CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

A full congregation heard mass at St. John's (Catholic) church yesterday. Through the church is now adorned with its Christmas adornments, it is so beautiful in itself that they were hardly missed.

In the afternoon vespers were rendered by the choir in a very creditable manner, and at the conclusion of which there was benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

In his labors Father Reilly daily becomes more useful to the community, and is deservedly loved and esteemed by all who know him.

Morning sermon by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Pritchard, specially addressed to the ladies.

Text: Mark xiv; 8: "She hath done what she could."

I. What did Mary do? She poured upon the head and feet of the Savior a bottle of precious ointment worth about $40.

II. What constituted this a pious act? It was prompted by love for Jesus.

III. The doctrine of the text is: ability is the measure of duty. She hath done what she could. We are bound to do what we can do to honor God and bless the world.

IV. What woman can do for the cause of Christ? She ought to love and labor for the Christian religion, for her condition is miserable and degraded in all heathen lands.

(a): At home. The moral character of the child is formed, according to Lord Brougham, before the age of seven. The mother's thoughts, feelings, passions, expressions, principles have far more to do with the formation of the character of the children than those of the father.

(b): In society. Woman is the queen of society. She makes society. Largely she is the regulator and controller of society under her control. The character and manners of the theatres, operas, ball-rooms, &c., can be regulated by her. Her influence is less conspicuous than man's but it permeates ramifications of life, and the drinking, gaming and other vicious customs of society will have to be reformed by her mighty influence.

(c): In the church. Hannah More originated the modern tract system. The influence of Lady Huntington, Madam Guion, Mrs. A. H. Jordon and Mrs. Newell was great and gracious. Mrs. Boitell, of Mr. Spurgeon's church, has a bible class of eight hundred women, and about one hundred are baptized a year through her influence.

These officers have been elected by Beniah Grange, No. 103, this county, for the ensuing year:
Ham S. Whitaker, W. M.; Jos. T. Broughton, W. O.; Silas G. Holliman, W. L.; Richard Koonce, W. S.; Jos. G. Crocker, A. S.; Alonzo Pool, Treasurer; Wm. S. Snellings, Secretary; Alexander Snellings, G. K.

FREAK OF A CRAZY WOMAN.—A gentleman told us yesterday of a woman, a Mrs. Bowie, who left her home in the upper edge of Cumberland county, Nov. 17 and hid herself in a swamp until Dec. 24, living only on roots and tender twigs, having one blanket to cover with. She was almost in a dying condition when discovered, but at last accounts was recovering rapidly and entirely rational.

the following points: Naaman was a leper. He was cured through a very feeble instrument. It was hard for him to be healed, and yet it was easy for him to be healed. So with the sinner, if he adopts his own plan, it is hard for him to be saved, but if he adopts God's plan it is an easy thing. Professor Taylor is a capital preacher.

In the morning Rev. W. C. Norman, took his text from Matthew v; 16: "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven." Theme—The influence of christian character upon the world. It is often the case that professors of religion think their influence of but little value in the world.

A little bee-hive was the Sunday School at this church yesterday morning. Thirty-eight new scholars were announced as the result of a little earnest work on the part of the classes during the week.

Rev. C. E. Taylor, of Wake Forest College, occupied the pulpit in the morning, and repeated by request his sermon of last Sunday at the First Baptist church. Subject: "The Baptists and Religious Liberty. Text, Exodus xii:14: 'This day shall be unto you for a memorial, etc. The propriety of marking great events in the history of individuals and nations by visible tokens or symbols was pointed out. This is the centennial year of American independence. It is right to observe it. Baptists have a special interest in it, as they shared with others the struggle which resulted in the establishment of civil liberty. For this triumph, and in view of God's goodness to the 'Baptists of this country during the last hundred years, it is proper this year to make a thank-offering of money to endow all their higher institutions of learning. He presented the claims of Wake Forest College on the Baptists of North Carolina, and pleaded earnestly for an increase of endowment. The sermon was one of great power, rising at times to flights of genuine eloquence and commanding the earnest attention of the audience throughout."

At night the pastor, Rev. J. D. Huffman, preached to a very large audience from 2d Cor. vi: 12: "Behold now is the accepted time, behold now is the day of salvation." The preacher showed that now is the accepted time, the day of salvation, so far as God is concerned. This appears from the completeness of the work of redemption, from the commands, the invitations and the warnings of the gospel. In conclusion the people were urged to accept Jesus by faith and make this the day of salvation for themselves.

At Christ church (Episcopal) in the morning, the services were read by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Marshall, and the sermon preached by the Rev. A. S. Smith, of Halifax county. His text was from 1 Samuel, xii: "For them that know me I will know, and they that despise me shall be lightly esteemed." The discourse was simple, practical and evangelical; a plain and forcible illustration of the methods by which man may honor and glorify his Maker, in his soul, in his body, in his example and in his substance; succeeded by an earnest fore-bidding of the eternal and unspeakable happiness hereafter of those who serve God on earth.

In the afternoon, in the same church, (which was crowded to its utmost capacity) there was a special service, under the auspices of the Raleigh convention, recessive in session, for the children of the parishes of Christ church and the church of the Good Shepherd. The following divines were present, in full canonicals, viz: The Rt. Rev. Thos. B. Lyman, assistant bishop of the diocese, Rev. Drs. Aldert Smendes and Marans I, and Rev. Messrs. Rich, Joo. U. Smendes, Huske, Smith, Curran, B-ton, Curtis and Bennett Smendes. The antiphonal singing of the children in the selection, their rendition of the hymns, "Onward, Christian Soldiers!" and "Rock of Ages," were thoroughly impressive. Addresses on the subject of Sunday School work were delivered by the Bishop, Rev. Mr. Curran, and Kemp. P. Battie, Esq. Much interest was manifested in the services, which constituted, altogether, a fitting and beautiful finale to the meeting of the convocation.

THINK OF IT.—Mr. J. D. Whitaker offers good wood's pine wood delivered for $3.00 per cord. You can find him in rear of Citizen's National bank. Common sense.—For all cases of Coughs, Cold, Sore Throat, etc., use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

great harmony that exists with Him. There was a time when none but God existed, and His word teaches this clearly. When he created all things he placed over them certain laws, which some people call the laws of nature. This world then, was not created and left to govern itself or by subordinate deities, for His aid is as much needed in controlling and directing this material universe, as in its creation. God has placed intelligent beings under a government of law precisely adapted to their nature. He created man a free moral agent, hence man must be under moral law, and it was absurd to talk about the moral government of God, and that man is under the inexorable necessity of being placed under such laws as control the sun, moon and stars. The reverend gentlemen continued to eloquently exemplify his theme, but space precludes a more lengthy report.

Supreme Court.—Court met at 10 o'clock this morning pursuant to adjournment, all the justices present.

Causes from the 8th district were called and disposed of as follows:
T. P. Johnston and wife vs. Thomas W. Haynes, from Rowan. Order to be filed. Jones & Jones for plaintiffs and McCorkle & Bailey and D. G. Fowle for defendant.
