VOL. XXII. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY, MAY 1, 1876. No. 59

THE CITY.

Messrs. A. C. Saunders & Co. have for sale 1,000 bushels nice white flint corn, 10,000 sacks of Star Phosphate, 5,000 sacks Mapes' Nitrogenized Superphosphate, and 1,000 sacks Acid Phosphate to be used with cotton seed or stable manure. They have sold since January 13th, 5,000 bushels corn and 15,000 sacks of guano. Call on them for bargains.

GOING TO THE CENTENNIAL.—We understand that Governor Brogden, accompanied by his aides, I. J. Young, of Granville, by way of Raleigh, and George W. Stanton, of Wilson county, will leave this day week to be present at the opening of the gigantic Yankee swindling exposition at Philadelphia.

HE'S THERE.—The New Orleans Picayune, of April 28, announces the arrival in that city of our apostle of temperance thusly:

Mr. Theo N. Ramsay, of Raleigh, N. C., arrived in the city to engage in matters interesting the I. O. G. T. Mr. Ramsay is the grand lecturer of North Carolina, and proposes to canvass the State and lecture on temperance in the interests of the above order.

A DURHAM THIEF CAUGHT.—Late Saturday afternoon, Officer S. A. Parham got on the track of Spencer Perry, col., charged with stealing a lot of clothing in Durham. When the officer came in sight Spencer took to his heels, and for a time went like a quarter horse, but the policeman was equally fleet of foot and had better bottom. After a chase of about an hour he overhauled Spencer and recovered some portion of the plunder. Spencer had his trial this morning before Mayor Manly, and in default of a $.00 bail bond went to Jail.

THE CLOSE OF THE FETE MUSICALE.—Last Saturday evening the ladies of St. John's (Catholic) church closed their fete musicale. The entertainment commenced Wednesday and was a success all the way through. It is acknowledged on all sides as being the most attractive exhibition of the kind ever witnessed in this city. Everything was conceived and carried out in excellent taste and fancy, and the large meed of success which crowned it was in every way deserved.

AN OUTRAGE.—Last evening as a young lady and gentleman were passing along Newbern Avenue, in front of the residence of Dr. E. Burke Haywood, they were hailed by a rough order from an unknown man to halt. The couple did not heed the order but proceeded on their way, when the ruffian fired three pistol shots in their direction. The lady became very much alarmed and had to be conducted into the house of Dr. Haywood in order to quiet her fears. We hope the police will use every exertion to arrest the perpetrator of this outrage, and that he will be brought to prompt and severe punishment. The names of the couple assaulted are suppressed by request.

HIS MOTHER CURED HIM.—This morning Joshua Worder, col., was before Mayor Manly, charged by his own dear mother with having embezzled her money. It seems that the trusting mother gave her promising son some clothing to sell for her sole use. Josh. succeeded in disposing of his trust for cash, but instead of carrying the proceeds to his mama went off on a lark and for a little space had a high and convivial old time. The stern old woman suppressed all maternal weaknesses and cried aloud for justice and her money. Josh. could give his honor no excuse for having taken the money, and not being able to give a $100 bail bond is now in jail to await trial at the next term of Wake Superior Court.

THE ONLY SURE CURE FOR RUPTURE.—The Oldest and Best Hernia Surgeons in the world are some of the advantages offered by the Triumph Truss Co., 334 Bowery N. Y., whose Truss and Supporter were awarded the Medal at the last session of the great American Institute Fair. Send 10 cents for their new book.

TIMS EXTENDED.—For the accommodation of those persons who have failed to list their polls and property for State and County taxes, Albert Magnin, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of this township, will reopen the list between the hours of 10 a. m. and 12 m. for five days longer, closing positively on Saturday, May 6.

PREACHING AT THE COURT HOUSE.—Experidon, a Greek Priest, is to hold forth in the court-house this evening. He perambulated our streets this morning, attracting much attention by his peculiar costume. He is a lean, long and lank individual and has the appearance of abhorring soap and water. We suppose that he will expound the doctrines peculiar to his creed.

THE RALEIGH COTTON MARKET.—Receipts for week ending April 29th, 1876, 317 bales; receipts for same week last year, 151 bales; increase in receipts for week this year 166 bales. Receipts for month of April this year, 1,365 bales; receipts for month of April last year, 836 bales; increase in receipts for month this year, 529 bales. Whole receipts since 1st September, 1875, to date, 36,277 bales; whole receipts for same time last year, 32,077 bales. Increase in receipts to date this year, 4,200 bales. During the past week the market was very quiet and prices closed Saturday at 11¼ for best grades. The market during the corresponding week last year closed at 15¼.

GRAND LODGE OF GOOD TEMPLARS.—This representative body of cold water-ites meets in this city on the 8th day of next August. We let their organ, the Spirit of the Age, speak in its own words of the coming of this noble band of workers in the cause of temperance. We hope its anticipations of a large and brilliant assemblage may be realized. Says the Age:

This body meets in Raleigh on the 8th day of August next. Each lodge will elect its representatives on the first meeting in July, and it is earnestly hoped that every lodge in the state will be represented. If so it will be one of the grandest events in the history of the temperance cause in North Carolina, and the enthusiasm of such a meeting will kindle a flame that will spread from north to south, from east to west of the Old North State.

As an order we have done a grand and noble work in this state in the past four years, but it is our opinion the work has just begun.

