MR. TURNER AT THE COURT HOUSE.
The editor of this paper will speak at the Court House to-night, and tell the people about the Orange Convention, and how Judge Watts and the Legislature were bribed. Speaking to commence at 8 o'clock.

RANSAY RAMBLING ON HOOP.
That indefatigable pilgrim of temperance, Theo. N. Ramsay, we learn spotted it from Brevard station last Tuesday to the town of Dallas in Gaston county where he lectured at night in the Methodist church, and organized a fine lodge of Independent Order of Good Templars.

THE FLEA BUG.—Every year a new bug comes upon the carpet and the first that finds it names it and leaves the rest to the papers. We are called on to-day to introduce the flea bug which a gentleman from Leesville, this county, says is doing an amount of damage to the young corn in that section. We flee to announce it.

THE TARGET SHOOTING.—The Hook and Ladder Company uniformed and geared up have just passed in procession to Bledsoe's Grove, the band playing, and Mayor Separk and ex-Mayor Gorman marching in front. A fine looking turkey gobbler (to be shot for) is seated on top of the truck. They are to have a barbecue and will no doubt spend a jolly evening. A silver sugar bowl is one of the prizes.

BORDER GRANGE BANK.—We learn from the Danville Register that the proposed Border Grange Bank was organized in that town on Tuesday, the 4th inst. There was quite a number of influential and intelligent planters in attendance from the surrounding counties, who subscribed to the stock. There were representatives from Caswell, Person, and Rockingham counties of North Carolina, and from Pittsylvania, Henry, and Halifax, Virginia.

NOT THE MONKEY.—The little negro girl that had a fit at Mrs. McGee's this morning, the report was she was bit by the tame monkey, but we since learn it was the monkey himself who kicked up that impression, as the people who ran and saw the monkey hopping and screaming about the yard naturally supposed he had bit the child who was just then in a fit. But it seems that Jocko like everybody else on the lot is very much attached to the child, and he outcreamed the whole neighborhood.

RAMCOT GOVERNOR ON A RAMPAGE.—Jonas Medlin, the Governor of Ramscot, has been on a bender for two days. Mrs. Governor Medlin is in the city looking for her unruly lord. She called on the Senator, and after words of sympathy to the lady he ventured to say "She had carried her ducks to a poor market in marrying Jonas." "Yes," was the reply, "I found that out eleven years ago, when I first married him."
"What made you marry him?"
"I could not help it, it was bound to be so."

BERTIE FOR HUGGING.—James Simons a stout buck negro of 180 pounds has just landed in the penitentiary for ten years for hugging his wife to death in Bertie county. The horrid brute clasped his arms around her, and in the critical condition the woman then was, he soon caused her death. Sheriff F. H. Bell brought him yesterday. By the way the Sheriff brought one guard along thinking the law allowed it, but it will cost him some forty dollars out of his own pocket to pay this guard's expenses. Recollect, no guards are allowed Sheriff's for any less than three prisoners.

MISS ARMSTRONG LAST NIGHT.—Perhaps Tucker Hall was never more closely packed than with the attendance last night to Miss Armstrong's lecture. The best society of this city, ladies and gentlemen, was represented. The writer could only be present a few minutes but has heard but one opinion to-day, that she is a talented woman, a graceful speaker, her language refined, and ideas brilliant and well put. She is said to represent five hundred thousand Good Templars in Great Britain and bears testimonials to that effect. Speaking for ourselves we are opposed to women speaking in public and will never give in to it, but when a woman touched for as a lady as is Miss Armstrong, gets ready to give her views on any particular subject, we shall always strive to give her a hearing, the weather being good and Providence being willing.

PERSONAL.

A negro in Richmond was sent to the chain gang fifteen days for stealing a glass tumbler.

The Salem coroner had received and accepted the call to the Yadkin College commencement, on the 17th of June next.

The Petersburg papers are handling the question as to which is the official organ of the city. That's a small matter, brethren; make a good newspaper for the people, never mind "organs."

Capt. Colt walked into our office yesterday afternoon with a rosette of ripe strawberries pinned to the lapel of his coat, grown by Capt. Martin Wolf, being the first of the season, so far as we have observed.—Char. Observer.

