RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1876. No. 122 VOL. XXI.

CITY CODE.-City Attorney Fab. Busbee has codified all the ordinance and their amendments, enacted during the last half-dozen years, and indexed them in convenient form for reference. The board of aldermen, last evening, ordered the printing of his work at a cost of $125.

SUPREME COURT. - The court met this morning at 10 o'clock, all the justices present. These cases were argued :

John McRae, et al. vs. commissioners of New Hanover county, from New Hanover. Mr. London for plaintiffs and D. L. Russell and W. S. & D. J. Devane for defendants.

W. A. French et al. vs. commissioners of New Hanover, Mr. London for plaintiffs and W. S. & D. J. Devane for defendants

Court adjourned until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

CITIZENS' NATIONAL BANK .- The shareholders of this bank met in their office yesterday and elected as directors: W. E. Anderson, A. B. Andrews, K. P. Battle, A. P. C. Bryan and W. J. Hawkins, P. A. Wiley declined reelection as a director. At a subsequent meeting of the directors, W. E. Anderson was re-elected president, and P. A. Wiley cashier. Both of these gentlemen possess the implicit confidence of the community as gentlemen of unimpeachable integrity, and as business men have no superiors. There is no change in the other offices of the bank.

SUPERIOR COURT-DIVORCES .- Yesterday afternoon this court granted divorces in the cases of D. W. Fann vs. Angeline Fann and Hattie J. Wolfe vs. Wm. O. Wolfe. To-day the court untied the matrimonial knot between Julius Bridgers and Henrietta Bridgers, a sable couple, the wife being charged with professional adultery.

The case of Thomas Rice, charged with murder, set for to-day, was continued until to-morrow. A number of cases of petty larceny and fornication and adultery were taken up and disposed of. To-morrow motions for new trials will be argued.

Mone Convict Labor, -The board of directors of the penitentiary met yesterday morning at that institution, and again in the evening at the National hotel. The prominent feature of the proceedings was the allowance of addiional convict labor for the Spartanburg & Asheville and the Western North Carolina railroads. The latter road has been graded and prepared for iron up to Malone's store, 3 miles beyond Old Fort, the present terminus. The iron needed for this distance has been donated and forwarded by the citizens of Wilmington. 250 convicts are now at work on the road and grading and tunpeling in the mountain beyond are being vigorously pushed. It is hoped that the road will be completed to Ducktown, 68 miles from Old Fort, in two years.

MEETING OF THE Y. M. C. A. - Last wening the Young Men's Christian Asso. ciation held a meeting in their hall in the Briggs building. The annual election of officers was postponed until the meeting next Tuesday evening. It was announced that many liberal citizens had already applied for the privilege of contributing to the fund of the association. Messrs. J. N. Richardson, John Armstrong, W. W. Holden and A. M. McPheeters were appointed a committee to solicit contributions. It was asserted that an unusual amount of destitution exists in the city and appeals for relief come frequently. The association recently distributed 56 cords of wood and 100 rations. We hope our people will respond promptly and liberally to the call of the association, in order that much suffering in our midst may be alleviated if not prevented.

PROF. TRIPP'S LECTURES. - This centleman was greeted with another good audience last evening to hear his lecture on Maximilian and Carlotta. The third of the course will be given at the Y. M. C. As the lecturer was an eve-witness of many of the scenes he portrays, it will doubtless prove instructive and interesting. Our female colleges have arranged to have the lectures given in their respective

THE GUANO NUISANCE.-Three thousand citizens were being stunk to death, and fifteen thousand more were mildly smitten when the wind blew fair and free. All West Raleigh, with pinchers on its nose, was sick at the stomach and pale about the gills. Tenants were notifying their landlords that they would have to give up their houses, and move to less aromatic regions. One poor old lady, two squares from the warehouse depository of stenches, had a puking spree every time the breeze set toward her house, and the doctors pronounced her life in danger. The Sentinel sounded the bugle-note of war on the stink-peddlers. Petitions to the city dads, imploring relief from the odoriferous abomination, -or a full supply of nose-holders, anti-vomito plasters and grave-diggers at the public expense,-were put in circulation and signed by myriads of stunk-out sufferers, with compressed nostrils and twisty faces. And lo! the hour of redemption draweth nigh. After a stormy discussion last evening, the board of aldermen adopted this ordinance:

Be it ordained, that the ordinance passed Nov. 15, 1874, in reference to the storage of guano be repealed.

