THE ORANGE COUNTY ELECTION

Though up to the present time we have heard from but three precincts as to the result of the election held in Orange county yesterday, to fill the vacancy in the present Constitutional Convention, caused by the death of ex-Gov. Graham, all the indications point to the election of Maj. Patterson, dem., by a largely increased vote over that given for our highest candidate last August.

HILLSBORO.—Patterson 22; Duke, rep., 256; a democratic gain of 26. Last summer at this precinct Graham, dem., 238; Duke, rep., 268.

DURHAM.—Patterson 197 majority. This official. This is a gain of 113 over Graham's majority last August.

PATTERSON'S MILLS.—Patterson 94; Duke 85.

TELEGRAPHIC SUMMARY

Rev. John H. Brown has been elected Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal, W. M. diocese, (Episcopalian) and Rev. W. E. McLaren, of the same denomination, has been elected Bishop of Illinois.

Both parties claim the Legislature in Colorado. The vote is very close.

Thirty-six thousand additional cases of mouth and foot disease in cattle have appeared in England within the past week.

THE BANKRUPT

It is estimated that of the number who launch their barques on the stormy sea of commerce, nine out of ten become bankrupt. Many things conspire to effect this result. Prominent among them is "living beyond our means," exhausting our financial strength. So it is in the physical man, possessed of strength and anticipations of a long life, we launch out in the quest of pleasure.

We live beyond our means; undermining our constitutions by extravagance in eating and drinking; by disregarding the natural laws of health, and ere we are aware of it we are bankrupts in body—Dyspepsia and Rheumatism, or liver complaint, or shattered nerves, or kidney disease or dropsy exhausts our physical capital and we are unable to meet the heavy drafts upon our constitution. But you may resume. Check your extravagance and by the aid of Tuli's Pills, your broken constitution will be restored and the drafts on the exchequer of health will never be dishonored.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

FLEVENTH DAY

At 10 a. m. Mr. President Ransom called the Convention to order.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Murray of the city.

Journal of yesterday read and approved.

Mr. Bennett, from the Committee on the Judicial Department, reported unfavorably on the ordinance to relieve the disabilities of W. W. Holden.

Mr. Roberts, of Gates, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported the correct enrollment of several ordinances and resolutions.

Mr. Wilcox, from the Special Committee on per diem, and mileage, submitted a report giving members $5 per day; providing officer $8; Secretaries $6; Enrolling Clerks $3; Sergeant-at-arms and Doorkeepers $5; pages $1; mileage 10 cents each way. The report went on the calendar.

The following ordinances and resolutions were introduced and appropriately disposed of.

By Mr. Henderson: An ordinance submitting to the people the amendments to the Constitution adopted by this Convention at the regular election in November 1876.

By Mr. Wheeler: An ordinance to prohibit the payment of the public debt or any part thereof, until a bill for that purpose shall have passed the Legislature and submitted to and sanctioned by the people.

By the same: An ordinance to provide for the keeping up of public roads by taxation.

By the same: An ordinance to amend sec 7, art 6, preventing the Township Board of Trustees assessing their own property. County Commissioners, to appoint 3 disinterested persons to do it.

By the same: An ordinance to amend art 7, abolishing registration of voters. All to vote without registration.

By Mr. Barringer: An ordinance to amend sec 24, art 1, relating to the militia; the right to bear arms and the practice of carrying concealed arms.

By Mr. Turner: A resolution that it is the sense of this Convention that the exchange of bonds of the Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line for depreciated State bonds should cease until the General Assembly could be heard from.

By Mr. Jarvis: An ordinance to amend sec 6, art 1, repealing special tax bonds and the bonds issued by the Convention of 1868.

Mr. Badger moved to suspend the rules and take up the ordinance to relieve the disabilities of W. W. Holden, reported upon this morning unfavorably by the Judiciary Committee, and make it special order for Wednesday next at 11 a. m. The motion to suspend the rules was adopted and the special order made.

At the request of Mr. Wilcox, the chairman of the Special Committee on the per diem of the Convention, Mr. French moved to suspend the rules and take up the resolution reported this morning by the Committee in regard to this matter. The yeas and nays were called, and the motion to suspend the rules was rejected by a vote of yeas 40; nays 30.

SPECIAL ORDER

The ordinance reported by the Committee on the Judicial Department, reducing the Supreme Court to a Chief Justice and two Associates, was taken up as the special order of the hour 11:30 a. m.

