RALEIGH NEGRO ON A CIVIL

RIGHTS RAMPAGE. A Raisigh negro waiter at the Ex-nange Hotel aunounced on Sunday eve-ing where the landlady happened to ear him, that he was going to Savannah, Georgia, where a negro was a white man. At 5 o'clock Ben. Britchford's carriage stood in frost of the Exchange. The civil rights waiter with $7 is pocket ored Ben to put on his trunk, which order was obeyed, and when seated the Afighan was tucked around his shins to teep off the rain. He had declared his nt to ride in the ladies car, to get supper at Mrs. Troys at Morrisville, and occupy the best bed at the Bestow in Greenaboro, When the whistle blew he was seated in the ladies car, keeping his word; when the train halted before Mrs. Troys eating house, he walked in with other passengers, members of the Legis-lature and Conductor Spraggins, Mrs. Troy inquired of a gentleman what she must do. You can't help yourself, Madam, give him his supper, was the reply. When supper was over he drew his cigars, and being on the squat order, he reached up to a tall gentleman's lips and begged a light. You d-m black rescal, I will stump the life out of you, and permanence of fume might they not said the gentleman, whose lips were near being kissed by the negroes fingers. At Colonel, perpetually force themselves Durhams the civil rights rampager walked upon the friends of Governor Pennington to the platform and asked for Tom Johnson, the negroes addressed did not know such a man. Tell him, said the rampager, I passed in the ladies car. Tell him who passed I said one. A gentleman on his was to hell, was the reply. I think, said one of the Durham negroes, you might put on some manners if you are on your way to hell. You may go on, said another negro, they are waiting for you, Said the Raleigh negro after these rebukes, tell him Mayor Twitty passed on his way to Savannub. The whistle blew and on flow Mayor Twitty, whether he slept in the best bed at the Benbow, or went on where they were waiting for him, is a matter for the Greensboro Patriot to investigate and report.

RING MEASURES.

A correspondent, A, sends a word two intended for the Legislature. A is an old man of mans experience. What he says descriptive of the last hours of legislation was attempted in the late Con- in and fight the rings and railroad corgress, just adjourned:

The ring and corporation measures the Legislature were to expunge the clause of the charter of the North Carolina R. R. excluding men from office who had been guilty of embezzlement, &c. Putting a new and heavy mortgage on the North Carolina road, and make it buy two other bankrupt roads, and then sell out all. And to prevent a law stringent against usury and courers. The ring and corporations have failed in their main plans and to day are in despair. Their last and cards on Turner. effort will be to get the usury bill postponed until October. A member says their chance for it now is not half so good as Major Twitty's chance for the place he said he was going to.

NOT AUTHORISED.

In the injunction case of the negroes of Wilmington against the act of the Legislature tried before Judge Bond, the Judge decided this morning that he was not authorsed to take cognizance of such a case brought before him in such a way. The complaint of the negroes against the act Rodman and the court are with us, Steve of the Legislature was dismissed. We Douglas and Holden are with us, Judge will give the opinion of Judge Bond in our next lesue.

Colonel, nine out of ten of the people are with Joe Turner. The grange will turn bill. If a negro comes to my house I against us as one of our stockholders told one of our editors he would do if the must entertain him and give him a seat at my table with Gov. Pennington and paper did not denounce Swepson and the other distinguished boarders or be ring. The friends of the agricultural fair mulcted with cost in court, and go to fell out with our paper because you apjail for refusing. When his excellency pointed so many bond thieves on the Gov. Pennington left here he was opposed committee as Turner called them. I don't to a negro giving evidence against him in think you could have done better, for court, though it might be in a case they were of the first blood and had where he had refused to pay the negro plenty of money. Turner has no reason for work and labor done. He will go to to complain of our paper and our railthe National Hotel if a negro ever sits by roads. We offered to buy him out him at my table, for Col. Brown will not through Maj. Hearne, as Ramsay and two allow a negro to enter his dicing room lawyers can testify; we offered to buy with his hat on, much less sit at the table him out through myself and give him with Gov. Brogden and Treasurer Jen-$20,000, and fix the district so he should kins who board him. You do not know go to Congress. This he refused and Gov. Pennington as I do, Colonel, and I then Dr. Hawkins, President Baford & will tell you what manner of man he is. Co. determined to break him down. And In frame he is tall rather than squatty, if we don't do it, C-lonel, he shant make expanded and muscular, just the man any money at his business. The mis-ake to please the class who look with double made by Buford and Hawkids and the confidence upon a leader who in his cwn two lawyers who brought in the money person represents the qualities upon which from Boss Tweed's ring was this : They they rely in clearing new grounds and should not have put forward poor men rolling logs. The Governor of Dakots like Hearne, Stone, Uzzell and old man or Der-kotta, as you may prefer to call it, is Booker, but men of the first families and an able-bodied, abis-minded multiferous illustrious pedigrees. kangaroos and buffaloes of Dakota,