RALEIGH NOTES.—Under this caption a scribbler in the Newbern Times gets off the following at the expense of our city. It is vigorously uncomplimentary, and we reproduce it simply to let our people see how much of slander can be condensed in a few lines in a radical sheet. There is some color of truth in the statements as to the inconveniences of the court-house, but the scribbler deserves no credit for that, as he intended to tell a fu blown lie as his exaggeration shows:

The dull season at the capital has now fairly set in. For the past two weeks Judge Henry has been holding the regular term of the Superior Court in the dilapidated, dirty, seatless, sawdust-carpeted flea-pen which the people of Wake call their court-house. No more significant commentary on the metropolitan city and county could be made than this same court-house. For more than three-quarters of a century two-thirds of the state revenue has been directly or indirectly expended in or about this city. All the public interests have centered here. All the charitable and reformatory institutions of the state are clustered around it. The city and county have had every advantage in the race with other towns of the state. The result has been an utter disappearance of everything like public spirit or self-reliant growth and enterprise among its inhabitants. The court-house, in its present plight would be a disgrace to that remote county in the west—that west which has lived on prospective potentialities so long that its people never speak in the present tense—which has tight pinch to rain as much tax as its members a-year per diem.(?) It is, without question, the most neglected, patched, filthy, inconvenient building ever erected for the purpose to which it is devoted. The city has been so accustomed to sponge on the state that they are just waiting now for some one to devise a plan by which the state may be induced to build a court house for them. The same is true of the city itself, one of the most beautiful of locations and with every possible advantage it manages to make itself contemptible to every one who stays in its limits long enough to enumerate its discomforts. Unpaved streets,—alternately ankle deep in dust and mud; no water save what is toted from the public well, and this too in one of the most porous of formations, in which the limit of noxious percolation cannot be estimated; streets impeded with boxes and barrels, and made the depository of every possible form of dirt; these are the evidences of Raleigh enterprise. It is true that it has two things of which it may fairly boast—the public buildings which the state gave it, and the noble elms which the Lord has given. The former saves it from being an old field and the latter kindly hides its niggardliness.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION—THE LEGAL AND FRAUDULENT.—At the hour of putting this issue to press there are two elections progressing—the legal one under the charter passed by the last Legislature, and the fraudulent one concocted by rapacious radicals. We are glad to see that everything has proceeded quietly thus far, and hope it may continue to be orderly. The radicals opened boxes for the three dead wards, Eastern, Western, and Middle, at the Morgan Street school house, Albert Johnson's store, and the Court-House. The only box of these that has the least color of law, and a very faint color it is too, to bolster it is that of the Middle ward. It is held open by the authorities in obedience to Judge Henry's order, and had the advantage of one day's legal registration. In the other two old wards—Eastern and Western—there has been no registration and the pollholders are acting under the appointment of irresponsible persons, and are without the least legal title to the position.

The Board of County Commissioners met early this morning and appointed pollholders, &c., those first appointed having been enjoined by Judge Henry, to carry out the election as provided for by law. The polls were opened for Ward No. 1 at the Howell House; Ward No. 2 at Jenkins' shop; Ward No 3 at the Court-House; Ward No. 4 at Goodwin's store; Ward No. 5 at A. L. Moore's store. The Supreme Court will be invited to skim the muddle. How it can count in men chosen at such a barefaced fraudulent election as the radicals are going through the form of holding, is something no fair-minded and just man can see. As we go to press some hours before the votes are counted the announcement of the result has to be postponed until our next issue.

The most valuable forests for shipbuilding in the world are those of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. The yellow fir, which grows there in great luxuriance, has no equal for ship timber, nor is there anywhere a supply so abundant and so accessible of even inferior timber. It is believed that there is no industry of the Pacific coast more certain of a great development than that of shipbuilding.

A DUCAL CROWN FOR SALE.—The recent visit of Queen Victoria to Baden, it is asserted, was undertaken in order to negotiate on behalf of her son, the Duke of Edinburgh, a sale of the latter's prospective rights as the adopted heir of his uncle, the reigning Duke of Coburg-Gotha. The German government offered about $5,000,000 for the reversion, but the Queen stood out for $15,000,000, and will probably get at least two-thirds of what she asks. Indeed, the bargaining is merely for money down instead of an annuity chargeable on the duchy, and it does not seem to arise from any divergence of opinion between the British and German sovereigns as to the selling value of the property. Bismarck at first proposed $5,000,000 ready cash and an annuity of $300,000 charged upon the revenues of the duchy. This would be about the value of the capital sum of the $10,000,000 in dispute, supposing it invested in the English three per cents; and Bismarck seizing this ostensible advantage shrewdly argued in that sense, showing the Queen and her son that they would not lose any income by accepting the proposed arrangement; and that, inasmuch as the Duke of Edinburgh had children, he would feel naturally bound to preserve the capital of his fortune intact for them; because they could not absolutely count on being provided for out of the public taxation either of England or Prussia. Queen Victoria, however, is said to have inquired "whether the Chancellor really considered the English three per cents a desirable investment, and whether a higher interest could not be obtained for money without incurring serious risk." "If it can, madame," the Chancellor is said to have replied, "your princely son might be satisfied with less capital."

We have found by several years experience in selling the above Fertilizers, as well as by actual observation, that they have no superior, if any equal among Commercial Manures. Our prices are much lower than others, not so universally popular, and that have proven unequal in results, upon sworn statements from many of our best farmers. All we ask is a fair trial with anything sold in the South. We refer to the following gentlemen of large experience, who have used our Phosphates for several years:
