MECKLENBURG,-All doubts about the authenticity of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence anterior to the American general revolution may be dismissed. Mr. Bancroft wrote in 1848 to Governor Swain of North Carolina that he had found a copy of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence in the British State paper office. says that the first account of "the extraordinary resolves by the people of Charlotte Town, Mecklenburg county," was sent over to England by Sir James Wright, then Governor of Georgia, in a letter of the 29th of June, 1775. The newspaper thus transmitted is still preserved .- Baltimore Sun.

A NORTH CAROLINA LADY LOST ON THE SCHILLER.—Among the pas-sengers lost on board the ill fated Schiller was Miss Dimmock a lady originally from the town of Washington in this State. She was a member of the medical profession and after pursuing her studies in this country had graduated with distinction at Paris. A year ago the was admitted, if we recollect aright, membership in the North Carolina Medical Association and was fully reognized as a learned Doctor by the raternity. She subsequently made Boston her home and assumed an appro priate position in a hospital devoted to female patients. She was on a visit to Europe in Company with a part of the family of Senator Edmunds, the dis-tinguished Senator from Vermont, when he met her unhappy end. She is said to have been possessed of a lovely person and was highly cultivated, being gifted by nature with a very fine mind, she was only we learn about 26 years
