HOME AFFAIRS

Mr. James Stone, living near Lenoirville, Va., gave birth to three children on Sept. 2, two boys and one girl. All were doing well at last accounts. His Stone is the daughter of Rev. Geo. Neely of the Primitive Baptist church.

The following "eighty four" of boys will prove interesting to all admirers of heavy men. Yesterday a certain pair of boys showed that Gen. W. H. Treat of Moore, N. C., was a great fighter. Major W. H. Matthews, of the city, Col. W. H. Stone, of Gaston, 160; and Col. H. Rocker, of New York, 280—aggregating eleven hundred and twenty pounds. It was said that a magnificent fight of boys would thus be a grand success.

MONSIEUR TEMPLAIRE.—The N. R. Ramsey, Esq., of Raleigh, has lectured recently at Lumberton and other points on the line of the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad, in the interest of the Good Temple organization. He was quite successful, organizing two lodges at Lumberton and one each at Stone Hill, Laurinburg and Lenoirville.

Mr. Archibald Graham, formerly of Fayetteville, North Carolina, has been elected secretary (also "Commercial National Bank of Charlotte," just organized).

THE CENTRAL.—The Charlotte Observer says of the failure of the Legislature to pass resolutions providing for the celebration of the 20th of May Declaration of Independence that Virginia or any other State would that famous Declaration—what a fuss would be made over it!

REPORTS.—The claim of the New York Herald to the credit of destroying the "Swamp Angels" as it styled the Robbers who were to the killing of Steve—the last of the Angelic host.

BUSINESS.—NORTH CAROLINA. JOHN AND FORM BOOK.—We have received from James H. Ennis, Publisher and Editor of the "Amended Constitution" of North Carolina, being the first issue of a new and valuable book, 20 pages from the press, entitled, "Busbee's N. C. Justice and Police Book," by Quent Busbee, Esq., of the Raleigh Bar.

The work is designed as a practical Manual for Justice of the Peace, County Commissioners, Clerks, Constables, Sheriffs, Townships, Deacons of Churches, and other officers. It will also contain many important and necessary legal forms in general use by professional and business men. Such as agreements, assignments, mortgages, contracts, deeds, leases, notes, bonds, bills of exchange, &c. The whole arranged and drawn in strict conformity to the present statute laws of North Carolina, exclusive of the laws of the last General Assembly.

Such a book must undoubtedly prove of great service and convenience to all county officers, attorneys, merchants, and traders; in fact, to all men who have occasion to use the legal form, and a reliable and standard authority. Price, 75 cents. Sent by mail on receipt of the price.

The circulation of the Spring 1874 publication, "Business and Law," the advertisement of the General Government, is $1.00 per head of population, against $1.00 per head in 1870. The State government begins to cost as much per capita, as the Federal Government and New York only coming up to $1.20 per head.

Alexander Dumas used to tell the following anecdote: "One evening at the San Carlo, Naples, he entered into conversation with a stranger sitting in the stall next to him. 'I hope,' said the latter, 'that the cause of the performance that we may have the pleasure of seeing to-night is Alexander Dumas.' 'Oh, indeed!' replied the celebrated novelist, 'with my laugh to you!'"

THE BROTHERHOOD OF COLORADO.—The Rev. Thomas J. McFadden, pastor of St. Paul's church, Littleton, twelve miles from Denver, Colorado, announced in his sermon Sunday that the service next Sunday will be according to the ritual of the new movement, and that he will be according to that platform. The Rev. W. H. Stone, of St. John's church, Denver, telegraphed to New York to state further that the Rev. Mr. McFadden from the Missionary Society, and will next Sunday take charge of the meeting, and that he is believed that other Episcopal clergymen will follow the new departure. Mr. McFadden went to Denver from New York in August last.

One of the daily papers wants some attention paid to scientific research in respect to the ancient remains in America. Who were the people who built the mounds of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys? Of what nations were the aboriginal copper mines of Lake Superior? Who were the first people who discovered the sources of civilization in Mexico and whose civilization exists in the Southern States such as archaeological interest exists. Why should not the Government take this matter near home in hand, in order to arrive, if possible, at a solution of them, instead of sending all to European expeditions, which lose many valuable specimens? Why should European Expeditions be formed, while we neglect our own land? All of which are questions of our own land for us to solve. Our attention, however, may be said to be undoubtedly neglecting the study of the primitive civilization of the land in which we live to follow many a wild goose chase.—Baltimore Gazette.
