In pursuance of the call of the State Democratic-Conservative Executive Committee, delegates to the State Convention will meet in Metropolitan hall, in this city, on the 14th of June at 12 m.

DISTRICT CONVENTION.—A convention of the Democratic-conservative voters of the Fourth Congressional District will be held in the city of Raleigh on Tuesday, the 13th day of June next, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for congress and a presidential elector, and selecting two delegates to the St. Louis Convention.

WHAT WILL GOV. BROGDEN DO? The capture of Bullock with so little effort on the part of Gov. Smith, of Georgia, may induce Gov. Brogden to try his hand on General Littlefield who has taken refuge in Florida.

When we go among the people again we shall have a resolution passed calling on Gov. Brogden to take steps for the capture of Littlefield.

Our last letter from Goldsboro on this subject read this: "Gen. Littlefield was expected to pass on the train from Wilmington to Weldon. A party of young men got wind of it and they took the down train for Warsaw to watch a distinguished lawyer who was going to meet Littlefield, and talk with him from Warsaw to Goldsboro.

When the lawyer left the down train, the winds blew and the rain fell, the night was desperate and dark as a wolf's mouth. The lawyer was wrapped in his cloak. The young men, under great excitement, left the down train at Warsaw, all keeping an eye on the lawyer.

When the lawyer left the down train and took the up train and back track for Goldsboro, they felt sure of the reward of $5,000. Nor was this all they looked for. They intended to allow Littlefield to bribe them, and then have another squad to arrest him. The lawyer was seen to shake hands and take a seat for a fast talk with Littlefield.

One of the young men took his seat behind Littlefield and the distinguished lawyer. He pretended to sleep but heard all that was said. Before the train reached Goldsboro it was ascertained that the lawyer was not talking with Littlefield but with his attorney.

The whole train was searched for Littlefield, but he was not seen. The distinguished lawyer left the train at Goldsboro and took the train for Raleigh. The lawyer is said to have been bribed by Littlefield, and the young man who played sleep behind the lawyer says the talk between Littlefield's attorney and the lawyer satisfied him that the latter was bribed.

THE BAGGING OF BULLOCK.

DRAMATIC STORY OF THE FUGITIVE'S RETURN TO GEORGIA.

[From the Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel.] From Col. O. P. Fitzsimmons, who was charged by Gov. Smith with the important and responsible duty of bringing back the fugitive, we obtain the following particulars:

On Sunday, the 14th, Col. Fitzsimmons, who was then in Augusta, received a telegram from a friend in Atlanta, telling him that Gov. Smith desired to see him on important business. As soon as possible Col. Fitzsimmons went on to the capital, and on Monday had an interview with the Governor. The latter informed him that he desired to secure his services in effecting the arrest of Gov. Bullock, who was at Albany, New York. He would make a requisition upon Gov. Tilden, and felt sure that it would be honored. After deliberating upon the matter, Col. Fitzsimmons decided to do as the Governor wished. He was given full authority to use his own discretion in the matter, as the Governor had the fullest confidence in his judgment.

WORK AGAINST ME.—The gentleman assured him that he had no such intention. "Will you tell me, then," said Col. Fitzsimmons, "where the sheriff of this county can be found?" This information was given, and Col. Fitzsimmons soon found the sheriff, Thos. Parker, whose name is well known to our readers. He was surprised upon hearing what Col. Fitzsimmons was after. He told him that Bullock was an old schoolmate and personal friend of his. Col. Fitzsimmons in reply told him that Gov. Tilden depended upon him and expected him to report at once as soon as he made the arrest. The sheriff then said that Gov. Bullock had been out riding all morning, but was in all probability at that time—once o'clock—as dinner. The sheriff, Col. Fitzsimmons and deputy McGonigal then proceeded to Bullock's residence. The sheriff, who had the warrant, went in while Col. Fitzsimmons and deputy McGonigal remained outside. In a few minutes the sheriff returned with Bullock. The latter recognized Col. Fitzsimmons, and said that he was glad that he was the man who had been selected to arrest him. He was then carried to the sheriff's office.

Col. Fitzsimmons informed the sheriff that he expected him to retain a custody of the prisoner. He would receive him from his hands only at the train. Bullock then asked Col. Fitzsimmons if he would not wait until the 8:30 train. Col. Fitzsimmons replied that he (Bullock) was in the sheriff's hands, who could act as he pleased about it. For his own part he was determined to carry him back to Georgia. Col. Fitzsimmons had handcuffs ready in case of trouble.

At 3 o'clock the sheriff went to Col. Fitzsimmons and said he wished he would leave with his prisoner on the 6 o'clock train. "Do you apprehend trouble?" said Col. Fitzsimmons. "Well, I would prefer that you would take him on the 6 o'clock train," replied the sheriff. And so the party left Albany at that hour. Once while waiting at the sheriff's office a large crowd was seen approaching. "There comes trouble," said the sheriff. But it turned out that it was only a mob following a drunken man who was being conveyed to the stationhouse.

