City Intelligence.

Yes, I think we had best put in an advertisement.
The Mass.—Oh, yes, the smallest representative from Harriet, is still in this city, about the only remaining member of the Legislature.

Home made shirts. A day or two ago, while crossing the ice, we gathered two ladies talking about men down, and one of the ladies remarked that, "When I tried it on, I asked if it was a good fit about the waist," and he replied, "Well, I should say so. It fits about as well as a home-made shirt." There was a volume of hosiery.—R.

A. T. STEWART MAKES A PRESENT.—The ladies of Christ Episcopal church, this city, lately ordered a five hundred dollar carpet from Stewart's, New York, and sent all money for it lacking $48 which was subject to his check, but the carpet was received and the bill was recouped in full with words from Stewart "Would the ladies accept, &c?"

An old man was blown from Morrisville Saturday evening, and a young alligator, dead, was found on top of Reuben's store in this city, the thing was blown from somewhere, no doubt of it. An old citizen says the Saturday tornado reminds him of a little blow they had in the neighborhood of Jamestown several years ago, where the wind was known to have taken up a candle with a baby in it and carrying it some distance in the air let it down as gently as the mother would herself.

IMAGINATION.—A dry goods clerk in this city is always fancying his health is bad, so the other Sunday a crowd of friends determined to cheer him. He came down to breakfast dressed in his best and looking unusually well. The friends had fixed their plans, and all separated. As the young man came up from breakfast, one met him with, "My patient, Harry, you look mighty pale, are you sick?" He told him so, that on the contrary he was feeling unusually well. A few minutes another came in and greeted him, "Why, Harry, what's the matter, you look badly old fellow, are you sick?" He told him, not exactly sick, but come to think of it, he didn't go to bed till very late last night. Then in came another with, "Harry, Harry, you must not be well, you are looking mighty badly," and Harry said he did feel badly, and he went to his room and staid in bed the whole day. The next morning they told him the joke, but you had better not crowd Harry much about it, or he'll show his muscles.

DEATH OF AN OLD DANISH MASTER.—A correspondent informs us of the death of Mr. John Word, the famous dancing master of North Carolina, who died in Greensboro last Saturday the 20th instant. He was an old resident of the town of Milton and his remains were taken there Monday and buried. Mr. Word was a remarkable man in his line. He taught dancing up to the day of his death and he died aged 77 years. A more correct, gentle soul, honest and kindly hearted gentleman never breathed. There are grandfathers and grandmothers in the State to-day whom he taught to dance and he was known from one end of the State to the other. In his last days one arm became partially paralyzed but it didn't stop him in his business, he carried his nephew along to play the violin, and he would teach the steps the same as ever. He was also badly afflicted with rheumatism, which he has often told seriously, and he really believed it, was caused him by the prayers of a good old Methodist sister, who prayed one night that God would so order it that he shouldn't teach dancing any more, and he declared he woke up the next morning with his first spell of rheumatism and has had it ever since. Truly a man has departed that everybody liked who knew him, and none had a bad word to throw at him.

PITTSBORO.—The storm at Pittsboro did much damage. The office of Maurice Q. Waddell was completely crushed in by the falling of a large tree, several residences were badly damaged, and the steeple of the Presbyterian and Baptist churches were blown off and the roofs of the churches crushed in. Court was in session in the second story of the Court-house when the wind swept the tin off the roof, and the small crowd, fortunately, rushed pell mell down stairs and got out before the ceiling and the timber fell in. Judge McKay was not so fortunate in getting down and he rushed to the jury room and would have jumped from the second story window but was prevented by Sheriff John Taylor who knew that after the crash the danger was all over. A little negro boy named Masly, who is a great rascal, so to speak when you ask him "where've you been, Masly?" will answer "been lookin' about," he was standing in the courtyard when the tin fell off, and it found a pointed hole about him and riddled him all over the town. The attorney of Dept. C. H. Dennis was very much damaged.

THE LADIES.

Miss Wilson has been ordered by her physician to a warmer climate.
It is said that when a female child is born in Indiana, the unhappy father begins to save money to buy a piano.

A woman at Danvers, Ga., accidentally bit her finger off the other day, and since that, her husband gets home every evening two hours earlier than usual.

Mrs. Mitchell the venerable widow of the late Dr. Mitchell at Chapel Hill has been recently quite ill but we are glad to learn is now reported better.

One of the Sicily girls, Cleveland county, thought she'd have some fun out of a waggon at the stand at the gate, "Howdy Eve," replied the waggoner, as he drove his wagon of apples, "Yes want to eat an apple to-day?" The girl was routed.

The funeral of Mrs. Tyler Curtis, the victim of medical misapprehension, took place from her late residence, in New York on Thursday. The remains were in a rosewood coffin, covered with flowers, the gifts of numerous friends, of whom there were present Mrs. Strakosch, Lafayette Harrison, Signor Krant, Signor Albites, and many others well known in musical circles. Rev. Dr. Tiffany, pastor of the Church of the Atonement, of the choir of which Mrs. Curtis was a member, officiated, and read the funeral service of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

RELIGIOUS.
The private library of the Rev. Dr. Walker, which was bequeathed to Harvard college, is valued at $18,000.

