

ARTICLE 26th.

Neither the debts due from individuals of the one nation to the individuals of the other, nor shares, nor moneys, which they may have in public funds, nor in republic or private banks, shall ever, in any event of war, or of national difference, be sequestered or confiscated.

ARTICLE 27th.

Both the contracting parties being desirous of avoiding all inequality in relation to their public communications and official intercourse, have agreed, and do agree, to grant to the Envoys, Ministers, and other Public Agents, the same favors, immunities, and exemptions, which those of the most favored nation do or shall enjoy; it being understood that whatever favors, immunities, or privileges, the United States of America or the Federation of Centre America, may find it proper to give to the Ministers and Public Agents of any other power, shall, by the same act, be extended to those of each of the contracting parties.

ARTICLE 28th.

To make more effectual the protection which the United States and the Federation of the Centre of America shall afford in future to the navigation and commerce of the citizens of each other, they agree to receive and admit Consuls and Vice-Consuls, in all the ports open to foreign commerce, who shall enjoy in them all the rights, prerogatives, and immunities of the Consuls and Vice-Consuls of the most favored nation; each contracting party, however, remaining at liberty to except those ports and places in which the admission and residence of such Consuls may not seem convenient.

ARTICLE 29th.

In order that the Consuls and Vice-Consuls of the two contracting parties may enjoy the rights, prerogatives, and immunities, which belong to them, by their public character, they shall, before entering on the exercise of their functions, exhibit their commission or patent in due form to the Government to which they are accredited; and, having obtained their exequatur, they shall be held and considered as such, by all the authorities, magistrates, and inhabitants, in the Consular District in which they reside.

ARTICLE 30th.

It is likewise agreed, that the Consuls, their Secretaries, Officers, and persons attached to the service of Consuls, though not being citizens of the country in which the Consul resides, shall be exempt from all public service, and also from all kind of taxes, imposts, and contributions, except those which they shall be obliged to pay on account of commerce, or their property, to which the citizens and inhabitants, native and foreign, of the country in which they reside are subject, being in every thing besides subject to the laws of the respective States. The archives and papers of the Consulate shall be respected inviolably, and under no pretext whatever shall any magistrate seize, or in any way interfere with them.

ARTICLE 31st.

The said Consuls shall have power to require the assistance of the authorities of the country for the arrest, detention, and custody of deserters from the public and private vessels of their country, and for that purpose they shall address themselves to the courts, judges, and officers competent, and shall demand the said deserters in writing, proving by an exhibition of the registers of the vessel's or ship's roll, or other public documents, that those men were part of the said crews; and on this demand so proved, (saving, however, where the contrary is proved,) the delivery shall not be refused. Such deserters, when arrested, shall be put at the disposal of the said Consuls, and may be put in the public prisons at the request and expense of those who claim them, to be sent to the ships to which they belong, or to others of the same nation. But if they be not sent back within two months, to be counted from the day of their arrest, they shall be set at liberty, and shall be no more arrested for the same cause.

ARTICLE 32d.

For the purpose of more effectually protecting their commerce and navigation, the two contracting parties do hereby agree, as soon hereafter as circumstances will permit them, to form a Consular Convention, which shall declare specially the powers and immunities of the Consuls and Vice Consuls of the respective parties.

ARTICLE 33d.

The United States of America and the Federation of the Centre of America, desiring to make as durable as circumstances will permit the relations which are to be established between the two parties by virtue of this Treaty, or General Convention of Peace, Amity, Commerce, and Navigation, have declared solemnly, and do agree to the following points:

1st. The present Treaty shall remain in full force and virtue for the term of twelve years, to be counted from the day of the exchange of the ratifications in all the parts relating to Commerce and Navigation; and in all those parts which relate to peace and friendship, it shall be permanently and perpetually binding on both powers. 2dly. If any one or more of the citizens of either party shall infringe any of the articles of this Treaty, such citizen shall be held personally responsible for the same, and the harmony and good correspondence between the two nations, shall not be interrupted thereby; each party engaging in no way to protect the offender, or sanction such violation. 3dly. If (which, indeed, cannot be expected,) unfortunately, any of the articles contained in the present Treaty shall be violated or infringed in any other way whatever, it is expressly stipulated, that neither of the contracting parties will order or authorize any acts of reprisal, nor declare war against the other, on complaints of injuries or damages, until the said party considering itself offended, shall first have presented to the other a statement of such injuries or damages, verified by competent proof, and demanded justice and satisfaction, and the same shall have been either refused or unreasonably delayed. 4thly. Nothing in this Treaty contained, shall, however, be construed, or operate contrary to former and existing public Treaties with other Sovereigns or States.

