THE CITY.

Hor. Matt Ransom is in the city. That little store over the way where you can get anything you want—S. D. Harrison's—ad. shall appear to-morrow.

Morgan, the Stereoscopist in this city, has orders for his scenic views from every State in the Union.

Election of officers to-night (Tuesday) for Manteo Lodge No. 8, I. O. O. F., at 7 o'clock. Fall turnout requested. Visiting brothers invited.

"You can't fool me; that's a boy dressed up," said a young man, as a little sixteen year old Miss paraded down Fayetteville yesterday with a high hat on.

Seven of them came up missing at the Baptist Sunday School last Sunday morning. Superintendent Heck declared he thought two days a plenty Christmas for any Sunday School teacher.

Mrs. Kohla, a lady who keeps boarding house at the Hutchings place on Hillsboro Street, fell down the steps this morning, and broke her arm. She was coming down stairs with a bundle of carpeting in her arms, and her foot tripped.

New Year cards will be made next Friday. We are in doubt as to cravat, whether the flowing silk or the bow-knot tie. The clerk up street, who is a bovide, declares the flowing blue is the thing. We will consult with the young man who has nothing else to do than to escort ladies, and find out.

The News this morning states that Misses Maggie and Lida, Merrill, of this city, took premiums at the Wilmington Fair for their fine embroidery work. It might have further stated that these young ladies took first premium at the State Fair, not only in embroidery, but on practical writing, and also took premiums at the Salisbury fair.

A TALK WITH A CHATHAM COUNTY FARMER.—Chatham county is the best in the State. Her rocks are iron and they dig up copper from her hills. Mr. Ellington was in this morning from seven miles of Pittsboro. He said there hadn't been much Christmas in the county, that things were dull hearted, and nothing was going on to revive the feelings and give spirit to industry. That the farmers were neglecting too much their hogs, and horses and cattle and sheep for a little cotton. If you want to see a safe farmer, said Mr. Ellington, show me the man that makes the corn and the hog. A bushel of corn at home is better than a bushel of corn abroad, as the old woman said, and Mr. Ellington looked at his old country friend that was with him, and the old man exclaimed, that was so. The northern folks are sending their flour here for $6 per barrel while we can't afford to pay 40 cents for lard and sell our flour for that price. I've got copper enough on my land, sir, to buy out North Carolina, gittin' it out is the thing. We can take the rocks to the blacksmith shop and melt out great plugs of real nice copper. Hold North Carolina just had a good chance, sir! But the yankees are coming down here and gettin' possession of her by degree, if we don't look sharp. Right here Mr. Ellington's old neighbor friend crossed his legs and remarked: "I tell you one thing, we must watch our eyes." Mr. Ellington in course of conversation told us that his son Mr. Walter A. Ellington was married a few days before Christmas by preacher Long of Amherst to Miss Rowan Stone, the daughter of Frank Stone. Also that Mr. Willie Neal's wife recently died in his neighborhood of consumption.

RELIGIOUS. The Mexican Congress, by a vote of 113 to 57, has ordered the suppression of the Order of Sisters of Charity.

The Irish Presbyterians have taken up the temperance question. By order of the General Assembly, the Presbyterian ministers through out Ireland preached on Temperance Sunday, Dec. 6.

The English company of revisers of the New Testament held their 43th session on Tuesday, Dec. 8th. They completed the second revision of Luke's Gospel to the end of chapter xv.

Beware of the seven unclean spirits. We are told in the Bible that when an unclean spirit is cast out of a man it wanders up and down and is fast tired of its old home to live there again. But it finds the room all swept out and garnished, and then it gets off and gets seven other unclean spirits to return with it, and they all come and take possession of the old home, and the last state of that man is worse than the first. The Christian should never be found asleep on post when his heart is once swept out and garnished.

A FATAL DUEL.—A special telegram to the Montgomery Advertiser, dated Mobile, Dec 23rd, says: A fatal duel in Mississippi, near Grand Bay, was fought at noon to-day with duelling pistols, ten paces. The principals were A. H. Tardy and B. D. Lay, both of this city. Second for Tardy was Colonel J. M. Williams; for Lay, Captain P. U. Murphy. Tardy was killed at the first fire. He was shot through the heart. The body was brought to-night on the New Orleans train. There is much feeling here in consequence. The origin is said to be an article in an insurance journal, written by Tardy, and construed by Lay into a reflection upon the Grangers' Life Insurance Company here, of which he is Actuary. Lay struck Tardy in the face on Tuesday on the street, and Tardy challenged him; and the unfortunate result is as given above.

Preparations are being made on an extensive scale in Trenton, N. J., to celebrate the battle of Trenton on Christmas Day by a sham fight, in which the various military companies of the city, together with the Eaton Guards, lately organized, will participate.—Herald 23rd.

POSSIBLE EXTRACT.—Men and women will suffer from a severe headache, when ten minutes spent bathing the head with the Extract would afford relief.

THE LADIES.

New York girls pad their insteps. Mrs. Jenny Lind Goldschmidt and her husband will permanently reside in Weisbaden, having accepted the posts of leading professors at the Rhenish Academy of Music.

Among the Mormons there are two to three wives in each house. The Bishops have more. Of course where two or three women are thrown together there is more or less wrangling, such as—'Jase, where did you put the milk jug?' 'I put it on the table.' 'You did not.' 'I did.' 'You didn't.' 'I did.'

