THE LATE CALVIN J. ROGERS.—The death of this gentleman was announced in yesterday's Sentinel, but the sparse particulars then given were not correct. The body was not found in a mill-pond, but in Lick Creek, about a half mile from the home of the deceased.

NORTH CAROLINA. Wake County, April 26th, 1876. We, the undersigned, Jurors summoned by J. K. Dunn, Special Coroner for said county, to hold an inquest over the body of Calvin J. Rogers, deceased, having viewed the body do render the following verdict: The deceased came to his death by drowning, caused by an apoplectic fit.

AN ERROR.—In noticing the appointment of E. E. Gray as notary public yesterday we erroneously stated that he was connected with the insurance firm of Lawrence & Winston. Mr. Gray is connected with the Southern Underwriter's Association. This association has lately commenced business in our midst and, we are glad to say, doing a very fine business.

SICK.—We regret to learn of the sickness of Mr. T. C. Evans, the local of the News. We understand that he is in the clutches of that dreadful disease the epizootic, and sympathize with him accordingly. We trust that his indisposition will be but temporary, and that he will again be at his post in a day or two, serving his readers with that brilliancy and acceptability which has been his through a journalistic career covering a number of years.

ATTENTION SEATON GALES LODGE, No. 64, I. O. O. F.—We are requested by Pa-t Grand B. C. Manly and J. A. Harris, committee, to ask the members of their lodge, who have subscribed, or desire to contribute and participate in the celebration and banquet proposed to be given to the Grand Lodge of North Carolina, which meets in this city on the 10th of next month, to either come or send the funds subscribed to them at the meeting of the lodge to-night. The committee have not the time to call on all the brethren individually, they therefore hope the members will respond to the above request and assist the committee in the arduous duties of their work.

MORE BOGUS CANDIDATES.—The rads of the old dead and decomposed Middle ward labored last night and brought out R. C. Badger, United States District Attorney; J. N. Bunting, Clerk of the Superior Court and Judge of Probate, and Virgil Ricks, a colored huckster and member of the Board of Commissioners under the old regime, as candidates at the absurd election which they intend to hold Monday. Here's a dose the rads want the good people of Raleigh to swallow by an illegal process: For mayor, Adjutant-General Gorman, or "Col." A. W. Shaffer, or "Captain" Albert Magnin. Commissioners: Eastern ward, W. W. White, M. B. Barbee and Stewart Ellison, col.; Western ward, Albert Johnson, William Yearby and James H. Jones, col.; Middle ward, R. C. Badger, J. N. Bunting and Virgil Ricks. This is a pretty kettle of fish, ain't it? Compare this mongrel ticket with the one which heads our columns and see into what an utter insignificance it sinks. These radicals are law-breakers and law-defiers. Patriotism is an unknown virtue to them, and plunder a commandment adopted to be obeyed most rigidly. They are hideous blotches on the body politic.

THE FETE MUSICALE LAST EVENING.—Never did Metropolitan hall present so beautiful an appearance as last evening at the brilliant entertainment given by the ladies of St. John's (Catholic) church. It is difficult to describe such a scene as was presented to the visitor without erring by saying too little, or, on the other hand, growing too verbose and drifting into exaggeration. It seemed a cosmopolitan assemblage, the representatives of each nationality striving to out-strip their neighbor in all that pertains to beauty, refinement and elegance. There were beautifully decorated booths, bearing the colors of Brazil, France, Italy, Ireland, Spain, and last, but by no means least, the Old North State, and containing refreshments of all sorts and kinds which were served out by fair ladies costumed in the peasant attire peculiar to the country whose colors floated over them. Suppose the various languages could have been as easily adopted as the costumes, what a Babel-like scene we would have had! The whole scene was indeed a very beautiful one and had the additional charm of novelty, for this latitude, nothing of the kind ever having been witnessed in this city before. The eye was charmed with the harmonious blending of beauties animate and inanimate, the ear delighted with strains of softest and sweetest music, while the grosser sense of taste found ample wherewith to gratify itself. Those who did not attend should by all means avail themselves of the opportunity of doing so this evening, as the ladies, encouraged by the large measure of success which has thus far attended them, have determined to continue the entertainment for this evening. Go by all means, and you will never regret the time and money spent. This evening there will be some important changes in the programme, and attractions offered that could not well be encompassed last evening. The admission fee is only 25 cents, and charges made for refreshments very moderate indeed. The citizens of Raleigh owe the ladies of St. John's church thanks for providing for them such a pleasant, elegant and, for Raleigh, novel entertainment.

