LEA & PERRINS' ORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE.

Read the statement of the State National bank, one of the best managed and soundest monetary institutions of the State.

Wm. H. Parish, W. H. Clarkson, N. Talbot, C. N. Smith, J. C. Hunter and Jno. F. Hatcher, of Richmond, arrived this afternoon to attend the fair.

Mrs. Shober, of Salisbury, wife of Hon. F. E. Shober, delegate to the convention from Rowan county, arrived in the city this morning, and is stopping at the National hotel.

Gen. M. C. Butler, of South Carolina, soldier, scholar and gentleman, announced in a dispatch to Secretary Winsor, that he will arrive Wednesday to be present at the fair.

T. F. Lee, late sheriff of Wake county, will, in a few days, open a wholesale and retail liquor store, in the big building just completed by W. H. & R. S. Tucker, on Wilmington and Hargett streets, sign of the big hook.

The Charlotte Observer, of Oct. 16, says: "Last night six horses which are in training on the race course here were put aboard the North Carolina train and started to Raleigh, where they are entered for the races at the fair there this week. These horses are: Abd-el-Korve, Abdela, Iddia, Jonanny and Burch's two."

Col. Thos. M. Holt, of Alamance county, the efficient president of the North Carolina Agricultural Society, arrived in the city this morning, and is stopping at the Yarrowborough house. The colonel is looking finely, and has entered vigorously upon the arduous duties of the week at the fair grounds, giving his personal attention to the interests of the association.

WAXED.—Two pious Wake county-ites, the other day, carefully wrapped up a couple of brick-bats; covered them with a thick coating of beeswax; and sold them to a Wilmington street grocer for that useful article which, with the auxiliary sheep-skin, formed Aunt Jemima's famous sticking-plaster. A customer soon came in to buy a few pounds of beeswax; and it is said the language of that groceryman after, having exhausted knife and saw, he finally busted one of the drunks with a hatchet, would have answered for a Sunday School address or an animated conversation with a refractory ox-team.

THE WATKINS TROUPE.—The famous Rose and Harry Watkins' troupe, one of the best that travels in the South, begins a week's engagement at Tucker's Hall this evening. Amy Lee, the gifted and beautiful young comedienne, is one of the stars. The orchestra, under charge of the celebrated composer and director, Albert Rossi, is said to be fine. The pieces for this evening is Bulwer's classic drama, "The Lady of Lyons," with Rose Watkins as Pauline. The entertainment will be interspersed with gems of vocal and instrumental music. We hope to see a crowded house.

THE FAIR.—Grounds in splendid order. More entries of stock, machinery and miscellaneous fabrics and wares, than ever before at this period. Letters and telegrams pouring in, announcing arrivals and visitors coming. All the departments rapidly filling up. Four horses already entered for the citizens' purse of $500, to be given for the fastest animal next Wednesday. Special train coming from Richmond to-morrow laden with prominent men of the Old Dominion. Some prospect this evening of a shower to lay the dust, and then we'll have nothing more to ask. The grandest success in the history of the association is assured. Let our citizens do all in their power to add to the enjoyment of the multitudes of distinguished guests who will spend the week in our midst.

HIGH OLD TIMES.—This has been a field day in the convention. Three columns of the Sentinel would not be able to give an idea of it. The fiercest debate that, perhaps, ever took place in North Carolina. The subject was the corruptions and rascalities that have cursed the state since reconstruction began. Names of distinguished men and of high and ancient families were dragged into shameful connection with innumerable deeds of darkness. "The lie" was shuttled freely as the feathered ball in shuttlecock. One of the delegates to whom it was applied exclaimed: "Say that outside of the hall, and I'll beat you with a stick like a dog, as you are." The whole row ended in the convention again refusing to submit the question of the payment of the fraudulent state debt to a vote of the people, who had nothing to do with its contraction, and out of whose pockets, if ever paid, it will have to come.

ADJOURNED.

At 6 o'clock this evening, the constitutional convention stands adjourned. Its session has been an eventful one. It marks a new era in the history of the Old North State. Under the impetuous and able leadership of its able and patriotic members, it has done more for the people in one session than had been accomplished in any previous session.

The convention has done more for the people in one session than had been accomplished in any previous session. It has done more for the people in one session than had been accomplished in any previous session.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

THIRTY-FIRST DAY.

At 10 o'clock a. m., Mr. President Ransom called the convention to order.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Spake, of the convention.

Journal of Saturday read and approved.