The present Treaty of Peace, Amity, Commerce, and Navigation, shall be approved and ratified by the President of the United States of America, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate thereof, and by the Government of the Federation of the Centre of America, and the ratifications shall be exchanged in the city of Guatemala, within eight months from the date of the signature hereof, or sooner if possible. In faith whereof, we the Plenipotentiaries of the United States of America, and of the Federation of the Centre of America, have signed and sealed these presents.

Done in the City of Washington, on the fifth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-five, in the fiftieth year of the Independence of the United States of America, and the fifth of that of the Federation of the Centre of America, in duplicate. [L. s.] H. CLAY. [L. s.] ANTONIO JOSE CANAS. And whereas the said Convention has been duly ratified, on both parts, and the respective ratifications of the same were exchanged at Guatemala, on the second day of August, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, by JOHN WILLIAMS, Charge d'Affaires of the United States near the Government of the Federation of the Centre of America, and PEDRO GONZALES, Chief Officer of the Department of State, Despatch, War and Marine, Secretary of Legation of the Republic of the Central America, on the part of their respective Governments.

Now, therefore, be it known, that I, JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, President of the United States, have caused the said Convention to be made public, to the end that the same, and every clause and article thereof, may be observed and fulfilled, with good faith, by the United States and the citizens thereof.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Seal of the United States to be affixed. [L. s.] Done at the City of Washington, this twenty-eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, and of the Independence of the United States the fifty-first.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS. By the President: H. CLAY, Secretary of State.

A PROPOSAL To publish in the City of Raleigh, A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER To be entitled the NORTH-CAROLINA INDEPENDENT ADVOCATE.

"It is shameful for a man to live in his own country and to be uninformed of her affairs and interests."

THE INDEPENDENT ADVOCATE will be exclusively devoted to the cause of the People, and to the promotion of correct information, upon all those subjects in which they may be, directly or indirectly, participators. The Constitution of these United States declares this government to be based upon the will of the People, and that, in its creation and operation, distinctly marked by their creative and moving powers. This Government is certainly a creature of the people—but do they control its movements? Who can ascertain the will of the People, in those political contests for supremacy, where they are fashioned like clay in the hands of the potter, to suit the purposes of political demagogues? And who can say that the government moves agreeably to the controlling power of the People, when they are kept in ignorance of its acts, by the duplicity of political partisans? How many of the people appreciate the privileges of their own Government over those of others? Or who correctly distinguish between the controlling power of a despot over their minds, and a listless subserviency to the views of the ambitious and designing? This apathy to their best interests: this pliancy to the will of others, is owing to a want of a general diffusion, of correct political information. "The Independent Advocate" is intended to be the mean of such information, and give to the people an honest, fair and correct account, of those whom they have, deservedly or undeservedly placed in power: but the Editor will not, to gratify the disappointed ambition or political hatred of those out of power, introduce those that are in, merely, that those that are out may get in. So long as those who are at the head of government shall in the great leading features of their administration, adhere to the Constitution and the rights of the People, as long will the "Independent Advocate" support them independently. Yet in all questions of political importance, this paper will be open to the judicious animadversions of others, who may differ with the Editor in his political views. There is a political, civil and commercial connexion between the North and South, that cannot be broken, but at the destruction of both. A spirit of rivalry, unless it be a rivalry to see which section can most promote the common weal, and sustain the fundamental principles of the government, should be deprecated. That compromising spirit, which actuated the framers of the Constitution, should still be felt by their sons. All attempts to create jealousy between the different sections of the Union, shall be met by the Editor with due reprehension.

The Editor will not gag himself by begging Legislative patronage, nor tully his mind to sleep in the embraces of monied institutions, but men and measures shall be brought before the public bar, impartially but fearlessly; and all malversations in office, whether that office be a creature of the Constitution or of the Legislature, unconstitutionally created, shall, so far as they come to the Editor's knowledge, receive public exposure; but private character shall be held sacred and intangible. A proportion of the paper shall be devoted to the promotion of Agriculture, Domestic Economy and the Arts. The supporting pillar of all Free Governments, Public Education will find in the Editor a zealous friend and promoter, and the lovers of Literature, shall be gratified in his selection, it not in his productions. That great and important work, Internal Improvement, which has so long kept Urbis inchoata in this state, and receive marked notice of the Editor. This paper shall be made as valuable to the Planters, the Farmers, and Merchants, as a correct weekly register of the state of the Markets at home and abroad, will make it.

The first number will issue some time in next January, provided, always, the subscription list will warrant it. The Advocate shall be printed on an improved sheet, of the size of the "North Carolina Journal," and will be sent to Subscribers at three dollars per annum one-half to be paid on the reception of the first number. Subscription lists will be placed in the hands of the several Postmasters of the State, and they are requested to be turned to David Thomson, Esq. P. Smithfield, Johnston County, by the December. R. H. HIGLUM. Raleigh, October 2, 1826.

Subscriptions for the Advocate will be received at T. Watson's Book-Store.
