VOL. X. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY, MARCH 1, 1875. NO. 18.

City Intelligence.

OVERFLOWING.—The National Hotel could not accommodate all who called to-day. The Grangers took the town and the Hotel.

OPEN TO ALL.—There will be a meeting of the Grange at Metropolitan Hall on Wednesday night. Mr. John Long of Newborn, is the orator of the occasion. Mr. Long has all the gifts of the complete orator. The ladies especially are invited to attend.

GASTON COUNTY.—A nice old gentleman—a granger from Gaston county, said on the train this morning in the presence of Senator Parish and others, that the Legislature had covered itself with glory and proved the savior of the State in passing the usury law.

Now what will he say?

FRIGHT INTO A TRAIN.—Saturday evening as the train from Goldsboro approached the station of Princeton the ladies couch was thrown astir by a musket ball which came crushing through one of the windows. The conductor stopped the cars, but the demon that fired the shot had run off and disappeared in a dense thicket of undergrowth.

THE GRANGERS.—Our city is full of these sturdy sons of the soil. Prominent among them are Dr. Columbus Mills of Cabarrus, Col. Jasper Stone of Gaston, and Dr. J. J. Lawrence of Cumberland. We extend these gentlemen a hearty invite to call and see us. The string is always out for a granger's hand to pull.

THE LEE-DUDE TRIAL.—Five minutes Saturday evening before we went to press two gents popped into the office, fresh from the court house, and reported that Mr. Dunn was decided the Sheriff, and in a few lines we so stated it. But we now find that the jury declared Mr. Lee to have received a majority of the votes but never to have tendered a bond. He then moved a judgment nunc pro tunc which was refused, and he took an appeal to the Supreme Court. This leaves Mr. Dunn virtually sheriff until the case is settled in the court above.

A MISS OF NEWS.—Henry Canaler, old sheriff, died near Lincolnton, aged 75.—The boys in Winston had a torchlight procession the night of the 22d.—A new Moravian church will be built near Salem.—Boys in Salem kill the robins with sling shots.—A white squirrel with a pink eye has been noticed for four years in a tree in Yadkin county, and all efforts to shoot it or capture it failed, the other day the tree was cut down and Mr. A. S. Jones of West Bend pulled it from a den and now has it as a pet.—Frogs piped in the meadows this week, says the Salem Press.—Salisbury is to have a National Bank.—Let the farmers be careful and pack their produce, potatoes and such, in standard barrels, and not flour barrels, the flour barrel contains one-eight more than the standard barrel and to this the merchants transfers, making profit on both quantity and price—a standard barrel contains one hundred quarts.—"Get up, Tommy, get up, the early bird catches the worm, you know" "I'm not going fishing, to day, mother, and shan't want any worms"—Warm in Wilmington this week, thermometer, Wednesday, at 78 degrees, 4 high than on any February day since 1870.

SUNDAY IN RALEIGH.—Another pretty day. The blue sky declares that God is in his holy temple, and as the church bells ring, and the people answer in crowds upon the streets, the Bible points true of the time that is coming when every knee shall bow and every tongue confess the glory of the Lord. The wind storm we had Thursday evening preached a powerful sermon in a church in New York city. The preacher had taken his text, "Death and the necessity for preparation," and had just said, "You do not know how soon you may be called upon," when there was a crash overhead and the roof of the church crushed in, killing and wounding a large number of the congregation. If a man have his house set in order for death he has accomplished the whole grand object of life, and has reached the highest round in the ladder of immortal honors.

AN INFANT CLASS OF CHILDREN.