A strike among the waiters at St. James Hotel in Richmond, and Edward Blount tried to strike Robert Taylor who wouldn't strike, with an iron poker, and the city struck Blount with a fine of ten dollars.

Andrew Jackson Wilcox, a clerk in the Navy Department at Washington, has in his possession a case which was presented to his great grandfather, Andrew Jackson, by a committee representing the citizens of Tennessee. It is of the finest hickory wood, and was taken from a tree in the front garden of Gen. Jackson's plantation, the "Hermitage," a short distance from Nashville. The top is surmounted with a cap of solid silver, upon which is engraved the names of all the Presidents of this country from 1776 to 1841, commencing with John Hancock and ending with John Tyler. Each of the prongs or knots is tipped with silver, upon which is engraved the names of the donors. There is also a whistle made in one of the knots, which was used by Gen. Jackson in calling his hounds. Upon the side is engraved the following:
"And may at last my weary age
Find out the peaceful Hermitage."
—A Friend.

RELIGIOUS.

The exercises of the Sunday School at the Methodist Church last Sunday were exceedingly interesting. The church was crowded from floor to gallery. The singing by the grown persons and children was of the first order, and deserving of the highest compliment.—Greensboro Patriot.

Yesterday was the Feast of the Ascension kept in commemoration of the ascension of our Blessed Lord and ranks among the highest Festivals of the Church. At the Free Church of the Good Shepherd there were two services. At 11 a. m., morning prayer, sermon by Bishop Lyman, and at 5 p. m. evening prayer. The Church was beautifully decorated with flowers and good congregations were present at each service.

Here is Talmage's latest ebullition: Scene—The last day. Stage—The rocking earth. Enter lords, dukes, ladies, kings, beggars, clowns. No tinsel, no sword, no crown. Garrick without his Richard III., Forrest without his King Lear. Every man in his own genuine character. For lights, the kindling fire of a world; for galleries, a floating cloud filled with angel spectators; for applause the clapping floods of the sea; for curtains, "the heavens rolled together as a scroll;" for tragedy, the doom of the lost; for farce, the story of the man who tried to serve God and the world at the same time.

GASTON COURT.—A correspondent writes us that court opened in Gaston last Monday, Judge Schenck presiding. The courthouse was destroyed by fire last December, and court was held in the Presbyterian church. A large number of the bar was present. Only one criminal case at this court.

THE LADIES.

At a recent wedding in Ohio the minister was about to salute the bride, when she stayed him with, "No, mister, I give up them vanities now!"

Miss E. L. Van Lew, postmaster in Richmond, and her family, were poisoned and bereft of true inwardness a couple of hours by some kind of metal in the coffee pot.

Mrs. Gaskins, of Carteret county, N. C., says the Greenville county, (S. C.) News, "weighs 640 pounds, and one of her stockings held a bushel of shelled corn."

A stern father got wind of an intended elopement of his daughter on a certain night, and when the sweet thing was on the point of stealing down stairs, she beheld a ferocious looking bulldog standing at the bottom; so she concluded to go back to her room and postpone her elopement. Her father never told her it was a stuffed dog, which he had borrowed from the man living next door.

After a play once Mrs. Siddons sent for Macready to her room and gave him a few words of kindly counsel. "On going in, she 'wished,' she said, 'to give me a few words of advice before leaving me. You are all in the right way,' she said, 'but remember what I say, study, study, study, and do not marry until you are thirty. I remember what it was to be obliged to study as nearly your age with a young family about me. Beware of that; keep your mind on your art; do not remit your study and you are sure to succeed.'"

An English lady pickpocket—Miss Clay, alias Spencer, alias Wilson—was some little time ago sentenced in Paris to three years imprisonment. In the female Penitentiary at St. Lazare her conduct is described as exemplary. She knelt down devotedly at mass, very frequently communicated, and so gained the confidence of the Sisters of Charity in charge that, after an unusually short period of probation, she was allowed the run of the prison without being watched. Availing herself of this privilege she slipped into one of the sisters' cells, and speedily dressing herself in the costume of a nun, walked straight out into the street, the wardens saluting her as she passed. She was not missed until three hours after her escape, and the efforts of the police to apprehend her have hitherto been unsuccessful. Being well known to her countrymen of the light fingered fraternity domiciled in Paris it is supposed that their gallantry has found means to send her to London.

