Newbern:

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1822.

In our paper of the 19th ult. some notice was taken of an intended attack upon Porto Rico by an expedition fitting out at St Barts. The following additional particulars are taken from Curracoa papers received at New-York.

CURRACOA, SEPT. 26 .- Arrived here, on the 20th instant, the Dutch brig Endracht, Sistare, of 16 guns, with one hundred passengers, principally officers, under the command of General Henry William Decoudry Holstein, formerly commander of the Fortress of Bocca Chica, destined to revolutionize the island of Porto Rico. She sailed from St. Barts on the 13th instant, in company with two transports; but on the night of the 14th separated from them, and sprung a leak, which compelled the captain to throw over all his guns, and bear away for this port, she making three feet water an hour. On her arrival here, the commander of a Spanish frigate, having ascertained the nature of the expedition, demanded of the governor that, in justice to his nation, an inquiry should be made so as to find out the legality of their proceed nigs, and in case of their illegality, to confiscate the vessel and cargo; in consequence of which demand, the General in Chief was arrested, and the Captain is now attending trial for the vessel and cargo, which promises, as far as the (Fiscal) Ma rine Court have yet proceeded, to termi nate in his favor—he endeavoring to prove the vessel a merchantman, and the cargo American property.

The sensation occasioned by the arrival of the Endracht was very considerable, and the conduct of Captain Sistare, in endeavoring to save the vessel and cargo, with his unremitted attentions to that effect, have nade him the subject of frequent conversation among the inhabitants. The appearance of so many military looking men anong them during a time of profound peace, induces them to keep much on their guard; you an idea of the extent of the calamity luor was a blue mixture; the wool was cofor the most of the gentlemen who accom- which has befallen Pensacola; out of a loured in 34 minutes, carded, spun. and panied the expedition have been in the North and South American armies-the lat-

The day previous to her arrival, the her voyage as far as Laguira, instead of this place, not withstanding her leaky condition : the General offering to the Captain $10,000 if he would comply with their request : but, owing to their arbitrary and unwarrantable conduct in wishing to fire into an American vessel, in order to compel her to take on board a part of the passengers, the indignation of the Captain was roused, who, seeing that the expedition had failed in its grand object, the attainment of men, immediately steered for this port, and placed American Consul for protection.

This expedition to Porto Rico, which is detained at Curracoa, is another Amelia Island affair. It is believed that the persons engaged in the Enterprize have no commission from any power whatever; and that it s fortunate that they have been prevented from proceeding further, lest they should have rendered themselves liable to the fate of all pirates.

Porto Rico, it seems, was the object of their destination; but it was selected by chance, in all probability, the whole matter having the appearance of a mere speculating adventure, bold enough, but ill-ad-

Among the persons embarked in it, we are sorry to learn, are several respectable American citizens, and youths of good family, who are thus setting not only the laws of their own country but the law of nations at defiance. What madness seizes hose, who fly from a plentiful and peace ful country, where there is room for the exercise of all useful talent, in pursuit of adventures -of wealth to be acquired with out industry, and of honors which, according to undisputed law, will doom their posessors, it caught in civilized society, to ertain death!

We have some curious particulars of this Expedition, which for the present we reserve. Of all the schemes of political errantry ever undertaken, surely this is the most extraordinary. As if in itself the enterprize were not sufficiently unwarrantable, they have already given character to it by attempting to force American vessels to afford them the means of transportation.

We hope to hear that the individuals and dispersed. If not, we hardly know what fate to predict for them.

Fever at New-Orleans .- The latest ac counts at New-York from New-Orleans are of the 28th Sept. The fever then raged with unabated violence; notwithstanding which, vessels continued to arrive from the Eastern states; the passengers and crews of which were almost always the victims of this terrible disorder. In corroboration of this statement, we observe, that the ship Washington, from New-Orleans, arrived at New-York, had only the mate and two of the original crew that went out in her .-The thermometer at New-Orleans ranged from 90 to 93; and from 80 to 140 new cases are stated to have occurred daily.

Sickness at New-Orleans .- The accounts of the ravages of the fever in New-Orleans, are truly distressing. Private lettters received at N. York, of the 25th and 27th ult. state that between 7 and 800 had nied from the 1st of September up to that date—on the 24th, there were 60 cases reorted to the Board of Health; and it was supposed that about 1200 of those who were considered liable to the fever yet renained. One vessel from New York, it is said that but one of crew, (sixteen in number exclusive of the captain) had sur-

> Health of New-York .- The New-York fficial Report of the Board of Health for Sunday, the 20th, states four new cases of yellow fever, and five deaths, two of them in the same house. The report for Monday, is very favorable, there being no new cases, and no deaths. Three persons two of them in the Hospital, and the other a female removed to quarantine, had died the preceding evening. On Tuesday three, and on Wednesday two new cases were reported. The weather was becoming more favorable.

From the New-Orleans Commercial Report.

We have been enabled to present our commercial friends with extracts of letters from several cotton districts, describing the great ravages committed by the rot and caterpillar; the loss is estimated, on an average, at from one third to one half of the crop, and we have heard of some planters, who have been so unfortunate as to lose the whole.

Letter from Bayon Boeuff, (La.)-The rot and worms have made some havoc in our crops."

Letter from near Port Gibson, (Mis. Our Cotton crops will be neither in quality or quantity nigh equal to what they were last season; so that crops in this quarter which have lain over the year, will no doubt pay better than the new crop."

Letter from Jefferson county, (Mis.)-The Cotton crops of this state will unquestionably be very short the ensuing sea-

Letter from Feliciana.-The weather at present is favorable for the crops, and it it continues, will I hope check the rot which has been so destructive hitherto. The cotton is not so good as it was last year or the year before."

Letter from Woodville, (Mis.)-" The crops of Cotton in this neighborhood is at least one third injured by the rot."

Letter from near Pinckneyville, (Mis. If the general crops of the country have neighborhood, from our old enemy the rot, the crops must prove very indifferent this year."

Letter from St. Martinsville.-" The chenille in the parish of St. Mary, have committed great ravages in the Cotton, and will injure much the crop in Attackapas On our plantation we should have made 180 bales; as it is, we cannot calculate on more than 120."

On Thursday morning last, in the 15th year of his age, Master RICHARD L. STAN-LY, son of the late Richard D Stanly, Esq At Beaufort, N. C. on the 24th inst. of a dysentery, BRYAN HELLEN, Esq Post Master of that place, in the 54th year of his age. If the death of a worthy and respectable member of society ought to be accounted a public loss, then will that of Mr. Hellen be abundantly lamented by the citizens at large, but particularly by the society of Friends, to which he had attached himself, by the members of which he was regarded with the warmest esteem, and his virtues were well known and will long be remembered. But 'tis in the bosom of his bereaved family that this afflictive dipensation is most severely felt, and bitterly deplored. To his disconsolate widow and children, the loss of a kind and affectionate husband and a tender indulgent father, is irreparable; yet knowing that their departed friend had long looked forward to another and a better world, " they sorrow not as those without hope;" for while they reflect that their loss is his eternal gain, they endeavour to submit their wounded hearts to be healed by that divine physician, who hath ever suffered in proportion with those of our made the widow and the fatherless his Communicated.
