

Carolina Sentinel.

VOL. IX.

NEWBERN, N. C. SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1826.

NO. 444.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY, BY
WATSON & MACHEN,
At $3 per annum—half payable in advance.

Valuable Books AT AUCTION.

This afternoon, (Sep. 23d) at 4 o'clock, will be offered for sale at Auction, in the House adjoining the Store of John Justice, Esq. the following valuable collection of Books, just received from Philadelphia.

- 1 Butler's Hudibrass,
- 1 Hogg's Poems, 2 vols, extra
- 2 Coleman's Anecdotes, do.
- 1 Rambler, 4 vols. do.
- 1 Shakspear's Plays, 10 v. do.
- 1 Cook's Voyages, 2 vol. do.
- 2 Parent's Assistant, 2 v. do.
- 3 Pocket Bibles, red, fancy,
- 1 Silliman's Travels, 3 vols.
- 1 Scott's Lives of Novelists,
- 2 Village Dialogues, 3 vols.
- 2 Do. Sermon's, 3 v.
- 1 Walker's large Dictionary,
- 1 Do. do. do. extra.
- 36 Do. do. do. small,
- 2 Perkin's Late War,
- 1 Count Segur's Hist. 2 v. gilt
- 1 Gourgaud's Reply, do.
- 1 Spirits of Odin, 2 v.
- 3 Domestic Cookery,
- 2 Milton's Works, 2 v. gilt.
- 2 Paradise Lost, boards,
- 1 Children of the Abbey,
- 2 Zimmerman,
- 1 Plutarch's Lives, 4 v. gilt,
- 1 Rollin's Anc. Hist. 4 v. gilt
- 1 Gillie's Greece, 4 v. gilt.
- 2 Lalla Rook, extra,
- 1 Spectator, 2 v. extra.
- 1 Pocket Encyclopedia, 4 v.
- 1 Iyanhoe, 2 v.
- 2 Practical Morality,
- 1 Lionel Lincoln,
- 2 Montgomery's Poems,
- 1 Junius' Letters,
- 1 Sorrows of Werter,
- 3 Buck's Theolo. Dictionary,
- 2 Beauties of Shakspeare, ex.
- 1 Lacon, 2 v.
- 2 Bankrot's Washington, 2 v
- 2 Watts' Psalms & Hymns,
- 6 Do. do. small.
- 6 Cumming's Geog. & Atlas,
- 2 Vicar of Wakefield, extra,
- 1 Peregrine Pickle, 4 v.
- 1 Ditto do. extra,
- 2 Thompson's Seasons, extra
- 2 Minstrell's Cabinet, do.
- 2 Campbell's Poems,
- 2 Young's Night Thoughts,
- 2 Morse's Gazetteer,
- 2 Flowers of Wit,
- 1 Pope's Works, 2 v.
- 2 Lord Byron's Works, 8 v. ex.
- 1 Beattie's Poems, extra.
- 1 Fielding's Proverbs, do.
- 4 Rasselas, 4 vols. extra.
- 6 Pocket Testaments
- 3 Ditto ditto, extra.
- 3 Vocal Lyre,
- 2 Moore's Works, extra.
- 2 Quarto Family Bibles, red,
- 2 Dryden's Virgil, 2 v. extra.
- 24 Murray's Grammar,
- 24 Introduction,
- 24 Reader,
- 12 Sequel,
- 6 Key,
- 6 Exercises,
- 6 Historia Sacra,

