VOL. X. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1875. No. 209.

The City.

Female Minstrels pay at Tucker Hall Tuesday night.

In this City—Sheriff Griffith of G. W.
County, a terror to all evil doers, shaped by nature for the office he holds and born for enforcing the law regardless of fear favor or affection, is in this city, and brought down three negro prisoners for the penitentiary sentenced for terms of three and five years each.

RECAPTURED.—Ingram, the man who stole horse the other day from Mr. Travis in Caswell county, and escaped from the guard, has since been picked up in Danville Va. and is now in jail at that place awaiting the return of Sheriff Griffith from this city who will take him on to the jail in Yanceyville.

Miss Anna Dickinson to-morrow night at Tucker Hall. She drew well in Richmond and got a good name in her work.
Her charitable acts are matters of public record. She is never appealed to in vain.
Her purse has ever been open to the poor and distressed, and by them she will always be gratefully remembered.

SIR AMONG THE MERCHANTS.—The business camp of the city is in a stir today taking yardsticks, peck measures, hair bushes, quart pots, weights, scales, and all the weights and measures, down to the stamp with the stamp of "N. C." and the thing is O. K. This is a new law and the business that fails to comply with it is liable to indictment.

CAROUSEL FANCINER.—Mr. Ford, the penitentiary guard, is not dead, neither did this paper say he was, and yet many of our exchanges so report it. Again the dwelling house of Capt. John M. Lewis, near Milton, has not been burnt to the ground, w: stated, "a dwelling house on his plantation," and yet our exchanges have it that his dwelling house has been burnt. Now has a Raleigh, N. C. man, at the Richmond Enginer paid it, "invented a rotary dinner table." It was published that the inventor was a citizen of Charlotte. Eyes have ye, brethren, but ye are not.

OUR VOLUNTEER COMPANY.—Col. T. C.
Fuller this evening presented in handsome style the new flag to the Raleigh Light Infantry. The flag is a beauty, a blue field four by six feet with the combined arms of North Carolina and "B. Light Infantry" on one side, and in a lovely shield on the other side is "Organ July 26th 1875." The company is well officered. B. C. Manly is Captain ; P. F. Fawcett, 1st Lieutenant ; J. R.
Ferrall 2d Lt. Lieutenant ; and L. O. Bagley Junior 3d Lieutenant. They will have about forty-five guns to the Charlotte Centennial. We suppose of course that in common with other military companies who have received it they will get into transportation to Charlotte and return. The Fayetteville military will go by steamer to Wilmington and from thence they are transported by rail from Charlotte and back again. We guess the North Carolina Road will do much.

FINE PRINT.

The Republicans in Washington are very blue over the defeat of H. W. in Connecticut.

The Governor of Georgia has ordered the sale of the Macon and Brunswick Railroad to take place the first Tuesday in June.

Gov. Kellogg of Louisiana has appointed Col. Jack Wharton a conservative adjutant General of the State. The Ragucine commands the appointment.

It is said that the man who marries a rich widow or the woman who marries a rich husband gets to heaven through a great deal of tribulation in this life.

"Why, Georgie, are you asking?" exclaimed an amazed mother, who came upon her little son as he was puffing away at a cigar. "No I'm just keeping it lighted for another boy what's gone on top of the house for his ball."

The social sneaks of the Nevada Legislature are shown up by a San Francisco paper as follows: Hogan rose to speak on the Virginia and Umstead Railroad bill, when Van Hogan rose and said that he hoped Hogan would be decent.

Hogan made some reply when Van Hogan took up a book which was lying upon his desk and threw it at the head of Hogan.

They killed Mr. Beecher continued his testimony yesterday, in which he dis-claimed the sentiments imputed to him in the Milton letter, and clearly stated the attitude of Tilton, Weston and Brown toward him. He also admitted that he, Weston and Mrs. Tilton knew one another on a certain occasion, and that on another Mrs. Tilton kissed him.

PETITIONS BY HEMLOCK.—A SCIENTIFIC PROFESSOR ASKS THE SPOT.—Here we have it again. Professor F. W.

Walker, a scientist of Brooklyn, New York, took an overdose of hemlock last Saturday night, requested his wife to sit by his bed and write to his doctor, and the man actually died saving his own pulse and describing the effects of the poison to his wife, who at his dictation dictated it down in a memorandum book.

Of course the Professor didn't expect the doe to kill him, he was doing it all for science, the effects of the poison had been described to him by Dr. Agnew, and the doctor had also prescribed a reasonable dose to him to take, but the professor overshot the mark. Hemlock is good for nervousness you know, just like hysteric young women, and young men who have drunk too much, frequently indulge in chlorosis. The professor had a nervous affection, a muscular contraction of the face and eyes, and he had taken nearly every thing for it, and Dr. Agnew told him to get Professor Squibb's fluid extract of hemlock and take fifty drops a dose.

Returning to his home he began taking the medicine, but the third dose resulted in his death. He took the first dose Saturday afternoon and immediately instructed his wife to sit by his side with writing materials and note his symptoms as he detected them. He then dictated the following, and it will be seen his last words were—water! water! water!

This is the description that he continued to give until he breathed his last breath:

"At ten minutes past four p. m. fifty minims Squibb's extract of conium, and introduced it with "oh's!" and "make alive!" and "so sweet!" and "so青年!"

and so many phrases, that one is tempted to believe they have no training at all, as their mothers were very foolish women. There is nothing more disgusting than the twaddle of ill-bred girls; a man is provoked often into taking a paper and reading, and letting them ripple and and gurgle on, like brooks that flow they know not whither.

An old bachelor has his back up because a woman with her two children took up near the whole of a church pew in New York city, and he thus wrote to the Tribune about it: At a church entertainment given this winter for a charity,

I entered a pew with a lady, in which were two little lads, perhaps five and seven years old with their mother. She kept for the children the entire inside of the pew (holding five), herself, therefore, encroaching upon the other half.

She refused to move, and as there were no other places we had to sit cramped to a degree which drove one of us to stand in the aisle before the entertainment was half over. The lady herself was cramped, and she was willing to
