The Grand Lodge of Good Templars meets next Tuesday, Sept. 28, at Fayetteville. All the railroads in the State sell half-fare tickets.

Hon. John Kerr, of Reidsville, Judge of the Sixth Judicial District, arrived in the city this morning, and is stopping at the Yarborough house.

Our farmers have been considerably scared up by fear of frost catching their tobacco, during the recent cold snap. The weather has turned warmer, and the danger seems over.

The little "Busy Bees," a society of our ten and twelve year old Misses, whose charitable labors are for the benefit of the Orphan's Home, are preparing for a fair an festival during Fair week. It will be given at the residence of Mrs. Alex Creech. Particulars hereafter.

In New York yesterday, cotton was easy; uplands, 13 3-4 cents; Orleans, 14 1 8. Flour and wheat quiet and steady. Corn firm. Spirits turpentine, 31 1-2a32. Rosin, $1.70a80 for strained. In Wilmington, cotton was quiet at 12 3-4 cents for middlings. In Norfolk, 13 cents for middlings.

The next term of the United States Circuit Court for this district commences in this city the last Monday in November. The various dockets at present stand as follows: Civil calendar, 60 cases; criminal, 55; equity, 19; libel, 6; civil United States cases, 9.

State Lecturer Theo. Ramsey of the Good Templars, has received a letter from Hon. Walter Scott Williams, of Canada, announcing that he will be present at the meeting of the grand lodge, at Fayetteville, next week. Col. J. J. Hickman, of Georgia, Right Worthy Grand Templar of the World, will also be in attendance.

Convention of 120 members at $4 a day each—$480. Extras and incidentals, half as much more—$725 say. Two days $1,450, spent discussing Holden's disabilities and still another day to come. Gentlemen, turn it over to the legislature, where it belongs, and go on with the constitution.

THE LADY DIAMONDS—Is the title of a novel, by the author of "The Odd Trump," "Barwood" and other popular works. It is just from the press of E. J. Hale & Son, 17 Murray street, New York, and is a model of neat, clear typography and tasteful binding. The special charms of the story are the depth and intricacy of its plot, the sparkling dialogue, the high class of its characters and the pure moral tone that pervades it all. The heroes are true men and the heroines noble women. The interest is maintained admirably through an intricate labyrinth of incident and adventure, and the reader lays it down regretting that it closes so soon.

It is for sale by A. Williams. Price, 75 cents.

BIG ENGINES.—The enterprising young firm of McCallum, Wyckoff & Hope, engine and boiler manufacturers, of this city, have just received an order from the great tobacconists, W. T. Blackwell & Co., of Durham, for two steam-engines of 50-horse power. The material will be received next week, and it is expected to have the engines completed and set up by about the middle of next month. The Blackwells had proposals and estimates from four or five extensive Northern manufacturers, but our Raleigh firm carried off the contract. Good for home energy, skill and enterprise.

To-day when the ordinance of the relief of W. W. Holden was under discussion, Mr. Hassell took Mr. Tourgee to task for characterizing the Saviour of mankind as a carpet-bagger. Mr. Tourgee replied that his words did not partake of blasphemy in view of the fact that our Saviour was alluded to in the Bible as the elder brother, and he (Tourgee) as a younger brother certainly had a right to allude to Him in the way that he did. The unblushing impudence of this yankee impostor is only equaled by his horrible profanity.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

At 10 a. m., Mr. President Ransom called the Convention to order.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Marshall of the city.

Journal of yesterday read and approved.

Mr. Reid, from the Committee on Revision, submitted a report, offering a substitute for the ordinance in regard to submitting amendments adopted to the people. The substitute provides that amendments adopted to this Constitution shall be submitted as a whole to the people at the regular election in Nov. 1876. Returns to be made by sheriff within 20 days after the election to Chief Justice of the Supreme court, and if a vacancy should be at that time in the office of Chief Justice, then to the Attorney General who shall count the votes for ratification or rejection, and the Governor shall proclaim the result by proclamation, &c.

On motion of Mr. Reid, the rules were suspended and the matter was taken up. The substitute was adopted, and the ordinance as substituted passed its second reading.

On motion of Mr. Reid, the rules were suspended and the ordinance again taken up and ordered to be printed, and made special order for Saturday next, at 10 a. m.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, submitted a majority report in the Robeson county contest case.