- 6 Viri Romia,
- 3 Franklin's Life, red,
- 1 Gibbon's Rome, 6 vol. extra
- 2 Hogg's Poems, 2 vol.
- 2 Mysteries of Udolpho,
- 1 Paul Allen's Am. Revolution
- 2 Pilgrim's Progress, extra.
- 1 Ditto ditto, large,
- 1 Evangelical Magazine, 2 v.
- 2 Fuller's Gospel Accepta'n.
- 6 Pious Songs,
- 2 Academician,
- 3 Lady of the Lake, extra.
- 3 Hoyle's Games,
- 1 Chesterfield's Letters,
- 1 Lock's Essays,
- 2 Brand's Chemistry, new ed.
- 2 Volney's Ruins,
- 2 Paley's Theology,
- 1 Novice,
- 2 Bravo of Venice,
- 2 Conversa. of Lord Byron,
- 1 Babylon the Great, 2 v.
- 1 Woodstock, 2 v.
- 1 Crusaders, 2 v.
- 2 Pamela,
- 1 Blair's Lectures, 1 v. 8vo.
- 1 Ainsworth's Lat. Dictionary
- 1 Gibson's Surveying,
- 1 Clark's Homer,
- 1 Bonycastle's Algebra,
- 1 Brown's Antiquities, 2 v.
- 1 Josephus' Works, 4 v. 8vo.
- 2 Cowper's Poems, 3 v. extra
- 1 Burns' Works, 4 v.
- 2 Law's Call.
- 1 Nugent's Fr. Dictionary,
- 1 Ward's Hist. of Hindoos,
- 1 Clark on the Promises,
- 2 World Unmasked,
- 1 Quarto Family Bible, elegant
- 1 Tales of my Landlord,
- 1 Juliana Oakly,
- 2 Humourist,
- 1 Scientific Dialogues,
- 1 Chapone's Works, 2 v.
- 1 Robinson Crusoe, 2 v.
- 1 Shipwreck, sheep, extra.
- 1 Octavo Bible, Scott's Notes
- 1 Ditto ditto, morroco,
- 1 Burn's Works, 1 v. extra.
- 1 Winter in Washington,
- 1 Shakspeare, 8vo.
- 1 Roger's Poems
- 1 Francis Howard, 2 v. extra
- 1 Life of Kemble,
- 2 Jane Taylor, (new)
- 4 Aesop's Fables,
- 1 Refugee,
- 1 French Grammar,
- 1 Grecia Minora,
- 2 Pocket Bibles, plain,
- 2 Psalms & Hymns, large,
- 2 Lempriere's Clas. Dict'y,
- 2 Brown's Concordance,
- 1 Greek Testament,
- 2 Common Prayer, extra.
- 2 Sheridan's Dictionary,
- 2 Don Quixote,
- 1 Watson's Philp,
- 3 Campbell's Poems,

Gentlemen desirous of possessing any of the above works, may obtain them at very reduced prices, as the sale will be positive and without reserve. The sale will be resumed at 7 o'clock.

JOS. S. FOWLER, Auc'r.
Saturday, Sep. 23d. 1826.

Printing
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
NEATLY EXECUTED AT THIS OFFICE.

DOCTR. T. L. CARTHY

OFFERS his professional services to the citizens of Newbern and to those of its vicinity. He may be found at Mrs. HART'S Boarding House.
Newbern, Sep. 9, 1826—421f

State of North-Carolina,
CRAVEN COUNTY.
Court of Pleas and Quarter-Sessions,
August Term, A. D. 1826.

John D. Friou, vs.
Stephen Shakelford and Susannah his wife. Attachment.

IT appearing to the Court that the defendants are not inhabitants of the State: it is therefore ordered, that publication be made in the Carolina Sentinel for thirty days—that said defendants appear at the next Court of Pleas and Quarter-Sessions, to be held for Craven County, at the Court-house in Newbern, on the second Monday in November next, and reply or plead to issue, or judgment will be entered up against them.

ATTEST,
JAMES G. STANLY, Clerk.
Sept. 9, 1826.—'42 '46—pr. ad. $4.

LEMON SYRUP.
A FEW BOTTLES superior quality
LEMON SYRUP, just received by the Amity, and for sale by THO'S. W. MACHEN.
July 19th, 1826.

J. Munsell's School
WILL be continued during the time that is usually called Vacation in the Academy.

A GOOD COOK
WILL find advantageous employment in a small family, by applying at the Office of the Sentinel.
August 25, 1826—40 42.

Flour and Sugar
THE Subscribers have recently received, per the Convoy from New-York, and Gideon Sparrow from Baltimore, Family FLOUR of superior quality, Loaf and Lump SUGARS, &c.
HATCH & KINCEY.
August 26, 1826

NEW FLOUR.
G. BRADFORD, & Co. have received this week by the Triumph
from New-York,
75 bbls. Rochester Flour, fresh ground from this year's wheat.
ALSO,
A small invoice of Dry Goods.
Sept. 16, 1826.

Lorillard's Genuine Fine
SCOTCH SNUFF.
JUST received, per Schr. Amity, a few dozen bottles LORILLARD'S FINE SCOTCH SNUFF.

ALSO,
A few bottles PORTER, PALE ALE,
BROWN STOUT, LEMON SYRUP.
—New-York BUTTER CRACKERS,
MUSCATEL RAISINS, &c.
On hand, one barrel CIDER BRAN-DY, one barrel WHISKEY, and one barrel northern RUM, which will be sold at a small advance for cash.

