BANGET TO THE PRESS, -The Banque given by the Board of Trade of the city, to the Press at the Yarbrough House last evening, was an elegant affair, and passed off agreeably to all.

This morning Mr. Thomas Holt, with the gentlemen of the Press, and many gentismen of the city, moved off on a special train for Haw River, where Mr. Helt and Mr. A. G. Moore will entertain and dispense a regular Alamance hospitality. Mr. Bragg, our city editor, was of the company and will tell all about it to-merrow

Rev. Jo Garlick, col., who replied t the crazy Preacher Holmer, was caught last night in Mr. A. Creech! chicken coop with one of his game chickens in hand The Rev. Jo. ran well for an old man, and strange to say, ran into the arms of a policeman. Jo was locked up for the night.

THE PRESS CONVENTION.

On motion of Mr. Denson a resolution was adopted instructed the secretary of the convention to transmit a telegram to the National Agricultural Association in session at Atlanta Ga., tending their congratulations to that body &c.

Mr. Cameron reported from the Committee on a Education which was adopted. Mr. Jones from the committee on Agriculture, Immigration &c reported, fer both of which we regret we have not the space to publish to-day.

Mr. Hampton, a resolution in regard to the courtesies that should exist between Editors avoiding personalities &c., Adopted.

Mai, Engelhard objected to the spirit of the resolution when we had already a decided opinion upon this subject, It had appeared from the discussion which had been brought out that all the members of the press would adhere as closely to their published rates as far as possible, and did not conincide with the spirit of the resolution &c.

Mr. Jones defended his resolution, he wanted to know what he should be gover- chorus. It was seul inspiring, and the ned by, and strongly condemned as he did last evening the underbidding in ad-

Mr. Bend moved to lay on the table, Not adopted, Maj, Engelhard moved as a substitute for the whole matter, the original resolution as adopted by the first session of the convention, which in substance condemns and discountenance a departure from its published advertising rates, which he strongly defended,

Mr. Jones was fer pressing his own resolution and the resolution they new had was more chaff. The previous question was demanded, and Maj. Engelhard's motion prevailed.

Mr. Skinner from the committee to return thanks for the hospitalities es ' nded them while in the city reported in ex-tense, which report was unanimously adepted, the resolution was handsomely couched in complimentary words their treatment of, that they would ever cherish the kindress and hospitality of the citizens generally and that their convention of 4 should never be forgetten &c

A letter was read from Mr. Watson, the Photographer, inviting the members to leave their names for copies of the group taken te-day, which will be forwarded to them as a rememberance of their visit to Raleigh, After some further miner business the convention adjourned.

A GALA APTERNOOR.

According to programme, the members of the Press Convention having finished their labors and adjourned sine die, on yesterday at 2 30 P. M. after dinner were taken by the city Press in carriages for a swing around the city to see what Raleigh had already done, and what is still going on in the way of improvements. and to visit in compliance with cordial invitations our several institutions of learning. Previous to the departure of the Editors Mr. Grausman, the Steward, gave a probibitton trial of lemonade and cigars, remarking that nothing stronger was allowwere returned, and the carriages again being resumed the party was driven to ST. MABY'S SCHOOL, where they again debarked and being conducted into the parlor by the Rev. Dr. Smedes, and his Son, Rev. Bennett Smedes, were confronted by a bery of most beautiful young ladies who were standing at its rear with Prof. Geo. Grotz, their music Instructor, at their head, prepared to soon greet the ears of their admirers with sweet singing and music. It was indeed a feast, and the eyes of the corps were all directed upon that one beautiful spet. Dr. Smedes standing in the centre of the room gracefully and cordially welcomed the press to his school and briefly complimented them, his remarks bringing forth a burst of applause from the quill drivers, Maj. Engelhard, as the President of the association, returned thanks, remarking that it was here be had first met his better half, and in substance invited his brethren of the press to hang their barps and do likewise from the beautiful assemblage that now stood before them. was the next objective point to storm, and they were hurried onward, where arriving, a similar cordial greeting awaited them. The Rev. Dr. Pritchard as President of the Board of Directors, of this Institution, in behalf of the principal, extended a welcome, and was replied to by Mr. Stamps, briefly but exceedingly graceful on boanlf of the Press.

Dr. Von. Meyerhoff the musical, profes ser, was all in readiness with his scholars, the young ladies, and they were treated to specimens of the most elegant musical culture. A seat programme was printed and laid upon the desta of the chapel, and the Dr. quickly, but in the most magnificent style of the art, proceeded to go through with it, (we were behind time being delayed in starting on ecount of the rais) The young ladies developed fine musical progress under this plendid master of almost any instrument, and his playing on the violin, assisting the ladies in their instrumental pleces, was greatly complimented. The singing of Messes, Horton; Hall and Norris was enthusiastically received and heartily applauded. In fact to particularize further, is unnecessary, for the professor and the young ladies can well afford to rest upon their merit without farther comment from us. At the con clasion of the brief musical Concert, at the invitation of the principal, Mr. Hopgood, the party strolled through the building on a pleasant inspection. Leaving this Seminary amid the waving of handkerchiefs by tiny hards, they proceeded to the PRACE INSTITUTE, where the cerps were met by the Mon Burwell, and Prof. Stevens, and cordially invited in this elegant school. Opening a door to the right they were ushered into a room where an elegant collation was served, and where all partook heartsly. Now ascending to the upper floor in charge of the principals, the building was inspected and neatness and comfort greet-

We could not help thinking, as some wag observed, if they get dern caner of many of the prisoners, a hold of a broom stick and use it as handily as they do their long poles, "It will be fine to stand from under." Proceeding to the chapel en masse we were treated to the finest of singing, accompanied with music on the piano, by Prof. Beauman, Mus Kate Tate singing solo, the other young ladies joining in the chorus, Another cherus followed, when Miss Tate exquisitly and most beautifully rang a colo which was rapturously enchored, and would not be desisted till she came forth and lawered us with "Coming through the Rye," again she was complymented ed inside its devoted walls.
