THE SENTINEL

Democratic through and through. All Communications

W. D. McNally, Sole Editor.

The Sandwich Islanders believe in a female devil. Their creed doubtless originated with some shrewd Kanaka that had been lately mother-in-law-ed.

Joseph Price, a prisoner awaiting trial in Philadelphia gaol, for publicly knocked out of him by a streak of greased October lightning, the other day.

All the blush-rose and swindler organs of the North are lamenting John Forsyth's Mobile Register with almost pathos; which speaks badly for him and it.

The military movements of the present campaign indicate, a good deal of determination on the part of both sides not to get together at all if possible.

Ulysses and his strolling gangs, with their demijohns, dogs and lachaye, continue their depredations in the Rocky Mountain regions, while an orderly sergeant runs the United States government.

It will easily be seen from his interview with the Herald correspondent, that Colonel Chingman is one of those who cling manfully to the idea that there's life in the old land yet, if the [illegible] only be [illegible] from her pocket.

White Democratic Governors have vetoed, at last accounts, [illegible] Radical bills, and the [illegible] is, that [illegible] still yet come in this country which will not be Democratic, for practically a nigger is a nigger, and a white man a white man—unless he happens to be a Radical.

John Forsyth, of the Mobile Register, scoffs at anything but hard money as "a mere cash delusion, a will-o'-the-wisp, that in the end will lead to bankruptcy and ruin." It's comforting to know that most of us won't have to be led for the years of John's contraction policy has about saved us the trouble of the trip.

The Goldsboro' Record says that, "Governor Vance's speech at Fayetteville, one of his very best efforts, was received with cheers by the immense audience." Of course it was. Fayetteville is the home of his youngest daughter, and he is always at his best when talking to "his own people."

Ulysses has issued a proclamation "by the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the United States," declaring that the Louisiana Returning Board has been duly appointed, and that the Governor and Legislature chosen by the people of that State have no authority to act. Ulysses is a great stickler for the Constitution and laws, when they happen to suit his purposes.

Judge Pierrepont, Attorney General of the United States, has resigned, and will return to the practice of the law in New York. Pierrepont is a man of ability, and has made a good Attorney General, but he has been in a false position, and has had to do many things that were distasteful to him. He will be much happier in the practice of his profession.

Governor Vance has appointed Hon. Thomas Ruffin, Jr., Judge of the Superior Court, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge Watts. Judge Ruffin is a son of the late Chief Justice Ruffin, and is a gentleman of fine legal attainments, and will make a good Judge.

The Democrats of Ohio have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Pennsylvania have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Indiana have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Illinois have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Iowa have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Kentucky have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Missouri have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Kansas have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Nebraska have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Minnesota have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Wisconsin have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Michigan have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Maryland have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Delaware have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of New Jersey have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Connecticut have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Rhode Island have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Massachusetts have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of New York have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Vermont have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of New Hampshire have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Maine have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Virginia have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of West Virginia have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Tennessee have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Georgia have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Alabama have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Mississippi have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Louisiana have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Texas have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Arkansas have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of North Carolina have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of South Carolina have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen. The Democrats of Florida have elected their Governor, Legislature, and a majority of the Congressmen.

The Democrats of the United States have elected their Governors, Legislatures, and a majority of the Congressmen.