ARE THE ALDERMEN AFRAID TO DO THEIR DUTY?—Again we lift up our voice in entreaty to our city authorities to interpose and save us from being stunk to death with fertilizers. We had thought there was an ordinance against storing these combinations of the neplus-ultra of odoriferous abomination in the city. It has become an intolerable nose-and-stomach-upsetting nuisance, and should be at once abated to something like 198 stink-power in the shade.

DEMOCRATIC GRAND SACHEMS IN COUNCIL.

MEETING OF THE STATE DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The state democratic committee of North Carolina met in the Briggs building at 11 o'clock this forenoon. Those in attendance were Gen. W. R. Cox, chairman; J. J. Litchford, secretary; Capt. S. A. Ashe, R. H. Battle, E. R. Stamps, Dr. R. B. Haywood, W. H. Jones and C. M. Busbee, of Wake county; H. A. London, of Chatham; Col. Wharton J. Green, of Warren; Henry R. Bryan, of Craven; J. A. Worth, of Cumberland; Capt. Bowen, of Edgecombe; Major J. D. Cameron, of the Raleigh News, and P. Donan, of the Sentinel.

Letters were read from a number of members who were prevented by various causes from being present, and from many prominent gentlemen of the state, containing suggestions as to the time of holding a state convention, and the proper plan of carrying on the campaign. All united in urging the absolute necessity of harmony, vigilance, labor and liberality to save the state from the clutches of the radical hordes who are marshaling for her ruin.

The first question to be settled was in regard to the place at which the convention should be held. Raleigh, Wilmington, Greensboro, Salisbury and Charlotte were all put in nomination, and their merits and demerits thoroughly canvassed. After several ballots, the vote stood: Raleigh 10; Salisbury, 7; Greensboro, 2. The selection of Raleigh as the place of meeting was then made unanimous.

A long and animated discussion, in which every member participated, followed in regard to the time of holding the convention. The various opinions ranged from May 14 to July 15. Before reaching a definite conclusion, the committee adjourned to half past three o'clock this afternoon. The indications are that the convention will be called to meet before the assembling of the national convention at St. Louis. The preponderance of sentiment seems to be in favor of some time from the first to the fifteenth of June. Every member of the committee seems awake to the urgent needs and dangers of the hour, and we have every reason to believe that a wise and vigorous campaign will be inaugurated.

CONCLUSION OF THE TREASURER TROUB CASE.—Late last night the case of the State vs. Frank Ferrell, Isaac Holderfield, Benjamin Matthews and Weston Rogers, charged with cruelly beating Jacob Davis, a nigger work house convict, in order to make him confess where he had hidden the gold which he was alleged to have found, concluded before Squire Magnin at the court-house. There were five cases against the defendants, and they were each returned to the next term of the Wake superior court in a bond of $200 in each case.

DISCOVERY OF A GOLD MINE IN CHATHAM.—A very rich gold mine has recently been discovered in Chatham county. Several very valuable specimens of the gold found are now in the State Geological Museum. The mine is located on a tract of land under lease to J. J. Jackson, John Manning and H. A. London, Jr., of Pittsboro. These gentlemen will, we understand, unite with certain northern capitalists in the formation of a joint stock company in order that the mine may be properly and thoroughly worked without unnecessary delay. Three shafts have been already sunk, with connecting tunnels, and a vein of rich ore varying in thickness from 6 inches to 4 feet has been found. About $1,200 worth of gold has already been taken from the mine.

WARD MEETINGS.—The democratic executive committee of this township has appointed meetings in the various wards of the city to nominate candidates for aldermen in the ensuing municipal election. The meetings have been arranged as follows: 1st Ward.—Lovejoy's academy, Monday evening, March 27, 8 o'clock. 2d Ward.—Court-house, Monday evening, March 27, 8 o'clock. 3d Ward.—Metropolitan hall, Monday evening, March 27, 8 o'clock. 4th Ward.—Western Ward school house, Monday evening, March 27, 8 o'clock. 5th Ward.—Old masonic hall, Monday evening, March 27, 8 o'clock.

FIRE IN LITTLE RIVER TOWNSHIP.—Last Sunday night the store of S. P. Gill, at Wakefield, Little River township, this county, was destroyed by fire. The origin of the fire is unknown. The building and contents were entirely destroyed. The loss is about $2,000, and the insurance $1,200.