Suppose you drop in at the Baptist Sunday school some Sunday morning. There is no sight there prettier than any picture you ever saw framed. The reporter flied through this morning, the large basement room, where sat 400 of the scholars and teachers, and entered a little heart-shaped door at the end of this room, which had written over it in gold leaf letters, "A fold of the lambs." Here were one hundred and seven little bodies from two to six years of age, and all arrayed on circular rows of seats, sitting up as prim as little ladies and gentlemen, and under the direction of Mrs. Dodd, singing and repeating the scriptures. Think of it. It means all. It's the right start from the cradle. Mrs. Dodd leads them at the melodeon and it is a treat to hear them sing. Here are two little toddlers with their colored names, and yet they can tell you the names of all the apostles, something that you can't do, probably, without running to the Bible to look it up and see. In May next these six or seven of these little people will graduate and go down into the large basement prepared for a senior class. They will each receive a diploma which is now being prepared at Detroit, Michigan, and will have a photograph on it of Mr. and Mrs. Dodd, the first teachers who taught them where to walk after they had learned how to walk.

PRESBYTERIAN.

At the Presbyterian church this morning Rev. Dr. Atkinson preached from Matthew xviiith 3rd: Where Jesus set a little child in the midst of his disciples and told them to become as little children before they could enter the kingdom of heaven. The preacher spoke of the characteristics of a little child, meekness, docility, gentleness and trust, and explained how necessary for all christians to attain these qualities.

BAPTIST.

At the Baptist church Rev. Dr. Pritchard preached from Romans xviiith: 11 and 12: "It is high time to awake out of sleep" &c. He called the lethargy of the church in plain terms, laziness; and said that preacher and church were not doing their duty. Some had said we had better send for an evangelist to wake us up, but he saw no use in sending north or south for a man to come and tell the same truth that he was engaged every Sunday in preaching them.

EPISCOPAL

The Episcopal ministers exchanged pulpits. At Christ church Rev. Mr. Rich preached from 2nd Corinthians vth: 17: "If any man be in Christ he is a new creature, old things are passed away; behold all things are become new." God created man in his own image capable of happiness and with the power of choice. Our first parents chose the forbidden fruit, and "by one man sin entered into the world and death by sin." Our great object in life is to find out the remedy for that sin and the antidote for that death. We must be changed from the disobedience of the first to the obedience of the second Adam, &c.

At the church of the Good Shepherd Rev. Mr. Marshall preached from 2nd Peter 1st: 10th: "Give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things ye shall never fall." It would be well for every member of the church to wear "these things" as rings around their fingers, and count them up every night to see if a single one has been lost. Faith is the first starting point. Then add to faith, virtue; to virtue, knowledge; to knowledge temperance; to temperance, patience; to patience, godliness; to godliness, brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness, charity. Add up, and the answer to it all is a true christian, one that is neither barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ.

METHODIST.

At Edenton street Methodist church Rev. Dr. Rosser preached another of his powerful sermons from Luke xviiith: 37th: Jesus of Nazareth passeth by." His sermon was on the special visitations of Providence. At its conclusion Mr. Mangum asked Dr. Rosser to retire and requested the congregation to remain seated. A subscription was then taken up as a compliment of thanks and appreciation to the able man for his three weeks hard laboring in our midst. Young Mr. Separks, of this city, and two young ladies joined the church.

At Person street church Rev. Mr. Journey preached no sermon, but in accordance with the discipline requiring it, read the rules of the church and commented on them.

AT NIGHT.

At the Presbyterian church Dr. Atkinson preached a fine sermon on the mind of Christ being the mind of the Christian, that he should try and think and act like Christ, both towards God and man. That's a glorious choir they have here, the best in the State. The chant before service was splendid, and neatly and exquisitely given by the lady soprano. A lady visitor from Hillsboro, the "sweetest singer in the State, was present, and we know she enjoyed the music.

At the Baptist church Dr. Pritchard preached about Solomon to the young men, and it was ably done. He told them that Solomon was the patron of all the wealth the world could afford, and he had come to the conclusion that all was vanity of vanity, and the world was a humbug anyway. Fear God and keep his commandments—that was the whole duty of man.

At Edenton street church Dr. Rosser preached from the text, "Why will ye die, O House of Israel."

For the Sentinel.