The Empress of Russia is a tall, thin, shallow woman, with none of the beauty of the Empress of Austria, or none of the brilliant color that dignified the reign of Eugenie. But she has a wonderful red cloak; it is of crimson velvet, lined with 228 skins of sable, which cost 300 francs each, and the entire cloak is valued at $20,000.

"O! your nose is as cold as ice," a Boston father thought he heard his daughter exclaim the other evening as he was reading in the next room. He walked in for an explanation, but the young fellow was at one end of the sofa, and the girl at the other, while both looked so innocent and unconscious that the old gentleman concluded his ears had deceived him, and so retired from the scene without a word.

Miss Abbott is a pretty Chicago girl, who is in Paris studying for the lyric stage, and she is the pet pupil of Wartel. A correspondent to the Springfield Republican says of her: I chanced to go with her to hear Mignon for the first time the other night, and Gallamie, who is said to have created the character of Mignon, was in her glory. I was carried away with her artistic naturalness. I think I never saw eyes and silent attitudes speak to such effect before, and seeing Miss Abbott taking notes vigorously, I said, "You are not studying Mignon for one of your operas, are you?" "Oh, yes," she replied, "I have studied it already; that is the reason I was so anxious to see Gallamie and get ideas."

"Oh, dear," I said, "you haven't black eyes and hair, and I don't see how Mignon could go on without them?" "But things were dull hearted, and nothing was going on to revive the feelings and give spirit to industry. That the farmers were neglecting too much their hogs, and horses and cattle and sheep for a little cotton. If you want to see a safe farmer, said Mr. Ellington, show me the man that makes the corn and the hog. ALL ABOUT.

The story of Sheridan to be sent to New Orleans is all a fabric. A drove of two hundred turkeys passed through Danbury the other day.

Wilmington had a meeting of spiritualists in Masonic Hall last Sunday evening.

George W. Hurst, formerly of Newber, died suddenly in Wilmington on Thursday night.

The skating season was inaugurated in the New York park last Saturday. To think of skating in New York while we are fanning in Raleigh!

In New Haven, Conn., the Medical College is on the road to the cemetery; the Divinity College on the road to the almshouse, and the law school on the road to jail.

Texan paleontologists are positive as to the human origin of a skeleton, twenty odd feet long, one of whose knee-pans fills a large carpet-bag, whilst a molar tooth measures eleven inches in length and six inches across the surface.

Conversation at breakfast-table—Smith: "Ain't John late in bringing the mails this morning?" Jones: "I guess there is something on the postal cards that he don't understand. He's probably reading them over twice."

Solemn thoughts. "I tell you what," said a Holden widower the other night as he finished washing the dishes, "it's a mighty solemn thing to think that Maria Jane is down in the cold ground, instead of being around to churn and saw wood and such."

This is life's only secret: Love and I work and beleave. The worker soon ceases regretting; The loving soon ceases grieving.

The kind of liquor it was. It was in Siskyou county. He was describing a dinner he had attended: "After that the cloth was took off, and the liquor war bro't in. And I wot I was they wuz too! The whiskey wuz none of this yer kind that makes a man feel like sayin' 'I kin lick any son of a gun in the house,' and makes him smash things generally. No, sir. It war the kind that just makes a man lift his glass up gently, and say, 'Joe, old pard, I'm lookin' at yer.'—San Francisco Chronicle.

Lady Stout. Dr. Herr said this morning that he had sold to R. Peniston for $5,000, and the latter sold her a few days ago to Robert Bonner, of the New York Ledger, for $25,000. It is a matter of regret to find that this promising filly should go into the hands, where her exceeding promise can never be realized to the public. It is known that Mr. Bonner never matches his horses or permits them to be trotted in public, and therefore they can make no record. If Lady Stout had remained on the turf it is confidently believed that she would have eclipsed anything ever seen in America in the trotting horse line.—Lexington (Ky.) Gazette.

A New York dealer that denounces three card monte in the Evening Post: "The monte men do not possess the confidence of the gambling fraternity. I, for example, am a fast leader and poker-player, and do not consider a monte man entitled even to my good will; I despise him as the Bishop of New York probably despises me. He is as far below me, a fair dealer, open and above board gambler, as I am below the bishop. But that is neither here nor there. Warn your readers and colleagues against me as much as you choose. Tell them not to play a square game of faro or poker, but let the rump up 'shuck' the monte men as they deserve it."

Members of the Conservative press are invited to attend. W. R. COX, Chairman Central Committee. J. J. LITCHFIELD, Secy.

The property of giving condition no lie to horses, cattle and sheep was discussed and admitted by many of the Agricultural Societies throughout the State last Fall, and we believe that in every case but one they decided in favor of Sheridan's Calfary Cough Cure in Coughers Good Judgment.

There is, probably, no way in which we can benefit our readers more than by recommending to them for general use Johnson's Anodyne Linctant. It is adapted to almost all the purposes of a Family Medicine; and as a specific for coughs, colds, whooping cough, soreness of the chest, lamé stomach, rheumatism, spitting of blood, and all lung difficulties, it is unequalled that ever we saw or heard of.

Every Reader of the Weekly SENTINEL will receive free of cost a copy of the best Agricultural and Family Newspaper in this country by addressing Moore's Rural New Yorker, 78 Duane Street, New York. dec 3