THE TRUTH OF THE REPORT THAT FERD LEANS ARE LEVIED ON FOREIGN MERCHANTS IN MEXICO IS PRONOUNCED UNTRUE.

A PEREMPTORY MANDAMUS.—Gov. Brogden and Public Treasurer Jenkins were served to day with a peremptory mandamus, compelling the revision of the valuation of the franchise of the North Carolina division of the Richmond & Danville railroad, made in 1873 and to exclude therefrom any valuation on account of any real estate owned by said company for road-bed, stations or work-shop purposes. The following is the full text of the writ issued from the office of the clerk of the Superior Court of Wake county: "Whereas, judgment rendered in the above entitled cause, (Richmond & Danville railroad company, North Carolina Division, vs. Curtis H. Brogden, John Kelly and David A. Jenkins,) at June term, 1875, of Wake Superior Court ordering and adjudging that the defendant be enjoined from including the real estate of the N. C. R. R. in any degree, in the valuation of the franchise of said company, and that a writ of peremptory mandamus issue to the defendant, commanding them to revise the valuation of said franchise made in the years 1872 and 1873. And whereas, upon appeal taken upon said judgment the same was affirmed in the Supreme Court, and duly certified at the Superior Court, wherefore it was adjudged at the Spring Term of 1876 of Wake Superior Court that plaintiff recover its cost against the defendants. And that peremptory mandamus issue in accordance with the judgment rendered at June term 1875. Now, therefore, you are commanded and enjoined immediately after the receipt of this writ to revise the valuation of the franchise of the N. C. R. R. made in the year 1873, and exclude therefrom any valuation on account of any real estate owned by said company for road-bed, station or work-shop purposes, and you are hereby enjoined from including in the valuation of the franchise of said company its real estate for what purpose never used, until the dividends of profits of said company shall exceed 6 per cent. per annum."

A COMPROMISE.—We learn that the Widow's and Orphan's Fund Life Insurance Company has compromised the claim of the late A. Steinberger, who was insured for $5,000 and died recently in this city, for 50 cents in the dollar. The compromise was effected by Special Agent Durland and a sight draft given for $2,500. Messrs. Jones Watson, of Orange, and T. P. Devereux, of this city, were the administrators.

A ROMATIC WITNESS. Quite a sensation took place in one of the investigating committee rooms at Washington Monday. A witness was before the committee whom they had been informed had some terribly important testimony to communicate. The witness gave his residence as the state of "Maryland." He said he had suffered a great wrong from the highest official of the government, that President Grant had ruined his betrothed, that he was then forcibly abducted by order of the President and placed in the lunatic asylum where he was told he must remain for ever or go to Europe. He consented to leave the country, and was carried to Europe in charge of detectives. He heard of the investigations which were in progress and came back to tell his wrongs. Since his return the President had come to his home at midnight and with tears in his eyes and on his knees had besought him not to destroy him, and said that either one or the other must leave the country. The witness said his doors were all barred, when one of the committee asked him how the President got in. He replied that it was the President's spirit which had done him the injury, and it was the spirit which had forced an entrance to his house. This brought the examination to an abrupt conclusion.

ORGANIZATION URGED. APEX, N. C., April 26th, 1876. EDITOR SENTINEL.—Dear Sir: The time for holding conventions to nominate candidates to fill the various offices of county and state is fast approaching. I hope the democratic party will bear in mind the importance of a thorough organization. Let executive committees be urged to go to work and adopt such plans as will secure a prompt attendance upon our primary meetings. Let the township meetings be extensively advertised. Secure the attendance of all the leading democratic voters thereof, and much of the discord which has prevailed heretofore will cease, and independent candidates will be few and far between. RETROSPECTIVE. Akerman, the ex-Attorney-General, was again before the committee on expenditures in the Department of Justice Tuesday. He was granted time the day before to consider his answer as to whether the President had directly ordered him to pay money to Davensport. Yesterday he asked the committee to withdraw the question. The committee not being full took a recess for a short time. At the reassembling of the committee the question was pressed, and Mr. Akerman acknowledged that the money was paid by order of the President.
