FOREIGN DEMAND FOR AMERICAN MANUFACTURES

One of the leading continental railways has just paid a high compliment to a prominent New England industry. The St. Johnsbury scale manufacturers have just received an order for four of their patent Iron Frame Track Scales, and a leading English railroad is now putting in these standard scales.

Meeting in sharp competition the prominent scale manufacturers of Great Britain and the Continent, and winning these orders are the most satisfactory prices which could be awarded.

It can readily be seen where some of the $26,053 scales manufactured at St. Johnsbury the first six months of the year have gone, for the weighing of the world is an immense business, and Fairbanks seems to have the contract. With unsurpassed manufacturing facilities, with experience dating back nearly a half century, with a production largely in excess of any other similar establishment in the world, the Messrs. Fairbanks are enabled to manufacture the best scales at the lowest price - hence the increasing demand for their goods.

ELOPEMENT IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, August 16th. - Jan. Samuels, aged 35, a married man with a wife and three children, on Sunday last eloped with Sarah Moatman, aged 15. The parties proceeded to Camden, and then went to Mechanicsville where they remained all night. At 6 o'clock yesterday morning they went to the Somers House, about four or five miles distant, on the Burlington pike, where they breakfasted. They wanted to engage board there, but the proprietor refusing to keep them they went to Bridgetown eight miles farther. At half past 1 o'clock to-day the parties were arrested and brought to this city.

PRESIDENT DAVIS AND THE ILLINOIS AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION

MEMPHIS, TENN., August 19. Henry P. Kimball, Secretary of the Wisconsin County Agricultural Society, Rockford, Ill.

DEAR SIR: - I yesterday sent you a telegram announcing my revocation of my conditional acceptance of the invitation to address your association at their annual meeting in September next. The long period which has elapsed since the receipt of your first letter and the considerate courtesy which has marked your correspondence make it my duty to the board, and to myself, that sufficient explanation should be given of this change of purpose. Three objects mainly induced me to accept the invitation, first, the hope that personal intercourse might remove some of the prejudices which had been generated by partisan factions and nurtured by individual and sectional hate. Anxious as I formerly was to promote the interests of our great valley of the Mississippi, and believing by mutual confidence and intelligence much could be done for their advancement, I only delayed my acceptance of your invitation until it became reasonably probable that it could be met. The productive capacity of the north-west needs for its development cheaper and safer transportation to markets of the southwest and also to those foreign countries in England especially. Earnest attention has been directed for several years past to more direct and economical trade with the Mississippi valley. In this connection there was a desire to confer with patrons of husbandry in your rich and prosperous section to discuss with them questions involved in securing better means of transporting your produce to most favorable markets and providing agencies which should insure larger returns to freemen and by such conference to learn the views of one member of a family of the Mississippi valley, a family the chief interest of all members of which is agriculture, but cultivators of such various crops as to make trade among themselves extensive and lucrative; while it stamps upon each all the same interests and the same policy as to their foreign trade. To render such conference effective there must needs be a disposition to attend to subjects under consideration, surely not a purpose to smother it by the interposition of matters having no just relation to it. Second - an effort was made to recognize the courtesy of your board, and I was encouraged to believe that your reception of me would be beneficial rather than injurious to your Association. This was the more supportable because several other agricultural societies of Illinois had in like manner invited me to address their annual meetings. Yesterday I received a printed paper, it being a protest of a number of young fellow country men against the action of your board in their invitation to me to make the annual address at the county meeting. Thereupon I sent you a telegram withdrawing my acceptance of the invitation, under the conviction that it would not be agreeable to participate in the meeting, and I hope that neither your association nor the directors will suffer harm by the delay in procuring an orator, or by the correspondence which has caused it. The object was to gratify a wish long entertained to see in its cultivated dress the country known to me as a trackless wilderness, but that being merely a personal gratification it may be indulged at my convenience or postponed indefinitely. I can well believe that the cause which has changed my purpose was as unforeseen by you as by me, and you may be assured that I feel no dissatisfaction toward yourself and have suffered no personal embarrassment from the event, as the invitation was very unexpected and only acceptable as an expression of the general good will, so my only regret is the loss of opportunity to promote the public interest with which the welfare of your community is identified. Again expressing the hope that neither the directors nor yourself may suffer any annoyance, and thanking you for the kindness and consideration you have manifested, I am, Respectfully yours, JEFFERSON DAVIS.

DAYS OF MY YOUTH

The following touching lines were written by the elder St. George Tucker (step-father of Mr. Handolph), and it is said that they affected John Adams in his old age that he declared he would rather have written them than any lyric of Milton or Shakespeare. Days of my youth, ye have glided away, Hairs of my youth, ye are fostered and gray; Eyes of my youth, your keen sight is no more, Checks of my youth, ye are furrowed all o'er; Strength of my youth, all your vigor is gone, Thoughts of my youth, your gay visions are down.

TARRED AND FEATHERED

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 16, 1875. L. F. Copeland, the man of many aliases, who has figured in the roles of preacher, swindler, confidence man, &c., and who was exposed here to-day, was tarred and feathered to-night at half past eleven o'clock. No other violence, however, was offered. He was engaged to be married to a highly respectable young lady here.

TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY

LONDON, August 19. The Times commenting on the Turkish situation says while we think the success of the rebellion would be a calamity at present because it might precipitate a disruption of the Ottoman Empire and plunge Europe into a mighty war, we cannot blame the people for seeking to throw off an intolerable yoke. The towns of Oluchoo, Khar, and Zarin in Russia have been nearly totally burned. Numerous other destructive fires reported in Lithuania and elsewhere in Russia.
