A minister compliments Joe Jefferson. In his sermon on Sunday night, the Rev. Mr. Shipman, rector of Christ Church, (Episcopal), at Lexington, Ky., paid Mr. Joseph Jefferson, the comedian, a high compliment.

At a banquet given to Gen. Crook, in San Francisco, Cal., on the 12th ult., Senator Sargent, of that State, responded to the customary toast in honor of the President of the United States...

"For years past I have had opportunity to observe and know him, and I have learned to love and admire him. I know from his own lips that he looks with anxiety for the speedy end of his service."

The ceremony of consecrating Bishop Williams, of Boston, as archbishop of that newly elected archiepiscopal see, took place there in the new Cathedral of the Holy Cross yesterday.

On and after May 1, 1875, the cotton brokers of Boston have decided to adopt a rate of brokerage on cotton at 50 cts. per bale, to be paid by the seller...

J. J. Prior, playing with the Lotta troupe, fell dead of heart disease in the dressing-room at the opera house at Toledo, Ohio, during the performance of Little Nell last night.

PERSONAL.

Dr. Johnston B. Jones has been made president of the Mecklenburg Historical Society at Charlotte.

At an amateur performance of a piece called "Joseph and His Brethren" in London recently, Potiphar wore a black frock coat, white vest, black trousers and hat, carried a walking cane and smoked cigars.

"Baldy" Smith told General Lee he never surrendered. But then Baldy and Lee were a long distance apart when he said it.

William R. Creery, Superintendent of Public Schools of the city of Boston, Mass., died yesterday morning, May 1, of cerebro-spinal meningitis, at his residence in Boston. Mr. Creery was fifty-one years of age.

The government sells a million and a half of gold on the first and third Thursdays, and a million the second and fourth Thursdays.

The City.

FOR CHARLESTON.—REVS. DR. PRITCHEARD and Dr. Skinner left this morning for the Baptist Convention at Charleston which meets on the 6th inst.

Our centennial in Washington City, notwithstanding the efforts of a portion of the northern press and people to belittle the approaching centennial celebration of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence, it promises to be a very imposing and interesting affair.

THE OLD AND NEW.—The old board of commissioners met at 9 o'clock this morning, and then agreed to turn over the city government to the new board elect at 12 o'clock.

ELECTION OF MAYORS.—We learn that Col. William Johnston, was elected Mayor in Charlotte yesterday, over Col. Davidson, independent, by 55 votes.

At Hillsboro, the Republicans carried the ticket, electing James Washington, Mayor.

The Democrats carry Durham, Salisbury, Hillsboro, Charlotte, Henderson and Warrenton, which are all the towns heard from.

MAYOR SEPAK.—It will not be amiss to say something of the life and character of our new mayor Joseph H. Separk. He was born in Petersburg June 25th, 1830, which makes him forty-five years of age.

MEETING OF THE UNIVERSITY TRUSTEES.—The University Trustees met this morning in the Governor's office. Among the prominent visitors we noticed ex-Gov W. A. Graham, P. C. Cameron, of Hillsboro; Hon. John Manning of Durham; Hon. Joe Davis, of Franklin; Dr. McIver, of Moore; Neill McCoy, of Harnett; and Rufus L. Patterson, of Stokes.

Walt Whitman's letters are as peculiar as his poetry. He recently sent a friend in London the following scrap: "Still unwell and paralyzed, but up and around. Postoffice address at Camden, N. J., U. S. A.; shall probably remain there. Design to bring out a volume melange of prose and verse, partly fresh matter, this summer."

Gen. W. F. (Baldy) Smith was on Saturday appointed by Mayor Wickham and confirmed by the board of aldermen of New York, as one of the police commissioners of that city.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE UNPARALLELED SLANDER.

I appeal to the people of North Carolina against a man who is unfit to represent them. I appeal to the men of North Carolina against a man who is without manliness, feeling or truth. I would appeal from Phillip drunk to Phillip sober if any mental sobriety and right feeling remained with a man who revels in foul abuse as his natural element, and who savagely assails a woman who has no character which such as he can feel, and no rights which such as he can respect.

