ALLEN S. BALLENGER, Sheriff. May 2, 1827, 62-3w

Raleigh Register.

TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1827.

Rufus King.—The latest New-York papers announce the death of this distinguished citizen, which occurred in that city, on the 29th ult.

Chantry's Statue of WASHINGTON has been received at Boston, for which place it is designed, by the ship London Packet, from London.

Execution.—Joseph Solis, who was convicted at the last term of the Superior Court for Duplin County, of the murder of Abraham Kornegay...

An immense crowd of people assembled to witness a fellow creature launched into eternity. This is a sight the very contemplation of which requires more than masculine fortitude...

After the clerical gentlemen had done what they conceived to be their duty, the Sheriff told the criminal that he had but a few moments to live, and that if he had any thing to say to his friends or the public, now was the time.

Upon the examination of a lad at Baltimore, a few days since, upon a charge of setting fire to a lumber yard, it appeared that he was induced to perpetrate the act for the purpose of getting liquor which usually accompanies the engines when called into service.

The following statement exemplifies how near perfection the enterprize of our citizens has brought internal navigation. This paragraph we take from a Baltimore paper...

The West against the World.—The Steam boat Tecumseh has just arrived at Louisville from Orleans, in nine days, four hours, having lost one whole night, and part of another, by fog—distance 1300 miles. The Tecumseh passed thirteen boats on the way. It will be recollected, that within a very few years, the citizens of Louisville gave that enterprising officer, Capt. SHREVE, a public dinner, for performing the trip in twenty-five days!

New-Hanover Superior Court.—Several criminal prosecutions excited much interest, at this Court. The cases of Orrell and Jim, indicted for felonies, were remanded; the former, to the Superior Court of Sampson, which is now in session; the latter, to that of Brunswick. Joseph Bryan was convicted of grand larceny; and sentenced to receive 30 lashes, which was carried into execution. On Saturday, the last day of the session, came on the trial of Archibald Johnston, a colored man, for concealing on board the Brig Sally Ann, bound for Boston, thereby to assist his escape, a mulatto slave, named Frederick, an offence made punishable with death.

Manslaughter.—A curious trial came on at the last Columbia circuit court. Capt. Moore, of the steamboat Olive-Branch was indicted for manslaughter. A Mr. Dickie, while the hands were lowering the boat to take him ashore, was thoughtless enough to jump in and capsize her, and he was drowned.

Beware of counterfeits.—Ten Dollar Bills of the Newbern Bank, Letter D. payable to S. Watkins, date 5th July, 1819, are in circulation. The execution is such as might deceive the most experienced—the plate is nearly a fac simile, and the filling up uncommonly well done.

SOUTH AMERICA.

A proof sheet from the office, of the Mercantile Advertiser, contains the following intelligence from South America:

New York, Monday, April 30. A Bogota paper of the 18th of February, (received by the Athenian) contain an official letter from Christoval Armeno, the Columbian Envoy in Peru, to his Government, detailing the insurrectionary movements of the Columbian troops in Lima, the substance of which is, that the superior officers left in command by Bolivar, had been removed and sent home.

Mexico.—We are favored with papers from Mexico City to the 1st of this month, brought by the Eliza. It appears that a revolt broke out about the 10th of March at Durango, the capital of the State of that name, instigated, it was said, by a Priest named Arenas, whose emissaries had seduced the troops to unite in a project for obtaining certain reforms.

Fatal Temerity.—A few evenings since, the following dreadful occurrence took place: At the Star inn, in Bedminster, was a caravan of wild beasts, and the keeper being in want of an attendant, a person who had from his infancy been accustomed to the business, offered his services, and was accepted.

From CARHAGENA.—Captain Shipman, of the Athenian, arrived at New York, who left Carthage on 4th inst. states that the country was considered in rather an unsettled state. The British residents had sent a requisition to the Admiral at Jamaica, for a vessel of war to be sent down for the protection of their property.

tally lost, and sold as she lay. The Steam boat Amazon, arrived 25th March, from Para.

Extract of a letter, Carthage, March 31. "Our market is in a perfect state of stagnation. Every one seems at a loss as to what may take place. It is known that Bolivar and Santander are now decidedly opponents. We will not recommend the shipment of any thing, nor do we wish to see property introduced here. We give no quotations, because it is impolitic to fix a value, or to know whether we may not all in a month hence have to leave the country."

FROM CARACAS.—We have from Caracac a Spanish handbill, dated the 2d instant, under the head of White Flag, and signed "One of Man," in which the adoption of the Bolivian Constitution given to Peru, is strenuously recommended as the only refuge of Colombia from political shipwreck.—Nat. Gaz.

We have private accounts from Lagaira of the 5th instant, which represent Bolivar as aiming plainly at the Dictatorship—nay, that he is already in fact Dictator, making laws, proclamations, &c. to suit his own views, and none daring to gainsay them. The troops in the interior were deserting daily with their arms, and forming themselves into small pillaging parties. In the neighborhood of Barcelona, the negroes were reported to be in open revolt, and to have assassinated two of their officers.

Arrival at New York.—The Commercial Advertiser notices, in a postscript, the arrival of the packet William Thompson, bringing papers to the 17th March. No extracts are given, and the following paragraph contains all the news afforded by the Commercial:

The London Courier of the 17th states, that the Greeks have repossessed themselves of the Missolonghi. The same paper states, that it is no longer doubted, that important negotiations have been commenced at Constantinople, for the pacification of Greece. Fresh troops were leaving England for Portugal.