THO'S. W. MACHEN.
Sept. 16.

THE SUBSCRIBER
HAS just received, per Schr. Amity, a few articles in the Dry Good and Silversmith's line, viz.
Figured and plain Book Muslin,
Cheap Fancy Calicoes,
Green Gauze Veils, White do.
Brown and bleached Shirtings and Sheetings, Linen Diaper, Cotton do.
Ladies' black belt Ribbons,
White Silk Gloves,
Hemming & Son's genuine sewing
needles, assorted sizes, Pins,
Suspenders, Fish hooks ass. sizes.
—Violin 1st, 2d, 3d, and Bass strings, of a superior quality. Also, a few sets
Silver Table Spoons, Tea Spoons—one elegant silver Patent Lever Watch, Steel
Watch Chains, &c.
THO'S. W. MACHEN.
Sept. 16.

NOTICE.
ALL persons are hereby forwarded from dealing with WILLIAM GAS-TON'S Negroes, either in buying or selling to them any thing, lending or hiring them Canoes, or setting them over at ferries, without my consent, under the penalty of the law.
PETER WOOD.
Sept. 16, 1826—48.

From the Petersburg Intelligencer.

Editors Correspondents.

LAKE GEORGE.

August 23, 1826.

We are now upon the bosom of this water, on board the little steam-boat "Mountaineer," and bound for Ticonderoga, at the other end of the lake, distant 34 miles. This beautiful basin is completely environed by a barrier of high mountains, some ascending directly from its service, while others from a broad and level margin, sweep their graceful curves. When the sun has arisen some time, a single ray does not pierce the imprisoned gloom, till at a considerable elevation, he pours in a moment, a flood of descending light from the eastern hills, upon the deep shade. It was in the grey of the morning when the boat started: this early hour was the most favorable to see the retreat of the vapors, which form a beautiful part of the scenery. These dense clouds, receding from the lake, rolled upwards in heavy bodies, assuming every light and fairy form, and continually changing their positions. They seemed like a drapery to the whole scene: now concealing the adjacent mountains entirely: then retiring up their sides in fanciful festoons, and disclosing their tops, gilded with golden lines of the rising sun.

So transparent and pure is the waters of Lake George, that the French Catholics first called it St. Sacrament, and their priests used the same for holy purposes. Islands almost innumerable stud its silvery bosom. They are over 300 in number, and differ widely in their size; also in their appearance. Some are green to the eye, and so small as to present only a little shrubbery, with the sweet wild rose springing up underneath—others, barren and rocky, abound with overhanging and broken precipices. Crystals of quartz, are found on these islands, whose brilliancy is hardly surpassed by any in the world: particularly those from Diamond Isle, near the head of the lake. A woman living there has been facetiously styled "the Lady of the Lake," for whom, as an intelligent traveller has observed, probably no Malcolm Grene and Rhoderick Dhu will ever contend. Families employ themselves in obtaining crystals, and make a support by the sale of them to the curious or the scientific.

As you proceed along the lake every change of position brings prospects of new beauties. On either side, occasionally is seen the cultivated spot, the smiling valley, or the waving field amidst the deep native forests. Clear was the sky—clear the waters, and as we neared and passed them all, they were objects for the wandering, picturesque eye. The ear with fond delight listened to the distant song of the happy husbandman, or the chiming bell of the grazing herd, which came down on the mountain breeze from the more distant settlements. Some of the mountains near the shores exceed 1000 feet in height, one of a very precipitous and rocky aspect is known as "Anthony's Nose," and by the sailors, familiarly called "Tony's Nose." Tradition relates that a white man let himself down one of the precipices, "Rogers' Rock," opposite to this place, and escaped on his skiffs, as he was closely pursued by the Indians. By 10 o'clock, in the morning, we had passed by all the shores, the islands, the green vales, the shadowy hills of this lovely lake. It was elevating, the sensation of delight with which I witnessed them in their native beauty and wildness. Such scenes are a kind of intellectual paradise on earth—they left impressions which will live fresh and be cherished in my memory.

TICONDEROGA.

