NEWS AND NOTES.

The North Carolina papers say they are able to wait their own dirty linen as home, and blanch and iron it, too, without any aid from outsiders. All correct.—Exchange.

Turner, of the Raleigh Sentinel, is making a gallant fight against a wind in arms, and is rapidly sending all his enemies to a climate where the thermometer never gets below zero.—Exchange.

Gen. Dick W. Abernethy died at Waco, Tex., on the 28th ult. He was a brigade commander in Walker's division, and was promoted brigadier general for gallantry at Jeaning's Ferry, in Arkansas.

Strawberries are plentiful in the St. Louis market at the present time, but the Dispatch says that no one can afford to buy them unless he is in the post-railroad business or makes in the market of the Evans mine.

Senator Eaton made some slashing speeches in Congress against the republican party. He predicted positively that within the next year the white ring, which is now being overhauled, shall be brought to bay, the White House will be touched.

"The last hours of Tom Payne," has been resurrected and is again on its travels. From all we gather, his was a very painful death, but he struggled through it; and if, as Butler is to go to heaven we don't see why Payne should be sent out.—Exchange.

The original gold medal which was presented to Washington by the American congress in 1776, commemorative of the evacuation of Boston by the British troops, has recently been purchased from the Washington family by various wealthy citizens of Boston for the sum of $5,000, and presented to the public library of that city.

The Boston Journal (Republican) who is heartily tired and disgusted with Grant's nepotism comes to this sad and mournful conclusion. It says: "We hope the next president of the United States will have very few relatives. In fact, if he should happen to be a man who was picked up on a door-step, it would be a tremendous point in his favor."

"One principal dead, and the other dying," is the sad news which Richmond, Va., sends up this morning. Better abolish the code, gentlemen. It's a little too much like downright manslaughter for these days of modern civilization.—Commercial Advertiser.

It was mighty bad political practice, and that's a fact,—or both would have been dead.—Whig.

Mr. Slaughter has seen fit to arraign the newspaper press of the state with being the friends of Gen. Mahone and sustaining his influence and power in the state. We have our contemporaries to answer for themselves, as they are very competent to do; but as for this paper, we say to Mr. Slaughter that Gen. Mahone did not always nor generally have our support until he was involved in trouble, when we estimated his cause to be that of Southside Virginia and of the state. Mr. Slaughter was the friend of Gen. Mahone until he got into trouble. We leave the public to decide which act was the most disastrous.—Index Appeal.

FARMERS' JOURNAL.—Johnston Jones, Esq. proposes to publish an agricultural journal in this city about next August. The prospectus will appear in our next issue. Mr. Jones is able, diligent and well informed, and has all the qualifications to insure success in journalism.

REPERTURE.—From 30 to 90 days by the use of the Triumph Truss & Triumph Truss Remedy manufactured by the Triumph Truss Co., 334 Bowery, N. Y. This Truss and supporter took the Medal at the last session of the Great American Institute Fair. Send 10 cents for their new book.

MENTMORE.

Baron Mentmore's residence and estate at Mentmore is described as one of the finest and most extensive in England. It contains some 20,000 acres of the finest land in Buckinghamshire. It has gardens, greenhouses and grape-vines so arranged as to furnish fruit every month in the year. Oranges, pine-apples, figs, bananas and other tropical fruits are grown in abundance. When the baroness is absent, yachting in the channel or at her London house, order by telegraph are sent to Mentmore daily for the supplies required. The vase in the fountain and Italian garden cost £1,000. The statuary is all of the most costly kind, executed by the first masters. The great hall, which is about 200 feet long, is filled by vases and statuary. Its contents must represent a value no less than £1,000,000. It takes no less than 1,000 hours to pass through the rooms. The finish is exquisite, and the furnishing of each apartment. Rooms may be formed of the whole furniture of a single bedroom, and of the many guest-chambers, costing £25,000 or £30,000. In the dining and breakfast hall are furnishings exceeding £200,000. Costly cabinets of the time of Louis XIV., of ebony inlaid with ivory or gold, diamonds, rubies and all sorts of precious stones, walls hung with the costliest tapestries of the time of Louis XIV., or covered with thick needle-work embroidery, may give some idea of the wealth lavished on the more princely mansion. The costliest paintings adorn the walls, and the most skillful and expensive workmanship is displayed on the ceiling. The Duke of Westmoreland, could expect to rival. The stud is said to contain more high bred horses than any other in the world. It embraces thirty-five hunters and as many more none of which are less in value than £500, while many of them run up to thousands.

