More than 50 years have elapsed since Johnson's Anodyne Liniment was first invented, during which time hundreds of thousands have been benefitted by its use. Probably no article ever became so universally popular with all classes as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

Pills which contain antimony, quinine and calomel, should be avoided, as severe griping pains would be their only result. The safest, surest, and best pills are Parsons' Purgative or Anti-Billious Pills.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.
The ever-increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs. Indeed, when we think into how many homes it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public mind, for its vast popularity has been won by no appeal to stupid prejudices or depraved tastes.—Boston Globe.
The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic wealth, and literary culture that has kept pace with, if it has not led the times, should cause its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. It also entitles them to a great claim upon the public gratitude. The Magazine has done good and not evil all the days of its life.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Judge Dillard of Henry county Va. is dead

The editor has gone to Caswell court and will be absent a few days.

When Dr. Curtis the bee man comes to town he is requested to call at the SENTINEL office.

The Free Will Baptist Advocate will be removed from Fremont to Toisnot in Wilson county and called the Toisnot Ledger.

Eighty convicts in the Indiana State prison cut a hole in the wall and made a rush to escape, but the guard beat them back.

ANDY AT THE FAIR.—The talk is on the streets that the State Agricultural Society will invite Andy Johnson to deliver the address at the next agricultural fair in October.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.—Major Bagley sends off to-day one hundred and fifty decisions to the courts below of appeals taken in the Supreme Court. The rest will be mailed during the week.

RUNAWAY.—A. C. Saunders' two horse dray was run away with this morning down Fayetteville street, taking up just below this office by one of the horses running against a tree on the sidewalk and nearly killing himself. The wagon was smashed to pieces and the driver was badly hurt.

MR FORD.—Mr. Ford is not dead. We hear this morning he is better. The report about the escaped convicts having been shot and one found dead on a fish trap, with a ball through him, is only a sensation. Mr. King, Chief of Police, informs us he has heard nothing from them.

FANCY CRAVATS.—Rosenbaum, the excellent clothier, has a new style of cravat, the flowing tie with ring slide but if a little string be pulled under the knot it slips the front of the cravat and discovers a card that reads, "How do you feel now, Elizabeth?" Another card is, "Mind your own business."

COUNTRY WEDDING.—In Cedar Fork Township this county, last Thursday night by the Rev. T. W. Young, Mr. Jas. F. Lassiter was married to Miss Mary B. King. A big infair came off at night, one hundred and fifty guests present, and when our informant left, Friday evening, they were all dancing. This sounds like those good old days.

PRESS CONVENTIONS.—The Virginia Press Association, which was in session in Richmond, adjourned sine die on Thursday night, having visited a number of lager-beer breweries, amended its constitution, visited other lager-beer breweries, discussed advertising agencies, visited other lager-beer breweries, elected officers and visited more lager-beer breweries, appointed standing committees, thanked everybody, and then——.—Alexandria Gazette.

MISS ANNA COMING.—Miss Anna Dickinson will visit Raleigh early in April. The following letter from her agent in New York City was received this morning: "My Dear Sir:—I beg to advise you that early in April Miss Anna E. Dickinson will make her first Southern tour and will include your city in her route. Her subject embraces "Joan of Arc," and "What's to Hinder." In a few days I will be able to name appointed date, and in the meantime commend Miss Dickinson to your kind car.
Respectfully,
O. G. BERNARD.
We see that Miss Dickinson is billed for Richmond and Petersburg. She is a Quakeress by birth and the papers say has quite an eventful history, having earned her first money by scrubbing a pavement in Philadelphia, and has since made an independent fortune in the field of letters.

That Hearse.—Another Letter.
MR. EDITOR:—I hate to be troublesome, and more especially to my former owners, but one thing had slipped my memory, namely. I'll give $5.00 to the Church of the Good Shepherd, also $5.00 to the Orphan Asylum, and $5.00 to the Masonic Temple, as they've all been so kind in helping us purchase a hearse. We only lack now about $331. I shall start north after it the 5th of April. I thank unknown giver for $50 from Washington City. I will publish names of all who help us. Respectfully,
C. H. DUNSTON, Barber.

POND'S EXTRACT, far from laying any new claims to popular favor, is older than anything else we know of—was used by a preceding generation. Try it!

SUNDAY IN RALEIGH.—The oldest inhabitant never saw such an awakening in this city. It looks like the world is almost ready to surrender and that God's people see it. Every church goer is a church giver and men give dollars now who were wont to throw in pennies.

