Grand Pacific
HOTEL
CHICAGO, ILL.
Having purchased the entire furniture and taken a lease of this magnificent hotel, I have admitted Mr. Samuel M. Turner, formerly of the old Tremont House and late of the Palmer House, Chicago, and Mr. Tyler D. Worthington, formerly of the Revere House, Boston, to an interest in the business, which will be conducted under the name of JOHN B. DRAKE & CO.
THE HOUSE
Covers one entire block, having a frontage south and east of over 500 feet. Is admirably located for the convenience of guests; is thoroughly built in the best manner, with all modern improvements. Every floor from basement to roof, encloses a four-inch layer of cement, which with other safeguards, render it practically fire-proof. The ventilation is perfect, and the whole is being refitted with the addition of new and elegant furniture as required.
The service, table and other accommodations being the same to all guests, will be maintained fully up to the high standard of their predecessors, and equal to any house in this or any other country, but the proprietors have decided to meet the just expectations of the public in these times of financial depression by graduating prices from $3.00 to $4.00 per day, according to the location of the room occupied.
JOHN B. DRAKE.

City Intelligence.

Go to Charlie Christophers on Hargett Street for onion sets.

Watch the weed peckers and those that encourage them.

Another new paper has lit on the city. The Spy. Long life to you, my brave.

REMOVAL.—The revenue office will be removed to the Smith building on Fayetteville Street next door to the residence of Mr. Alfred Williams on the 31st inst.

LECTURE TO-NIGHT.—The editor of the SENTINEL will give a free lecture at the Court House to-night at 7:30 o'clock on ring, corporation rogues, railroads and railroad presidents and how they run newspapers.

GOOD FRIDAY.—A large congregation worshipped at Christ Episcopal Church this morning, Mr. Rich uniting his congregation of the Church of Good Shepherd with that of Mr. Marshall. The sermon was on the crucifixion.

PERSON STREET METHODIST CHURCH.—An astonishing revival is in progress at this church under direction of its young pastor Mr. Jurney. We hear of old citizens who have battled with the ups and downs of this life for many a year asking the prayers of the church.

DEATH OF A NORTH CAROLINIAN.—Dr. James R. Washington, formerly of this State, but for the past twenty-five years a highly esteemed and successful practitioner of medicine in St. Louis, Mo., died at his residence in that city on the 19th inst. Dr. Washington was raised in Newbern.

The Baronne de Tallyrand, who is described as a lovely Circassian, with melting dark eyes and pearly white shoulders and arms, wore so many jewels at a recent costume ball in Florence that she took gendarmes along to escort. There were jewels everywhere on her Odalisque dress, which looked one shining cascade of diamonds, rubies sapphires and emeralds.

SECRETARY OF WAR.—Mr. Belknap, Secretary of War, writes to Gov. Brogden for list of all the representatives elected to the 44th Congress, specifying each Congressional District where there is likely to be a contest over the seat. Gov. Brogden replied to him there was no contest and forwarded a list of the representatives.

RESPITED IN CARTERET.—Lawyer Bryan, young negro, was to hang to-day in Carteret county, but at the suggestion of Judge McKoy, Gov. Brogden has respited him until Friday the 3d of September next. There was no sheriff in that county to hang him as we learn the sheriff and coroner and three of the county commissioners have recently resigned, besides the respite was asked that the counsel for Bryan could have opportunity to get a new trial. Mr. William Whitford of Newbern is counsel for the prisoner.

IMPORTANT REVENUE NOTICE.—Collector Young of this city is daily mailing to hundreds of dealers, in this district, who are liable to pay a special tax to the government, a blank form No. 11 to be filled by them and sworn to before either a deputy collector or justice of the peace, and returned with the money prior to the first of May. All persons failing to secure the license prior to May 1st, will lay themselves liable to prosecution in the courts besides paying a penalty. Let all look out and not fall in the clutches of the United States Courts and Revenue officers.

ALL ABOUT.—Young Elliott, of Statesville, who murdered young Neal, of Virginia, has been pardoned from the penitentiary by Gov. Brogden.—T. Phillips Allen, tutor for a long while in family of Hon. Charles Fisher, at Salisbury, died in Charleston the other day.—Twenty natives left Forsyth and Yadkin counties last week for Indiana.—The town of Washington has a free graveyard, good chance for deadbeats.—A Milton man, says the Chronicle, drew $38 in the Kentucky lottery.—Augusta, Ga., has given $6,000 to the sufferers from the tornado.—An anti-Catholic bill has passed the Prussian Parliament proposing to every priest of that church an oath of allegiance to the civil power, and if he refuses to take it, his salary from the State Treasury stops.—A German countess has collected all the poems written in every language in honor of the rose.—The San Francisco Chronicle claims over 36,000 circulation.—Ex-Senator Ross, of Kansas, is now foreman on a Lawrence paper.

