The City.

FOR NEW YORK.—Rev. N. M. Jurney and Mr. H. F. Heathman leave in the morning for New York City, Mr. Jurney leaves to raise money for his church.

M. MANGUM.—We are glad to see Rev. A. W. Mangum back in the city, and no bones broken from the recent accident at Flat River. His little girl who is badly hurt is now convalescent, and the rest of the family well.

UNDELIVERED.—There's an undelivered picnic address in that young man, we know it, because twice to-day, while other people were busy at work, he has sauntered around, and once or more remarked on what a lovely day it is.

MORGANTON ASYLUM.—Dr. Grison has just returned from Morganton where in company with the other gentlemen he inspected the country for three miles around to locate a place for the branch asylum. There remains but one more mile of that country to inspect which will be done very shortly.

UNITED STATES DIRECTORY.—The freshest directory of all the States comes from Philadelphia and is compiled by L. Colange, L. D. As an idea of its accuracy it puts down Mr. William H. Howerton as the Governor of North Carolina! Gov. Brogden seemed vexed enough with the man this morning to call out the militia.

FLY AND MOSQUITO PROTECTOR.—It is now a Salisbury man, Wm. A. Went, who has invented the fly and mosquito protectors for beds and cradles and dinner tables. It is the latest invention of the day and the most useful. The protector is like a wagon top and works on pivot and can be shut up under the bed without signs of its being there. The whole invention is on display at Morris' furniture store. We understand Mr. Went was a poor young man, and borrowed the money to take him to Washington to get the patent.

OUR POLICE.—There's nothing for a city like good police. They should be drilled and disciplined like the same as regular soldiers. They should be properly informed. We believe Major Manly fully equal to the occasion and the city may rest itself satisfied in the hands of a well regulated force. The police number sixteen. Major Manly will divide them into three sections, commanded each section, by Ist Sergeant J. M. Carver, 2d Sergeant Julius Mullen and 3d Sergeant B. B. Betts. The police will be eight hours on and six off, and there shall always be a reserve of eight men at the guard house.

MEMORIAL DAY.—Have the children to see the decoration. It's a history they should be taught and they will never learn it in books half so well as when with flowers they help to deck the graves. In this way the custom will go down from generation to generation, and an hundred years from now, if the world lasts, we will have our tenth of May in North Carolina. We republish the programme which was postponed on account of the weather till to-morrow at 3:30 p. m. At 3:30 o'clock Wednesday, the 12th inst., the military companies, the Rescue fire company, the Hook & Ladder company, and the Citizens' Cornet Band, will reside in front of the Courthouse, on Fayetteville street, where the procession will be formed. The procession will then move by way of Fayetteville, Morgan and Wilmington streets to the East gate of the Capitol, where it will be joined by the Memorial Association, and such citizens as desire to participate. It will move thence to the Confederate Cemetery, where the usual services will be performed in the following order:

- 1 Prayer by the Chaplain.
 - 2 Ode.
 - 3 Funeral Dirge by the band.
 - 4 Oration.
 - 5 Ode.
 - 6 Benediction.
 - 7 Decoration of the graves.
 - 8 Salute by the Light Infantry.
- All citizens who desire to join the procession will please be at the Capitol at the hour indicated. The Light Infantry will fire half hour guns during the day. Merchants and business men are requested to close their places of business during the exercises.

The best collar ever made is the Elmwood. It fits better and looks better than any other.

AN ASHEVILLE SHOEMAKER.—There is in our penitentiary a shoemaker from Asheville who makes as pretty a boot as ever graced the foot. Boots that he makes for six dollars could not be bought in this city for less than twelve. And he was doing so well, they say, at his trade in Asheville. He didn't buy goods on a credit, and never pay for them, for that is not a penitentiary offence, indeed it's not; but he bought some goods knowing that they were stolen, and for this he was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years. His wife came down here and died, and they gave him holiday and sent a guest with him to attend her funeral, and then there was the State creed, more boots, and the Asheville shoemaker is still plying away, with no sign of escape about him, unless in his heart, a place where craps don't show well, and we are thinking of borrowing six dollars from some man, to never pay back, to buy a pair of boots from the Asheville shoemaker who bought stolen goods. We are all too good to live long.

PRISONAL.—The White Sulphur Springs in Catawba opens the first of June.

Charles W. Alexander has been appointed Chief of Police by the new board in Charlotte.

Peter Feeler tied the rope around his neck and swung into eternity in his barn in Lenoir county.

Governor Tilden weighs only 130 pounds, and in fifteen years has varied only eight ounces from that figure.

The recent tornado in East Tennessee carried away the roof of Senator Andrew Johnson's residence, in Greenville.

A little son of Mr. Tickle in Alamance brought home a bucket of water on his head and set it down and dropped dead.

A son of Captain James A. Turrentine, near Company Shops, on yesterday (yep a week ago, while playing with his companions, had his thigh broken. We are glad to hear that he is doing well.

We learn from the farmers that the fruit crop, (with the exception of peaches, which are all destroyed) will be heavier in this section than for many years past.—St. Arly Visitor.

A little three-year-old boy living in Bridgewater attended the services held by Mr. Earle, the Evangelist. The next morning the little fellow, while playing on the floor, suddenly broke out: "Mama, I don't want to go to Heaven." "Why not, my little son?" "Because, Mr. Earle said we must give up father and mother, brother and sister, if we expected to get there, and I do not care about doing that."

RELIGIOUS.—Commemorative services were held in Chamber's Presbyterian church at Philadelphia, Sunday, on the occasion of the semi-centennial of the pastorate of Rev. John Chambers. Services were held to crowded congregations.

