

THE RALEIGH SENTINEL
PUBLISHED
DAILY, WEEKLY AND SEMI-WEEKLY
Official Organ of North Carolina
STATE PRINTING & BINDING ESTABLISHMENT.
P. DOWDY, Editor.

Daily Sentinel.

Advertisements will be inserted in this paper at the following rates per square of one inch, or ten mill lines.
One square one time ..... $1.00
Each subsequent insertion
less than a week ..... 30 cts
1 square, 1 week ..... 50 cts
1 " 1 month ..... 1.00
1 " 3 months ..... 1.50
1 " 6 months ..... 2.00
1 " 1 year ..... 3.00
Small Advertisements
1 square, 1 week ..... 25 cts
1 " 1 month ..... 50 cts
1 " 3 months ..... 75 cts
1 " 6 months ..... 1.00
1 " 1 year ..... 1.50

VOL. XXI. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1875. No. 113.

LEA & PERRINS
is the only GENUINE
WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE.

The City.

Gold fish in glass stands, at Law & Co.'s.

G. W. Blount, mansion ground master of this state, is in the city.

Prof. J. H. Mills, principal of the Oxford orphan asylum, is in the city.

The Good Templars of this city will see the new year in with an oyster supper.

C. J. Lemay, one of the staunchest Democrats of Johnston county, is in the city.

The children of the Swain Street Baptist Sunday School are to have a Christmas tree Friday afternoon.

Messrs Law & Co. inform us that they will illuminate their crockery store every evening during the present week.

Elias Bryan, an old citizen of Chatham county, is in the city to-day. He is down on all rings and rascalities, and is anti-Grant to the death.

A graded school for Raleigh is a new fixed fact. That well-known educator of youth, Capt. J. E. Dugger, of Warrenton, is to have charge of it.

At the request of many citizens, we have introduced our fine "DIAMOND OIL," 80 degrees higher test than any in town. Price 40 cents. Law & Co.

Those wishing to invest in valuable city real estate should bear in mind that the sale of the property of A. G. Lee takes place at 11 o'clock to-morrow.

Merchants will do well to remember that the law requires them to list purchases and take out licenses Jan. 1, or be subject to an indictment for a misdemeanor.

Our esteemed fellow-citizen, Needham B. Beaufort, state grand master of the Good Templars, stirs up the people of Morrisville and vicinity on the temperance question, next Wednesday.

Messrs. A. C. Sanders & Co. have for sale two good mules, one beautiful pony, one new buggy and one second-hand carriage, just repaired and painted, as good as new. Call on them at No. 2, Martin street, for a bargain.

The high school of Rev. J. M. Atkinson and C. H. Scott, with military organization attached, will begin its spring session in this city, Jan. 12, 1876. This school offers all the advantages that can be found in any of its grade, north or south.

Augustus Weddin, formerly of this city, has been appointed agent of the Western North Carolina railroad at Asheville; and we think we hazard nothing of our prophetic reputation in predicting that he will make an efficient and popular official.

An attempt to catch the afternoon mails under the new schedule has somewhat shortened the Sentinel's stock of reading matter for to-day. It will all be straightened out by to-morrow, and our subscribers east and west will find that the change is beneficial. The paper will reach them fresher than before.

ON THE FLY.—During his two days trip to Alamance county, last week, Rev. Dr. Pritchard of this city, delivered a lecture in the court-house at Graham, on "The Literary Attractions of the Bible," for the benefit of the Baptist church; addressed Rev. Daniel Long's school; preached a sermon, in the Presbyterian church, on "The Sins of the Tongue," and cavorted all over the county, as one of the grand rabbit-hunting raid. If any other state has a doctor of divinity that can skip around more numerous and variegatedly at as short notice, let it speak now or forever after hold its peace.