[This report is a very voluminous one, and cannot be given in full as its importance demands. The report in substance recites that the contestants, Messrs. McNeill and Norment, must have their right to the seats established by a comparison of the poll books, &c., and that all the testimony in the case must be before the Committee, and prays the Convention to take such order as it may deem necessary to meet the ends of justice, and recommend that the resolution ousting the present incumbents, Messrs. McEachin and Sinclair, do not pass. That the certificate of the Sheriff, made out a prima facia case for the incumbents, and that it is for the contestants to refute this and establish their right to the seats. That there was no competent testimony before the Committee on this subject, &c. That the act of assembly giving contested elections to the General Assembly, if applicable to this case, has not been complied with by either the contestants or incumbents. This act does not apply and the Convention must make rules to govern this case.]

Mr. Chamberlain submitted a minority report, which sets forth that the contestants, Messrs. McNeill and Norment, are entitled to the seats on account of the refusal of the County Commissioners of Robeson county to count the legal vote of several townships by which they (the contestants) would have received a majority of all the votes cast, and the action of the County Commissioners in the matter was a fraud.

On motion of Mr. Manning, of Chatham, both the reports of the majority and minority were ordered to be printed.

Mr. Albertson moved to make the reports special order for Saturday at 12 m.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, moved to amend the motion by making them special order for Tuesday at 11 a. m.

The yeas and nays were called and Mr. Manning's amendment was adopted by a vote of yeas 55, nays 54.

Mr. Shepherd, from the Committee on Municipal Corporations, submitted a report.

Mr. French, from the Committee on the Legislative Department, reported favorably on an ordinance to create a Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Vaughn, from the same committee, submitted a report offering substitutes for various ordinances.

The following ordinances were appropriately referred:

By Mr. Stallings, an ordinance to amend sec 3, art 5, providing a tax on dogs for the protection of sheep husbandry.

By Mr. Avery, an ordinance to levy a tax to keep up ferries, bridges and roads; counties to levy the tax. No persons but criminals to be compelled to work the roads.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The ordinance to relieve W W Holden of his disabilities, incurred by sentence of court of impeachment, was taken up as the unfinished business of yesterday.

The question recurred upon the substitute offered yesterday by Mr. Avery.

Mr. Albertson said that his action no doubt gave the Committee on the Judicial Department a right to suppose that he assented to it. But when the committee discussed the matter he had not fully and clearly made up his mind; but he had done so now, and that without consulting a single soul. After a long and careful investigation and reflection, he had arrived at the conclusion that the passage of this ordinance would not be legislative within the meaning of the restrictions thrown around this body by the act calling it together.

Mr. Hassell regretted that so much time should have been lost in the discussion of this matter. He alluded to the remarks of Mr. Tourgee, made a few days ago, in regard to the epithet "carpet-bagger," and said that Mr. Tourgee'd blasphemy in likening himself to Jesus Christ, and calling the Son of God a carpet-bagger in Judea, laid that gentleman open to be called peremptorily to order.

Mr. Badger's speech in support of this ordinance was able, pleasant and unexceptionable. It was an appeal to serve a personal friend. Mr. Tourgee's speech was bitter, offensive and illogical. That gentleman (Mr. Tourgee) seems to constitute himself the chief fugleman and leader on his side of the house. He (Mr. Hassell) wanted to see native talent developed a little more. The gentleman from Guilford (Tourgee) seems to be very zealous on all occasions to laud his party.

Mr. Hassell then sketched the record of Mr. Holden so far as the crimes proposed to be pardoned, and while he thought this Convention had no power to pass this ordinance, and though Holden was a double traitor to the United States and to the State of North Carolina, he was a pardon man, and would vote to amend the constitution so as to make provision for the pardon of such cases.

Mr. Barringer said that he thought that Mr. Albertson had assented to the report of the Committee on the Judicial Department. He cetrainly did, and regretted that nothing in that gentleman's remarks had shaken his opinion that the Convention had no power to pass this ordinance. Personal considerations made him reluctant to oppose this measure, and if we had the power he would favor the same but upon public grounds he could not support this ordinance. Governor Holden had committed a fatal and irretrievable error, and he did not interpose his personal and official influence and authority against the outrages perpetrated by the Legislature of 1868-'69. Mr. Holden was warned by a committee of men of his own party, consisting of himself (Mr Barringer) and two others, who waited upon and implored and warned him of the course he was pursuing. Mr. Holden did not refuse to entertain the suggestions of the committee but his after actions did not show that the committee's words were at all heeded. In speaking of carpet-baggers he said that he preferred that the native element should lead, but to him all were welcome. He would like to have the carpet-baggers come amongst us, and he would tell gentlemen on the other side that the day would come when the influence of carpet-baggers, negroes, &c., would be felt, &c.

Mr. Young urged the ordinance. He appealed to delegates to pass this ordinance as a matter of generosity. If the man had sinned, was he never to have pardon after sincere repentance? He was even dethroned in the confidence of friends, was not that punishment enough? He thought that the veil of charity should be thrown over the past sins of the man to be benefitted by this ordinance, &c.