FRUIT CROP.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5.
The Press of to-morrow morning publishes reports from over one hundred points in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland, showing the present condition and prospects of the peach crop in those States. Those reports indicate that the late severe weather has not materially affected the fruit trees, and that while the crop may be somewhat backward, the general outlook is very favorable.

MAD ABOUT IT.

WASHINGTON, May 6.
Douglass' friends express much indignation that he was not advised of the intention of the President to fill his place. The Internal Revenue Commissionership is, politically, the most important office below a cabinet position under the government, and its patronage can be used to great advantage.

rested while prowling around the mansion of Prince Bismarck. A loaded pistol was found in his pocket. He is temporarily lodged in a lunatic asylum.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says that Mr. Holloway, the maker of pills, is about to build a college for the education of women, which "will hold the same relation to the higher education of women as do the colleges of Oxford and Cambridge to the education of men." The building will consist of one great quadrangle, 350 by 400 feet, having projecting wings, and will be made to accommodate four hundred students under twenty professors. The estimated cost of the college is $1,000,000, and it is expected that the running expenses will be paid by the fees of the students.

Garibaldi was once expected to visit Victor Hugo at Guernsey, and the poet says Miss Susan Coolidge had a state bedroom fitted up for the benefit of the hero, the most striking ornament being a bracket holding an ivory skull with the inscription: "Nux. Mora. Lux!" Every room in Hugo's house is ornamented with a carved or illuminated sentence. "Exilium via est" decorates the dining-room; the salon has "L'homme souffre ou il vent, l'honneur ou il faut," and in the library one reads, "Les Dieux pour les vainqueurs, cat on pour les vaincus."

In the race for the Nashville cup at Nashville, Tenn., yesterday, a dash of two miles, Balankeeel won in 4.24, beating Arizona, Oxmore, St. George and Orphan Girl. Vanderbilt won the mile heat race over three others; best time 1.54.

Tom Tjuml and wife, Commodore Nutt, and Minnie Warren had a very large audience at their matinee yesterday, and even a larger one last night. The performances consisted of songs, dances, character acting, &c., and was very pleasing to young people, while old folks were much interested. There will be a matinee at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the concluding performance to-night.—Richmond Dispatch.

A heavy weight, The Bridgeport (Conn.) Standard says: "A fellow, well dressed and apparently weighing about two hundred pounds, succeeded yesterday in making considerable money from a number of our grocery merchants and butchers. His plan was to walk into a store, inquire the price of different articles, and then step on the platform scales, with a pleasant remark in regard to the weight of different persons. Being a sociable fellow he offered to bet that the proprietor couldn't guess within fifty or sixty pounds of his exact weight. Upon the challenges being accepted and the money put up, the fellow would astonish all the bystanders by pulling down the beam at two hundred and ninety pounds. Some thought he was a fraud, but upon feeling of his flesh he seemed to be built of iron, it was so hard. In most cases those who lost their bets paid the money cheerfully; but after all it was a mystery how such an ordinary appearing man could weigh so much.

The beautiful fountain which Lotta, the actress, has presented to the city of San Francisco, has been constructed by Messrs. Robert Wood & Co. of this city, and is ready to be shipped to its destination. The fountain is of cast iron, 16 feet in height, with a square ornamented base, and a highly-wrought circular top. It is surrounded by a large bronze lantern, seven feet in height, making the entire structure 23 feet from the base to the top of the lantern. This will be lighted with electricity, as are the lights of the Academy of Music. On the body and at each of the four corners are drinking troughs wrought in unique patterns, at which are suspended silver drinking cups, with "Lotta" engraved on each. Four medallions, representing agriculture, mining and commerce, and the fourth bearing the inscription, "Presented to the Citizens of San Francisco by Lotta, 1875," are placed on the four sides of the body of the structure.—Philadelphia Ledger.