At the conclusion of the services, at Trinity Methodist church last night Rev. A. C. Bledsoe, was presented with a very handsome gold-headed cane by a number of young men of Trinity congregation (not members) as an evidence of their high appreciation of this well-known and able minister. The cane is one of the most elegant to be found anywhere, and has the following inscription engraved upon the head: "Presented to Rev. A. C. Bledsoe by the young men of Trinity congregation."—Rich. Dispatch.

REMEMBER.—Are you an editor? well, stand up here. You've got a power in your hands, and if you don't know it, you had best drop it and let some man take hold that knows. Mr. Giveaway who keeps a store is a nice man, isn't he? Well, just throw away your ink on him for a ten cents cigar, or put a bundle a yard long to young Mr. Flosfar who has just arrived in the city, and is "one of the most promising young men in the State," because he has just stepped in and subscribed for the paper and told you he was proud to make your acquaintance. This is a good way to cheapen your ink you understand, and make the sentiment of your paper of about as much force and effect as the vulgar breath of the rabble on the street corners. No, hold up your standard. Give notice where notice is deserved. Charge a decent price for advertising and stick to your rates. Don't give a man a column of local notice simply to get a two square advertisement he pays for. Above all keep the tone of your paper from profanity and vulgarity. Not an oath, not a dash where an oath is implied should soil its columns, for as a writer well says, frequently the reading of a single sentiment in a newspaper makes an impression on the mind which tinges the whole subsequent life for good. Suppose all the editors in the land would lend their pens towards pushing the spread of true and undefiled religion? How quick we would have the millennium. Well, we will all be wiser in this State of the true worth and value of newspaper men in about fifty years from now.

PERSONAL.

Bismarck will certainly be made Duke of Lauenburg.

Expense of the Virginia Legislature so far is $150,000.

William P. Hooley now runs the Barbee Hotel at High Point.

We commence the season at Lumberton, the frost it is feared has killed all the peaches.

George R. Ruffin, colored, at Dinwiddie C. H. Va., qualified before the county court to practice law.

Judge Kerr delivered an address at the Methodist Church in Lumberton last Tuesday night.

Rev. Dr. Newman Hall sat on the stand at the Moody and Sanky's meeting in London the other night.

Will U. Steiner of Greensboro has been appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania to take the acknowledgment of deeds for this State.

The South Carolina House of Delegates had the editor of the Columbia Union arrested for a criticism on the Legislature but afterwards reconsidered its foolish action and backed squarely down.

Gen. Butler has certain fixed notions about riding in cars, the result of much journeying. "I sit," he says, "in the forward end of the car for two reasons: to avoid the bad breath and foul air which one finds collected in the rear part of the car; and next, because there is far less danger in case of telescoping. I prefer the left side, because every door opens to the left, thereby throwing the draught of air to the right."

RELIGIOUS.

Dr. Atkinson said last night he never heard of a child that was named Judas.

Think of the religious excitement in England; think of it in this country. The people are tiring of earthly vanities and thirst for a pure and undefiled religion, and the churches should raise the bushel and show the light of it.

The oldest three Universalist clergymen in New England are Russell Streeter, of Woodstock, who is over ninety, Rev. Kitteridge Haven, of Shoreham, nearly ninety, and Rev. Hosea F. Ballou, of Wilmington, seventy-six. The latter has been in the ministry over forty-three years.

The Rev. Henry Morgan, of Boston, has engaged a corps of twenty young men to go round aiding the poor with prayer, comfort, and occasional donation. They report at three o'clock in the afternoon, receive $50 a month among themselves, and distribute a like sum among the poor.

A novel scene. The Jewish Messenger of a recent date says: A kindly feeling was evinced in a touching way in Wilmington, N. C., recently, on the sad occasion of the death of Edward J. R. Jacobi, a bright lad, son of an esteemed correspondent, Nathaniel Jacobi. There being no Rabbi in the town, a Baptist clergyman, Rev. J. C. Hiden, offered his services; and after the Jewish rites had been performed at the grave, he offered a fervent prayer, and delivered an address such as the strictest Jew could listen to with admiration and sympathy. Mr. Hiden's action was deeply appreciated by the afflicted family, and was thoroughly creditable to him as a refined gentleman and a clergyman.

