BARBECUR IN RHAMBATTE. -The edite. vas invited to a barbecue in Rhamkatte yesterday. Henry Strother coming into said he would not go to a Grange dinne where the Crangers bought, instead alled the meat. About II o'clock Col. Russ called with two small bank ponie tominating of the grationen named Lon

Stephenson, the popular member seet to Justice of Rhamkatte, Ed. Andrews, the pest dancer in Rhamkatte, Ham. White ker, the best shot in Wake, who denies he lives in Rhamkatte, R. & Perry, who keeps the best liquous out of Rhamkatte, Tom Bonnett, one of the best working men in or out of Rhamkatte, Phil. Walker and Walter Parham, good looking young gentlemen of the city, Henry Stro ther and Bill McGraw, two of the most skilled barbequers in the whole country There were others whose names we did not learn. At one o'clock dinner was an nounced.

Brunswick stew, flavored with Reams sauce, barbecaed beef, sheep, and shoat ourn, potatoes, tomatoes and buttermilk made up the bill of fare. Ramany no doubt with be gratified at reading a bill of fare where buttermik is substituted for something atronger.

Alter dinner began the stag dance, be adies being present; Theo. Snow and Lon. Stephenson making good music on the violin. After the first quadrille, and rather red clover, which grew in the yard; caught "by chance in the usual way." a discussion ar se as to the guilt of Beech. Beecher guilty beyond a doubt, and Tiltou's last reply to Beecher one of the best chief justice of Rhamkatte sustained Mr. Snow by saying Beschif was a guilty dog and had added perjuty to his crime, Cul. Runs the man the compregation who had working Beecher was worse than

Beecher or Tilton. Lon. Stephenson said no blow in this whole century had been struck so damaging to phurch, religion and morality, as the exposure of abreing, morality and eloquence. His detection and exposure was greatly to be deplored. The verdict of the whole party, after a full discussion was that of guilty, as to Beecher, and Elizabeth also,

Whiskey instead of buttermilk was anded round, then began the dance. then rest, and a talk about agriculture cotton growing, and deer and bird hunt

One more drink brought on the hou of five, when came hand shaking and the familiar old word good-bye, and the parpikes, from which you could look down upon the city four miles distant.

THE NATIONAL HOTEL, - We are glad to know that this bonse, under its pres ent able management, is increasing in popu ar favor. Col. Brown, the present proprietor, has brought it out wonderfully, and to his great popularity, added to the fact that he is as a good and substantial provider is the National due for its enviable reputation. Thursday night he lessted his patrons on fresh Norfolk oysters, the first of the season in this city He is never behind, but in advance of the market, as his bill of fare will at any time attest.—Raleigh News. A Baltimorian said last week the Brown kept the best house in the South. In the Spring the Colonel gets the earlies fruits and vegetables by Express from Florida and South Carolina. It is not to sent them, or cise so busy were they in be wondered at, if in the Fall he should the entertainment of New York interhave the earliest oysters. Such landlords deserve encouragement,

BUYING AND SELLING COTTON -As the cotton picking season is now upon us, we turbed mental condition of their Execuleem it opportune to reproduce an act passed by the last General Assembly, "A Bill to be entitled as Act to prohibit the sale of cotton, within certain hours." The following are its provisions;

"The General Assembly of North Car of na do enact. That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to buy or sell any cotton between the times of sunset and sunrise, brought or carried in a b.s. ket, hamper or sheet, or in any way where the quantity is less than is usually baled, or is not bailed.

Sec. 2. That any one offending against the provisions of the Act, shall be deemed and held guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding one month."

This is a good law and pught to be trictly enforced everywhere.

THEY GARED FROM APAR -- It is rather remarkable fact that during the recent imbrogite, all of the subordinates direct finest succession to Governor Kellogg's position were absent from the city and indeed the State. Those officials are the Hon. Cloero Creur (or Creur Cloero !) Antoine, the Lieutenant Governor, the Hon. Charles W. Lowell, Speaker of the Secretary of State. These persons were those upon whom in the order before given, would have devolved the duty of making a requisition for Federal , id in the event of their chie being iccapacitated from so doing. It is a matter of remark among the Republican magnates that when Gov. Kellogg learned of the intention of Col. Lowell to leave this city, the latter was sent for and upon repairing to the Executive mansion, was told by its proprietor that grave trouble was impending, and that he should remain. The report goes that Lowell assented, and on the next day took the train for New York city.

So soon as the difficulty assumed the very tangible shape in which it presented itself to Governor Kellogg's observation, that official commenced the immediate trans nission of telegrams to his Liente nant Governor, Speaker of the House and Secretary of the State, requesting their return forthwith to this city. No response was ever received at the Executive headquarters of the intention of those officials to comply with this mandate, and so overcome were they by the tidings viewers, that no one of them ever gave evidence that the request ever reached them. This silence, naturally enough, exasperated the already somewhat distive, who sent a dispatch to some of the principal Northern cities, stating that Gov. Kellogg had repeatedly telegraphed the officials therein named, had received no reply from any one of them and be would be glad to know their wheresbouts," This decisive action discovered the places where the absentees had been so sojourning, but it is even yet unknown whether they have determined to remain away indefinately or are now en main to this city. If, as at one time was pholiable Gov. Kellogg had been captured at the State House, he would necessarily have been deterred from making his requisition on the President, and as Mr Anderson, the President pro tem., of the State Senate was out of Louisians no interference could have been made by the Federal Executive save after an inquiry into the condition of affairs here

Between 10 and 11 o'clock on Monday sight, a party of canal boatmen visited the house on North Union street, in Alexandria, Va , kept by a woman whose name either Louisa Tremaine or Nettie Green. The evidence as adduced in Mayor Kemper's Court was to the effect that the parry went there for the purpose of "raising a row." They succeeded youd their expectations, for one of the party, Sam. Richelburger, by his persistent eness, insolence and disorderly conduct, finally persuaded Nettie that she ought to shoot him, and she took him at his word. He died at the station house before day Tuesday morning.

A most deplorable socident, resulting in the death of an interesting child, occurred Tuesday afternoon in the northern part of Washington city. It appears that Mrs. Aunie Iddies, wife of Mr. Henry Iddies, who is engineer at Willard's Hotel, and rending at 1120 Fourth street northwest, had prepared a tub of boiling water, in which were borax, sods, and other ingredients,and while the tank was without the inspection of either parent, their three year old boy, Thomas George Iddins, fell, or rather walked therein, the scalding water reaching far above his waist. He was taken out immediately, but lived only a few hours, the flesh on his stomach and citizen of Watanga county died on the legs having been actually boiled into a pulpy condition.

NAMES W E CAPE PRON DROWNING .-Two young ladies, Miss Minnie Rountree and Miss Jackson, while traveling in a buggy on Tuesday last, made a narrow escape from drowning. They were on their way from Kinston to this county, and when they reached Nahunta swamp, finding the bridge down, they attempted to drive across the swamp at the tord. The stream being up, it swam the horse, who becoming entangled in the harness, was drowned. Thus the young ladies were left in the middle of the stream with nothing to cling to but the top of the buggy. After remaining in this perilous position for some time, a pegro man who was working near by, heard their screams and proceeded to the spot, where with great exertion, he succeeded in rescuing the ladies from a watery grave. I beir situation was certainly a dangerous and Mart-rending one, and we congratulate them and their friends upon their fortunate and narrow escape.