PRESBYTERIAN.
At the Presbyterian Church this morning Dr. Atkinson preached from St. John iii: 16. "For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son," &c. There will be a prayer meeting at this church to-morrow (Monday) night, and after service the session will hear applicants for admission into the church. There is much seriousness among this congregation. Next Sunday is communion.

METHODIST.
At Edenton Street Church Rev. A. W. Mangum preached from Matthew xxviii, 6 and 7. "He is not here; for he is risen, as he said. Come see the place where the Lord lay," &c. Five persons joined this church to-day, and during the last three months, Mr. Mangum has received thirty-six into membership, only 12 of these professing under Dr. Rosser. His church now numbers 500 and there is hardly room in the building to seat them, a strong appeal to the Conference and Methodists at large to have a larger church built.
At Person Street Church Rev. Mr. Bobbitt preached from Hebrews xi: 16. "But now they desire a better country." Fifteen persons joined the church and a revival of astonishing spirit is in progress.

EPISCOPAL.
Never a more joyful gathering than assembled in the new chapel to-day of the Free Church of the Good Shepherd. It was Easter Sunday and Mr. Rich, assisted by Mr. Bennet Smedes, preached from the text "Christ is indeed risen." This little church round the corner was just finished for use on yesterday and until late after supper the ladies were arranging and decorating it with flowers. Floral offerings, beautiful roses and camelias and the rarest of flowers were sent by express from Newberry S. C. and also from Wilmington. The windows alone in this chapel cost six hundred dollars. The chancel window cost $150 and is very appropriate to the name of the church. It represents the Savior as a Shepherd, with the shepherd's crook, carrying a weary little lamb in his arms. The illuminated windows, font, chancel furniture, communion service, carpet and the heating apparatus were contributed as Easter offerings. Fully four hundred people filled the little church this morning, and filled the plates too, when collection was taken up, as was observed by a heathen the plates looked refreshingly green. We since learn the collection amounted to nine hundred and ninety-seven dollars in ready cash. The altar cloth is beautiful and was given by the wife of Bishop Lyman.
At Christ Church Rev. Mr. Marshall preached also on the Resurrection. Here you breathed flowers and sat under garlands of lilies and worshipped amid bowers of roses and camelias. It occurs to the reporter what will be done with these flowers? It is the practice North to send them to the sick and poor who love a flower as the next best thing to finding a friend, and one generally follows the other, flowers hardly ever enter but what friends follow after them. A liberal collection was likewise taken up at this church. Mr. Marshall told them they could give five thousand dollars and never miss it. We hear of one lady who gave a large package of fat looking notes though we have not heard the sum realized.
At the Free Church of the Good Shepherd to-night Rev. Dr. Smedes preached a most excellent sermon from Zech iv: 6. "Not by might nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts." He spoke of how little man could depend on himself. In reference to the new church he said one year ago a little band went forth from the sister church, not from any disagreement or ill feeling, but because the number was too great, and they commenced this work to glorify God and for his honor, only a few men, enough to form a vestry, none of them men of wealth, but of precarious salaries, and lo here we are gathered together in the fold of the Good Shepherd, everything as it should be and everything paid for. One thing that commended the little church to his heart and to the heart of every churchman present was it is a Free Church.

BAPTIST.
At the Baptist Church Rev. Dr. Skinner preached from Matthew xxiii: 23: "Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?" There were thirty-eight new members of the second Baptist Church baptized here in the evening. Our citizens miss a treat by not looking in some Sunday morning at the infant class of this Baptist Sunday School. This morning one hundred and four little children, many hauled in baby carriages were present, sitting in rows around a snugly carpeted little room, Mr. and Mrs. Dodd in charge.—They sang the hymns with most perfect and childish delight, one little miss not over four years old, rocking herself and patting her feet like a little old woman. The money bank was on a table in the centre of the room and when Mrs. Dodd gave notice they would now sing they all sprang to their feet and surrounded the little bank, putting in their pennies and singing in perfect time and tune,

THE MONEY SONG,

"Little Givers, come and bring
Tribute to your Heavenly King,
Lay it on the altar high,
While your songs ascend the sky."

