DIED.—In this city, on Sunday last, at 5 P. M., of cholera infantum, little LAURA, aged one year and eight months, infant daughter of George W. and Hattie Poe. The funeral took place this afternoon, at the Edenton Street M. E. Church.

WATERMELONS.—Our popular Confectioner and Cigar man Robt. H. Bradley will have a full supply of these delicious watermelons from Mr. McLeans farm near Fayetteville, on Wednesday's mail train. They say they are splendid.

RESIGNATION.—Geo. F. Bason, chairman of the seventh judicial district, has tendered his resignation to the chairman of the State Executive Committee and it has been accepted. It would be well for the Executive Committee of said judicial district to meet and supply his place if they should see proper to do so.

Our Senior stopped this morning at Cary to hear the county candidates. We know the editor in time, must have heard some rare discussions but we ven ure he never heard anything to equal the discussion between the two Republican candidates for sheriff, one says he bribed the other, the other says, the other is a public plunderer. Yet there are white men in Wake county who will vote for both candidates.

KILLED BY THE TRAIN.—This evening as the eastward bound freight train was entering the depot in this city, on the N. C. R. R., a colored youth eight years old named George Hunter, attempting to get on a flat, the second car from the engine, missed his footing and fell across the rail, when the whole train passed over him severing him in two. He was killed almost instantly. A sad warning to boys who every day are engaged in this practice.

THE LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—Our townsman Capt. W. W. Smith, a son of Hon. W. N. H. Smith, delivers a most interesting and instructive lecture at Tucker Hall to-night. Subject, "Around the World." We are confident that he will be greeted with a large and appreciative audience. Capt. Smith was a companion of our friend James P. Cowardin, Esq., of Richmond, Va., the famous humorist, sailing to China and other foreign countries together on board the United States ship Frolic. He speaks by invitation of a Committee of our citizens the correspondence of whom would have been published in these columns on Saturday but for want of space. Go and spend an agreeable hour or so. Admission fifty cents, the proceeds going to the benefit of the Oxford Orphan Asylum.

Col Nat. McLean, of Robeson, we learn announced his candidature at Lumberton, on Thursday. His chief argument is that he will have more influence in Congress than Mr. Ashe! he being a Republican and the Republicans having a majority in Congress. Of course this new Richmond is not such a lunatic as to suppose for a moment that he will stand in the way of Mr. Ashe's election, and what his object is in becoming a candidate, we do not understand, unless he wishes to gain the the honorable distinction of being a martyr in the cause. This martyrdom may get him into some well feathered nest at a future time.—Observer.

The Charlotte Observer of the 17th inst, notes the fact that John Osborne, a youth 18 year years of age, had his left arm broken on Thursday at the mill of P. S. Winant & Sons, Charlotte, by getting it entangled in the belting.

THE SPEAKING AT APEX SATURDAY.—In company with some hundred of our citizens, we embraced the opportunity of taking the special train for Apex, Saturday, to attend the joint discussion of the several county candidates. After a smooth and safe run of some two hours we reached the new river. Some five or six hundred persons were here collected to hear the discussion. [illegible] repaired to the arbor prepared for the speechifying.

Stewart Ellison, (col.,) opened the debate and spoke his piece. He was followed by Mr. Lon Stephenson, in a short but effective speech, enthusing his friends greatly. His effort was much complimented.

Mr. Isaiah King was next on the stand. He appeared wreathed in smiles, a jolly looking red headed Republican, and made the talk on his side, of the day. He rejoiced at being one of the representatives of the party of great moral ideas, and the way he slashed the King's English was a sin upon old Lindley Murray. For instance, he said he represented the people present irreverent and irrispectably of color, without regard to particism. Says he, "We are all free Remerican citizens, and though some of you shot at the old flag, that has passed and gone, and we stand here to-day under the folds of the same old stars and stripes, still free Remerican citizens. I am no politishioner, I'm for the farmers, and if elected and a bill is introduced not for the farmer's intrust, I'm agin it, for they have been overtrodden and I'm going to purtect their intrust, and you can't dispurse with me." He went on in this style amid the laughter of the crowd, till Tim told him his time was up, and of all the nonsensical harangues, he capped the climax. The Reds would swap him for a negro, and give much boot, but nevertheless, he is a fair representative and will no doubt run up with the others on the ticket. The Governor should employ him to write a portion of his first message.

The gallant one legged Mike Whitley, the truest of Conservatives, followed the hero who had just descended from the stand, and made a brief but capital speech.

Tom Argo followed Mr. Whitley, and dwelt at great length on the civil rights bill, which he was opposed to, taking the ground that it was not an issue in the campaign. He denounced Greeley and the Democrats, and of course praised Grant in extenso, but his effort created no enthusiasm with his own friends even. He was replied to most effectively by Geo V. Strong, Esq., who made a most eloquent and forcible speech, which was complimented on all sides. During his remarks he took occasion to whack Ellison, who voted for the bill petitioning Congress for civil rights while in the Legislature, and who, with Hyman also, is now against it for the sole purpose of getting the votes of white Republicans.

