LOCAL DOTS.

Congress adjourned over last Monday in honor of decoration day.

The Virginia Conservative Convention met in Richmond yesterday.

What are the signs of the times in Raleigh? Soda water signs.

Hon. A. M. Waddell delivered the commencement address at Chapel Hill to-day.

Mr. J. D. Cameron has retired from the News and Johnstone Jones Esq. is now its editor.

A new Presbyterian church was dedicated at Burkville, Va., this week, Dr. Read officiating.

Alexander H. Stephens is now able to move about his room and hopes soon to air himself outdoors.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg declares she will never become Mrs. Smith. She will marry Mr. Jones first.

The Oxford Clarion has crowded its last crow and its crew of editors have stepped down from deck.

The citizens of Newbern have just now hold of a mule by the mouth studying horse training under Professor Sample.

Mr. Jenkins has not yet been confirmed postmaster in Charlotte and the present incumbent is making a strong effort to "hold on."

George Parker with his mustangs rides to-day in Fleetwood park, New York, and will attempt thefeat of making 305 miles in 15 minutes.

He's here. Governor Brodgen is. Didn't see Morton. Morton was kept at Washington to vote on the question of jurisdiction in the Belknap impeachment.

For the benefit of certain papers who take the telegraph dispatches we will announce that the Sultan of Turkey is named Abdnl-Aziz and not "Abdab-Aziga."

Mr. Patrick Winston, of the Albermarle Times, offers his paper for sale at $1,200. He doesn't find the business to agree with him, and is going back to his practice of the law.

A correspondent from Greensboro to the Danville Express expresses the people as highly pleased with a series of sermons recently preached there, in the Presbyterian church, by Dr. Vaughan, of this city.

Two ladies in Wilmington, one a northern and the other a southern lady, exchanged baskets of flowers with each other on the day of decoration. "Compliments of Mrs. —— for your southern dead," wrote one. "Compliments of Mrs. —— for your northern dead," wrote the other. And that's the way the women are doing. The country is safe.

THE DEATH AGONY OF THE DOGS—THE LADIES NERVOUS.—Ladies in the neighborhood of the city lot complain of the manner of killing the dogs. The pistol firing makes them jump. And again the whining of the poor dying brutes is very heart-rending to their ears. All this too, in early morning, before a cup of coffee can be drunk, and the ladies get their nerves steadied. We would not appear blood thirsty in suggesting the manner of death for anything, but as long as the dogs are to be killed, wouldn't knocking them in the head or administering a bit of poison be the calmest and gentlest death they could die.

There, the radical carpet-bagger who was expelled from the last legislature, is to speak in Goldsboro on the 5th inst., against the constitutional amendments and in favor of radicalism generally.—Messenger.

THIRD QUARTERLY MEETING.—Next Saturday and Sunday the third quarterly meeting will be held at Person Street Methodist church in this city. Rev. J. P. Moore, P. E., will preach Saturday morning at 11 o'clock and Sunday at 11 a. m., and 8 p. m.

CATHOLIC PICNIC.—Our Catholic friends gave a picnic to-day for the children in the new fair grounds. An abundance of everything good was on hand, and the prettiest day of the season favored the merry party. It was assuredly a sensible idea to picnic in groves near at home, and not take the hot and dusty trains for a place abroad.

Never was an excursion gotten up on

THE GRAND EXCURSION TO NORFOLK.

EVERYBODY GOING.

THREE DAYS TRIP—SAILING UP THE RIVER—DANCING, BATHING AND FISHING—TWO DAYS BOARD AT THE ATLANTIC—AND THE WHOLE ROUND TRIP ALL FOR EIGHT DOLLARS

Death at Pittsboro.—Mr. John H. Horton, whose home is in Newbern, died at Pittsboro last Tuesday night while on a visit to his friends in that town. Mr. Horton was a very prominent lawyer, has been a candidate for Congress and served several sessions in the Legislature. His death will be regretted throughout the state.

DEATH AT PITTSBORO.

Knocked His Teeth Out.—The mayor's court was occupied this morning with a case of war in a colored family among the negro children. It seems the big black brother objected to his mammy's patching his little brother's breeches. This was the issue. They fought it out in the lane. The little negro hit the big negro in the mouth with a rock and broke out two front teeth worth $100 apiece to him in watermelon season. Mayor Matly bound the parties over in a $100 bond.

A PREACHER WITH NO ARMS.

Rev. E. T. Vanu, in Perquimans county, stands up and preaches the word of God well, and he hasn't an arm to his body. Mr. Jack Mills, of Oxford, heard him a few Sundays since, and says of him that no giant ever wielded the battle axe with more power than he handles the sword of the Spirit. He is thoughtful, sensible and searching, and his style resembles that of Dr. Stone, of Ohio. There is good work for us all to do in this world, whether with legs and arms, or without them.

TEACHING THE CONVICTS.

The Young Men's Christian Association of this city are on the right track for good and useful work. At their meeting Tuesday night it was determined to select competent teachers from every church whose duty it should be to visit the penitentiary every Sunday and teach a class of convicts in the Bible.

It was at first proposed to get volunteer teachers from each of the Sunday schools, but Messrs. Primrose and Heck opposed this plan, it was a laborious duty they were about to undertake, and required well known and faithful teachers for its execution; a man from good impulse might volunteer some bright Sunday, and the "first rainy day," his courage might fail him;

they wanted men who would be prompt,

no matter what sort of weather, and never miss a Sunday.

We congratulate the Association.

It's the right idea. And even outside of the penitentiary are men and boys who might "form a class" if the Association would only look after them. It was the Hon. Alexander H. Stephens who picked up a ragged street boy, and the holes his dirty toes peeped through in his shoes were stopped up with new leather, and he was led into a Sunday school with new clothes on and his face as clean as a dollar.

We all know where he has been since.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

In answer to "Alphabetical," in your last issue, for a remedy for consumption in its first stages, I can recommend Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," if taken according to directions, for it has been thoroughly tried in my family, and the results were glorious. "Alphabetical" must not expect one bottle to do the work—my wife took three bottles before she could discover any change, but after the third bottle every dose seemed to strengthen the lungs, and now she is well and hearty. If "Alphabetical" will write to me I will get witnesses to the above.

THE DAYS THAT ARE NO MORE.

Tears, idle tears! I know not what they mean.

Tears, from the depths of some divine despair,

Rise in the heart and gather to the eyes,

In looking on the happy autumn fields.

And thinking of the days that are no more.

Fresh as the first beam glittering on a sail

That brings our friends up from the under world;

That sinks with all we love below the verge,

So sad, so fresh, the days that are no more.

Ob, sad and strange as in dark summer

days,

The earliest pipe of half-awakened birds

To dying ears, when unto dying eyes

The casement grows a glimmering square,

So sad, so strange, the days that are no more.

Dear as remembered kisses after death,

And sweet as those by hopeless fancy teined

On lips that are for others; deep as love,

Deep as first love, and wild with all regret,

Oh, death in life! the days that are no more.

Deacon,