There is one cunning ring device which the honest but inexperienced legislator nary occasions his delivery is fluent and full, some times uncommonly rapid. In should especially guard against. It is common discussion his intenations are this: When the rings have on foot some deep and diguified like Gov. Brogden's, project which they fear will not pess the His extemporaneous powers of expres- ordeal of a public discussion, they hold sion, when he becomes animated, moves it back until the last days, near the adthe hearer just as does the voice of Gov. journment of the legislative body, when Brogden or the mighty king of the forest, bills are usually rushed through without He looked every inch a man when he opportunity for examition or deliberation stood before the Senate with his head In this way some of the most gigantic thrown back displaying a breadth of jobs of modern times have been got forehead which I have never seen absent through, without the general public, and from real talent except in the case of often without the members themselves John V. Sherard and Shoffner of the (except those few in the secret) being Shoffner Bil notoriety. In the higher aware of what is going on. After the ad department; of orstory he is superior to Journment it is often discovered that bit's of great public moment have been passed the character of which is then for the first time known to the majority of the body by whose votes they were entered.

The relifood rings know that their movements are watched, hence they dare not yet present all their projects for legislative action and public discussion. They are biding their time, awaiting the favorable moment, watching their opportunity. This opportunity they know often presents itself during the closing days of the cession. Then their agents will get some member to suddenly pre sent their bills; urge his fe.low members that no time is to be lost; assure them that the bill is "all right, and don't require examination," and insist that there s no time left for taking the usual course of such legislation. Thus, in the burlyburly of the last hours of the session, each member being anxious to return home, and relying on the assurance "its all right," the swindling bill becomes a law.

Let me admonish the General Assem bly that this plan is to be tried at the close of this session, if the hints I have received do not mislead me. The only sale gourse is for that body to let it be known now, and distinctly, that any sttempt to introduce important bills at the neel of the session will be resisted, wi'l be deemed susp cirus, presumptively fraudulent, and peremptorily voted down.

GREENSB ) RO' N. C., March 6, 1875. MR EDITOR :- Great pressure no doubt has been brought to beer upon our members. Our back and moni d men have done th ir best I suppose on our young representative, John N. Staples, Erq. I read his speech with admiration and delight. It was able and convincing and made against the wishes of many of his friends who live by lending money. You will never flad h m Joying or on the back track. His praises are sung by his constituents for his effort in behalf of his people who borrow at ruinous rates from greedy money lenders, I observe a Wilmington free money man has in the Journal made a lengthy criticism upon the ineech of our member. The purpose no doubt is to drive him into posponing the operation of the bill against usury. I firmly believe Mr. Editor that Mesars Stap es, Pinnix and the young men of the best abused Legislature that ever assemus, after we put firth the Sweps in let ers bied in North Carolina have in the law against usury found out a cure for the money panic,

GUILFORD.

For the Sentinel. MR. KDITOR :- I read teasterday in Irish history the saying of Lord Readsthing must be done, Colonel, to get the dale, who was Lord Chancellor of Ireland, that in "Ireland there was one law for the rich and another for the poor," I said and so it is in North Carolina. There are the Executive Committee of the party are | 500 convicts in the penitentiary and twice as many in the different jalis, all of them together did not steal one teath as much as was stolen by gentlemen under Gov. Holden's administration, and no or c of the gentl-men have been brought to punishment. How and why is this? Where were the flicers of the law when this w.n .n, and where I ask are they now, that to i dictments are drawn except against the humble and lowly? Cant you shame the officials into a discharge of their daty? Yours, VINDEX.
