MEDICAL COMPANION, FAMILY PHYSICIAN;

TREATING OF THE DISEASES OF THE UNITED STATES, With their symptoms, causes, cure, and means o prevention: common cases in Surgery ; the management and diseases of Women and Children; a Dispensatory, for prepa-ring Family Medicines, and a ossary explaining Technical terms-Also, the Nurse's Guide.

The Seventh Edition, Revised, enlarged, & very considerably improved BY JAMES EWELL, M. D.

On the important subject of domestic medi eine, many books bave been written, which, though excellent in other respects, have greatly failed of usefulness to Americans; because they treat of diseases which, existing in very foreign climates and constitutions, must widely differ from ours. The book now offered to the public has, therefore, the great advantage of having been written by a native American, of long and successful practice in the southern states, and who, for years past, has turned much of his attention to the composition of it.

To every family, more especially those in remote situations, the possession of this book must unquestionably, be of incalculable value; for. conducted by such a guide, it will not be presumptuous to say that any person of tolerable capacity, and reasonable attention, may be enabled to practice with safety and advantage, in those cases of simple diseases most incident to our climate.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

In testimony of the merits of this work, the following commendations, by some of the most distinguished medical characters of the United States, are inserted.

Baltimore, Nov. 18, 1822. DEAR SIR: I have been truly gratified in the perusal of the Sixth Edition of your " Medical Companion, or Family Physician." The improvements made in this new impression of your work, compared with the former editions are indeed extensive and important. Independ ent of your having enlarged considerably on diseases generally, you have introduced additional matter, which greatly enhances its value. The sale by ptroduction of the Nurse's Guide, as also the treatise you have given on the management of fe male complaints, will have the most happy effects in correcting the gross errors daily committed by ignorant persons, and thereby save many valua-

- I do not hesitate to say, that this new edition of your Medical Companion, is decidedly the best popular treatise on medicine, that has ever been published; and considering it, as I verily do, a safe and useful guide for heads of families, as well as for young practitioners of medicine, I take much pleasure in recommending it to the attention of our fellow citizens, both in town and

I will only add, if your book meets with that encouragement, to which it is justly entitled, you will very soon be called upon, by the public, for another edition. Inin, dear sir, with much respect, your friend

COLIN MACKENZIE, M. D. Dr. James Ewell.

Philadelphia, August 13, 1816. DEAR SIR: I have looked over, with some care, the copy of the Third Edition of the " Medical Companion" which you did me the favor to not only from Canada and Nova Scotia, new impression of the work, it is not only enlarged, but exceedingly improved. After stating so much, I need hardly repeat an fore as you value life or limb, be sure that opinion, which I publicly expressed on a former you ask and receive Whitwell's Opedeldoc.

By the additions and revisions given to this occasion, that I consider it, as indisputably, the most useful popular treatise on medicine with which I am acquainted. Compared with the European Books of the same nature, it has, especially in relation to the treatment of the diseases of our own country, a very decided superiouty.

I trust that the success of this literary enterprize may be equal to your very generous and benevolent disposition. With great respect, I am, dear sir, yours, &c.

N. CHAPMAN, M. D. Professor of the Institutes and Practice of Medicine, and Clinical Practice, in the University of Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, December 31, 1807. DEAR SIR; I have carefully perused your work, " The Medical Companion," and take much pleasure in expressing my entire approbation of the plan, and of the utility with which you have conducted your inquiries. Your book cannot fail to be a very acceptable present to the public in general, and especially to our own country- useful in Fever and Ague. - Price 121 cents men. I am really of opinion, that you are entitled to much praise for the pains which you have taken in furnishing us with a work, the want of which has long been experienced among us.

Your friend, &c. B. S. BARTON, M. D. Professor of Materia Medica, Natural History and Botany. Dr. James Ewell.

Charleston, May 7, 1808. DEAR SIR: Your " Medical Companion" contains much useful knowledge in a small compass, and is particularly adapted to these states. Families remote from medical aid, will find their account in possessing a book which describes diseases so plainly, and prescribes for them so judiciously, as bid fair to save valuable lives, which otherwise might be lost.

Your most obedient servant, DAVID RAMSAY, M. D. Dr. James Ewell. A few copies for sale at the Book Store of