MR. EDITOR:—I witnessed a most remarkable debate in the Senate to-day. That body voted to postpone the operation of the usury law, until October next. I hope the House will not concur. The Legislature ought to know, that it is the banks, shylocks and usurers who are calling for more time and more blood. It is the cry of the horse leech and not of the people. Since coming to your city I have heard a strong but true saying in favor of the usury bill. It was this, that nothing but bar rooms, bawdy houses and faro banks could borrow at 12 12 or 18 per cent. It would break up all other business or occupations. I believe it; for last I know it.

Yours,
ANTI USURY.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

SENATE.

March 1, 1875.

President Armfield in chair.

Prayer by Rev. Dr. Atkinson.

Mr. Cooke, bill to amend sec. 6 of the 65th chapter of Battle's Revisal. Referred.

Mr. Williamson, bill to construe the true meaning of the 6th section of the usury bill that has passed both house. Mr. Busbee amended that the law be postponed till January 1872.

Mr. French opposed the resolution of Mr. Williamson and thought the whole matter should be postponed until Tuesday when the supplementary bill would come up. He afterward withdrew his resolution to postpone.

Mr. Shaw supported the present law and hurled back the charge as absurd that the usury bill had been passed under a gag law.

Mr. Linney said he hoped there would be no postponement of the bill. It has merit in it, it is just; the sooner we practice it, the sooner it yields fruit. Procrastination is the last plea the enemies of the truth resort to. It was the plea of one of England's greatest Lords who when charged with bribery and corruption, admitted his guilt, but averred inasmuch as bribery and corruption were then the prevailing vices that his punishment in this regard would result in the punishment of the whole realm. It is history repeating itself. This plea of Lord Bacon is now the plea of the enemie to this bill.

Mr. Waring opposed Mr. Williamson's resolution.

Mr. Busbee opposed the resolution as shown in his amendment and spoke to that amendment.

Mr. Mills took point of order that whole bill should be first reconsidered before any amendment. The chair decided Mr. Busbee's amendment to be an independent bill.

Mr. Busbee thought so far as the resolution was concerned that Mr. Williamson's fears about "the thirty days after the ratification" were groundless—the act would stand good as it was—but he asked it to be postponed to January '77 that his people might have a little breathing spell.

Mr. Cook offered amendment to Mr. Busbee's, strike out Jan. '77, and insert 1st Nov. '75 He should vote for Mr. Williamson's resolution if his amendment was voted down.

Mr. French asked why this discussion here to-day? It was brought by the gentleman who introduced the main bill. He hoped the resolution with all the amendments would be postponed until the supplemental bill came up, to-morrow at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Standford stated he had stood side by side with Mr. Busbee and Mr. French in their fight against the usury bill, and he had been more denounced by his people at home for his vote against that bill than for any vote he had ever given, but still he was in favor of Mr. LeGrande's bill to postpone till Jan. '76, and he thought the tone of Mr. Busbee and Mr. French's speeches was calculated to drive Mr. LeGrand from his supplemental bill.

The vote was then taken on Mr. French's motion to postpone till to-morrow. Lost, ayes 14, nays 32.

Vote was then taken on Mr. Busbee's amendment to postpone to Jan. 1877. (Just before the vote Mr. Linney said that on the train going West the other day, a gentleman remarked that this Legislature had played the devil with the country in passing the usury bill. Just opposite Mecklenburg sat another gentleman of equally fair intelligence, and he remarked he be blamed if he wasn't glad there was one Legislature that couldn't be bought. Mr. Linney said he didn't reply or make himself known to either member. He hoped this Senate would vote all these amendments down, and give the country a trial of the law. He expected to be denounced by some for his course, but he felt he was right, and their censure should not scare him from his convictions.) Lost ayes 8, nays 37.

Mr. Williamson's resolution was then voted on and passed 3d reading, ayes 25, nays 10. Mr. Cook then offered his amendment on the third reading of the resolution Mr. Waring spoke in favor of the amendment, &c.

