SENGULAR NAMES. A friend tells us that at Tallulah Falls in North Georgia he once met an eccentric old gentleman, by the name of "Beale," who has six children named as follows:

Hollo Peruvian Beale; Tallulah Falls Beale; Chumbeo Potomac Beale; Magnolia Grandiflora Beale; Bonny Mellor Optimum Beale (for short Bonny); Textus Turquinous Beale.

COL. W. T. BURWELL. From Evans in a letter to the Vicksburg Herald writes as follows:

It is generally conceded that the climate in middle North Carolina is superior to any North or South for Southern young ladies. The Peace Institute promises to become a popular seminary of learning for Southern girls.

PUBLIC SPEAKING LAST NIGHT. A large assemblage of white men assembled at Metropolitan Hall last night to hear public speaking. Jos. Harris, Esq., the efficient and popular young chairman of the Democratic Club...

Judge Fowle, in response to repeated calls, made a stirring, forcible and eloquent talk. He regretted that illness in his family, now at Beaufort, prevented his taking part in the contest.

Gen. Matt Ransom next spoke. Though almost exhausted by his hard campaign work, he delivered an earnest, eloquent and instructive address of an hour's length. The Civil Rights Bill was the leading theme.

Maj. Galen was then called out. His speech was brief, but pointed, witty, and full of eloquence and good cheer. Galen was followed by R. H. Battle, Esq., in a short, impressive and very earnest address.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

This honored institution, in the days of its prosperity, was thought by some to be objectionable because of the standard of morals that obtained among the students. Indeed, when a successful movement had been made to revive it, that class of mind, which has a special talent for never forgetting disagreeable things, is disposed to notice the same complaints.

Kind, suppose there were more dissipation and recklessness among the students of years ago, it is easy to account for the fact, without impeaching the character of the institution by holding it responsible.

Especially was this true of the more wealthy in almost every community. The popular amusements were ruder and more demoralizing than those recognized at the present. There were also more wealth, luxury and leisure, and consequently more profligacy. It may, therefore, be safely affirmed that many of the seeming evils in the old University were the products of domestic and social evils which the University could not control.

For the time that I was familiar to some degree, to the institution, it revealed the peculiarity common at that time to all institutions of learning, whether under the control of a State or church; that is, it always had a small number of wild, dissipated students. I doubt whether the number was proportionally larger than in the denominational colleges.

But is there not a grand, convincing array of great names on the old catalogue? Is there a true North Carolinian who does not bless the memory of the University that trained and sent out to greatness such men as Judge Murphy, Chancellor Williams, of Tennessee; Gov. Erinch, William B. King, Gov. Manly, Senator Mangum, Bedford Brown, John H. Eaton, Chief Justice Taylor, John Y. Mason, John M. Wrenn, William D. Mosely, William H. Hayeswood, President Folk, B. F. Moore, Wm. H. Battle, Judge Manly, Robert Strange, D. L. Swain, Gov. Graham, Daniel M. Barringer, A. O. P. Nicholson, Jas. O. DeHaven, T. L. Olingman, John W. Ellis, Geo. Davis, Jacob Thompson, Z. B. Vance, M. W. Ransom, Judge Barnes, Judge Mitchell, and a long list of others who have achieved more or less distinction.

What Christian does not cherish the institution that educated more than a hundred ministers for the various churches, among them Andrew Flinn, D. D. Wm. Hooper, L. D. J. Morrison, Bishop W. M. Green, John Witherspoon, D. D. Francis I. Hawks, Robert H. Morrison, D. D. President of Davidson College, Joseph H. Saunders, Bishop J. H. Otay, Wm. Norwood, D. D. Bishop C. B. Hawks, of Missouri, John H. Parker, D. D. John Paisley, J. Baxter, D. D. A. M. Shipp, D. D. S. B. M. Phipps, F. H. Dalton, S. A. Stanfield, Bishop Thomas F. Davis, Thomas E. Skinner, D. D. Henry Barlow, Thos. B. Shide, D. D. Wm. H. Jordan, Alex. E. Wilson, D. D. Missionary to China, Bishop Leonidas Folk, (in part) Abraham Penn, N. H. Harding, D. D. Wm. Barringer, Nell McKay, John O'Rourke, Missionary to India, Calvin H. Wiley, S. H. McNeill, S. M. Frost, D. D. Anthony Dibble, Lorenzo Lee, Frank Stanley, A. D. Betts, B. S. Webb, Richard Hines, D. D. and many like them? The various honorable professions and pursuits will show equally respectable representatives of the sons of the University.

The several churches are abundantly blessed at this day by its former students. Some of the most devoted ministers, a most pious and useful laymen whom I know, are from the University.

moral character, regard the provisions of its distinguished Board of Trustees. As to its Faculty it is presumable that men like Gov. Graham, B. F. Moore, F. O. Cameron, Z. B. Vance, and their able and honored associates, did not play the part of children and put in men in the several chairs whom they deemed unworthy of the great trust. Those eminent men never act in that way. They had many applicants and they selected. As to the morals of the institution under the new regime, there is much to encourage every lover of good morals and religion. The students must both study well and in general and particular behave well, or they will not be tolerated. Prohibition is taken against extravagance, idleness, and all immorality. It is the purpose of the Trustees to furnish thorough education as cheaply as possible, and to exercise the best influence possible on the moral and religious interests of all the students.