The ruins of this celebrated fortress are still conspicuous, affording many associations of former heroic grandeur.—They occupy a neck of elevated land, around which, Lake Champlain winds on the East, and the outlet of Lake George form the bank on the West. The distance between the two Lakes is only 3 miles across the isthmus, there are still to be seen the entrenchments and redoubts thrown up in the French War, as well as the subsequent formidable masonry stone works erected by Gen. St. Clair, in the war of '76. Under ground, the passages and magazines remain in a state of preservation. Large armies have been more than once engaged in the proud array of battle upon this now silent field. Abercrombie, with 16,000 men left the south of Lake George on the 4th July, '58 to attack Ticonderoga and Crown Point. What an army for that period! How strange, how imposing the sight on that quiet Lake! They were defeated; and returned in two days, leaving slain before Ticonderoga, 2,000 of their fellow-soldiers, with their brave leader lord Howe.* The next summer Gen. Amherst, with an armament little inferior to the above, proceeded on a similar expedition, when both places were abandoned at his approach, and obtained almost without fighting. Our Cicerone, for you may find them here as well as in Italy, pointed to the covered way through which the daring Col. Ethan Allen, with his green mountain boys on the night of May 24, 1775, entered and surprised the slumbering garrison. Three huzzas were the first intelligence of the enemy, and I have often imagined the astonishment of the British Captain at the command to surrender. "By what authority do you demand it?" enquired the undressed and wondering commander. "I demand it," said Allen, "in the name of the great Jehovah and of the Continental Congress." Crown Point was taken the same day, and the Col. with his brave party soon were entire masters of Lake Champlain. In 1777, this position was considered the strong hold of the North—a barrier against the invading foe. Gen. St. Clair invested it. On the opposite shore was Mount Defiance, within 1400 yards of the Peninsula. Up this lofty precipice Gen. Burgoyne, with astonishing labor, dragged his artillery, and had complete control of Ticonderoga, lying far below but within cannon shot. A careful observer cannot but express his surprise how so commanding a point was neglected on all former occasions of war. The American Post became no longer tenable, St. Clair, immediately blew up the fortress and evacuated Ticonderoga. In his letter to Congress he observed, "I have lost a Post but saved a state," and it afterwards proved to be so. After Burgoyne's defeat it was recovered again by Gen. Arnold in Oct. '77, which is the last period of notice in this former important place. There was something deeply solemn as I stood mute among the ruins of this mouldering pile. How many venerable histories belong to the damp, green stones you tread upon. The broken arches, the dark ivy creeping over them, where proud banners waved; and the trumpet of victory sounded. All were still and motionless as death. What a sublime object for contemplation! to talk with the mighty dead! What an emblem of the mutability of human power! Ticonderoga, no longer disturbed by the roar of cannon, and its waters polluted no more with human blood, has now become a pasture for wandering cattle!

* Father of the Howe who was conspicuous in the Revolutionary War.

Autumn of Life.—There is an eventide in human life; a season when the eye becomes dim, and the strength decays, and when the winter of age begins to shed upon the human head its prophetic snows. It is the season of life to which the autumn is the most analogous: it becomes, and much it would profit you, my elder brethren, to mark the instructions which the seasons bring. The spring and summer of your days are gone, and with them, not only joys they knew, but many of the friends who gave them. You have entered upon the autumn of your being—and whatever may have been the profusion of your spring, or the warm temperament of your summer, there is yet a season of stillness or solitude which the beneficence of heaven affords you, in which you may meditate upon the past and future, repose yourself for the mighty change which you are to undergo.

"It is now you may understand the magnificent language of Heaven—it mingles its voice with that of Revelation—it summons you in these hours when the leaves fall and the winter is gathering, to that evening study which the mercy of Heaven has provided in the book of Salvation. And while the shadowy valley opens, which leads to the abode of death, it speaks of love which can comfort and save, and which can conduct to those passages and those still waters, where there is an eternal spring for the children of God."—Allison's Sermons.

The late king, George III, sent as a present to the Emperor of China, a handsome town-built chariot.—On board the vessel which conveyed it (it was packed in separate pieces) a mandarin attended, to see it mounted and put together; that he might inform himself of the uses of the several parts. He readily understood all the rest but the two seats, the one within and the coachman's seat, covered of course with a superb hammer-cloth, perplexed him, "for whom is that seat?" said he, pointing to the inside of the carriage. He was told it was for the Emperor. "And that?" pointing to the coachbox. "For the man who guides the horses." "Do you think," said he with a sudden burst of indignation, "that our glorious sovereign, the son of the sun, &c. will allow any one to be placed higher than himself?"