The new Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York, Rev. Dr. John Hall, pastor, was dedicated Sunday with imposing religious services, and was attended by large congregations. The edifice will seat about twenty-one hundred persons, and has been erected at a cost of about $1,000,000.

A correspondent of the Pull Mail Gazette:—"The Perth Town Council have, by sixteen votes against four, resolved in future to discontinue a grant of $20 yearly for supplying brandy and sherry to the Kirk sessions of the parish churches. One of the minority said if brandy had been made in St. Paul's time, the apostle would have included that liquor with wine as good for the stomach."

NEW YORK AND THE CENTENNIAL.—We find the following in the Herald of Friday: The following subscriptions have been made towards defraying the expenses of the grand celebration of the centennial of the Declaration of Independence at Charlotte, N. C., on the 20th inst.: Harper & Bros., $100; A. S. Barnes & Co., $50; E. J. Hale & Son, $50; 3 Archon & Co., $25. Further subscriptions will be thankfully acknowledged by E. J. HARRIS & Son, 17 Murray St.

HAIR DRESSING IN CHINA.—I never could find out precisely what was the great joy of a Chinese woman's life; but I think it must be "dressing her hair." This is done with an elaborate artistic science known to us. The hair dressing is the woman's accomplishment; a man would be considered quite out of place—and I think they are right. Their hair is invariably black and very long. It is drawn back tightly from the face, and stiffened with a gum made from a certain kind of wood. It is piled up in a wonderful pyramid of bows, loops, wings, twists, leaves, flowers, rolls, all so stiff that they stand alone without the aid of pads, roulets, pulps or hairpins. Not a single hair is stray, the whole highly polished, or, I should say, varnished, which keeps it smooth for nearly a week, when the fabric is taken down and remodeled. "How do they sleep?" asks a curious reader. I reply, Quaker fashion, "How did our great-grandmothers sleep when they wore those immense bangles on their head?" I presume they had a pillow made on purpose. The Chinese ladies have a small leather pillow, which fits underneath the back of the neck and keeps the head in a settled position. Others have a case or box, in which they put the head comfortably, and which protects the coiffure from being disordered. It is, par excellence, the most intricate structure that could be made with hair, and when adorned with real flowers and gems, is both an elegant and imposing head-dress.—what badly arranged, it is stiff and ungainly.

DIAMONDS FROM SUGAR. A French chemist has so far succeeded in his experiments as to have reasonable hopes of producing at least black diamonds, if not colorless ones, from sugar. He has already obtained a carbon cylinder hard enough to cut glass, by exposing the perfectly burned sugar to a temperature of 1,800 degrees, Fahrenheit, in a closed vessel without access of air. It will be an interesting development as far as regards the production of sugar-yielding crops, if this experiment shall succeed fully in his designs, and cane and beets come to be grown with a view to their final transformation into diamonds. Truly we are living in a wonderful age.

ATTENTION, DEMOCRATS.—There will be a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Conservative Democratic party of Wake County at the courthouse in Raleigh on Saturday 29th inst. A full attendance is earnestly desired as matters of great importance will be presented for the consideration of the Committee.

THE LADIES.—Lay a few fresh bones around their haunts. They will gather on them in large numbers, and can be destroyed by throwing the bones into hot water.—Vick's Florel Guide.

NEW CONDUCTOR. Yesterday Mr. Jas. D. Duval was appointed passenger conductor on the Richmond & Danville Railroad, vice W. T. West, who has been made master of transportation. Mr. Duval has been in the service of the company for a number of years, and by strict attention to business and his courteous demeanor has become a favorite with the traveling public.—Richmond Enquirer.

Miss Armstrong at Graham. When she first commenced, we felt that she was out of place, but that feeling very soon wore off, and we found ourselves intently listening, untroubled by a thought of impropriety so far as the lecturer was concerned. Her speech was upon temperance generally and the order of Good Templars in particular. She is certainly a woman of ability. Her language was chaste and beautiful and frequently truly eloquent. Judging from appearances her audience was appreciative, it was certainly attentive.—Graham Gleaser.

A TEA TABLE TRAGEDY.—PHILADELPHIA, May 8. In a boarding house this evening, Jas. Daggett, aged 35, stabbed and instantly killed Ferdinand Romelman, aged 53. The two, who were at supper, reopened an argument they had had the evening previous concerning the refining of sugar. Romelman called Daggett a harsh name, whereupon the latter drew a knife and stabbed the former to the heart. Daggett made his escape, and has not yet been arrested.

Telegraphic News.—THE SCHILLER.—SOUTHERN HARBOR.—SENEGAL SAVED.—A NORTH CAROLINIAN LOST.—LONDON, May 9. The ship was out of her course a half mile at the time of the catastrophe, and Capt. Thomas was on deck all night and day for four entire days. At seven o'clock on the evening of the seventh there was a dense fog, which was taken in and engines put on half speed and the fog-bells used. The ship's light was unlit, though only a half mile distant. At ten o'clock the ship struck on the reef, and after four bumps the steamer settled down. There was a violent sea and the tide was rising. The darkness was intense. Most of the male passengers were awake and there was the usual rush for boats, but nearly all the boats were stove. One boat with a few sailors left the ship, cowardly refusing aid. Two boats were saved. The Captain endeavored to compel obedience by firing a revolver over their heads. During two hours the common shots were fired, when the powder was dampened. Distress signals, rockets and blue-lights were unanswered. At midnight the fog lifted in a minute, revealing the light-house. The waves were topping the decks and carrying away the victims. At 2 o'clock the deck hots, in which were the women and children, was swept away. The cries and shrieks of the victims were heartrending. Then followed a ghastly silence. The smoke stack fell, crushing some of the boats and two others were carried away. The remainder followed. Each succeeding wave took fresh victims. Some persons sought refuge on the main mast and some on the foremast.