Methodists.—The systematic method in which the affairs of this denomination are managed, and the union and concert among its preachers, give them an influence in the community much beyond what is possessed by any other denomination, in proportion to their numbers and pecuniary means. Their newspapers are more extensively circulated probably, than those of any other denomination, considering the time of their commencing this mode of instruction and influence.

Railways.—Extract of a letter from a gentleman travelling in England, dated February 14, 1827:—"The engineer and myself having completed, to our satisfaction, an investigation of the railways of this kingdom, he parts from me this day to embark in one of the first packets for New York: Although I have been for two months examining railways, I am in a greater state of admiration than ever about them. As to the phenomena of the Hetton railway, you can scarcely believe them to be true when in the midst of them; it will look to you like Rhodomontade to speak of twenty-four empty wagons, weighing more than 30 tons, being forced up a hill, all the way by steam, at the rate of eighteen miles an hour and this upon a plane a mile and a half long.

Married.—In Northampton county, on the 19th inst. Mr. John Moore to his Mary Randolph. On the 8th inst. Mr. Joseph Rogers, to Miss Hannah Short—also, on the 18th inst. Mr. Robert Short to Miss Catharine Rogers, all of Halifax county. In Montgomery county, on Thursday evening last, Mr. William Cade, Merchant, of Fayetteville, to Miss America W. Legrand. In Fayetteville, on Thursday evening last, by the Rev. Mr. Mason, Mr. Anthony W. Horton to Miss Isabella Jordan. Also, at the same time and place, Mr. George W. Hutton to Miss Susan Jordan, daughters of Dillon Jordan, sen. Esq. In Orange county, the Rev. Thomas Lynch, to Miss Mary S. Bingham, daughter of the Rev. William Bingham. In Chester District, S. C. on the 17th ult. Mr. John Higham, to Miss Nancy M'Dill, of Mecklenburg.

DIED.—At midnight, in Philadelphia, on Sunday the 29th April, the Honorable William Tilghman, Esquire, Chief-Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, in the 71st year of his age.

with his mouth, and held him in that wretched position until death put a period to the too horrible sufferings of the victim. A gentleman happening to pass who lived in the neighborhood immediately brought pistols, and another person called to a blacksmith, who had a piece of iron red-hot, to afford assistance; but it was twenty minutes before the animal would quit his prey, although his mouth was much burned; at length the head of the pony man fell from his jaws, a spectacle too horrible for description, when the body was drawn from the cage. We understand that, under ordinary circumstances, the animal was exceedingly quiet and docile; so much so, indeed, that two women and two children had actually been in the cage with him the preceding day. London paper.

Letter from Jack Tar to his uncle Sam.

DEAR UNCLE—I have made a number of voyages in our good ship Union, and admire her accommodations, her sailing, and the good order which his usually prevailed on board; but from what I have lately overheard, I understand that some part of our crew are clamouring for a change of officers, which if effected may produce trouble. It appears that their design is to put the present Pilot out of his berth, and make a Pilot of the Gunner, who is as bold a man as ever pointed a cannon; but boldness is not the qualification for which a Pilot is to be most valued, and I hope you will excuse me, Uncle, if I say that in the characteristics of a Pilot, an ounce of circumspection is of more worth than a pound of boldness, if they could both be weighed. Your Pilot has long studied to make himself acquainted with our native shoals, and with foreign straits, and his attention is so devoted to the Chart and Compass, that when I turn in at night, I feel as safe, as if I were landed on Terra firma. Since I have been on board the Union, her guns have rarely been fired, except for rejoicing, and I hope they never will be heard for any other purpose; but if your Gunner is shoved in the Pilot's place, his fondness for the Cannon's sound, may possibly lead him to indulge his favorite amusement, at the hazard of the ship's Company. My fears have led me to make these remarks, which I hope you will excuse, from Your respectful nephew, JACK TAR.

An essay on the art of boring the earth for the obtaining of a spontaneous flow of water.—With hints towards forming a new theory of the rise of water. New Brunswick, Tulline and Letson, 1826, 8 vo. pp. 46. The subject treated of in this little pamphlet is one of great importance to many parts of our country, in particular to the city and State of New York and the Southern States. The work before us embodies a good deal of information & many useful observations respecting it, and deserves the attention of all who are so situated as to find it difficult or impossible to procure a supply of pure water. A considerable part of the work before us is occupied with a minute statement of all the experiments that have been made to obtain water by boring the earth, and the degree of success with which they have been made. In many of these instances, the most complete success has attended the operation, and the water has been made to overflow at several feet above the surface; in others, the water has been brought to within a few feet from the surface of the ground; in others, the experiment has been left unfinished. This part of the work is exceedingly valuable; the remainder is occupied with some suggestions towards forming a new theory of the rise of waters. There are certainly some difficulties in the present theory of the fountains and rivers that issue from the earth, and the author has stated them with great ingenuity and force. A variety of facts are marshalled to the imperfections of the old theory, and to support the new one which the author has suggested. The theory is that of a great central effort, which not only keeps matter from gravitating too near the earth, but also forces gases and fluids towards the surface. As a corollary from this doctrine, it follows, that water may, in all cases, by boring deep enough and by inserting a tube, be made to overflow at the surface. The instances in which this experiment has been successfully made are certainly somewhat extraordinary, and seem to justify great perseverance on the part of those who undertake enterprises of this kind. Whether, however, the theory, which the author attempts to deduce from these and other facts be well founded, we must for the present be permitted to doubt; but the subject is a curious one, and deserves consideration. In the mean time, the pamphlet before us has no small practical value, independent of its theoretical ingenuity.

Snow fell in several places to the North, on the first of May.