After leaving Albany no trouble was experienced, and Bullock was safely delivered to the proper authorities in Atlanta at 10 minutes past 10 o'clock Thursday morning. There were only two brief stoppages on the road, once at Rochester and once at New York City. At the latter place Sheriff Conner had everything in readiness to place Bullock in the Tombs, and keep him there until the Savannah steamer was ready to sail, in case of trouble; but none occurred.

At Albany Bullock stated to Col. Fitzsimmons that he intended coming on to Georgia anyhow in about two weeks. Once, on the road, he remarked that he had intended to ask Col. Fitzsimmons to withdraw the papers, and let him come to Georgia on his parole, but he knew him in Augusta, and, therefore, had not done so. Col. Fitzsimmons replied that he was glad he had not asked it.

Deputy Sheriff McGonigal accompanied Col. Fitzsimmons to Atlanta, and rendered invaluable assistance. Too high praise cannot be awarded to the New York officials, from Governor Tilden down, for their promptness. One of these officers, Sheriff Parker, of Orleans county, it will be recollected, is a republican, and a personal friend of Bullock.

Colonel Fitzsimmons traveled about thirty-six hundred miles in a little over a week, and slept but little during that time.

MONEY MAKES THE PREACHER AS WELL AS THE MARE GO. Rev. Mr. Ives, at the Sing Sing camp meeting, in New York, refused to preach on a credit to be paid in the other world. He demanded the cash down like Babcock. A number of ministers refused to hear him preach, but he got the money.

AN ELYSIUM FOR LAZY MEN. Well, we are lazy in Norfolk, that's a fact. But there is no need of working here. If a man has energy enough to dig a worm he can take a pin-hook and sit down on the wharf and catch fish enough in one day to last him two. If he is too lazy to dig a worm he can tie a piece on flannel rag on a string and catch enough crabs to last him a day or two, and if he is too lazy to tie a piece of flannel to a string, he lays down on his back on the sand at ebb-tide, opens his mouth, and when the tide comes in the crabs run into it. What need is there of work in a country for which nature has done so much?—Norfolk Letter.

Since the above was published, a number of Virginia editors, including Kilgore, of the Loudoun Enterprise, Whiting, late of the Manassas Gazette, Scott, of Gordonsville, both the Stofors, and the editor of the Lynchburg Star, have left for Norfolk, to try the "laying down" plan.—Exchange.

A HELIX OF THE WAR OF 1812.

Mrs. Isaac Mayo, widow of Commander Isaac Mayo, of the United States Navy, has presented to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis a duodecimo volume of her husband's journal works, published in 1812. This book, Capt. J. W. Peak, of the royal navy, is said to have been reading immediately previous to the action between the United States sloop-of-war Hornet and H. B. M. sloop-of-war Peacock. When the action began he thrust the volume in his breast, and after the battle the volume, stained with the blood of the fallen commander (which stain it still bears), was taken from the dead body of Capt. Peak by Commander Mayo, who was a young officer on the Hornet. In the book is the following: "The marks of blood upon this book are from the death wound of the gallant but unfortunate Captain Peak, who fell in the action between the United States sloop-of-war Hornet, Captain Lawrence, and H. B. M. sloop-of-war Peacock, off Denarara, 23d of February, 1812. Isaac Mayo, U. S. N."

1876. — THE — 1876. NORTH CAROLINA FARMER'S JOURNAL Prospectus.

The undersigned proposes to establish in the city of Raleigh, an agricultural newspaper, to be entitled the "North Carolina Farmer's Journal," to be as large as any in the state, and to be published weekly. The first number will appear early in August of the present year.

The "Farmer's Journal" has no connection whatever with the State Agricultural Journal. It will be operated in the interest of the farmers of North Carolina, and is designed to include every department of agriculture, stock-raising, horticulture and domestic economy.

In addition to this it will contain all the important news of the day; a record of the weather, crops and prices; full market reports; movements in cotton, and pleasant or instructive reading for the home circle.

There will be connected with it several special features to which I desire to direct attention, to wit: An organized staff of regular contributors, composed of our ablest agricultural and scientific writers; Regular correspondence from the several deputies of the N. C. State grange; Monthly crop reports from officers of granges in every section of the state; A department devoted to the development of our material resources; A column of inquiries and answers; A literary page for original stories, poems and other writings by native authors.

Each department of the Journal will be rendered as complete and as good of its kind as it is possible for enterprise, energy and close attention to accomplish. The Farmer's Journal will be edited for the whole state, and not any particular section. Partisan politics and sectarian discussions will be excluded. It will be independent of all sects, parties, factions, or rings. It will constantly aim to watch the farmers' interest; to improve their condition; to keep them well informed; to secure among them harmony, good-will, and vital brotherhood; to promote friendly relations between producers and consumers; to bring to the notice of the world the vast agricultural and mineral wealth of North Carolina; to induce immigration, and to increase the productive industry of the country in every line.

Besides this, it will labor to secure rigid economy in the administration of government; to suppress national, sectional and local prejudices; to promote the cause of genuine reconciliation with the North; and, in a word, to do whatever fidelity to the people may require; and thus come, in good time, to merit a warm welcome in every household in North Carolina.