AN OUTRAGE.—During Miss Klaisy's violin solo, at Tucker hall, Saturday evening, while every ear in the audience was intently strained to catch the soft, eolian tones, a shameful disturbance took place in the gallery. A miserable boy, who was allowed against all reason to circulate around the hall paddling some worthless fifteen-cent pamphlet, got into a dispute with an adult rowdy, and for full five minutes the row went on swearing, boisterous talking, general hellaballoo. The whole piece was lost to an audience that had in the aggregate paid $300 or $350 to hear it. The mayor and chief of police were seated in the centre of the hall, and half a dozen policemen, dead-headed in to keep order, were loitering round in various parts of the room; and yet no attempt was made to stop the infamous clamor or arrest the guilty parties. Why was this thus?

COTTON.—To-day, as is usual with Mondays, the cotton market is dull and quoted at 12 for the best grade. Trade rather dull considering the near approach of the Christmas festivities. Last week 1,910 bales of cotton were received in this market, an increase of 781 bales over same period last year. Whole receipts since September 1, 25,031 bales, an increase of 7,189 bales over same period last year.

BIG RABBIT HUNT IN ALAMANCE.—Last Thursday, some 50 men and boys, some on horseback and some on foot, with perhaps 50 dogs of all sorts and sizes, met near Graham, and without gun killed 103 rabbits in one day. Sometimes they would be in chase of several rabbits at once and the fun was fast and furious throughout the day, beating any fox-hunt all hollow, as old fox-hunters acknowledged.

CHRISTMAS EVE HOP.—The Hope Social Club of Raleigh has issued elegant cards of invitation to a grand Christmas Eve hop, at Alcott's hall, next Friday evening. R. N. Mitchell is master of ceremonies; G. Orenshaw, floor manager; and W. A. Smethurst, H. L. Thomas and W. H. Cole, assistants. The opening grand march at 8 o'clock. Tickets of admission can be obtained of the managers at 41. The editor of the Sentinel acknowledges the honor of a special invitation.

POLICE COURT.—This morning this crime-suppressing mill didn't in a hematic point of view, considering that Saturday night and Sunday's dockets were inspected, grind hardly worth a cent: Joseph Burt soothed the offended majesty of the law by paying $5 for getting drunk. Wm. Gibson offended in a like manner and was given 24 hours meditation in the calaboose. George Scott got dangerously drunk and made so much noise that his bill was $10. H. C. Clemmons' drunk didn't cost him but $2.50 and costs. John Branch got let off in the same light manner.

CONCERT IN GREENSBORO.—Editor of the Sentinel: At the solicitation of the lady managers I remained over in Greensboro last Thursday to attend the first entertainment of the Ophan's Aid Association, given at the Ophan's hall. The programme was excellent and admirably rendered, and the thanks of the hundreds of people who were present, who had charge of the two departments. Miss Bettie Staples had charge of and conducted the musical part of the programme, and displayed rare musical taste and skill in the selections she made, and the applause that greeted almost every piece showed that her efforts were appreciated. Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. J. N. Staples, Mrs. M. C. Dixon, Mrs. Dr. Robertson and two others, whose names I did not learn, conducted the tableaux. Here is the PROGRAMME.

Song—in character, "Nobody's Child," by Miss Georgia Yarborough, was very feelingly rendered, and received a merited encore.

Chorus—"Come Away Elves, where the Fairies Dwell." Miss Mary McDaniel, Miss Emma Hahr, Miss Alice Bobbitt, Miss Nettie Scales, Miss Annie Staples.

Tableau—Scene from Mid-Summer Night's Dream.

Song and Chorus—"Let me rest where my loved one lies sleeping." Miss Mary McDaniel, soprano; Miss Emma Hahr, alto; S. A. Howard, tenor; and R. W. Best, basso.

Tableau—"Inflation and Contraction."

Instrumental Duet—"Post and Penant." Misses Clara and Alice Campbell.

Tableau—"Christmas Eve and Morning."

Song and Chorus—"No Father, No Mother." Miss Nellie Scales, soprano; Miss Emma Hahr, alto; S. A. Howard, tenor; R. W. Best, basso.

Tableau—"Tennyson's Fair Women."

Drama—"Little Red Riding Hood."

Instrumental Solo—Miss Emma Hahr.

Tableau—"Indian Life."

Instrumental duet—"Mephisto Gallop." Misses Helen and Fannie Jones.