Mr. Turner presented a petition from various tax-payers of Wake county praying that the convention would pass an ordinance preventing the general assembly from paying special tax bonds without first submitting the question to the people. The petition was placed on the calendar.

Mr. Bennett, from the committee on the judicial department, Mr. Held, from the committee on revision, and Mr. Manning, of Chatham, from the committee on the judicial department, submitted reports, all of which were placed on the calendar.

Mr. Albertson moved to suspend the rules and take up the ordinance defining the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. The motion was adopted and the ordinance passed its several readings.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, moved to suspend the rules and take up the resolution declaring that the General Assembly shall not pay special tax bonds without first consulting the people at the ballot box. An acclamation vote was taken and the chair announced the motion lost.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, insisted that he had demanded the yeas and nays before the result was announced. The chair said that the result had been announced before the demand was made.

Here a wild confusion reigned for a few minutes.

The chair then reiterated his decision and the motion to suspend the rules was declared lost.

Mr. Menden moved to suspend the rules and take up the ordinance reducing the number of State Senators to 25.

The yeas and nays were called and the motion to suspend the rules was lost by a vote of yeas 55, nays 56.

Mr. Manning, of Chatham, renewed his motion to suspend the rules and take up the resolution in regard to the payment of the special tax bonds. The yeas and nays were called and the motion was adopted by a vote of yeas 57, nays 48.

The following is the ballot:
Yeas—Messrs. Allison, Allman, Anderson, of Clay, Anderson of Madison, Avery, Bennett, Bingham, Boyd, Bunn, Byrd, Carter, Cooper, Cowell, Cunningham, Dobson, Everett, Faison, Farrar, George, Green, Harrington, Howell, Henderson, Jarvis, King, of Pitt, Kirby, Love, Manning, of Chatham, Marshall, McOrkie, McEachin, Morehead, Motte, Neal, Nicholson, Nowell, Patterson, Price, Redwine, Reid, Robbins, Roberts, of Davidson, Roberts, of Gates, Rumley, Scott, of Onslow, Shephard, Shober, Sinclair, Singletary, Spake, Stallings, Steved, Summers, Vaughan, Wata, Wilson and Withers—97.

CHURCHES YESTERDAY.
Dr. Lurthead, at Mission Street Methodist church, delivered an eloquent sermon on The Atonement.

By Dr. Vaughan, of Marion, Georgia, delivered two large audiences yesterday, at the Presbyterian church. His sermons were scholarly, earnest and brilliant, and have already secured him a popular minister among our people.

At St. John's (Catholic) church, Father Riely preached an interesting and eloquent sermon on the power of the church to give absolutes of sin, to a large and attentive congregation. Father Riely, though comparatively a young priest, is rapidly gaining a reputation for oratorical ability of a very high order. The choir rendered excellent music throughout the whole mass.

The church of the Good Shepherd was jammed last evening, to hear Bishop Lyman. Every available inch of space was occupied, and so tightly were the auditors packed in that, when one stood up or sat down, all had to do so. The bishop took as his text, II Thessalonians ii: 1-12: "And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie: That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness." His sermon was an earnest and forcible effort to reconcile the seeming harshness of the declaration with the justice and mercy of God. He maintained that God never gave a man over to delusion, until he had by persistence in disobedience and resistance to the divine laws brought the terrible consequence upon himself. The music of the entire service was more than ordinarily excellent; and the voluntary during the offertory was particularly fine. The selection was "Oh, holy, holy, holy Lord," to the exquisite air, "Sweet Grenadine," by Gertrude Haywood presided at the organ; Mrs. L. J. Young sang the solo admirably; and the other parts were sustained by Mrs. H. M. Miller, Mr. A. H. Miller, P. A. Miller, J. A. Miller, and A. P. Young, tenor. Among the audience, were a large number of members of the convention, and many distinguished citizens from various parts of the state.

OBJECTION TO A COMMISSIONER BEING APPOINTED TO ASCERTAIN WHAT WAS THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE OF ROBESON COUNTY.

After much confusion and acclamatory debate the convention, on motion of P. M. Jarvis, took a recess until 4:30 p. m.

TO HOWARD W. GILBERT, ON READING HIS BEAUTIFUL STANZA "TO THE FLOWERS."

Thou lovest much the gentle flowers
That spring along thy path,
Whose beauty in the summer hours
A holy influence hath.

With the sweet summer time they come,
And make its smile more gay,
Tears astringe to tear their bloom,
So wild and sweet away.

