

THE DAILY SENTINEL
PUBLISHED BY JOSEPH TURNER, JR.
Office Near the Court House.
BASIS OF SUBSCRIPTION.
Daily Sentinels 1 year in advance $8.00
Daily six months in advance 5.00
Semi-Weekly " " " 3.00
Weekly Sentinels " " " 2.00
The DAILY SENTINEL will be delivered in any part of the City at FIFTEEN CENTS per week.

The Daily Sentinel.

VOL. IX. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 16, 1874. NO. 347.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
TUCKER HALL.
JOS. H. KEANE, MANAGER.
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1874.
POSITIVELY ONE NIGHT ONLY.
The Great Irish Comedian and Vocalist in Bonadelli's Master piece.
COLLEEN BAWN.
as a Comedian and Vocalist MR. HOOPER stands unrivaled. Supported by a full and efficient Company of New York Artists.
Admission 75 and 50 cents. No extra charge for reserved seats, now for sale at Thompson's Book Store.
GEO. E. SANDS, Business Agent.
sept 14-15

1874. 1874.
AUTUMN.
BLACK ALPACAS!
BLACK ALPACAS!

Petty & Jones
Opened to day the most beautiful line of Black Alpaca and Mohair ever offered in this market, and respectfully ask their customers and friends to call and see them and be convinced for themselves.
Also a splendid assortment of Fall Prints with great many other goods in their line now and ready for gentlemen.
THE FINEST BALLOON SHIRT AND CAN. FIELDS CELEBRATED HANDMADE SHIRTS.
We Guarantee all to Suit and Fit.
sept 14-15

ANNOUNCEMENT
I respectfully announce myself a candidate for the position of Principal Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives, and with confidence refer the members elect to the ex-ministers whom I served in that capacity from 1850 to 1874.
JOHN H. HILL.
sept 14-16. News copy.

TIPPO ALSTON.
We are requested to a notice that Tippo A. Stone, col. of Charleston is a candidate for Assistant Doorkeeper of the Senate.
sept 11-14

SPECIALTIES.
Must be used.
A very desirable assortment of
RICH LACE POINTS.
BRUSSELS POINT LACE COLLIERIES.
Lace Underweaves.
Real handmade Valenciennes Edgings and Insertings.
Embroidered and Fertilized Hdkfs together with the remainder of OUR STOCK.
It is especially desirable that we should close out the ENTIRE STOCK by July 9th August 1st.
Goods very cheap and very good.
W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.
Surviving Partners.
June 14-17

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO ANNOUNCE JONATHAN JONES, Esq., of Charlotte, N. C., as a Candidate for Door Keeper of the Senate at the next election.
We are authorized to announce Zack T. Dickey, of Caswell, a candidate for Grocering Clerk of the House of Representatives.
sept 7-14

BOARDING HOUSE.
Corner Newberne Avenue and Person St.
Two Squares East of the Capitol.
MRS. H. W. MILLER.
Requests the patronage of the members of the Legislature and the public generally. Her long experience in keeping a boarding house, since 1852 is a sufficient guarantee that the House will be first class in every particular. Her prices conform to those of other boarding houses in the city.
WE ARE TO-DAY RECEIVING.
Fall Prints,
Early Fall Dress Goods,
Burlis Garters
for Gentlemen,
Ladies Walking Shoes,
Foxed and Cloth Gaiters.
W. H. & R. S. TUCKER,
Surviving Partners.
sept 8-14

City Intelligence.
TEMPERANCE ADDRESS.—Theo. M. Runney will deliver a temperance lecture at Wake Forest, Friday evening, October 18th. Everybody invited to attend.
MERCHANTS NOTES.—Messrs. J. M. Rosenbaum, J. C. Marcom, L. Rosenthal, Rogers of Yearby & Rogers, have left our city in the last day or two for the city of New York.

EXAMINATION OF THE BOOKS.
Messrs. Snow and Busbee, Attorneys for the Board of County Commissioners to-day examined the books of the late Treasurer of the county Mr. Albert Maginnis and filed their report. They report a "shortness" of $3,734 upon his part.
AN ARTILLERY COMPANY.—The Young men of our city are on the eve of organizing an artillery company and a committee to-day are soliciting names. If the requisite number is secured and there is plenty of good material for its formation they will be able to secure an elegant light-battery. Success to your young gentlemen.

MATRIMONIAL.—At Christ Church this morning at 9 o'clock by the pastor Rev. M. M. Marshall, Dr. Vines E. Turner and Miss Love Root were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock. Both of this city. A large audience was present to witness the happy nuptials and the blessings and good wishes of a host of friends attended the joyful couple as they wended their way to the depot, bound for a bridal trip to New York and other Northern cities. We wish them a delightful trip and a safe return home.

WHO ARE IN THE CITY.—We notice the following arrive at the Yarborough today: Mr. Walter Brodie and lady of Whitaker's Edgecombe County, N. C.; W. B. Kingsbury, Esq., of Oxford; J. H. Haughton, Esq., of Newbern. Major Byrnes and lady, of Wilmington, are also at the above house on a brief visit, returning from a summer sojourn at Beaufort. Many friends have paid them call. The Major was a gallant Confederate soldier and lost a leg in the "late unpleasantness." A popular and successful insurance agent, for a long time, the General Agent of the "New York Life," he now represents as General Agent for this State the flourishing company of the Mutual Benefit Life, of Newark, N. J. He has our best wishes for continued success.