Jim Harris made his same old set speech.

Mr. Charles M. Busbee, our candidate for the Senate, did himself much credit in a most capital address, and if he is not elected it will be for the lethargy of our own party, for he will carry numbers of white Republicans with him.

Now came on, if we may so style it, the circus of the day, Tim and the Squire. Tim led off by saying he was before them for the third time, and though not well in body, he would tell them of the past without any promises of the future. He admitted that he had honestly failed to perform his duty as he should have done, by reason of mixing up his private and public matters. Too many irons in the fire had nearly ruined him. Some got burned while some had got cold. He said nobody thinks Tim was a thief. Proof was bad against him, and it could not be worse, but stealing $1,000 is as bad as stealing $100,000. He has come to admit his short comings. They said he owed $64,000, and he had paid $48,000, which did not include the penalties that honest old Bob Wynne had placed upon his shoulders. His bond was as good as any one and his property would secure them. He called upon his Radical brethren to vote for the gallant one legged Confederate soldier, Dunn, if they could not support him, rather than for a "ring tail, bobtail Bobby Bob Wynne," who would skin the hide off of colored men if he was elected. He denounced Squire Wynne in unmeasured terms for his management of the idiot money which he accused the Squire of getting away with, and for his purchase of the bacon for the poor house, in which he further accused the Squire of swindling the county heavily. The nigger dogs narrative was gone into with a relish and gusto which was amusing, and the negroes enjoyed it hugely when Tim yelled out their names, "Hal and Wallace," canines who when they struck a trail never missed, for they were the best dogs in the country. "Hal" lost his voice, and the Squire said the negroes had conjured him, but notwithstanding he put a bell on him and followed him just the same, Tim went on at length, and his remarks produced great merriment.

Mr. Wynne, in replying, was equally severe on Tim, and denied all the charges made against him, remarking that while the dogs on which Tim seemed particularly to dwell with so much delight, were mere rabbit dogs, he thought if he was elected Sheriff and "Hal" was living, he would soon run the school money out of Tim, even if he had to follow him to Boston.

Suffice it to say Tim and the Squire thoroughly abused each other to their hearts content, while the Conservative [illegible] seeming more on the right, "Fight, dogs, there is but two of you."

The day's discussion concluded with short speeches from Messrs. Williams and Bunting, the candidates for the Clerkship, the crowd being deprived of more "circus" by reason of Mangum's withdrawal the day previous.

The candidates are at Cary to-day.

[COMMUNICATED.]

To all whom it may concern:

Whereas some malicious and villainous scoundrel has flooded the country with printed Postal Cards, purporting to have been issued by me, headed "Information Wanted," and desiring to know of the whereabouts of my daughter, Cornelia Bevans, who has been bound to Adolphus G. Moore for the past three or four years, and charging the said Moore with having seduced and abducted her, and so concealing her that I cannot find where she is. This is to certify that the whole thing is gotten up by some malicious person, without my knowledge or consent, and I further declare that I knew nothing of the matter until it came to my knowledge through the Postal Cards now in circulation.

Any information that will lead to the detection of the party or parties who have seen fit to use my name in getting up vile and slanderous a thing against Mr. Moore, the guardian of my daughter, will be thankfully received.

My daughter has made her home principally at Mr. Moore's mother, in Rockingham county, since she has been under his control, and in returning there the first of January last, she was but returning to her home. I know and have known all the time that my daughter was at Mr. Moore's mothers, and properly cared for.

I make this statement of my own free will and accord, as the contents of the entire Card is a base fabrication.

NORTH CAROLINA,
Alamance county.

I, W. A. Albright, Clerk of the Superior Court in and for Alamance county, do certify that P. R. Harden, whose genuine appears to the foregoing is and was at the time of signing the same, an acting Justice of the Peace in and for said county, duly qualified as such. Due faith and credit should be given his official acts as such.

In witness whereof, I have set my [L. S.] hand and affixed the seal of said Court. Done at office in Graham the 18th day of July, 1874.
W. A. ALBRIGHT, C. S. C.

The villainous card which has been circulated at large over the State for the purpose of injuring my character, is fully exposed by the above certificate, and the cowardly, contemptible spirit which prompted the getters up of said card is made plain. I take this method in justification of myself, and in vindication of my honor, (which the cowardly scoundrels who circulated said card would sooner put their right hand in the fire than to openly impeach) to pronounce it from beginning to end a tissue of black, villainous falsehoods, and to assert that the getters up of it are a low, cowardly, villainous set of creatures, not worthy the name of man. And I hereby offer a reward of $500 for any information leading to the conviction of the party or parties guilty. The card is the work of an enemy, for two effects: One is to have a political influence against the Conservative cause in our approaching county election, another to injure the fair name which I am proud to say I possess among the first and best people of our State. In 1870 I was arrested, imprisoned, and my blood cried for by political hounds of the opposite party, and failing in that they have made even a more cowardly and dastardly attempt, in trying to tarnish my name and character, which it has ever been my care and pride to keep free from stain.