They then chanted the Lord's prayer and all went down to the large room. The attendance here was four hundred and odd and there were eighteen visitors. Jacob Allen, superintendent of the school at the second Baptist church, talked business for about ten minutes. In that time he raised some four hundred dollars. He told them the Second Baptist Church wasn't large enough, wanted to enlarge it by next Sunday.
Mr. Heck: You don't expect to build a church in a week?
Mr. Allen: We do sir, if it don't rain.
Dr. Skinner: How much do you need?
Mr. Allen: Eleven hundred dollars.
Dr. Skinner: I'll give you fifty.
Mr. Allen: Here's a brother gives fifty.
Then all over the room teachers and scholars responded, some for five and others for ten dollars. Allen will raise the money this week, success is written on his fine face.

MARK TWAIN.—Coming out of the Erie Railway building, I yesterday saw Mark Twain, whom we used to know in the old Frisco days as Sam. Clemens. He wears the same old brigand hat and cloak, and one is always sure when looking at him that he would rather look shabby than wear a pink overcoat with yellow buttons. It is now just ten years since I sat one day on the steps of the American House, in Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, with Clemens, and happened to mention that I was writing letters to the New York Herald. He was then unknown, except as an odd character in San Francisco, and as the writer of letters to the Sacramento Union, and he very timidly said he had received an offer from a musical monthly to write a page for it for six dollars. He wanted to know whether it would pay to go on to New York. I had never read anything of his, and I told him that if he went on to New York he couldn't earn his salt. Yet there he stood yesterday, with his saucy moustache and gimlet eyes, as unconcerned as if he hadn't made a hundred thousand dollars and hadn't married a girl with more salt laying around loose than would pickle all Honolulu.—N. Y. Cor. Danbury News.

THE LADIES.
Anna Dickerson lectures in Petersburg the 5th of April. Let us have her here, by all means.
"There! that explains where my clothes line went to!" exclaimed an Iowa woman as she found her husband hanging in the stable.
A lady at Memphis says she doesn't want any jewelry, hasn't a lookingglass in the house, and wouldn't take a silk dress as a gift. Memphis has another living curiosity—a cross eyed cat.
Those two Kentucky lady hotel clerks are winning commendations daily. They possess no single characteristic of the males of their profession save the one feature of parting their hair in the middle.—St. Louis Republican.
Phenia Epps of Hamilton, Ohio, asked her mother to take a note for her to a friend of the family living in a near street. The note when opened was found to read: "This is a little ruse of mine to get mother out of the house. Before she can get back I will be on the cars with dear Lorenzo, and before night will be married."
Couldn't take a joke. A Richmond Va., clergyman relates the following:
A few years ago a man was tried and convicted in Richmond, Va., for murdering his wife. While the trial was going on I was called to marry a couple. After the "knot was tied" we were invited down to supper. All seemed as solemn as if it were a funeral occasion. Thinking that a playful remark would be in order, and as the murder case had been alluded to, I turned to the bride groom and gravely advised him as follows: "Now, sir, should you get tired of your bargain, do not take the life of your wife, but bring her back to her mother." The mother's face glowed with interest, as at once, in the most solemn manner, she said: "I thank you, pastor. You are right. I do hope he will bring her back and not take her life. That would not be right." In the same solemn and fervent manner the bridegroom assured me that he would do as I had advised, and in no event take his life.
Of all men, I was at that moment the most miserable. What to do I knew not except to eat my supper and quit.

The Augusta Constitutionalist pits its editors and types against the Judges of Supreme Court and lawyers for a spelling match. We throw out the same challenge and would like to include commencement orators and professors. Let's have the bee.

A puppy and an accordeon was the marriage fee offered to a Cedar Springs clergyman, the other day.
An Indianapolis paper says of an Indiana Senator: "His chagrined look when he clutches that pointed beard to milk his brain, and they won't 'give down,' has a most depressing look to all beholders."
They got up a surprise party Thursday night last on a young married couple, at whose house in Swampoodle a similar affair was one of the social successes of the last season. The conspirators were met calmly but cordially at the gate by the husband, who rested on his shot gun, while his beautiful and accomplished wife, whose face and form were visible inside the porch, said she was very glad to see them, but she didn't think she could hold the bull dog back more than a minute longer!
On the North London railway a short time since, a passenger remarked in the hearing of one of the company's servants how easy it was to "do" the company, and said he often traveled from Broad street to Dalston Junction without a ticket—"Any one can do it—I did it yesterday." When he alighted he was followed by an official, who asked him how it was done. For a consideration he agreed to tell him. This being given, "Now," said the inquirer, "how did you go from Broad street to Dalston Junction, yesterday, without a ticket?" "Oh," was the reply, "I walked."
