SHORE PILOTS.

Mr. Selby's bill providing that shore pilots shall be employed on vessels coming into our barbors, and not be sent back to shore because they have a pilot of their own aboard, came up for special order. Mr. Selby argued, suppose a ves sel approach the bar of Cape Hatteras, the captain, to reduce his expenses, coming out from Newbern, has to pay a pilot $30 or $40. He flads out down there he can employ a young pilot with State branch in his pocket for $35 per month, and thus save $40, and he takes this young stripling and calls him "mate," thus evading the law, and placing that vessel in great jeopardy, employing these young men with little or no experience, and many a fine vessel is stranded on this difficu't coast because she is piloted by a box who ought to be on his own pilot boat instead of out to sea attempting thing he knows little shout, For these reasons he wanted his bill passed in favor of the old shore pilots, those hardy sons of old ocean, who live in little huts by the seashore, and have their poles far above the trees, where they run up to he goes out in his little boat with rough sea, these captains, (and they have no more soul than a block of wood.) cry out to him, "We don't want you sir!" and drive him back not caring whether he be lost or not. He hoped this Senate would do these old pilots fustice, their corps should be preserved and protected by the State as though they were a regiment of well picked guardians for our commercial interesta.

Mr. Bell opposed the bill. He and the Senator from Hyde were the only seapoast men (Mr. Cantwell reminded, "that he was one.") He had sent the bill to his people, had it read to every branch pilot in harbor of Beaufort, and he represented 10 pilots where Mr. Selby did one, So far as argument that this bill was to interest of ship owners Mr. Bell read from persed, and the law stand as it is, signed owners and full branch pilots, and were bred and born at Beaufort, and in reply to Mr. Cantwell who doubted their nayou cannot get a man born in my county, the old pilot on shore cannot see the this General Assembly if previous decis away it would run carrying away all the muddy water with it, the finest il ustration of the corruption of the Republican

The question recurred upon Mr. Mean's amendment, which provides that unless the act applies to National Banks, that it does not apply to other metitutions or persons losning money.

Mr. Patton was opposed to any amend-ment and wanted the bill passed in the present shape.

Mr. Means urged the adoption of amendment in order that the bill, if passed into a law, might not by any chance create a further monopoly in favor of National Banks, Supreme Courts of other States and in crease the present monopoly of National n their power.

Mesers. Dortch and Piunix favored the bill in remarks of length and urged its passage without amendment.

Mr. McRes advocated the adoption of he amendment. He thought it a neces sary safe guard to protect against estab. National Banks. He did not desire any neary law, but if this bill was to pass b wished this provision for the protection of the people inserted.

Mr. Mebane, though not favoring the bill, was heartly in favor of the amendment. He thought it high'y occurary to protect the people in the event that hould be decided that she provisions this bill did not effect National Banks. Mr. O kamith endorsed the watend ment in remarks of a me length. Pending further discussion the