I know that among my personal friends it is unnecessary, as they know my character well enough to readily perceive that the entire contents of the infamous card are false, but as they have been scattered at large over the State, I deem it due to myself to make the the above statement to show persons who do not know me personally, the low-flung, unprincipled spirit of the cowardly scoundrels who have thus attempted to slander me. And in conclusion I repeat that I will most cheerfully pay a reward of $500 for any information leading to the conviction of the party or parties instrumental in getting up said card. The parties who got up this card would be a midnight assassin, would burn, murder, steal, or commit any crime in the catalogue of crimes, did not his cowardly spirit overrule his natural instinct.

Wright Powell, the colored mail robber who escaped from a deputy sheriff some days since, while he was being conveyed to jail, by throwing sand in his eyes, was yesterday recaptured by officer Edward Davis, of the police force. He was found on the second floor of a house on Sixth street near the colored methodist church, artfully concealed in the space between the ceiling and the weather boarding of the house. He was taken charge of and carried to jail, where he will await his trial at the next term of the United States District court.—Wil Journal.

There was a serious disturbance at Trenton, Jones county, on Wednesday. Four persons were severely cut. The fight was between the McDaniel brothers, whites, and several negroes.

The dwelling, dining-room, smoke house and kitchen of Mrs. Caroline V. Farrell, of Onslow, were totally destroyed by fire on the night of the 9th inst. The loss is estimated at $2,500 which is partially covered by insurance to the extent of 1,400 in the North Carolina Home.

SOME BETTING.—We heard a gentleman say yesterday, that he is willing to make the following bets. They sound rather curious but he is in earnest: He will bet first $1,000 that a certain ipdependent candidate in this county couldn't get 125 votes in the United States 2nd. Another $1,000, that Schenck will beat Logan 1,000 votes; and third, $10 that he can win both bets.—Observer.

A PRINTER IN LUCK.—Yesterday morning, a compositor in this office tried his luck in the Beneficial Association. He put 25 cents in, and when the numbers were called, found that he had drawn $20 in greenbacks. He put the money in his pocket, and with the remark: "Well, I believe I'll go and set up a few type, now," he quietly walked out a well satisfied typo. We wish he had drawn a thousand times the amount he did.—Charlotte Observer.

PEN PORTRITS OF MR. AND MRS. TILTON.

[From a letter in the Chicago Times]

Millions of our countrymen have seen Theodore Tilton, yet to gratify those who have not, I may observe that he is a tall, well built, and large-boned man, with just the least perception of a stoop, and physically a success. His face is a study—a luxury—the essence of intellect and intelligence. It is not large below the forehead. Together they present a handsome, pleasing, irresistible contour. I don't wonder that feminine hearts swell and break beneath his beaming countenance. His smile is as witching as a woman's and his laugh hearty and sympathetic. What distinguishes him in general appearance is a wealth of blonde hair hanging in clustering profusion over his shoulders. Now he is not far from 40 years of age, in the prime of intellectual and physical vigor. * * As Theodore Tilton lay stretched on his sofa, I sat fronting his face. Lifting my eyes above his grand, poetic head, I could not avoid perceiving on canvass gracing the wall. Again and again my eyes fell upon it. Something peculiarly charming, and fascinating and tender hung about it musingly I thought the artist was himself a most imaginative genius and consummate creator, or it an actual instead of fancy subject, his brush must have been inspired. A most symmetrical head intellect and poetry predominating; a wealth of silken brown hair soft and soulful eyes of rinchest haze; a face of exquisite sweetness and tenderness, and ripe with culture and character, a mouth carved by the gods, and lips full, warm, and suggesting robustness of modest passion; a chin indicating a gentle firmness and abundant will; a shapely neck and graceful shoulders, and a finely developed bust—all harmony, all beauty, all the vigor and tenderness of young life and fascination. The witching eyes seemed to brighten when looked into, a very smile so sweet as to thrill me appeared upon that face when I involuntarily fixed my gaze upon it. Contemplating that portrait, so strange a feeling came over me that I heedlessly trespassed upon propriety, and before I was aware of it I said to Mr. Tilton:

AN EXQUISITE PORTRAIT

"What a charming painting you have above your head."

He turned and looked with a tender smiles. "Why" said he "that's

A PORTRAIT OF MRS. TILTON.

Wait a moment. I will call her. I desire that you shall meet her.