Mr. Clidgman would not say what would be his action if he thought the Convention had the power to pass it. He went on to illustrate by analogies why the power to pass this ordinance did not reside in the convention in view of the surrounding circumstances.

Mr Stallings said he was a member of the same church as Gov. Holden and was a personal friend of his, but he was not here to be influenced by personal considerations. He had taken an oath to observe the restrictions thrown around this Convention by act of the assembly, and did not think this ordinance could be passed consistently with that oath. He would favor amendment giving the Legislature the power to pardon cases of this kind. But he would say, that as long as Mr Holden's friends placed the passage of this ordinance on the ground of right and impeach the justice of the sentence of the court of impeachment in condemnation of the crimes of this man, he would not remove those disabilities if he had the power. Whenever the friends of Gov Holden came before a proper tribunal in a proper spirit, not asking a right but clemency, he would then advocate the pardon. He did not with Mr Holden or anybody else to cringe before the Convention or the Legislature, but he thought the pardon ought to be asked by a contrite one of the life perpetrated, and mercy, not right, asked for.

O'Hara, col, spoke in favor of the ordinance.

Mr Tourgee occupied the floor repelling the opprobrium with which gentlemen used the word 'carpet-bagger.'

Mr Buxton regretted that the debate on the question should have drifted into criminations. He had hoped that it would be confined within legitimate limits. He thought the Convention had a right to pass the ordinance, and should do it as an act of magnanimity and mercy, &c. He admitted that Governor Holden did violate the constitution, and did not impeach the justice of the judgment of the court of impeachment, therefore he asked not for justice but mercy.

Mr Durham moved to adjourn until to-morrow at 10 a m.

On the call of Mr Jarvis the yeas and nays were had and the motion to adjourn was adopted by a vote of yeas 56, nays 50.

Adjourned.

MURFREESBORO DOTS.—The male academy, conducted by Prof. Conrad and C. H. Martin, opened Monday with good attendance and flattering prospects.——Wesleyan Female College opens next Monday, and Chowan Baptist Female Institute a few days later. Walter T Lassiter was married in Suffolk, Va, this week, and has gone on a brief honeymoonatic Northern tour.——Judge D. A. Barnes, formerly of Jackson has built himself a handsome residence in Murfreesboro.——Cotton-picking going ahead rapidly.——Murfreesboro talks of having a newspaper.——Wesley Deloache has invented a new and valuable horse-power apparatus.

THE LAST SPEECH.—Mr. Manning this morning called the previous question upon the ordinance of Mr. Badger to pardon W. W. Holden. Mr. Badger said it was treating him with great discourtesy. To him belonged the privilege of closing the debate, as he was the mover of the ordinance. Every decent deliberative body conceded that. Mr. Turner subsequently gave notice that he claimed the right to close the debate. His side of the house were worried out with this irrelevant debate, and would have called the previous question this morning but for assurances given by Republicans that only two or three on their side would speak, and that for a short time. The Judiciary Committee had reported unanimously that this Convention had no jurisdiction of the subject.

It had now assumed the character of a big political field fight. He did not propose to allow the enemy the first and last speech, besides two or three to one. The debate will certainly close to-morrow judging from the impatience of members.

A NEGRO CONVICT KILLED.—About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, William Chavis, a negro convict at the workhouse in this county, while engaged in splitting wood on the premises, was seized with a desire to obtain freedom, and suiting the action to the thought, threw down his axe and bolted for the woods. But before he could reach shelter, sixteen buckshot from the double-barreled gun of the guard, Holderfield, caught him just back of the neck and gave him a final release from all the cares and toils of this wicked world. Chavis was sentenced at the last spring term of the Superior Court to a term of six months for living in adultery with a white woman, and the working out of the above incident to his trial added another six months to his term.

Capt. Tom Evans, the wide-awake traveling agent and correspondent of the Vicksburg Herald, has been in the city several days and has added nearly 50 to the subscription list of his paper.

N. T. Watkins, of Winston, has a 3-foot-8-inch long gourd which played a conspicuous part in the "Hard Cider" campaign of 1840. It went the round of all the mass-meetings, and is said to have been the instrument of conveying at least a hundred barrels of cider to thirsty Whig throats.

Speaking of a well-known member of the convention, the Charlotte Observer says: "No county can boast of a more industrious and zealous delegate than Cleaveland. Capt. Capt. Durham's knowledge of parliamentary law makes him a very efficient member. His scathing reply to some insinuation of foul play on the Democratic side, made by ex-Judge Tourgee, reminded us of '68. There is no other delegate whose experience so well qualifies him to fight a carpet-bagger as Capt. Durham."