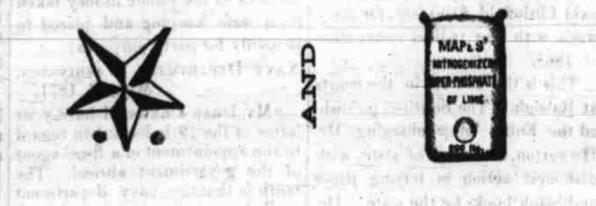

A long interview between Judge Turney of the supreme court of this state and Mr. Paddock, the husband of Maggie Mitchell, satisfied each that they were desperate enemies in the late war. Judge Turney was one of the most desperately wounded soldiers of the confederate army. From Mr. Paddock's narration of his services in the federal army, Judge Turney is satisfied that Mr. Paddock is the man, or belonged to the command, that shot him through and through, the ball entering at the mouth, knocking out several teeth, and passing away a portion of the tongue, and passing out through the back of the neck. Their meeting last night accompanied with explanations which gave each of their battle fronts and the details of regimental action, satisfied the judge of the correctness of his opinion as to the immediate position of their respective commands. The hearing of their meeting after these mutual explanations was far beyond anything we can express.—Nashville (Tenn.) American.

Mr. James Corrie, D. M. in Baltimore, writes: "I have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup personally and in my family for two or three years, and am prepared to say that there is nothing to compare to it as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, etc."

FARMERS' JOURNAL.—Johnston Jones, Esq. proposes to publish an agricultural journal in this city about next August. The prospectus will appear in our next issue. Mr. Jones is able, diligent and well informed, and has all the qualifications to insure success in journalism.

THE BEST FERTILIZERS IN USE.

The Star Ammoniated and Mape's Nitrogenized

SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE and SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

We have found by several years experience in selling the above Fertilizers, as well as by actual observation, that they have no superior, if any equal among Commercial Manures. Our prices are much lower than others, not so universally popular, and that have proven unequal in results, upon sworn statements from many of our best farmers. All we ask is a fair trial with anything sold in the South. We refer to the following gentlemen of large experience, who have used our Phosphates for several years:

- R. J. IVEY, Wake County. JOHN AVERA, Johnston County. W. H. WHITAKER, Wake County. W. H. SANDERS, " " M. H. HORTON, " " DAVID ADAMS, " " M. C. UTLEY, " " JAMES PACE, Chatham County. COL. R. STEWART, Harnett County. W. M. THOMAS, " " JAMES A. JOHNSON, " " R. H. WILSON, " " D. Mc. MCKAY, " " ELIAS HAINES, " "

And many others who will gladly give their experience. For Sale by A. C. SANDERS & Co., AGENTS, RALEIGH, N. C.

HARMONY AT THE CENTRE.

Mr. Editor: The late fire has demonstrated the fact that by saving the building the fire department is of some use; and when some two or three are made heroes it must not be forgotten that all the firemen generally did their duty. And for harmony at the centre give to the firemen some credit without giving all to two or three men, for they would have played a small part without an engine-man, hose-man, ax-man, and so on, necessary for the good working of all, both black and white. And for harmony at the centre give credit to the firemen for the first time of having the first water, as it has been forgotten to be recorded against them, and I believe did noble service, but that for a generous public to decide. Whenever you hear the bell-ringing calling the firemen to duty you will see them rush forth heedless of rain, hail, snow or blow, and not through a party of color, but each striving to do his duty. When the fire is extinguished the insurance agents are happy, the property holder is happy, and many a man rejoices. But how is it with the poor fireman who furnishes the water? He risks his life, says his money, tears his clothes, injures his health, and for what? To save the property of others. Nor does he complain, but comes up to every new fire with new zeal and renewed resolution. He wants no compensation, but he does want some body who has property to save and in paying a $500 debt long due to him for building the engine house for the rescue. A few of the company are bound for the debt; it is time it was paid. What say the insurance companies and property holders to restoring harmony at the "centre" by giving a helping hand to the liquidation of this debt? Any amount sent to the chief engineer of the company will be thankfully received and applied to the debt. RESCUE.

(From the Western Sentinel.) ROBBINS' LETTER.

We call the attention of our readers to the following letter of Hon. W. M. Robbins, calling on those who know of any illegal, oppressive and corrupt conduct on the part of any of the revenue-officials to communicate the facts to him that it may be investigated. The revenue officials, for political ends and private gain have been guilty of many oppressive acts and corrupt practices for which they should be punished, and by complying with the request of our representative these men will learn that there is a power greater than they are. Maj. Robbins deserves the thanks of his constituents for the interest he is taking in this matter:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, Washington, D. C. March 25, 1876.