NORTH CAROLINA'S CREW.

RESPLENDENT GRANTISM THAT HAS DAZZLED THE NATIVES.

SOME FRIENDS OF THE PRESIDENT WHO HAVE RISEN FROM POVERTY TO OPULENCE WHILE THE ORIGINAL UNION MEN HAVE BEEN NEGLECTED.

Under this heading the New York Sun, of March 13, has a correspondence purporting to be direct from this city. The writer falls into some errors, but we give his production as he sends it to the Sun:

RALEIGH, N. C., March 9.—The news of the Belknap exposure fell like a thunderbolt in the ranks of the administration officeholders and followers in this state. The democrats, however, were prepared to hear something of the kind. The effect of the scandal in this one state upon the party in power will be wonderful. It will give 10,000 extra votes to the democratic candidate for president in November.

It is a matter of wonder to many people that a state which gave the republican ticket 20,000 majority in 1868, four years later overcame this majority and elected a delegation of seven democrats and but one republican to congress and a democratic legislature. One cause was the demoralization of the Grant party in the appointment of federal officials. We have a set in this state that can hardly be matched outside of it. President Grant has sustained for years in important offices some of the most corrupt men who ever disgraced a party. These men have controlled the republican organization in the state, and appear to think that the government was created only for their special benefit. A brief notice of the past and present status of these choice officials will suffice to show the people of the north what the republican party in one southern state is composed of.

In Wilmington, one of the chief seaport towns of the south, the present incumbent in the position of collector of the port Joseph G. Abbott, some years ago a carpet-bag senator at Washington of the Spencer tribe. Abbott was the younger of the negro wing of the radical party in 1868, was elected a state senator, and advocated the increase of the state debt some $20,000,000, placing in the hands of the corrupt speculators—Sawson, Littlefield, Jay-Bird Jones, and others—these millions of dollars of the people's money, to be applied as they deemed best. The Sun has already told the story of Sawson and his associates. It is believed here that Abbott received a large share of the booty for his "influence" in the legislature, and it is also a well-known fact that he secured his election to the United States senate in about the manner Spencer did. Abbott was long a director of the W. N. C. R. R., and a magnate of the ring.

Col. John Long, special agent of the postoffice department, was a defaulter to the N. C. R. R. for a considerable amount of money, yet Grant gave him the post he now holds. "Long" Perry of Maine, supervisor of revenue, one of Grant's and Blaine's nearest and dearest friends, is a man without reputation. Perry was always the leader of the carpet-bag ring of his party; his services were invaluable. J. J. Mott, also a revenue collector in the seventh district, was president of the W. N. C. R. R. in 1869 and 1870 and 1871, and identified with the ring which robbed the state of so many millions. James E. Boyd of Alamance, for services in behalf of Holden in 1871, was appointed to an important revenue post. Boyd was formerly a sworn ku-klux, and has been a useful tool to the republicans.

I. J. Young, revenue collector, fourth district, has held his office since 1869. It has been wondered how he could become suddenly rich on $3,000 or $4,000 a year. In 1869 he was a country shopkeeper, whose possessions amounted to two or three thousand dollars. Now he is worth a princely fortune, runs a newspaper, lives at the finest hotels in the state, wears gorgeous diamonds, and the people of Raleigh look upon him with much awe as did the pious men of Washington look upon Boss Shepherd in his best days. Young is the chief of his party in the state, excepting Brother Holden.

To trace the career of Grant's old, tried, but not very trusty friend, William W. Holden, who refused the post of minister to Peru for the office of postmaster of Raleigh, would be to tell an old story anew. Holden's reputation is as well known to Grant as it is to the plundered taxpayers of this state. It has often seemed strange that a man who had been a governor, and then aspired for the vice-presidency, who was the first to nominate Grant for a third term, and afterward expressed a desire to see him emperor, could content himself with holding a petty post-mastership. So long as Grant stood any show for a third term, however, Holden was happy. Belknap's fall has made him the most miserable of men. The democratic party of this state are now barricading their walls to prevent the ex-governor from joining them.

I have only mentioned a few of the present federal office-holders in the state, who are the recognized leaders of the republican party in North Carolina. In the appointment of federal officials in this state the president has always ignored the claims of the honest republicans—original union men—and placed in the best offices men whose reputations are a scandal and disgrace to the nation.