Tableau—"Honey Moon," in four parts.

Song—in character, "The Little Log Cabin in the Lane," solo by S. A. Howard, as Sambo; chorus, Mr. Callum, baritone; R. W. Best, basso.

Tableau—"Coronation at Moscow of Alexander I. and Empress."

Song—in character, "answer to 'The Little Log Cabin in the Lane,'" solo by Thomas Sloan as Sambo; chorus, S. A. Howard, tenor; Miss Emma Hahr, alto; R. W. Best, basso.

Stately—Zenobia, Faith, Hope and Charity, water carriers.

The characters in the two last songs were splendidly acted, and the large and appreciative audience was not satisfied with a repetition of the last song, but long and loudly called for it a third time. With the stately scene, the concert closed, and everybody voted it a most gratifying success. I must beg pardon of the young ladies and gentlemen engaged in the different tableaux scenes for not mentioning their names, but the person who was to furnish them to me, much to my regret, failed to do so before I left Greensboro. The whole entertainment was exceedingly enjoyable, and they have the satisfaction of knowing that they contributed much to it. From the number present, I suppose the net proceeds will reach $200. Will not other towns do likewise?

R. W. R.

CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

ST. JOHN'S (CATHOLIC) CHURCH.

Though it was erroneously reported that Father Reilly was absent in Fayetteville, yet a very good congregation assembled at St. John's. Father Reilly gave his hearers a sound doctrinal sermon on the duties of Catholics during the present week and how to observe the birthday of our Lord and Redeemer. The discourse was of marked eloquence and logical force, and elicited deep attention. In the afternoon, vespers. During the week there will be mass every morning at 7:30 and Saturday (Christmas) morning there will be three masses, at 5, 9 and 11 o'clock.

EDMUNTON STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

Rev. Calvin H. Wiley, state agent of the American Bible Society, occupied the pulpit at 11 o'clock, taking his text 2d Timothy iii:16-17: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness. That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." He stated that he should not preach a regular sermon, but as the representative of the American Bible Society in North Carolina, would endeavor to present that subject to the congregation, as by agreement the same subject would to-day be presented in all the Protestant churches in the city. He said that the language of the text was the voice of God, speaking to man, not merely to the human race, but to man individually; that it was a personal matter for every one. The bible is the word of God, and whoever reads it or hears it read, reads and hears the word of God, and it would be considered disrespectful for a sane person to stop his ears when it was being read. Yet that was the case with the sinner; he had stopped his ears, for God said "turn ye, for why will ye die." The word of God is infallible, it is his will concerning us. It should be searched and studied as such, for Christ said, "search the scripture for they testify of me." Its publication and circulation is a subject that should command the attention of all who believe in the bible. He gave an interesting account of the publication and circulation of the bible during the different ages of the church, beginning with the apostolic age, bringing in very beautifully the death of Wyckliff and the burning of his bones; and said that the seed sown by the scattering of the ashes of his bones had permeated seven-tenths of the whole world. The first bible society was formed in Wales in 1804, and now the British and American societies are publishing the word of God in near 300 languages. After giving some interesting details as to the workings of the society, a collection was taken up.

Rev. L. S. Burkhead, the pastor, occupied the pulpit in the evening, preaching from Revelations xxi: 10: "And there came unto me one of the seven angels which had the seven vials full of the last seven plagues, and talked with me saying, Come hither, I will shew thee the bride, the lamb's wife. And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and shewed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God."

Theme: "The church in the embraces of God's eternal love, dwelling in her glorious home Christ is the bridegroom and the church the bride, showing the relationship that exists between Christ and the church. He is the lamb of God slain for sinners. He gave himself voluntarily for the sins of the world. He led a suffering life and died upon the cross for sin. The church is the believers, and should be subject to Christ just as the wife should be subject to her husband. The church must look to Christ as the all-sufficient Savior: The world is insufficient to give the bliss for which we sigh, so then if the church has given him her heart, she should be subject unto him. The marriage will take place at the second coming of Christ. He has gone to prepare a place for the bride, and the church is looking forward to his coming, and the place of meeting will be the new Jerusalem spoken of in the text, and which is so beautifully described in the chapter from which the text is taken. The doctor closed an eloquent discourse by exhorting all who had not done so to prepare for the second coming of Christ.

