AMERICAN DURING THE PAIR -Rose and Harry Watkins' troupe of theatricals will occupy Tucker Hall during Fair Werk. They are no strangers to visitors and citizens of our little city, and are welcomed with crowded audiences whenever they greet us with their smiling gountenances.

The Brooklyn Minstrels, a superb troupe, will occupy Metropolitan Hall during the same week. They come with a good reputation and we have no doubt that their patrons will be fully compensated. Fun, mirth and a general good laugh.

THE NATIONAL GAME -The Athletic and the Swiftfood clubs come together again to-morrow afternoon at half past three, on the Baptist Grove grounds. It will be a friendly game, and may the best men win. It will be a game that will interest all, and a large crowd will no doubt be present to witness it. Both clabs have their new New York uniforms, and with their splended physique, will presen an appearance that to some of the spectators will really be bewitching, and what is more grand, than a noble form divine developed by the bat, WARR SUPERIOR COURT .- But little headway as yet has been made in our Wake Superior Court, the Judge, Solicitor, and the bar generally, have been waiting on the grand jury which is a most competent one for presentments To-morrow it is expected they will ge regularly to work. Judge Henry presides with the grace and true dignity of an old timed officer, faithful and impartiel, while Loge Harris the new Solicitor new to harness" wears his cloak with becoming grace. The criminal docket will be finished probably this week and as heretofore published an extra term of the court for civil causes will be held in January.

Charlotte Observer : Yesterday morning Col. H. C. Jones, of this city, and detective, J. W. Cotson, of Philadelphia, arrived in Charlotte with W. H. H. Houston, whose history for the past three months is so well known to our readers. The train was stopped at the crossing near the Charlotte Institute for Young Ladies, and there the party got off. Several gentiemen were there in waiting for them and all proceeded at once to the juli, where Houston was confined. After breakfast he sent for Governor Vance, to whose care he committed his case, A conference lasting two hours was held by them in the presence of J. P. Houston, Esq , the prisoner's father, in the parlor of the jail, after which the prisoner was confined in a cell with Wm. C. Capps. He was visited during the day by some of his friends. It was decided after the confe rence beween Houston and his counsel to submit the case and waive the examination. The amount of ball required has not yet been fixed, and his friends say that when it is, it will be given, and he will be released.

The prisoner is in bad health and is looking badly. He is afflicted with rhoumatism, and has lost 40 pounds in weight since he left Chirlotte two months ago. He is downcast in spirits and is, altogether, a much changed man.

PRINCIPLY AND ABDICATED .-- The lange in the time for the Pennsylvania fall elections from October to November will be sensibly felt this year. In past years an index was sought in these elections to the vote of the country, but now men can look only to comparatively unimportant lessons read in Ohio and other Western States. Ohio votes on the 13th nstant, and the result there reached will loubtless affect somewhat the vote of its neighbors, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia. But that influence will be as nothing compared with the moral conuest often wrought heretolore by results in Pennsylvania's October canvass.
