City Intelligence.

The Greensboro Patriot condemns the Legislature for expelling Thorne.

Capt. Shewell, the talented young doctor of the "Southern Home" at Charlotte, is registered at the Yarbrough House.

Miss Louisa A. Lotts left Oxford last Saturday to join the Presbyterian Mission in Japan. She was a teacher in the Orphan Asylum.

J. H. Mitchell has fainting fits and is utterly prostrated in health. It is thought he will have to withdraw from the election contest in Tipperary.

Chas. Williams's face again adorns the columns of the Charlotte Observer, and a young man, who keeps store, has just borrowed the paper to cut her likeness out. He has a "art, you know."

J. H. Mills refused to accept five hundred dollars deposited in the Citizens' Bank of this city by the Grand Grift Concert at Wilson, for the Asylum at Oxford. He refused it on account of his religion. We call his religion the pure stuff.

The Herald says of Hughes, the negro member who moved Thorne's expulsion, that a little while back and Mr. Hughes' great grandfather had down to Mumbo Jumbo in the neighborhood of the Guinea Coast. In defence of his grandfather and his native State Mr. Hughes should wish to privilege on the New York Herald or be forever silent.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sutherland in Charlotte, together with a little servant nurse, were romping with and down the passage in the third story of the Central Hotel, and the little negro went to whisk around suddenly and set herself on the sill of an open window. She went out head foremost, bounced like a ball on top of an old shed, and rolled off thirty feet to the ground, and is now for another romp to-day. Talk about the little negro children; they are warranted to wear, and don't break every time you let them fall.

A Mass of News.—A $1,400,000 tract deed has just been recorded at Denver.—750,000 adult white men in the United States that cannot read or write. 1,150,000 white women.—Jim Corbett, of Richmond, assisted the other night in a literary entertainment at Wilford's, Washington City.—Fayette McMullen, of Virginia, is to run for the Legislature from Smyth county as a republicanist.—Legislation of Pennsylvania has passed a law making the kidnapping of a child subject to a fine of $10,000, and imprisonment not to exceed twenty-five years. Eggs are best when cooked five minutes.—The Georgia treasurer has been censured for careless management.—Rev. Mr. Hatcher, of Petersburg, has been elected to Grace Church in Richmond in place of Rev. Mr. Wilson, resigned.—Fam. Thumb played a game of billiards at a hotel in Pittsburgh.—Stephens of Georgia, flew the track and voted with the rails on the resolution of the Louisiana select committee.—Brownlow, since becoming an editor, says he feels far more respectable than when a member of Congress.—Col. Peter Harrison, of Marlinton, Va., fell from a fence and fractured his breast bone, at first thought, but now physician hopes he will soon recover.

CORPORATIONS.—To-morrow will come before the Legislature a very important bill. In the opinion of many men there cannot be one of greater importance. It is a bill concerning the debts of corporations. The object of the bill is to prevent swindlers on honest stockholders, and honest creditors of corporations. The usual mode now adopted to accomplish the wicked ends of corrupt capitalists, is to get control of the charters of corporations, and then avoid them by legislation to suit their own insidious purposes. Thus—A designs to possess railroad B. He buys a majority of stock at high price. Then he controls the company, and will make no dividends on stock. He gets permission to mortgage the road and issue bonds—these bonds are payable at an early day. The company will declare no dividends, the debt is on the coupon is not paid, and the road is sold out; the purchaser is the original and swindling capitalist, who buys at a price which cuts off all the existing stockholders, and all the bond creditors, all the creditors for labor, of the company, and thus evades all the recovery of all damages for defaults and injuries by railroad negligence. We call attention to this bill as the best security against things that has ever been introduced, and we say that no one will vote against it who favors the law that all corporations shall comply with their contracts.

In the outset corporations obtain credit for the faith of the wealth. Now let us apply their wealth to fulfil their own contracts.

Unless this be done by the Legislature, let us no longer trust any pledge by any corporation and there will be truly verified the old adage, "Corporations have no soul."