I appeal as a woman to the women of North Carolina, as an Englishwoman to Americans,—from this fellow to the natural knightliness in the men of the Old North State. I appeal as a Christian woman, who for sixteen years has conducted religious services in every section of the Christian Church in Great Britain, and who represents to-day five hundred thousand British Good-Templers, and stands charged with their greetings to this country.

I repudiate in every particular the construction willfully and maliciously put upon my conduct. Neither in principle, practice or association am I connected with Civil Rights. An English woman, with a British-born servant, who sets foot on American soil for the first time, may surely travel without being assailed ruthlessly, barbarously, by a man who can have no character to lose, or he would not, with such savage ferocity, attack a woman, to whom her good name is the immediate jewel of her soul.

At Hillsboro, the Republicans carried the ticket, electing James Washington, Mayor.

At Goldsboro, the Republicans carried the ticket, electing James Washington, Mayor.

Could he have said more? Then notice the following:

"We happened to be on the train that brought Miss Armstrong and her pet companion to the city, and both occupied the same seat, also at the same table at the eating-house, took the same carriage at the Central Depot, and stopped at the same house in the city."

He was on the same train, and yet the statement that she and servant occupied the same seat is false? And so are the insinuations of familiarity. Mr. Woodson told me, and as I doubt not he has told many others, that at Franklinton, N. C., the dinner house, the landlady gave Miss Armstrong a seat at one table and her servant at another, and that Miss A. left her table and went across the room and took a seat beside her servant. That is false! For she never left the train at Franklinton.

He says she was refused hotel accommodations at Hillsboro. That is false. Miss Armstrong has never been to Hillsboro.

He says the doors were slammed in her face at Goldsboro, which is false. He says, "and caused the proud little city of Wilson to say, Mr. Broughton keep your woman in Raleigh." That is false. Mr. B. F. Briggs, of that town telegraphed for Miss Armstrong to come on.

He says Miss Armstrong went to Durham with a white servant, which is false. She carried the same servant with her that she brought to this city.

So we might go on showing one falsehood after another, but why should we, when outside of the News office E. C. Woodson is left without a defender.

Reference is made to the pecuniary benefit I expected to receive from Miss Armstrong's lecture. This is false as is the balance, and the people of this City and State who know me know it is false. What I have made has been from hard toll of my own, and sobriety and industry have given me an independence that the pure society of E. C. Woodson has never enjoyed. Miss Armstrong charged nothing more for her lectures than her expenses.

If the Daily News will pay the firm of which I am a member, a bill of $17.74 that they have owed us for more than 12 months, I shall have as my part more than I expected to receive from Miss Armstrong's lectures.

Read the following card from Mr. Bingham, one of the firm of Wyatt, Bingham & Co., who was on the same train with Miss Armstrong:

DEAR SIR:—The truth as far as I know, will be your card.

Yours truly, B. L. BINGHAM.

Hickman Lodge of Good Templars of this city, upon the application of E. C. Woodson, in its desire to save fallen humanity stooped to pick him up, and at the time he wrote that libellous paragraph, he was a member of said Lodge. Now I submit if it would not have been more in keeping with a gentleman to have gone to this lady, and reminded her of what he had heard, and what he saw, and counselled her against introducing into Southern society customs that are objectionable? Or for him to have come to me, knowing my position in the order, and given me the facts, than to thus falsely and maliciously have stabbed the good name of a lady and of our order in this State.

Enough with a man who has no character to lose himself, and no respect for anybody else's. We call upon all Good Templars and all good people to place that condemnation upon a paper, that thus wantonly and falsely assails a lady, that it deserves.

The following is a sample of the letters we are receiving now:

CONSENT STOPS, N. C., May 3d, 1875.

