of Raleigh. Dr. Mason was probably 78 years of age, and his best days and declining years were spent in the service of his Lord and Master, whom he adored, and in whom he devoutly and unflinchingly trusted for salvation and eternal repose. Dr. Mason became the rector of Christ Church in this city in 1841, if we are not mistaken. Under his ministry a new and handsome edifice has been erected, and the membership so greatly increased that it has been able to colonize. He was a man of unfeigned piety, of deep humility, of much amiability—a broad-breasted, kindly, genial servant of God, full of love, and bearing a christian spirit towards the members of other communions. He was a learned man, and we use the word in its literal and not in its conventional sense. In this community he has dwelt long. Here he has toiled and preached by word and holy example. Here he has baptized the children of many households; here he has married the sons and daughters of two generations; here he has offered the last solemn rites to the dead of his congregation—when dust mingled with dust and ashes united with ashes. And now the excellent and pious old servant has departed, and who shall fill his place in the church for which he so self-sacrificedly labored, and to which he was so sincerely attached? A wise and useful man has fallen in God's Israel. After a life of much labor he has entered into his rest—that rest that remaineth unto the people of God.
The writer is not sufficiently acquainted with the life of Dr. Mason to undertake a fitting memorial. Having heard him preach often in his school-boy days, and occasionally since, and having long ago learned to revere him for his many virtues, his just learning and fine abilities, he could not withhold his hand from writing the above. Doubtless some member of his flock will furnish as with such a tribute as his blessed memory deserves.

CHRIST CHURCH.

The usual services will take place at this Church this morning. The Assistant Bishop will officiate.
FOND'S EXTRACT.—The Vegetable Pain Destroyer never fails to afford relief from Pain. Try it once, and nothing could induce you to be without it.
WICKET GATE.—Rev. L. Branson will preach at 11 o'clock, on the subject, "The citizens are invited to attend."

HURRYGRAPHS.

Judge Tourgee has already held a four weeks term of Wake Court, and will continue for two weeks, or more, longer, until the docket is cleared. The lawyers consider him an improvement on Judge Watts.
The weather is again very mild and pleasant, so much so that at this writing, people are again flocking to the city.
MR. JAS. LEONARD, candy-maker, and Mr. J. J. Lattimer, saloon keeper, resulting in the knocking down of the latter, who cried "hold, enough."
Some thirty soft drunk life-keepers of Simmons' Liver Regulator out of a bottle in our office, on yesterday morning.
BRIGHT SUCCESS.—It is permitted to few men or companies to achieve acknowledged superiority in any important profession or business. The present generation has witnessed stupendous rivalry in several branches of industry, and notably the Sewing Machine business. Amid a multitude of competitors, steadily and surely the Wheeler & Wilson Company fixed their way from the beginning, upon fixed and honorable principles. Long since, their leading position in America was established. Abroad, at London, in 1862, they won the highest premiums; at Paris, in 1867, they distanced eighty-two competitors, and were awarded the highest premium; the only Gold Medal for Sewing Machines exhibited; and lastly, amid unparalleled competition, followed the splendid triumphs at Vienna, noted in our advertising columns.
LECTURE ON GEN. LEE.—We are glad to be able to announce that Maj. John W. Moore, of Hertford, will recite his poem on Gen. Robert E. Lee, in the House of Representatives, on Monday evening. Tickets can be procured at Branson's and Egan's bookstores. Maj. Moore is a gentleman of culture and poetic sympathies and gifts, and will no doubt recite a poem of interest and merit. He appears in behalf of the orphan children of Confederate soldiers who lie buried in Virginia, North Carolina and other States. The theme is one that can never fail to excite the admiration of every one capable of appreciating one of the greatest, most rounded and well-posed characters in all history—the highest development, as the writer believes in his heart, that has ever been incarnated on American soil. The object must find a hearty response in every grateful heart—it is to provide a home for the fatherless and motherless little children of one State who are without friends, and who are growing up in ignorance. Let all attend. An agreeable poem, a lofty theme, a noble object—these are the claims upon you reader, so go and hear.

FROM NEW YORK.
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.
The saloon keepers propose to organize a protective union in every ward in the city to protect their rights as citizens and taxpayers, and guard their interests in general. They are now considering a preamble and resolutions, reciting that history has shown that the use of gifts of nature and products of human industry cannot be successfully interdicted by enactment of laws, that every article of solid or liquid food is to a certain extent poisonous; that the policy of prohibition by law in place of regulation of traffic in fermented liquors, beer and wines, is as clearly against the bill of rights, and the constitution of the State and United States, as would be the interference with any other trade or licensed business. Yet notwithstanding these reasons, fanaticism and riotous proceedings are rampant once more.
At a meeting of the saloon keepers yesterday, addresses were made denouncing the present crusade of women who will not allow liquor dealers, like other tradesmen, to ply their business in peace.
States Island began the war yesterday by the women taking advantage of the absence of a proprietor to pray in his saloon.
The women of Orange, N. J., began to-day.