I dreamed them, in my childhood hours,
A gift from angel hands;
They bloom as like the fairy flowers,
That bloom in spirit lands.

I never fancied a bright flower,
Whose I might have picked home,
But summer skies were beaded o'er
The summer leaves and flowers.

Of all I've dreamed of youth's bright dreams,
I only pleased recall
Those lifted up with summer beams,
And charmed with wild-flowers all.

They tell me, there are flowery isles,
Away in seas afar,
Mid summer's ever-during smiles,
Where only blest ones are.

I've dreamed of such—in tropic beams,
The pleasant region smiled,
With the shrubbery dipping in the streams,
Its blossom'd branches wild.

I've dreamed of such—when Fancy's
hall
Stole o'er my waking hours;
But could they be thus worshipp'd,
Without their summer flowers?

No, without flowers, the fairest scene
Had little charmed our eyes,
And Paradise itself had been
But half a Paradise.

MAYOR'S COURT.—In view of the large crowd in the city, the police docket was unusually small this morning. Usually the fines Monday morning met from $50 to $75. This morning only one case was reported; an over-dose of benzoin had caused the party to lose control of his pedal extremities for which he was invited to replenish the Treasury $5 worth.

Sturdy there were three cases: Fish Higge, colored, throwing rocks against a house; $20 and costs. Forbese Buncombe, colored, drunk; $10 and costs, or jail 20 days.

John McGowan, colored, the second Irish gentleman of color who has recently come under our observation; a case of plain drunk; discharged on payment of costs.

LITERARY.—Jno. H. Smyth, colored delegate to the convention from New Hanover, will, by request of many of his own race, give recitations from Shakespeare in the House of Representatives to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, commencing at 7:12 o'clock. The recitations will be interspersed with music by the trio and quartet clubs of this city. The public are invited to attend. Admittance free.

DIED.
In Richmond, Virginia, Oct. 7, by Rev. Mr. Preston, Mr. Fletcher J. Conner and Miss A. Melville Donnan, daughter of W. S. Donnan.

At Edge Hill, Albemarle county, Virginia, Oct. 7, Col. Thos. Jefferson Randolph, aged 84 years. He was a grandson of the "Sage of Monticello." His first public service was as a member of the Virginia legislature in 1832; and his last, as temporary chairman of the Baltimore convention, which elected poor-old Horace Greeley by nominating him in 1872.

A WANT SUPPLIED.

The American mind is active. It has given us books of fiction for the sentimentalist, learned books for the scholar and professional student, but few books for the people. A book for the people must relate to a subject of universal interest. Such a subject is the physical man, and such a book "The People's Common Sense Medical Advertiser," a copy of which has been recently laid on our table. The high professional attainments of its author—Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y.,—and the advantages derived by him from an extensive practice, would alone insure for his work a cordial reception. But these are not the merits for which it claims our attention. The Author is a man of the people. He sympathizes with them in all their afflictions, efforts, and attainments. He perceives their want—a knowledge of themselves—and believing that all truth should be made as universal as God's own sunlight, from his fund of learning and experience he has produced a work in which he gives them the benefits of his labors. In it he considers man in every phase of his existence, from the moment he emerges "from a rayless atom, too diminutive for the sight, until he gradually evolves to the maturity of those conscious powers; the exercise of which furnishes subjective evidence of our immortality." Proceeding upon the theory that every fact of mind has a physical antecedent, he has given an admirable treatise on Cerebral Physiology, and shown the bearings of the facts thus established upon individual and social welfare. The Author believes with Spencer, that "as vigorous health and its accompanying high spirits are larger elements of happiness than any other things whatever, the teaching how to maintain them is a teaching that yields to no other whatever," and accordingly has introduced an extensive discussion of the methods by which we may preserve the integrity of the system and oftentimes prevent the onset of disease. Domestic Remedies—their preparation, uses, and effects—form a prominent feature of the work. The hygienic treatment, or nursing of the sick, is an important subject, and receives attention commensurate with its importance. Nearly all diseases "to which flesh is heir" are described, their symptoms and causes explained, and proper domestic treatment suggested. To reciprocate the many favors bestowed upon him by a generous public, the author offers his book at a price ($1.50) little exceeding the cost of publication. Our readers can obtain this practical and valuable work by addressing the author.

There were 2,000 invitations out to the Dodge-Jewell wedding.

The Richmond Whig, one of the oldest, best and most noted papers in the South, is offered for sale.

Free of charge. Your Druggist will refund your money if Dr. Full's Cough Syrup does not give you satisfaction and cure your cough.
