

POETRY.

From a late London paper.

TO A FRIEND ABOUT TO MARRY A SECOND TIME.

Ne profectura pecando.—Ovid.

Oh, keep the ring, one little year,
Keep poor Eliza's ring,
And shed on it the silent tear,
In secret sorrowing.

Thy lips, on which her last, last kiss,
Yet lingers moist and warm,
Oh, wipe them not for newer bliss,
Oh, keep it as a charm.

These haunts are sacred to her love,
Here still her presence dwells;
Of her the grot, of her the grove,
Of her the garden tells.

Beneath these elms you sate and talk'd,
Beside that river's brink,
At evening, arm-in-arm you walk'd,
Here stopt to gaze and think.

Thou'll meet her when thy blood beats high

In converse with thy bride,
Meet the mild meaning of an eye
That never learnt to chide.

Oh, no, by Heaven, another here
Thou canst not, must not bring:
No, keep it—but one little year,
Keep poor Eliza's ring.

From the Aurora.

MR. DUANE.—Though out of season, I hope you will publish the following receipt for the management of sheep, as it will no doubt be well circulated before next shearing; and if practised, prove profitable to the wool grower and manufacturer: Immediately after the sheep are shorn, soak the roots of the wool that remain all over with butter and brimstone; three or four days afterwards, wash them with salt and water. The wool next season will not only be much finer and softer, but the quantity will be in a greater abundance.

MAXIM.

Fear is the greatest and most troublesome of all evils; for other evils are only evils as long as they last, and the trouble thereof is of no longer duration than their cause; but men fear what is, and what is not, and what perhaps will never be, and even sometimes what cannot be. He who fears to suffer, suffers already what he fears.

ANIMAL AFFECTION.

An affecting anecdote is related in the French papers:—A young man took a dog into a boat, rowed to the centre of the Seine, and threw the animal over, with intent to drown him. The poor dog often tried to climb up the side of the boat, but his master as often pushed him back, till over-balancing himself, he fell overboard. As soon as the faithful dog saw his master in the stream, he left the boat and held him above water, till help arrived from the shore, and his life was saved!

DISAPPOINTMENT.

During the discussion of the constitution for the state of Maine, a motion was brought forward to exempt married men from military duty, with a view to promote matrimony among the younger citizens. The ladies were so extremely interested in the subject, that the meeting-house, where the convention was held, was thronged with the fair during the agitation of the question. To their utter disappointment, the motion was rejected, and the house was soon cleared of bonnets.

A SHIRT WITHOUT SEAMS.

Thomas Hall, an ingenious linen-weaver, in Ireland, has lately finished a shirt in his loom. It is woven throughout without seams, is very neatly and accurately gathered at the neck, shoulders and wrists. The neck and wristbands are doubled and stitched, there is a regular selvage to each side of the breasts; the shoulder-straps and gussets are neatly stitched, as well as the wrists; in short, it is as perfectly finished as if made by an expert seamstress. This shirt has been exhibited to several gentlemen in the linen trade, who have completely satisfied themselves, that it is actually the production of the loom, without any assistance from the needle.

COW SWALLOWING A SPOON.

A gardener in the neighborhood of Dumfries lately sold a cow to a butcher in that town, which was killed. In the second stomach of the animal was found an old-fashioned silver spoon, in a perfect state of preservation. This spoon was soon recognized by the owner, who had missed it nearly a twelve month ago; and who certainly never dreamed that the pilferer, upon whom she had bestowed so many maledictions, was a four-footed animal.