PRESBYTERIAN.

In the Presbyterian church, in the morning, Dr. Vaughn preached to a large congregation from the text: "Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician there? Why then is the health of the daughter of my people not recovered?" Not all in life is evil; there is a bright side to life, but look where we will wretchedness stares us in the face, and the inevitable condition of man hastens to ruin, as far as this earth is concerned. The tramp of the pale horse is heard on the far reaches of every man's pathway. In everything and everywhere sin crops out, and though pleasure and brightness may abide for a while, changes are the order of the universe, and come they must. To all these evils there must be a remedy, and it is offered to us in the text. There is an all-sufficient balm. Many a man may be suffering with a remedy near, but he does not know it, but here is a balm, and a physician waiting to apply it to all sin-sick souls. Why will men not come and be healed? Can any doubt the efficacy of the remedy? Can a man stand before grand St. Peter's and doubt the genius of Michael Angelo? Can he unfold the wondrous pages of Shakespeare and doubt the wonderful genius of the writer? So no man can doubt the perfect integrity of the Saviour as revealed in his word, and he offers to apply this precious healing balm to all. Many refuse at their own awful peril and are lost.

In the evening Dr. Vaughn preached from the text "Remember Lot's wife" an earnest and solemn sermon.

SWAIN STREET BAPTIST.

The pastor, Rev. J. D. Huffman, took his text in the morning from that portion of the scriptures in regard to the wise builders: "And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock." Matt. vii: 25. In the evening the discourse was taken from Isaiah iv: 6: "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near." Both sermons were instructive and earnest, and seemed to make an impression on those to whom they were addressed.

CHURCH OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD.

Rev. E. R. Rich, the rector, occupied the pulpit of this church morning and evening. In the morning his text was taken from St. Paul's epistle to the Philippians iv: 4-5: "Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, rejoice." "Let your moderation be known unto all men. The Lord is at hand."

At the evening service the text of the sermon was taken from 2d Corinthians v: 17: "Therefore, if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." The sermons of this gentleman are always the recipients of praise and the two above mentioned form no exception to the rule.

At this church, the holy communion has been celebrated every Sunday morning during Advent, at half past seven o'clock, and a goodly number of the faithful have attended. The services next Saturday, Christmas day, will be at 11 a. m. and evening prayer at 5. The hour of evening service on Sundays has been changed from 7:30 to 7 o'clock.

GAS BOTHERATIONS.—Too much gas has been the cause of a large part of the country's troubles. Two little has recently bothered Raleigh. We'll bet that 1,000,000 Bishop Havens ceaselessly praying to the devil till the next centennial, couldn't induce him to surrender the mortgage he got on Oak City souls last Friday and Saturday nights. All over the face of our fair municipal queen was heard the voice of cursing and deep imprecation, citizens denouncing their gas-lights and refusing to be comforted because they were not. Outer darkness wasn't a circumstance. Egyptian night turned pale beside it. Preachers were scribbling away on their sermons. Flick—flick—flicker, and out went their lights, "D—d—d—did ever!" exclaimed the holy men. Merchants were poring over their long lines of figures, ledgers, day-books and cash-books. Flip-flopped went their gas, and they had to feel their way out. "Dam—ages greater than profits," ejaculated the wrathful men of merchandise. Poor devil printers and editors were bowing, with red and aching eyes, over interminable bungling non-pariel proofs. Wick-wick-wickety, whop, and they stood in somberness deep as reigns in that legendary midnight cellar filled with stacks of black cats. They communed vigorously with all the gods and goddesses of mythology, thought of every mill-dam in christendom, and sent out for talloo-dips. Dire discomberation reigned supreme from Tucker hall to the insane asylum, from federal cemetery to the penitentiary. What's the matter with the gas works? Our people certainly pay enough to entitle them to something better than flickering dabs of Erebus.

CHRISTMAS GOODS.