Mr. Albertson, rep., took the floor in opposition to the measure. He did not think the proposed reduction of the court would be true economy. The people had hallowed by their sanctions the institution of the Supreme Court, and if there was one sentiment to which the people clung it was keeping free from assault their highest legal tribunal and its cold, stern and selfish reason of economy must intervene to prevent their being indulged in this sentiment.

Mr. Baxton followed in opposition to the ordinance. He believed the Supreme Court as now constituted was entrenched in the affections of the people and they would resent any attempt to interfere with it. Since the Supreme Court was organized with three Judges the State had grown in every way. The work was too great to put on three men. He believed in the old usage "in a multitude of counsel there is safety." He argued that the increase of the number of Justices would be increased by and that number.

Mr. Badger was not particularly well and did not rise to speak.

the side range which the Convention had taken by word of law has been called upon his law. The sense of the State had been in the hands of the water upon the people's Court since the court had touched the law.

Mr. Morehead wanted to know what the simple question of mixed schools or no mixed schools had to do with perfecting a system of free schools in the State. If such laws were given their rights in the matter he did not see who could complain.

Mr. Badger said that he regarded the whole cry of mixed schools as mere clap-trap. This whole matter was sufficiently guarded now. After Mr. Badger had spoken for some time he yielded a motion to postpone the matter until Monday at 12 m., which carried.

On motion of Mr. Boyd the Convention adjourned until to-morrow at 10 a. m.

PERREFOOT TO AMES

The following dispatch from Attorney General Pierpont to Governor Ames of Miss., needs no explanation:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.

To Gov. Ames, Jackson, Miss.:—At this hour I have had dispatches from the President. I can best convey to you his ideas by extracts from his dispatches: "The whole public are tired out with these annual autumnal outbreaks in the South, and the great majority are ready now to condemn any interference on the part of the government. I heartily wish that peace and good order may be restored without issuing the proclamation, but if it is not, the proclamation must be issued, and if it is, I shall instruct the commander of the forces to have no child's play. If there is a necessity for military interference it must be such interference as to deter evil-doers. I would suggest the sending of a dispatch or letter by private messenger to Gov. Ames, urging him to strengthen his own position by maintaining his own resources in restoring order before he receives government aid. He might accept the assistance offered by the citizens of Jackson and elsewhere. Gov. Ames and his advisers can be made perfectly secure, as many of the troops now in Mississippi as he deems necessary may be sent to Jackson. If he is betrayed by those who offer assistance, he will be in a position to defeat their ends and punish them." You see by this the mind of the President, with which I and every member of the Cabinet who has been consulted are in full accord. You see the difficulties, you see the responsibilities which you assume. We cannot understand why you do not strengthen yourself in the way the President suggests; nor do we see why you do not call the Legislature together and obtain from them whatever powers and money and arms you need. The Constitution is explicit that the executive of the State can call upon the President for aid in suppressing domestic violence only when the Legislature can not be convened, and the law expressly says, "in case of an insurrection in any State against the government thereof, it shall be lawful for the President" on application of the Legislature of such State, or of the executive when the Legislature cannot be convened to call." &c.

It is the plain meaning of the Constitution and the laws when taken together that the executive of the State may call upon the President for military aid to quell domestic violence, only in case of an insurrection in any State against the government thereof, when the Legislature cannot be recalled together. You make no suggestion even that there is any insurrection against the government of the State, or that the Legislature would not support you in any measures you might propose to preserve the public order. I suggest that you take all the lawful means and all needed measures to preserve the peace by the forces in your own State, and let the country see that the citizens of Mississippi, who are largely favorable to good order, and who are largely Republican, have the courage and the manhood to fight for their rights and to destroy the bloody ruffians who murder the innocent and unoffending freedmen. Everything is in readiness. Be careful to bring yourself strictly within the Constitution and the laws, and if there is such resistance to your State authorities as you cannot by all the means at your command suppress, the President will swiftly aid you to protect human rights. Telegraph me on receipt of this, and state explicitly what you need.

Very respectfully yours,

EDWARD PIERPONT,

Attorney General.

great of England had that which historical precedents and used every effort to the education of the youth of his day.

Mr. Coleman wanted to know what Alfred the Great did with the little biggers.

Mr. Badger said Alfred had nothing to do with little biggers, but if they had been in his day he would have fished them down and elevated them by educating them.

Mr. Morehead wanted to know what the simple question of mixed schools or no mixed schools had to do with perfecting a system of free schools in the State. If such laws were given their rights in the matter he did not see who could complain.