DEAR BROS:—I am instructed by the unanimous vote of my Lodge, by the earnest wish of every member and by the citizens of the village and community, to request you to send Miss Armstrong here to lecture. We had a large attendance at our meeting Saturday night, and when I read your card to the Lodge, great indignation was felt and expressed, and we know of no other way of expressing our regard and admiration for her than by passing a resolution asking her to come. Please bear her our highest admiration and assure her she shall receive a warm welcome from old Albemarle Lodge and the citizens in general.

Miss Armstrong will lecture in every town on the railroad West of Raleigh if possible to do so. I propose accompanying her.

The class of Oxford Orphans realized $127 at Reidsville.

THE LADIES.

A music teacher up town apologized by adding a postscript to her letter as follows: "You must excuse this letter, as I play by non-but-spell."

Brother Yates on weddings. We are pleased to see that in a neighboring town recently the good old fashioned way of getting married was observed. The young man and young woman were married by candle or oil or gas light at the residence of the bride's father, and then had a splendid supper for the invited guests. That couple intend waiting to take a bridal tour until they accumulate a little money, or at least have a house of their own. It is not likely the sheriff will ever terrify them.

Marriage of Miss Ida Greeley. She was married at the residence of her uncle, Mr. John F. Cleveland, by Rev. Thomas Farrell, a warm friend of her late father. The several apartments thrown open to the guests were handsomely adorned with flowers, and their artistic arrangement lost none of its picturesque effect by the presence of scores of rich and rare designs in flowers contributed by friends.

On Tuesday afternoon last the dwelling house on the Ravensworth estate caught fire from a defective hearth, but the flames were extinguished before damage had been occasioned.

A young Scotch girl inquired of a gentleman in broad Scotch the road to Tremont House, Boston. He desired her to follow him, and asked her how long she had arrived from Scotland.

The entertainment called "Can-ata," given at the Opera House on Friday night last by several of the young ladies and gentlemen of Charlotte, was indeed a splendid affair, and enjoyed by a large audience of ladies and gentlemen.

Telegraphic News.

FROM WASHINGTON, May 3.—The Supreme Court today decided the case of the State of Maryland against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company.

The Supreme Court today decided the case of the State of Maryland against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. The State claimed a deferred payment of $500,000 due for the period between 1867 and 1870, being one fifth of the amount of passenger fare over the Washington & Baltimore branch of the road. The Company refused to pay the amount to the State on the plea that the tax was unconstitutional. This the Court of Appeals of Maryland overruled, affirming the right of the State to the money in question. The Supreme Court holds that the passenger tax was different from a tax on inter-State commerce. Also the case of the city of New Orleans to recover of the Union Bank 130,000 dollars which it paid under compulsion of a judgment given by the pro-convict court of New Orleans in 1862, when the city was occupied by Government troops under General Butler. The argument was that the establishment of the pro-convict court, the appointment of the Judge, and the proceedings in the case before him were invalid because in violation of the federal Constitution which vests the judicial power of the Government in one Supreme Court and in such inferior courts as Congress may from time to time establish. It is held re-affirming the decision in the case of the grape-rot that the court instituted in this case by authority of the President as commander in chief to hear, try and determine civil causes, was lawfully authorized to exercise such jurisdiction as its establishment by military authority was held to be no violation of the constitution at provision referred to above, and it is said that the clause has no application to the abnormal condition of conquered territory in the occupancy of the conquering army. The power to establish by military authority courts for the administration of civil as well as criminal Justice on portions of the insurgent States occupied by National forces is precisely the same as that which exists when foreign territory has been conquered and occupied by the conquerors. What that power is has several times been decided.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 1.—A fearful tornado struck Columbia, S. C., at 5:30 p. m. The steeple of the Presbyterian church was demolished, and the roof of the market blown off. Although hundreds were around, no one was seriously injured. Depots of Greenville and Columbia and South Carolina Railroads were unroofed and otherwise damaged, trees uprooted in every direction, and only one death reported. The storm struck an up passenger train on the Georgia Railroad as it was leaving Rutledge. Dr. Montgomery's house, near Rutledge, was blown down, and his son, four years old, blown away. John Norton's wife and child were badly hurt at Corvinton.
