VOL. X. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1875. No. 260.

The City.

UNITED STATES COURT.—The tribunal spent the morning picking the jury. Adjourned till to-morrow.

PERSONAL.—Geo. B. Harte, T. B. Yarnall, Capt. Sam'l Williams, Mr. Dotch, Jr., and other prominent lawyers of the State are stopping at the Yarrowborough.

PAINTED IN COURT.—Mr. W. M. Brown of the Era newspaper painted in the United States Court Room this morning. He is on the jury.

THE McADOO HOUSE.—We hear good news about the McAdoo House in Greensboro. Politeness, good nature and good offerings always tell in either private or public entertainments.

RAPID TRANSIT.—The Hon. A. M. Waddell, of Wilmington, left the city this morning at 9 o'clock, went to the Wake Forest College, delivered the Annual Address to the students—subject: The Great Deep—and returned to the city per regular train at 4 1/2 o'clock.

APPOINTED POSTMASTER.—We are informed from Fayetteville of the appointment of Robert M. Orrell as postmaster of that town. The appointment is said to give general satisfaction, and met with so much favor that several gentlemen called unsolicited and made up a bond directly for Mr. Orrell. Mr. Orrell is an old citizen and an old bachelor and they say the reason he has never married is the ladies in general like him so, and he cannot marry them all.

SUPREME COURT.—The following cases from the First District were taken up this morning: Chowan county: James H. Garnett vs. James S. Cheahire. Called and continued.

Dare county: Trimoghan Sanderlin vs. Commissioners of Dare county. Dismissed. Pasquotank county: Wm. G. Pool vs. B. B. Reid Adams. Argued. John L. Hinton vs. B. F. Whitehurst et al. Argued. State vs. John Britz. Argued. Currituck county: J. M. Woodhouse vs. B. F. Simmons, Est. Argued.

MEANT BUSINESS.—During the war the following occurred in a Southern State: A pious man in whom everybody had confidence, attended church on Sunday where Rev. Dr. preached. After the sermon the pious layman arose and said: "Dear neighbors, you have heard a fine discourse and I hope you will profit by it. I am going to Texas—except to move all my family. As I said, the sermon was good and I hope you will remember it and obey its teachings. I shall have a sale next Tuesday and as I need money to move with, I hope you will all come to the sale and bid fair prices for everything." We don't think the advertising was legitimate, but the good man aimed to do right.

NOT BROTHER MOORE BUT BROTHER GILLIAM.—Major Henry Gilliam of Edenton is in the city in attendance on the Supreme Court. On his way thither a lady at Mrs. Tuckers, the dinner house, greeted him cordially as brother Moore. The Major got at all disconcerted said "not brother Moore, my name, but brother Gilliam," just as if he had been preaching instead of practicing law all his life. Elder Ward always ranks the lawyers next to the preachers. Major Gilliam does look much like the presiding elder Rev. Junius P. Moore. Brother Moore will not be hurt at the sister's mistake for Major Gilliam is a good, as well as a good looking man.

A SWELL COUNCILMAN.—Mr. John S. Hogg is a member of the city council in Baltimore. People had great confidence in Mr. Hogg, it's true he always was a little drowsy, and held his head high over a small bundle of cats, but then he appeared the decent thing, and he got mighty popular among the poor people just before he was nominated, going about shaking hands with them, and so John Hogg was elected to the City Council. Well, what of it? Nothing only we see in to-day's Baltimore. Some charges preferred against Mr. Hogg for cutting a swell on the rail roads with his dashing young daughter by his side, and paying the expenses thereof out of the city treasury. That's all.

A tramp called on a Halesforth avenue family on Saturday for food. "Do you like pop-pie?" inquired the woman of the house. "Yes, if it is light," was the gambler's reply.—Daily News.

FEDERAL COURT.—Thirteen citizens of Harnett county are now undergoing trial in this court under the Force Bill. After much delay and many challenges the jury was empanelled. The jury was required to take the test oath. Barwell W. Hodge, the prosecutor, was the first examined. As Barwell was about leaving the stand, Mr. Hodge asked him: "Are you a poor man?" "Yes, sir."

"Are you the son of a poor man?" "Yes, sir."

"How many children had your father?" "Fourteen."

"Did the State of North Carolina do anything towards educating you?" "No, sir."

"Did the rich men of your neighborhood do anything in that way?" "No, sir."

"Do the rich men laugh at your ignorance now?" "Some of them do. I never went but a month or two in the year to school, and I never learnt much when I went. I was always a sort of a log-head."

Here the reporter left, thinking how much better the poor and ignorant deport themselves than some of the rich and enlightened.

THE LADIES. A fashionable Paris dressmaker announces that "ladies' shrouds are now out decollete."

Fast young ladies, like fast race horses, often win by a bare neck, and yet with this difference—the horse's victory is due to space covered quickly, the young ladies' to space not covered at all.