Mr. Cook stated that power of money in the east was underrated, that the bankers and capitalists had their hands on two-thirds of the farmers in the Cotton Belt of the State.

Mr. Parish thought policy of the Senate was clearly established on this question. Attempts to wreck this bill have just been voted down twice. Here was money in Duplin county loaned out at 8 per cent. per month, and he thought the sooner Mr. Standford's man who bought a horse with money loaned at that per cent., lost his horse, the better for that man. He had just heard from the money lenders in Nash who were up in arms against this bill because they had been in habit of getting 40 per cent. per year. Let us put our hand down upon these men who would suck the very life blood out of the working men of the State.

Mr. Boddie defended Nash county from the charge.

The vote was again taken on Mr. Cooke's amendment, and amendment and resolution passed third reading, ayes 31, nays 16.

Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

At 10 a. m. Mr. Speaker Robinson called the House to order.

The journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Messrs. Shackelford, Staton and Walker, of Tyrrell, submitted reports from committee.

By Mr. Greene, a bill to attach Watauga to the 10th Judicial District, &c. Referred.

By Mr. Pinnix, a bill to amend section 283, chapter 17, Battle's Revisal. Calendar.

The bill to amend the act chartering the Carolina Narrow Gauge R. R. was taken up and recommitted to committee on internal improvement.

The bill to prevent the obstructions to the channel of South Creek, Beaufort county was taken up and passed its several readings.

The bill to amend the act incorporating the Fayetteville Building and Loan Association, was taken up and passed its several readings.

By Mr. McRae, a resolution in regard to the Philadelphia Centennial. Placed on the calendar.

The bill to attach the county of Watauga to the 10th Judicial District, and to change the time of holding courts in that district, was taken up and passed its several readings.

The bill in relation to fishing in Albemarle Sound and certain rivers, passed its several reading.

Other bills of unimportance passed.

The bill to amend the general railway laws of the State was taken up and ordered to be printed and referred to the committee on internal improvements.

The resolution in favor of W. H. Morries was taken up and passed its several readings. The bill to authorize the Mayor and commissioners of Elizabeth City, to issue bonds, &c., was taken up and passed second reading. Ayes 68, nays 2.

Resolution in favor of James H. Enniss passed its several readings.

Bill to authorize finance committees of counties to administer oaths in certain cases passed its several readings.

The bill to attach so much of Craven county as lies east of Adams' creek to Carteret county was taken up and passed its several readings.

The bill to amend the election law was taken up. (The bill allows a voter to vote in any precinct in the county upon showing a certificate and taking an oath that he has not voted at any other place during the day.)

On motion of Mr. Isler the bill was laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. Tate, the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Machinery Bill, Mr. McRae in the chair.

After the amendment and adoption of various sections, on motion of Mr. Candler, the Committee rose and reported progress and asked leave to sit again.

The Speaker resumed the chair and the House adjourned.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—In the Senate Carpenter spoke against the passage of the Civil Rights bill.

Collectors of internal revenue are instructed to sell no more cigar stamps than necessary for cigars sold or moved from factory.

The appropriation for the payment of the awards by the Southern Claims Commission passed.

The election committee submitted a report that Lawrence was, and that Sypher was not elected from Louisiana.

The consideration of the caucus force bill was resumed. During a colloquy, Blaine told Butler he was a scoundrel. The trouble arose from democrats approaching the desk during the roll-call, their object being to see if by not voting they could prevent a quorum and force a call o the House. After the democrats had been ordered to their seats, Butler stalked to the clerk's desk and leaning on his elbow watched the progress of the call. He was ordered to his seat, but said he had as much right there as speaker Blaine, who was on the floor at the time and standing near the clerk's desk, Cessna being in the chair. Calls of order resulted in the affair being dropped.

Senate—The Civil Rights Bill finally passed and goes to the President.

The amendment relieving Southern jurors of the iron clad oath was defeated.