Beavers let any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.

Moody, the English revivalist, sent a cable dispatch to Dr. W. H. Talmage to come over and help him, but the church of Mr. Talmage refused their consent.

An incident of the flood at Chattanooga. Dr. Baird, of Nashville, was conducting a revival at the Presbyterian church. On Friday night a large congregation had assembled within the walls of sacred edifice, and the services were exceedingly impressive and solemn, having immediate reference to the flood which at that hour had become more real in their awakened alarm than previously.

The services were progressing, and after an earnest prayer the preacher gave out the hymn commencing:
"How firm a foundation ye saints of the Lord."

The congregation joined in the hymn, and were singing the first lines of the fourth stanza:
"When through the deep waters I call thee to go,
The rivers of waters shall not thee overflow."

Just at that moment a man rushed into the middle aisle of the church and shouted loudly: "The flood is rising, and is in the yard and about the steps; hurry away or you will be cut off!" Immediately the great congregation stampeded and hastened through the rising waters to prepare for the inevitable flood.

PERSONAL.
The failure of Gross, March & Co., tea and coffee jobbers, New York, is announced.

Francis D. Moulton, the "mutual friend," has leased twelve warehouses in New York, and will continue his old business.

The hotels in Florida are doing a flourishing business. The St. James, in Jacksonville, has just made a cash dividend of 25 1/2 per cent. for its year's business.

The Legislature of Georgia having repealed the law upon crops, the motto of the business men of that State is now, almost without exception, "cash down or no trade."

Mr. John W. Pettigrew, a wealthy New York tycoon, died in New York last week. Only a week before his death he expended over $20,000 for three trotters, paying $18,000 for the fast mare Maggie Wilson, $10,000 for Mat Woodcock, and $2,000 for Tanager Boy.

Prices for stock. The Baltimore Sun says that Robt. S. Harshberger, of Augusta county, Va., sold this week thirty-five head of cattle to a purchaser for the New York market at $101 per head. He also sold to a Richmond purchaser eight cattle at $70 per head, and eight sheep at $12 50 per head. At such prices stock raising in Virginia ought to pay.

A portrait of Speaker Robinson, who called Patrick Henry to order when making his memorable speech on American rights in the Virginia House of Burgesses, has been added to the historical gallery of Independence Hall, Philadelphia.

A little child of Amos Platt, residing on I, near York street, is dying from the effects of a speck of arsenic administered to it by mistake for a dose of cough medicine.

Twenty-five years. Think of it! For over twenty-five years it has been recognized in medical writings, and steadily gaining the confidence of the people.

Laurens T. Moore.—The editor of this paper returns from Jamaica with this evening and will lecture to-night in the courthouse of this city or rings, and what he knows about railroads and railroad presidents.

A PUBLIC SCHOOL IN GREENSBORO.—A correspondent writes that they have a large free school in Greensboro, taught by excellent teachers and nearly every child in the place attends it. It numbers at present one hundred and twenty-five scholars. Our correspondent adds it is a good thing to have such an institution as that. It is a good thing and one that we must do to establish; the pockets of Greensboro while men are too poor to pay fancy prices for their children to go to private schools. The yanks is nearly always well educated, and he owes it to the public schools.

A LESSON FOR FARMERS.—We spring a little while clipped from an exchange on the public and commend it to every farmer in the land. There is a lesson in it. Many a parent turns his child away under just such circumstances, and never thinks of the harm he does:

An eminent clergyman in Trenton, N. J., in his study, some time since, busily engaged in preparing his Sunday sermon, when his little boy toddled into the room, and holding up his pinched finger said, with an expression of suffering, "Look, pop; how I hurt it." The father, interrupted, in the middle of a sentence, glanced hastily at him, and with just the slightest tone of impatience said, "I can't help it now." The little fellow's eyes grew bigger, and as he turned to go out, he said in a low voice: "Yes you could; you might have said 'Oh! There was a sermon to minister."

ALL ABOUT.—Carroll, the Vineland editor who was shot in the head, is better and may get well.—Laudis, who shot him, still in jail and his wife stays in his cell.—500 persons recently attended a fox hunt in Columbia county, Penn.—A New Hampshire grade Durham cow has produced in 300 days 4 tons and 800 pounds of milk.—The recent floods uncovered the remains of Federal soldiers buried at Belle Isle, Va.—There is but one editor in the insane asylum at Ulster, the rest of course being outside.—Chief Justice Waite ordered a lawyer to pull off his overcoat before he should address an argument to the court.—Old Brownlow advises the negro to carefully avoid everything calculated to array the prejudices of the whites against them. The terms of the Louisiana compromise will not be made known until April 10th, the meeting of the Legislature.—The Irishmen are paying honors to the death of John Mitchell all over the land.—The sale in England of Mr. Gladstone's pamphlet on the Valiant Donnes has reached 145,000 copies.—It is thought the Becher trial will continue till July.

It has been travelling the press ever since the last snow, but it is not too late we trust to read and announce that Mr. E. R. Taylor, of Easy Hill, Brunswick county, this State has given up in bloom.

More than 50 years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Lincture was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefited by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Lincture.

Fills which contain antimony, quinine and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parson's Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.