And Mr. Tilton briskly passed to an adjoining room, whence, thereafter, he returned bringing on his arm the original of the portrait on the wall.

Mrs. Tilton is of medium height, perfectly, voluptuously developed, modest, not very vivacious, with beautiful eyes, and a soft, charming voice. She is in the prime of life, enjoys good health (at least looked as though she did), and her manners are most winning. My visit to Mr. Tilton was not prolonged.

The world has learned to bear no malice toward Mark Antony for his fall before Cleopatra. Some time it may be equally generously with Beecher's fall before lovely Mrs. Tilton.

YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

The Penn Mutual

LIFE INSURANCE

921 CHESTNUT STREET,

1st. Because it is one of the oldest Companies in the Country, and past the day of experiments.

2nd. Because every policy-holder is a member of the Company, entitled to all its advantages and privileges, having a right to vote at all elections for trustees, and thus has an influence in its management.

3rd. Because it has as large a percentage of assets to liabilities as any life Insurance Company in the Country.

4th. Because by economical management, its ratio of expenses to total income is far below the average of Life Companies. (See Official Insurance Reports.)

5th. Because it has declared more dividends in number, and of a Larger Average Percentage, than any Company in the United States.

For example: Policy No. 16, for $5,000, has been paid to the widow of a Philadelphia Merchant, upon which twenty-three dividends had been declared. Averaging fifty-seven per cent. If all these dividends been used to purchase additions to this Policy, $6,046 more would have been realized,—making the Policy worth $11,046.

6th. Because it is liberal in its management, prompt in its settlements, safe beyond a contingency, and its rates are as low as any first-class Company in the Country.

PRINCIPAL FEATURES.—Small expenses, absolute security, large return premiums, prompt payment of losses, and liberality to the insured.

PROPOSALS

DIMENSION STONE AND CUTTING,

FOR THE

U. S. COURT-HOUSE AND POST OFFICE

AT

ADVERTISEMENT.

OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT,
RALEIGH, N. C., July 1st, 1874.

Sealed Proposals will be received at this office until 12 M. of the 28th day of July, 1874, for furnishing and delivering at the site of the proposed court-house and post office at Raleigh, N. C., all the Dimension Stone required for the exterior of the superstructure of the building, cut ready for setting, and as required by the drawings and the specifications.

The species of stone from which a selection will be made will be confined to granites, limestones, freestones and sandstones, and the qualities especially insisted upon will be uniformity of color and texture, durability, and the capacity for working under the chisel or hammer to a proper surface.

No stone that has not been tested by actual use as cut stone in buildings for at least ten years will be considered, and absolute proof that it has been so used for that period must be furnished. The stone must further have a good grain and be free from all discoloring substances, and the quarry from which it is procured must be fully opened, and capable of furnishing the quality and quantity desired within the time required by this advertisement.

A sample block of the stone proposed to be furnished must be submitted to this office, the block to be 12 by 12 by 12 inches, showing on one face the natural fracture of the stone and on the others the different grades of cutting required to be done on the work, as shown by the sample blocks to be seen at this office or at the office of the Supervising Architect, Treasury Department.

The stone, cut, dressed and ready to be set, must be delivered at the site of the building; that of the water table, within three (3) months from the date of the acceptance of the contract; that of the first story within nine (9) months from date; that of second story within twelve (12) months from same date; and the remainder, being that of the third story, chimney stacks, dormer windows, steps and copings, &c., within eighteen (18) months from same date, under a penalty of one hundred dollars ($100) for each and every day's delay beyond the time above stipulated.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

The best is the Averill Chemical Paint, Because

1st. It has been thoroughly tested by chemists, and over 250 000 owners of residences throughout the United States for the last seven years, and pronounced by them to be the most durable paint known.

2nd For beauty and retention of color it stands far ahead of any other. Buildings have been painted with it in part, and partly with the best of other paints, both in the interior and on the sea coast, and in no case has it been excelled for beauty or permanency of color.

3rd. It is economical, and its cost is no more than the best lead and oil, and being far more durable (it wearing about twice as long as the best of any other,) and beautiful, warrant the assertion that for a period of twenty years it will save the consumer fully 50 per cent.

4th It is in liquid form and all ready for use. Purest White, or any desired shade, can be obtained without subjecting the buyer to the annoyance of purchasing oil, pigments, coloring matter, dryer, &c. It is easily spread flows freely from the brush, clings firmly to every substance it may be applied upon Wood, brick, iron, or for any painting purpose where durability, beauty and preservative properties are requisite, it stands unrivalled. Though composed of the most indestructible materials known to science, an analysis of the Averill Chemical Paint shows it to be (unlike lead and most of the other paints) free from poison. It will not blacken or discolor by the action of the sulphurous gases so prevalent on our marshy rivers and coasts.

5th. Requires no skilled painter. Any one can apply it.