CHEAP JOHN.—An evening or so ago we dropped into the establishment of our famous cheap John which is now meeting with so liberal a patronage. John was inquired for by two who were ambitiously told he had gone to "pasture green" and was now northward purchasing an immense stock for the coming fall season.
Ned Thompson the champion of our auctioneers was his representative which we quickly perceived from the way glibe words flowed from his valuable tongue. Ned has improved wonderfully and we join in the words of others in the apt expression "of the period." He can sell you anything so quick as never wash and his customers laughing at his wit depart upon making a purchase with the highest satisfaction. Long live Cheap John and the hard working little Thompson a part circus of our city's evening entertainment.

MARSHALS FOR THE STATE FAIR.—The following is a corrected list of the Marshals for the approaching State Fair.
Chief Marshal.—A. W. Graham, Orange.
Asst. Marshals (State at Large).—W. W. Glenn, Yadkin, P. F. Pescud, Jr., Wake, R. B. Peabka, Northampton, and Frank Price, Forsythe.
Congressional Districts.—A. G. Moore, Alamance, A. D. Jenkins, Wake, I. F. Dorth, Wayne, J. D. Williams, Jr., Cumberland, A. H. Boyden, Rowan, Robert Grier, Mecklenburg, W. A. B. Branch, Beaufort, and W. Lucius Faison, Sampson.
The above is a complete list and no further appointments will be made.
The Chief Marshal will wear a buff rosette. The assistants will wear a red, white and blue rosette.
R. T. FULGUM, Secretary.

AT THE WORK AND POOR HOUSE.—The Board of County Commissioners met at the Work House yesterday. They inspected the workings of the same thoroughly and it is reported come to the conclusion that it was an unnecessary expense to the county. Only two prisoners, both colored, are at present confined there, occasionally at work with a day guard of one, and a night guard of one also, to see that they don't escape. They were at the Poor House on yesterday where there is some forty paupers. This institution was rigidly inspected also, but nothing was given out by the Board in regard to the future. There was no change of officers for the present at either place. The Board is to be complimented for their energy and care for the interests of the county, and after deliberation great improvement in these two institutions is contemplated.

Local Notes.
Wake court opens on the 3th of October.
Judge Henry holds Johnston Court next week.
Our columns are ample for new advertisements. Send in your orders merchants.
Wyman, the celebrated magician and ventriloquist will visit Raleigh about the 18th inst.

WASHBURN, Sept. 15.
Resume of New Orleans affairs: The meeting under Clay's statue, called in Raleigh, was held with the following result: The resolutions were adopted and a committee was appointed to bear these resolutions to Kellogg, but he was not at Gen. Dibble's camp, and the committee and the Governor, the Governor, in the meantime, was calling upon Grant for aid.
During these proceedings the Federal troops were in the Custom House. It may have been apprehended that they would serve their country better by saving the hides of high officials there than enforcing the Enforcement Act on the street. The communications between the committee and the Governor culminated in a mutual threat. The meeting then adjourned, but the people were advised to go home and arm themselves. Subsequently, D. B. Penn, Lieutenant Governor on the McKeoey ticket, issued a proclamation, assuming gubernatorial functions and appointing officers to organize militia.
The following was also issued:
To the Colored People of the State of Louisiana:
In the grand movement now on foot against the enormities of the rule of Kellogg's usurpation, rest assured that no harm is meant toward you, your property or your rights. Pursue your usual avocations and you will not be molested. We war against the thieves, plunderers, and spoilers of the State, who are involving your race and ours in a common ruin. The rights of the colored, as well as the white race, are determined to uphold and defend.
D. B. PENN,
Lieutenant Governor and acting Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Louisiana State Militia.
Armed men were soon stationed at the strategic corners of the streets.
Five hundred Metropolitan, General Longstreet commanding, with cavalry and artillery, appeared at the head of Canal street and took position. A desultory firing followed and the Metropolitan were driven away. The city was captured one piece of artillery and then barricaded and destroyed the police and fire alarm telegraph. Sharp fights at the river end of Canal street, some fifty were killed, including Captain J. M. West, a printer and newspaper correspondent, and E. A. Toland of the Metropolitan's. A badly wounded.
The entire force of the Metropolitan Police, Kellogg's militia, etc., surrendered at 9 o'clock, a. m., to the citizens of Penn militia. Kellogg, Longstreet and others, have taken refuge in the Custom House.
Later—10 a. m.—The State House surrendered at 10 o'clock this morning to Lieutenant Governor Penn's militia without firing a gun. Lieutenant Governor Penn's militia are about 10,000 strong. All the State and city property, police stations, arsenals and police and fire alarm telegraphs are in possession of the League. Kellogg is in the Custom House under protection of the United States troops. Jackson Square Police Station, under command of General Longstreet, is reported to have just surrendered.
Still Later—A long list of Metropolitan killed. Telegraph announces the following wounded citizens received at Charity Hospital: Wm. Ormand, Chas. Kilt, James Cross, John Wren, John McCabe, M. Bett, Frank Owen, D. Sotner.
The President has just issued the following proclamation:
"WHEREAS, It has been satisfactorily represented to me that turbulent and disorderly persons have combined together with force and arms to overthrow the State government of Louisiana, and to resist the laws and constituted authorities of said State, and whereas, it is provided in the Constitution of the United States, that I shall protect every State in this Union on application of the Legislature, or the Executive, when the Legislature cannot be convened, against domestic violence, and whereas, it is provided in the laws of the United States that in all cases of insurrection in any State or of obstruction to the laws thereof, it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, on application of the Legislature of such State or of the Executive, when the Legislature cannot be convened, to call forth the militia of any other State or States or to employ such part of the land and naval forces as shall be judged necessary for the purpose of suppressing such insurrection or causing the laws to be duly executed, and whereas the Legislature is not now in session, and cannot be convened in time to meet the present emergency, and the Executive of said State, under section four, of article four, of the Constitution of the United States, and the laws