Pond's Extract, far from laying any new claims to popular favor, is older than anything else we know of—was used by a preceding generation. Try it!

THE LADIES.

"And when a woman won't, what woman's son will sourly leave her till she have prevailed!"

There is nothing positive for school girls' suits this fashionable shade of brown or gray de beige now shown at the furnishing houses.

Little Johnny. "I heard somebody crying in there, and it wasn't Ma nor the Doctor." Susy. "Maybe it was the Kitten."

The velvet dog-collars are of ribbon tied high up around the neck, with a bow and short ends behind. If your neck is long, wear wide ribbon; if it is short, narrow ribbon will answer.

Miss Ingelow, the English poet, is forty-five years of age, and lives with her widowed mother in a retired part of London, "in a quiet street," as she has said, "where all the houses are with window-boxes full of flowers."

Feminine dress in Egypt: A lady in her out-of-door dress, and mounted on a donkey, appears far more like a bale of goods than like a human being. Especially is this the case if a slight wind is blowing and she is riding against it, or if the air is still and she rides faster than a walk. The silken wrapper is puffed out like a balloon, and sometimes appears to be three or four feet in diameter. At my first view of a private harem taking its promenade, I asked a friend what those donkies were laden with. Thos. Knox.

Mrs. Beecher looks old enough to be the mother of the husband. I have seen women at eighty who looked younger. Her hair is thin and white, and patted down upon her temples. Her eyelids are drawn down at the outer corners and so is her mouth, giving her the look of having "set her teeth" against something. Her face reminds one a little of Charlotte Cushman, though I can't see exactly why it should. She is a plain, good old Methodist-looking woman, as true as steel, you can see at a glance; but there is a faint suggestion of sharp finger-nails—two full hands—if her temper were aroused. But, oh, the sadness of that good, honest grand-motherly face! And who can wonder at it?—Cor. Troy Press.

Telegraphic News.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—Marshal Packard, Judge Pardee and Col. Fish visited the President to-day regarding his power to appoint Pardee or any one else as District Judge of Louisiana. The President still has his power under advisement, but it is a foregone conclusion that the bench will be vacant until the convention of next Congress. It seems to have been the determination of the Senate to send there a person who had no local affiliations at the latest hour.

Ex-Senator Pratt, of Indiana, was suggested to the President by the Judiciary Committee. By the usual courtesy to the Ex-Senators, his name would have come up for immediate action, without reference to the committee, and the President was assured of Pratt's confirmation, but he adhered to Pardee, whose name went on the table. This action involves no personal disparagement to Pardee, but carries out the theory of the Republican Senators that an entire stranger should occupy the bench.

AN IMMENSE ICEBERG IN MID OCEAN.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The steamships arrived yesterday brought reports of large quantities of ice encountered in mid ocean. The Halsatia, from Hamburg, when in latitude forty-three and longitude forty, passed two immense icebergs, and was three hours forcing passage through the large fields of drifting ice. The steamer Cimbria, from Havre, met with a similar experience, but found greater difficulty in avoiding the obstructions. On March 19th, when in latitude forty-five and longitude forty-six, a vessel passed a short distance from an immense iceberg and about midnight came into immense fields of drift ice, through which the steamer could not force its passage. No opening appeared and it was found necessary to go out of its course and pass around the field. The steamer L. Amerique, from Havre, also encountered ice fields on March 20th, when in latitude fifty-three and longitude fifty-one.

STEWART'S HOME.—There is Alexander T. Stewart, buried in his great marble mausoleum, which he calls home. It is large enough to put his $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 in if each dollar were actually as big as it is in his eye. His is the costliest, loneliest, dreariest mansion in the whole avenue. It is a monument to his pecuniary success, and to the vanity of money getting. People feel chilly when they walk by it; the shadows it projects are larger and darker than they are from other houses in the street. How must he enjoy it, with no one in that magnificent isolation but his aged wife, no chick nor child, not a single person of his name in all the wide world, in whose veins flows his cool, cautious, ever calculating blood. —Chicago Times Letter.

More than 50 years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.
Pills which contain antimony, quinine and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Bilious Pills.

CANEWALL.—We learn that Senator Cantwell, fresh from his labors in the Legislative Halls at Raleigh, was approached on the sergeant a day or two since by the sage of "Excelsior," when the following colloquy ensued:

G. Z.—Well, Judge, the only objection I have to you is the brevity of your speeches.

C.—Sir, the brevity of my speeches in my estimation, is only exceeded by your modesty!

For the benefit of those unacquainted with the facts we would state that the Senator is somewhat noted for his long-winded arguments.—Wil. Star.