EDITOR SEN INTEL.—You remember that in speeches at the Fall courts, I promised the people to ask this house to send a committee into my district this year to investigate the illegal, oppressive and corrupt conduct of revenue-officials. That promise I have not forgotten; and I think the house will give me the committee. Messrs. Ash and Vance, and others of our delegation here, whose constituents are interested in this matter are ready to cooperate in securing success to this investigation. My object in writing this is to invite all persons in my district, as well as the 6th and 8th districts, who know of any illegal, oppressive, or corrupt conduct on the part of any revenue official, or any judicial officer in aid of such, to forward to me without delay the names and places of residence of responsible witnesses who can testify to the facts, and also a full statement as possible of what each witness will prove. I do not wish the committee to have to grope after information; but I want to be able to tell them where to look and whom to call. This is of the utmost importance to the efficiency of the inquiry. Let everybody take notice of this request and act upon it at once. Fellow-citizens, it is full time that the oppressive, intimidations, and fraudulent and outrageous practices of the big and little tyrants who have lorded it over the honest people for years should be exposed and punished. Will the newspapers of Western North Carolina especially, and all others friendly to the inquiry, please publish this and call the attention of the people to the object? Very respectfully, W. M. ROBBINS.

POULTRY IN FRANCE.—A curious statement has been made and published in a French paper in regard to hens. It reckons the number of hens in France at $40,000,000, valued at $20,000,000. Of these, about one-fifth are killed annually for the market. There is an annual net production of 80,000,000. The extra value to be added for copons, fattened hens, and the like, is put at $2,200,000. The production of eggs is reckoned at an average of 100 eggs per hen, worth $48,800,000. In all it is reckoned that the value of hens, chickens and eggs sold in the markets of France is $80,000,000. If the statement here given be correct, it is certainly encouraging. By the raising of eggs and poultry in that case, an immense amount is added to the resources of France. May we not do as well, or better, here? It is a well known fact that nothing finds a more ready sale, at fair prices, than such products.

THE ONLY SURE CURE FOR RUPTURE.—The Oldest and Best Hernia Surgeons in the world are some of the advantages offered by the Triumph Truss Co., 334 Bowery N. Y., whose Truss and Supporter were awarded the Medal at the last session of the great American Institute Fair. Send 10 cents for their new book.

CLARK-HOWERTON SCANDAL.—At 3 1/2 o'clock this evening the Turner branch of this scandal will be resumed. Dr. Howerton is on the stand. The court house and Clark's string of lawyers have been engaged in the mandamus suit against the mayor and aldermen, and hence the suspension in the Clark-Howerton scandal. Dr. Hawkins, Jordan Stone and other important witnesses have not yet put in their appearance.

ATTRACTIVE SIGN.—The Southern Underwriters Association, has just had a new and attractive sign printed designating their office. The company have rented the two large front rooms in the building opposite the New Post office on Fayetteville street, the sign is painted on the front, over the second story windows. We are glad to learn that this new Insurance Company has commenced business under so favorable auspices. We wish it success. Mr. S. M. Parish was the painter of the sign.

I. O. O. F. MEETING.—The following gentlemen, representing their various lodges, are requested to meet this evening at the office of P. G. Charles M. Busbee, at 7 1/2 o'clock, to make the necessary arrangements for the proper entertainment of the Grand Lodge of Independent Order of Odd Fellows of North Carolina: Mateo Lodge—C. M. Busbee and J. C. Birdsong. Seaton Gales Lodge—B. C. Manly and Jos. A. Harris. Raleigh Lodge—Albert Maguin and Leroy G. Bagley.

MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION MEETING.—The ladies of this association met recently and elected Capt. Sam. Williams orator and Col. T. C. Fuller alternate and Gen. Hoke marshal. The following are the advisory board: Kemp P. Battle, Esq., Gen. Cox, Seaton Gales, Col. S. D. Pool, Gen. Hoke, J. M. Heck, Capt. A. B. Andrews, Dr. Arrington, F. H. Briggs, Dr. Blackhall, Messrs. Pascoe and Briggs were appointed to help the seats and rostrum prepared, and Dr. Pritchard elected chaplain. The old officers were re-elected: Mrs. Robt. Lewis president, Miss Sophia Partridge secretary and Miss Hattie Jordan assistant.