WHERE TO GET CROCKERY, GLASS-WARE, PORCELAIN AND CUTLERY FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

For everything novel, rich and beautiful in china, glass and porcelain, from a full gilt dinner set to a paper-weight, go and look through the magnificent stock of Law & Co. Their assortment would be creditable in any city of the land, and their establishment when illuminated at night glitters resplendent as a creation of Aladdin's lamp. For Christmas or wedding presents, they have an infinite variety of useful, beautiful and appropriate articles.

In crockery ware, their stock is very large, and embraces every article in use for table and bed-room purposes. The Messrs. Law, being old crockery merchants, have long since discarded the low grades of goods, which, by becoming crazed and cracked, give a dirty and greasy appearance to the surface.

Glass ware.—Among the endless variety of articles, we were particularly pleased with the glass sets, containing many useful pieces, at prices from $3 upwards for all.

In china tea sets, china dinner sets, and decorated chamber sets, the array is very fine, and the styles such as will suit every taste. It is difficult to find such a display of elegant tea sets of forty-four pieces, short of New York City.

Cut glass ware.—The elite of our community will find the richest and most charming styles of cut, decanters, goblets, fruit bowls, wine glasses, tumblers, &c., made up in sets, matching all round, or sold in smaller lots. Specially noticeable in this line is a "bird set," comprising one pair of fruit bowls, one pair of decanters, and a dozen each of goblets, champagne, claret and wine glasses, all in finest cut and engraved ware.

In vases, toilet sets, &c., we notice an exquisite collection, at all prices and adapted to all wants. A pair of tall Etruscan vases, just opened, of rich and very chaste design, are worthy of special attention.

Fine plated castors, spoons and forks—a superb assortment of these goods on hand. Messrs. Law & Co. only use the manufacture of the "Meridian Britannia Company" and other noted makers, as they will not risk the shams by which the public is imposed on in this line. Lamps, chandeliers, fine cutlery, motto cups and saucers, colored tin sets, spittoons, &c., &c., in every style, shape and color. As this is the first Christmas of Raleigh's new excelsior crockery store, we presume most of the gifts of the season will come from the splendid establishment of Law & Co., who are ready to duplicate any New York invoice at the same prices with freight added.

I. O. O. F. INSTALLATION.—As the installation of officers among the Odd Fellows' lodges in this city will take place the first week in January, we would ask that at least one of the lodges give a public installation for the benefit of a large number of our citizens and ladies especially, who have never witnessed such a ceremony. Will Past Grand's Busbee, Gales, Bagley, Thion and Brown take the matter under consideration and, if possible, give us a public installation in one of the lodges which meet in the beautiful room over the Citizens' Bank?

BAD BEHAVIOR AT CHURCH.—Rev. Dr. T. H. Pritchard recently appeared before Mayor Manly and made complaint of the ill conduct of some men and boys at the First Baptist church. He stated that "bean-shooters" had done that church about $75 in the way of repairing windows; and that the manners of some young men and boys towards the young ladies of the Raleigh Female seminary, especially in coming out of church, were reprehensible in a high degree. The mayor promised to abate the nuisance by detailing a special policeman to be on duty at the church at every morning and evening service of the Sabbath.

A shipwrecked sailor waiting for a sail is like a business man sitting at home nursing a cough or cold. Get Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and be cured.

WHERE DOES IT ALL COME FROM?—Pints and quarts of filthy Catarrhal discharges. Where does it all come from? The mucous membrane which lines the chambers of the nose, and its little glands are diseased, so that they draw from the blood its liquid, and exposure to the air changes it into corruption. This life-liquid is needed to build up the system, but it is extracted, and the system is weakened by the loss. To cure, gain flesh and strength by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which also acts directly upon these glands, correcting them, and apply Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, the only method of reaching the upper cavities, where the discharge accumulates and comes from. The instrument and both medicines sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Holders of Alabama bonds don't like the proposed compromise, and are going to try for better terms. All these thieving carry-tag state debts should be repudiated.

"SOME GUILTY SHALL ESCAPE."

