DUBUISE FLANGER COTTON GIN.

In store one each, 50 and 60 Saws of this celebrated Alabama gin. Its prominent feature consists of a flange or projection on each side of the gin which prevents the cotton from being cut, as they cannot come to contact with the same, consequently making a better sample of roughly picked cotton than the saws which cut and tear the lint, thus destroying its value.

We confidently claim for it, that it will not only give a better sample, but give more than any other gin in the market.

A Good Chance.

See advertisement in this paper of the bar room fixtures and two of Philian's Billiard Tables for rent at the National Hotel. The patronage of the National Hotel is increasing every day, and from present indications the house will be crowded during the entire Winter. If now has over forty regular boarders and a steady increasing transient custom. We understand that Col. Brown's object in disposing of his bar is to secure a better location for his business.

At a meeting on Monday last the Board of City Commissioners passed resolutions joining the State Agricultural Society and heads of the various executive departments of the State, in their invitation to President Grant to visit us during the progress of our next Fair, and extending to him a cordial invitation to partake of the hospitalities of the city during his stay. The Clerk of the Board was ordered to send the President a copy of the resolutions and also to transmit a copy to the Secretary of the Agricultural Society.

ORGANIZATION OF GOOD TEMPLAR LODGE.—T. M. Ramsay, the noted good Templar, has arrived in the City, and brings with him the following report of his work in the west. In Buncombe county he organized lodges at Asheville, Weaverville and Leicester. Henderson county, at Hendersonville. Madison county, at Marshall. Caldwell county, at Lenoir. Littleton, Patterson's Factory and Lower Creek Church. Oatawa county, at Newton.

Mr. Ramsay has done good and zealous work for his order and the cause of temperance generally.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.—The Supreme Court at its recent session filed opinions in reference to cases of which the following is a brief synopsis:

William Page vs. North Carolina Railroad Company, from Wake. Bynum J., delivering opinion. Judgment affirmed. Hoge was killed at the warehouse of the defendant, at Morrisville station, being attracted upon the road track by molasses which had dripped upon the track from the defendant's cars, and while there were killed at various times; some by the train rushing up to and beyond the station at a very rapid rate, and others being under the cars, by the engines suddenly starting without blowing the whistle or giving any alarm. This unquestionably was negligence in the company, and would have justified the court in instructing the jury that if they believed the evidence, they should find for the plaintiff. The court charged that these several acts constituted negligence. In that there was no error.

Rowland vs. Thompson, from Robeson. Settle J., delivering opinion. Judgment reversed. The record in this case is confused. It states, however, that "the defendant asked leave of the court to introduce evidence to prove certain facts, and the court declined to hear the evidence, for the reason, as the court said, that the pleadings were sufficient for him to do the case upon, and ordered the clerk to enter the following verdict and decree." If it was a trial by jury, his Honor should not have taken the issue of fact from them. And if there was no wave of a trial by jury, his Honor had no right to determine the questions of fact. In either point of view, presented by the record, there appears to be error.

Dancy, Hyman & Co. vs. O. Hubbs, from Craven. Judgment affirmed. Rodman J., delivering opinion. A. & B. both plaintiffs in execution against C, and both executions had been levied by the Sheriff on the same piece of land. The judgment (docketed) on B's execution issued was older than B's. On the day of sale A directed the Sheriff to postpone the sale of the land. The Sheriff having both executions in his hands, proceeded to sell under that of B, and paid the fund into Court. No fraud is charged against A.

Field, That A is entitled to have the whole of B's debt out of this fund before any part of it is appropriated to B's execution.

[From the Raleigh Recorder of Nov. 15, 1873.]

A GOOD REMEDY. We invite attention to the advertisement of Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Our readers will bear us witness that we are not knowingly commending humbug or any other nostrum, and a large portion of our medicines may safely be called as impostures upon public credulity. But having witnessed the beneficial effects of Sage's Remedy upon the members of our family and others, in Catarrh cases, we have felt it our duty to call attention to it, and to commend it to public confidence. The proprietor could easily obtain in Raleigh many certificates of its merits.

Edward Bayler, Esq., Horton, King Co., N. C., writes that an attending physician had been effected on his daughter by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. The whole spine became diseased, the last of her limbs, and her back was rounded up like a hump, in consequence of taking cold after having been immolated for the time past. She is now well.