Be it further ordained, that every consignes of guano or other manure or ar-ticle offensive to the smell or detrimental to the public health shall within five days after notice in any manner of its arrival at either of the railroad depots of the city, remove the same, and shall, if retained within the city, store it in such manner as not to be offensive to the neighborhood or detrimental to its health : Provided, that if such consignee is a resident of, or has a place of busi-ness in, the city, it shall be prima faci-evidence that he has notice as aforesaid. Any person violating this section shall, after five days' notice from the mayor through a policeman, pay a penalty of twenty dollars for every day the uisance shall exist.

Be it ordsined, that this ordinance shall not take effect until Feb. 1, next, Gentlemen, if 'twere done when 'tis done, 'twere well 'twere done quickly. In the name of the thousands of outraged olfactories, in whose behalf we appealed to you for redress, we thank you for your prompt action. We pour out to you the gratitude of one who has himself been a victim. If you think we overdo the business, go feel what we bave felt, go smell what we have smelt;

and you will be ready, while you hold a hartshorn bottle or a chunk of assafet-

ida to your august collective proboscis, to admit that we have drawn it mild.

DRATH OF A PROMINENT CITIZEN. -O. F. Gilbert, of Edenton, writes of the death of his father-in-law, R. D. Simpson, which occurred in Chowan county, Thursday, Jan. 6. Mr. Simpson had gone rabbit-hunting, after having eaten a hearty breakfast, and apparently in robust health. He had not proceeded far when he sickened. Calling at the house of a negro, he asked the woman to allow him to sit in the piazza for a few moments, and as he took his seat fell over and expired. Apoplexy is assigned as the cause of his death. He was about 62 years of age. Mr. Simpson had represented Chowan in the lower house of the general assembly, and was very popular in

Didn't know it was loaded, of course; nd that's how Sultivan Harrell, of Bertie county, came to put a chunk of lead into George Bond, the other day. The wound is not quite extensive enough to ensure Bond's release from the bondage of earth and life and sin.

Fetner, the drunken engineer who on the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta railroad, was arrested by two brother railroaders, Vickers and Sidebottom who agreed to share the $500 rewar-offered for his capture. Sidebottom went to Columbia, got the money and sloped, leaving Vickers to whistle and cuss his $250's worth.

How to SCATTER A CROWD .- In case our quiet and orderly city should ever be visited by a mob, a fireman's riot or any other tumultuous assemblage, we give our mayor the benefit of a little incident, which shows how to disperse them at short notice. Two Italians came into one of our hotels last evening, and began to draw exquisite music from harp and fiddle. As the feline intestines, under the impassioned titillations of the capillary integuments of the equine quadruped, poured forth a flood of melodious caterwauls, operatic and hoperatic, a large crowd assembled and additions were rapidly flocking in. Suddenly one of the swart-descendants of the Cresars paused in his harmonious labors, and passed around his cap for nickels. And as the snow melts before the simoom's blast, as the morning mists vanish before the rosy rising sun, that multitude disappeared, mizzled, vamoosed, absquatulated, were non est invent ibus, in a moment, in the twinkling of a deceased Southdown's caudal appendage. C., where he remains until Feb. 2.

1776 AND 1876.-What changes have taken place in that period? In none have they been more radical than in the treatment of diseases. In the olden time, nature, prostrate with pain and suffering, was attacked with the lancet, calomel, blisters, starvation and thirst. All this was done with honest intention, but with terrible results. It is a pleasing fact that the enlightened public of the present day have discarded such medication. The disorders that sap the powers of life are now expelled by rem-edial agents, that brace up the vital strength, while running its cause. The qualities are found in an eminent de-PILLS. They have become celebrated over a wide extent of the globe as the safest and gentlest remedial agent ever offered to suffering humanity, and it is not the result of newspaper puffing, but by the great merit of the medicine itself.