Since Easter four New York ladies have become Catholics in order to become wives; and Colonel Smith, who married a daughter of the late Horace Greeley on Saturday, became a member of the Church of Rome, at the solicitation of his fiancée. Then a niece of W. B. Astor married a Catholic; so did Miss Appleton, daughter of the publisher; Miss Niles, who married Consul General Badeau last week, and Miss Morgan, who married a Spaniard. Love, they say, is blind, and Cupid knows no religion. Nevertheless, these convert marriages have caused the corner-stone of society to shake perceptibly, and the rejoicing among archbishops and priests is only surpassed by the chagrin of ministers and rectors.

BEFORE MARRIAGE. My Maggie, my beautiful darling, Creep into my arms, my sweet, Let me fold you again to my bosom So close I can hear your heart beat. What! these little fingers been sewing? One's been pricked by the needle I see; These hands shall be kept from such labor When once they are given to me. Eight—nine—ten—eleven! my precious, Time flies so when I am with you, It seems but a moment I've been here, And now, must I say it?—Adieu!

AFTER MARRIAGE. Oh, Meg, you are heavy—I'm tired; Go sit in the rocker, I pray; Your weight seems a hundred and ninety, When you pounce down in that sort of way. You had better be mending my coat sleeve—I've spoken about it before—And I want to finish this novel—And look over those bills from the store. Eight o'clock! Meg, sew on this button As soon as you finish that sleeve; Feigh-ho! I'm so drowsily sleepy, I'll pile off to bed, I believe.

THE NATIONAL TEMPERANCE CONVENTION AT CHICAGO. MORE THAN FIVE HUNDRED DELEGATES PRESENT—LARGE LAWYERS ON THE STAND—THE THIRD PARTY MOVEMENT—AN ELEGANT APPEAL BY REV. THOMAS L. CUYLER, OF NEW YORK—TWENTY-EIGHT HUNDRED GROSS STOPS IN CHICAGO—THOMAS N. HARBAY IS ALL HIS GORY.

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY, June 3, 1875. The English National Temperance Convention met at Farwell Hall, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock a. m.

The Convention was called to order by the Hon. William E. Doyle of New York, who nominated the Rev. Dr. J. M. Waldron as temporary chairman.

"All hail the power of Jesus' name" was the opening hymn.

Prayer was then offered by the Rev. Dr. Joel J. of Michigan.

J. N. Stearns, of New York, Miss Hoyt, of Indiana, W. H. Locks, of Pa., and G. W. Hodges, of Massachusetts, were appointed temporary secretaries.

During the absence of the committee Hon. Henry Wilson, Vice-President of the United States, was introduced to the Convention by Hon. Wm. E. Dodge, of New York. Mr. Wilson spoke for a short while. He said for more than forty years he had been a pledged temperance man, and during whatever years a kind Providence may give him he intended to be a temperance man. His speech was listened to with great attention throughout.

After Mr. Wilson had resumed his seat, the following note was read from Hon. Schuyler Colfax:

ON THE CASE, May 31, 1875.—MY DEAR SIR AND FRIENDS: Happening to meet on the cars to-day one of our indefatigable and large-hearted temperance lecturers, Mrs. Molloy, I send you this pencilled note. I regret more than you can that long-deferred lecturing appointments this week in my old District, and close to it, prevent my accepting your invitation to be present at your national meeting to-morrow. I would not venture to suggest to such earnest laborers as will assemble there any precise plan of action. But wherever their banner floats to the breeze you can count me as a willing worker for the cause of temperance, so near is it to my heart. Every year's observation strengthens my conviction that the foe against which you war so unselfishly is the most insidious and most ruthless enemy of mankind and womankind, and especially the poor; and it is the cause of more wretchedness, destitution, unhappiness, pauperism, insanity, and crime than the triple terrors of war, pestilence, and famine combined; and that its banishment would fill the world with indescribable happiness; and that every restraint that is put upon it carries joy and peace and hope to many agonized hearts and tempted victims. Hoping that your deliberations may lead to auspicious and beneficial results, I am sincerely yours,

SCOTT W. COLFAX.

It was resolved to hold the sessions as follows: Morning session commencing at 9 a. m. Half hour's devotional exercises. Adjourn at 12:30. Afternoon sessions commencing at 2 p. m. Adjourn at 5:30. Evening session commencing at 7 1/2 p. m. Adjourn at 10 p. m.

There are twenty-eight hundred rum mills in Chicago. This is enough to argue the attention of every Christian man and woman in the land.

THEO. N. HARBAY.

As a gentleman, fishing near Pensance, England, gaffed a large fish, he was seized, with a numbness in his arm, accompanied with an indescribable and painful sensation, which was really an electric shock. His servant man, who accompanied him, suffered in the same manner, he having assisted in securing the torpedo. The electrical apparatus in this fish was found, on examination, to consist of small membranous tubes, which occupy the space between the head, the pectoral fins and the branchiae. They are disposed like a honey-comb and divided by horizontal partitions into small cells, which are filled with a mucous substance, the whole arranged like a galvanic pile.

An outrage was perpetrated on Saturday by a negro tramp hailing from Richmond, Va., and named John Sims, on Addie Jackson, white girl, 18 years, near Odenton Station in Anne Arundel county, Md. The brute was caught and was only prevented from being lynched at Odenton by Governor Groome who interposed his person between the negro and the excited crowd, and got him on the train under charge of the guard. He is in jail but the citizens are still infuriated.