RELIGION.—Every body but editors and insurance men talk religion in Raleigh. A woman stopped and so seriously engaged in the hands moving cotton that the boss had to ask her to come and talk when the men were through weighing a id moving cotton. A colored man on horse back talked to a group before he came in forty yards of them, kept talking until he passed, telling how happy he was. Eight persons joined Swain street Baptist church this week, and thirty-five joined Salisbury street Baptist church.

The late William Brown, of Hillsboro, used to say the Methodist at their camp meetings shook down the fruit when other denominations rushed in and picked it up. The Baptists are shaking down the fruit and picking it up too.

A FATAL FRENCH DUEL.

The Paris correspondence of the London Telegraph, gives the particulars of a remarkable duel between two French noblemen which recently took place on the Belgian frontier. The quarrel appears to have originated in a fashionable drawing room. A Count and a Duke were discussing politics, and the conversation became so hot that the former lost his temper, and so far forgot himself as to strike his noble opponent a blow on the nose. The latter did not reply, but sought his friends immediately afterwards, and swore to them that he would never see his family again until he had washed out the insult with the blood of his adversary. No time was lost in arranging for the meeting, which took place next day. The combat was of the bitterest description. Before they had fought long the Duke was wounded in two places, in the arm and in the chest. With the blood streaming from his hurts he continued the conflict, though hardly able to maintain himself erect. When about to succumb from weakness he summoned all his strength for a final attack, and succeeded in striking his adversary a mortal blow, from the effects of which he instantly fell dead. The Duke then staggered forward, and bending over the dead man steeped his handkerchief in the blood that had flowed from the fatal wounds. After rubbing the gory cloth on his face he turned to his friends and said: "I condole this handkerchief to you, that you may hand it to the Duchess, my wife. Tell her to place it among the marriage gifts of our daughter, it is the dowry of her father—the purity of his name." Scarcely had he uttered these words when he, too, expired, going into eternity with a smile upon his face, produced by the sentiment that his honor had been satisfied.

O. H. Blocker is state's proxy for the Fayetteville western road. The ring thieves made a desperate effort to capture this road but were headed off by the president and other energetic men of Fayetteville. They had the assistance of Major McRay, of Fayetteville, as attorney for the corporation.

Messrs. A. C. Saunders & Co. have for sale 1,000 bushels n'ee white flint Corn, 10,000 sacks of Star Phosphate, 5,000 sacks Maps' Nitrogenized Super-Phosphate and 1,000 sacks Acid Phosphate to be used with Cotton Seed or Stable Manure. They have sold since January 13th, 5,000 bushels Corn and 15,000 sacks of guano. Call on them for bargains.

Campobiano, is his name. For the gratification of a lady we have at length learned, and now publish the name of the Italian assassin. Mrs. Partington is not alone in the desire to know the name of the person who does either good or evil. We are now advised that a tale of horror loses half its horror if the name of the perpetrator is not given. It should have been given in the first instance had we known it; Campobiano is the name.

JUDGMENT AGAINST THE CITY.

At 10 o'clock Judge Watts took his seat on the bench and began by saying he was mentally and physically worn out listening three days in this most important case. If he should be in error there was an appeal from his decision to the supreme court and possibly to another and higher court. If he should be overruled it would be nothing new, but he would have the consolation of knowing that in two cases out of three that high court had decided with him next time. The judge then read his opinion which gave the plaintiffs all they asked. In other words he ordered the mayor and commissioners to convene polls and proceed to an election under the old city charter and laws, and not under the new. He ordered the registrars and inspectors of the election to be held on the first Monday of May to proceed no further and to hold no election on that day. An appeal was prayed to the supreme court, and thus ended this novel and vexatious suit.

DISTRICT CONVENTION.

A convention of the Democratic-conservative voters of the Fourth Congressional District will be held in the city of Raleigh on Tuesday, the 13th day of June next, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for congress and a presidential elector, and selecting two delegates to the St. Louis Convention. A full attendance is earnestly desired. Each county will be entitled to one vote for every one hundred votes and fractional part over fifty given for Merrimon in 1872. By order of the District Executive Committee. H. A. LONDON, JR., Chairman.

March 31st, 1876. Papers in the district will please copy.

GAVE BAIL.—So the Italian's name is not Campobiano, but Samson Vinton. He was tried this morning before Mayor Manly and bound over to court in a bond of $1,000, which was given by some of his Italian friends, and he went at large.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a recipe that will cure you. FREE OF CHARGE.
