

THE SENTINEL

Published every day except on Sundays, Wednesdays and Public Holidays.

P. DONAN, Editor.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1915.

One way to get a roaring trade, is to buy a messenger; another is to advertise in the Sentinel.

An exchange says: "Some of Buchanan's tricks, 2,000 years old, have been found in Pania."

The telegraph reports Treasurer Drowl sick. We're not surprised; he's a half-way honest man, and the air of Washington is enough to sicken even unto death any, one of us.

A rural correspondent sends us a "poem" entitled: "Why should I blush to own my love?"

Old Zach Chandler is off on a ten-days drunk, and the interior departments of governmental theory and fraud is at a stand-still till he sobers and returns.

Group of ladies and gentlemen admiring a glorious sunset a few evenings ago, on cemetery hill.

"A man who can marry and does not ought to be damned," is the cliché with which Rev. J. E. Wick, of San Diego, California, closed a recent sermon on marriage.

Closing a door with your nose, as you scramble for the paragonic bottle in the dark, without twisting the lid section of the Decalogus into basket-splits, is like the Chinese process of embellishing porcelain with fawcright monotonousness and impossibilities.

Try it the first time your little gummy, red-faced and bald-headed chum has a midnight complexion, and you'll learn to sympathize with an exemplary Presbyterian friend of the Sentinel.

THE RICHMOND FAIL.

Everything betokens a grand success for our Virginia friends next week; a success that shall put new feathers in their honor's cap, and myriads of big dollars in their mechanistion's pockets.

FAIR ECHOES.

The Kingston Daily Gazette man was pleased with everything he saw at the fair except so much of the unshod element.

reserved end of a tree limb, and swung to it with all the tenacity of an earnest soul, a strong will and a vigorous moral backbone.

HOW LONG?

That illiberal caricature on sovereignty and greatness, the King of Bavaria, is again, around like painted and lined-horizonal royalty on an Old Dowry stage.

people of North Carolina will stay away more than enough to take the places of the negroes.