Telegraphic News.
THE CONFLICT IN LOUISIANA!
ACTUAL BLOODSHED AND FIGHTING IN THE STREETS.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.
United States occupies with troops the city of New Orleans. The revolutionaries have been driven out of the city and demand of him to abdicate. A committee was appointed to bear these resolutions to Kellogg, but he was not at Gen. Dibble's camp, and the committee and the Governor, the Governor, in the meantime, was calling upon Grant for aid.
During these proceedings the Federal troops were in the Custom House. It may have been apprehended that they would serve their country better by saving the hides of high officials there than enforcing the Enforcement Act on the street. The communications between the committee and the Governor culminated in a mutual threat. The meeting then adjourned, but the people were advised to go home and arm themselves. Subsequently, D. B. Penn, Lieutenant Governor on the McKeoey ticket, issued a proclamation, assuming gubernatorial functions and appointing officers to organize militia.
The following was also issued:
To the Colored People of the State of Louisiana:
In the grand movement now on foot against the enormities of the rule of Kellogg's usurpation, rest assured that no harm is meant toward you, your property or your rights. Pursue your usual avocations and you will not be molested. We war against the thieves, plunderers, and spoilers of the State, who are involving your race and ours in a common ruin. The rights of the colored, as well as the white race, are determined to uphold and defend.
D. B. PENN,
Lieutenant Governor and acting Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Louisiana State Militia.
Armed men were soon stationed at the strategic corners of the streets.
Five hundred Metropolitan, General Longstreet commanding, with cavalry and artillery, appeared at the head of Canal street and took position. A desultory firing followed and the Metropolitan were driven away. The city was captured one piece of artillery and then barricaded and destroyed the police and fire alarm telegraph. Sharp fights at the river end of Canal street, some fifty were killed, including Captain J. M. West, a printer and newspaper correspondent, and E. A. Toland of the Metropolitan's. A badly wounded.
The entire force of the Metropolitan Police, Kellogg's militia, etc., surrendered at 9 o'clock, a. m., to the citizens of Penn militia. Kellogg, Longstreet and others, have taken refuge in the Custom House.
Later—10 a. m.—The State House surrendered at 10 o'clock this morning to Lieutenant Governor Penn's militia without firing a gun. Lieutenant Governor Penn's militia are about 10,000 strong. All the State and city property, police stations, arsenals and police and fire alarm telegraphs are in possession of the League. Kellogg is in the Custom House under protection of the United States troops. Jackson Square Police Station, under command of General Longstreet, is reported to have just surrendered.
Still Later—A long list of Metropolitan killed. Telegraph announces the following wounded citizens received at Charity Hospital: Wm. Ormand, Chas. Kilt, James Cross, John Wren, John McCabe, M. Bett, Frank Owen, D. Sotner.
The President has just issued the following proclamation:
"WHEREAS, It has been satisfactorily represented to me that turbulent and disorderly persons have combined together with force and arms to overthrow the State government of Louisiana, and to resist the laws and constituted authorities of said State, and whereas, it is provided in the Constitution of the United States, that I shall protect every State in this Union on application of the Legislature, or the Executive, when the Legislature cannot be convened, against domestic violence, and whereas, it is provided in the laws of the United States that in all cases of insurrection in any State or of obstruction to the laws thereof, it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, on application of the Legislature of such State or of the Executive, when the Legislature cannot be convened, to call forth the militia of any other State or States or to employ such part of the land and naval forces as shall be judged necessary for the purpose of suppressing such insurrection or causing the laws to be duly executed, and whereas the Legislature is not now in session, and cannot be convened in time to meet the present emergency, and the Executive of said State, under section four, of article four, of the Constitution of the United States, and the laws passed in pursuance thereof, has therefore made application to me for such part of the military force of the U. S. as may be necessary and adequate to protect said State and the citizens thereof against the execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use the military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation call forth such part of the land and naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary and adequate to execute the laws of the United States, and to enforce the due execution of the laws; and whereas it is required that whenever it may be necessary