At midnight, in his guarded tent, Ulysses dreamed about the hour when he, our third-term president, should taste unbounded power: in dreams, with mouth agape, he craved the mighty whisky tings, and on its ruins rose a king, and still heard Bristow sweetly sing, "Some guilty shall escape!"

They wentward, in the state of Pukes, did Bristow range his juries well; all firm of front and fierce of look, and very keen of smell: they whistled thieves before them stood, and Bristow's juries drank their blood, and hung their walls with escape: still flashed the word from Washington, "Some guilty shall escape!"

But days passed on—Ulysses woke: no time for dreaming then: at his own house the blow was struck. Aligned at his faithful men, he wishes to see them falling fast, like leaves before the autumn blast. While some in fattened shape, beneath avenging law lay prone, 'hen came the cry from Washington, "Some guilty shall escape!"

Ulysses mounts his charger now, and fast he rides afield: before him every head must bow, and every arm must yield. What matters justice, truth or right, shall he not save, in his desperate mood, from such a furious raid? The friends who sat with him on high, then loud and louder swelled the cry, "Some guilty shall escape!"

Oh, it is grand to press the law, and all its blood-bound urge; but hard to feel the halter drag, or taste ourselves the scourge. So come what may, or come what must, our friends shall never bite the dust. Beneath avenging law lie prone, but we will slaughter Henderson, while swells the cry from Washington, "Some guilty shall escape!"

TAR DROPS.

Shelby's cotton trade brisk.

Jackson county is swept by an epidemic of petty crime.

Droves of horses are daily passing through Shelby, bound for buyers.

There is trouble between the Richmond type-stickers and newspaper publishers.

Charlestown, the county-seat of Swain county, is growing and improving rapidly.

Col. Singletary, editor of the Wilson Plaindealer, is sick, but we trust not dangerously.

An Asheville blackmoor recently perpetrated a rape upon a girl of his own complexion, but 6 years old.

Corn, in solid form, sells at 50 cents a bushel in Newbern; in liquid shape, it rates higher and finds a brisker market.

Hon. Harvey Bonn, a distinguished republican member of the Wilmington chain-gang, made his escape last Thursday.

Wm. McLaurin, nigger, has been made postmaster at Warsaw, Duplin county; and orler, with difficulty, reigns in Warsaw.

Wilmington's First Presbyterian ladies are going to have a centennial tea-party. Vessels proposing to arrive with cargoes of the celestial weed, nota bene.

Henderson county throws up her old sun-bonnet, and shouts huzah. Dirt has been broken on the Spartansburg & Asheville railroad, within her domain.

Richard W. Andrews, an eloquent little valedictory card, retires from the local editorship of the Wilmington Journal; but we feel satisfied his star only declines for a brief time, to rise again in a brighter sky.

Wilmington niggers are digging for hidden treasures within magic circles, by the waning moon's pale, flickering beams, while black cats' claws arc waved on high and mystic incantations muttered by Voodoo priests in scanty duds. These be your equals, eye superiors before the law, oh, chalky-headed foylist!

NEWS AND NOTES.

18 inches of snow at Janestown, N. Y.

Charles O'Connor continues to convalesce.

Cincinnati has this season packed 294,971 hogs.

Sam. Bowles nominates Henderson for president.

Earl Derr, has been installed as rector of the Edinburgh university.

The Petrarcan government is a defaulter. Can't pay its coupons.

Mexican greasers are still deprecating along the Rio Grande, and citizens are arming.

The report that several important papers in the Babcock case had been stolen is untrue.

Babcock will be certified try to the January term of the United States circuit court at St. Louis.

The steamer U. S. Pk., with a cargo of cotton and molasses, was burned at New Orleans Saturday.

A vigilance committee at Caron City hanged Thomas Bart, Friday. He was charged with arson and robbery.

It is proposed to organize a centennial legion to be composed of companies of 100 men from each of the original 13 states.

The English Erie bondholders propose a scheme to dissipate the financial troubles of this rotten and corrupt corporation, which comes over the wire to this section in such a muddled state that nothing can be learned of it.

Shelby's cotton trade brisk